Changes In Hahn Project Proposed

Corte Madera's planning consultant last night proposed major changes in the Hahn Project, changes that went a long way toward meeting a key citizens committee's objection to the proposed huge regional shopping center. (Another Corte Madera Town Council story, page 15.)

The changes suggested by Thomas Cooke seemed to have little effect, however, on the division of opinion in the town at large, even though the changes seemed a retreat from his previously favorable report on the environmental impact of the vast center as planned by developer Ernest W. Hahn.

After two hours of pro and con discussion before a capacity crowd, the town council set another hearing on short term master plan changes recommended by Cooke for 7:30 p.m. March 14.

Changes in the master plan must be adopted before the redevelopment plan, essential to the proposed development, can be adopted. Hearing on that plan is set for March 19.

The citizens committee working on revision of the master plan to pave the way for redevelopment had taken the stand that it would not accept these aspects of the original proposal by Cooke: high density housing in the redevelopment area, a rapid transit route on the railway right-of-way and extension of San Clemente Drive. The committee also wanted more generous provision of open space.

After reviewing his environmental impact report and comments from the committee, Cooke came up with five key variations.

First, he said, Hahn's multimillion dollar Marin Mall should cross the tracks onto the filled portion of bayfront property owned by Domenic Muzzi, rather than be restricted to the adjacent 75-acre Heerdt marsh.

The squarer 68-acre configuration not only would save ponding areas at the north end of the proposed center, but would also "improve the design of the shopping center by eliminating the excessive mall length and creating a better siting and design relationship to surrounding areas and facilities," Cooke said.

Hahn has stated that the configuration is not feasible, but Cooke said last night Hahn's architects think the center can be fitted by building a two-story parking garage on the Muzzi portion. Hahn, who was not present, said at a previous meeting he opposed such a structure.

Second, Cooke recommended study with the Golden Gate Bridge District of moving the rapid transit route to the median of Highway 101.

Third, the consultant suggested all of the marsh not used for the center be procured through purchase or dedication as open space.

Fourth, he recommended cutting out the proposed housing area "to maximize retention for recreation and natural habitat purposes."

Cooke said his plan would confine the shopping center to already filled land while leaving existing unspoiled marsh and open space.

His recommendation drew the qualified support of the Corte Madera General Plan Committee. Chairman Joel Shawn backed the idea only if all the proposed open space were included as "a benefit to the community and not only Mr. Hahn."

Other speakers just did not want a shopping center in any form. "No matter how much your taxes are reduced, there is nothing in this world that is going to pay for the increased pollution, traffic and all the other things that go with a shopping center of this size,"

Prisoners To Fly Home Tomorrow

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — Eighty American prisoners of war will fly to the United States Wednesday for reunions with their families at four separate military bases around the country, military spokesmen announced today.

The men, who returned from Communist prison camps Sunday and Monday, will fly in 20-man groups aboard four C141 Starlifter hospital planes at two hour intervals.

Spokesman said the first plane will leave at 8 a.m. Wednesday (7 p.m. EST Tuesday) for Andrews Air Base, Washington and arrive at 5:15 p.m. EST time Wednesday.

The arrival times and destinations of the other planes were 5:10 p.m. EST at Scott AFB, Ill.; 6:30 p.m. EST at Kelly AFB, Tex., and 5:30 p.m. EST at Travis AFB, Calif.

The names of those aboard the planes will be announced later, a spokesman said.

All of the early returnees were expected to be from the group of 106 military flyers who returned Sunday from Hanoi in what base doctors described as "very, very good condition." The 30 Americans who returned Monday from Viet Cong camps

Rogers Reports Harbor Is Open

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today Haiphong harbor, closed for 10 months by U.S. mining, has been reopened and some ships were going through to North Vietnam.

Rogers told the House Foreign Affairs Committee: "We received the report this morning that some ships are going through. I think the harbor is open."

U.S. minesweeping operations to clear the harbor resumed last weekend after the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong released another group of U.S. prisoners of war.

Sudanese Quiet On Terrorists

KHARTOUM (UPI) — Authorities did not react publicly today to a strong U.S. suggestion that Sudan convict and execute eight Black September guerrillas who murdered three diplomats, two of them American, during a 60-hour weekend siege at the Saudi Arabian embassy.

But President Jaafar Numeiry expressed "revulsion" at the deaths of the diplomats in a message to President Nixon and a government spokesman promised an early trial of the eight men on murder charges.

"They will be executed," one official told U.S. diplomats Monday at a tearful farewell to the widows and children of Ambassador Cleo A. Noel Jr. and George C. Moore, the outgoing chief U.S. envoy in Khartoum.

However, Information Minister Omar Haj Moussa issued a statement today, according to the Middle East News Agency, denying he had told reporters the guerrillas "will not escape punishment." Moussa said it would not be logical to talk about punishment since the government's investigation has just started and the matter is in

Albert Blasts Nixon: Congress 'No Monkey'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic leadership of the House united today in endorsing legislation to crack down on President Nixon's impounding of funds voted by Congress.

In the continuing battle over federal spending, Speaker Carl Albert accused Nixon at a news conference of trying to "make a monkey out of the legislative process."

The Republicans' top congressional leaders said at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue after meeting with the President that if Nixon was forced to spend the impounded funds, Americans would face a 15 per cent tax increase.

Albert, joined by other Democratic leaders, announced introduction of a bill that would give Congress 60 days to veto any presidential impoundment of funds. The measure differed from an impoundment bill introduced earlier by Senate Democrats.

The House measure, drafted by Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, would require the President to report to Congress within 10 days any funds he has impounded, or refused to spend. Both the House and Senate would then have to vote within 60 days of that time to veto the action.

Albert noted that Congress last year rejected Nixon's request to hold current federal spending to a $250 billion level. Despite defeat of his proposal, Nixon said he would impound funds to meet that spending limitation.

"He is trying to make a monkey out of the legislative process," said Albert. "It is an unwarranted invasion of the legislative process. Congress cannot sit quietly by and let it happen."

At the White House, Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said after their weekly meeting with Nixon that the Democrats were trying to force the President to spend $14 billion which is not needed.

Scott commented: "Asking Democrats to hold down spending is like asking an alcoholic to be your bartender. If the Democrats want to crusade for a 15 per cent tax increase which would be the result of $14 billion expenditure, then they can have that side of the issue."

The administration reported to Congress last month that it had impounded $8.7 billion appropriated last year for programs affecting housing, agriculture, education, defense, pollution and hospital and highway construction.

Education Goals At Drake Under Attack

Exam Leads To General Discussion

By PATRICIA PERRY

Whether an English exam given at Sir Francis Drake High School last month was pornographic became a secondary issue last night at the mass turnout of parents and students it inspired.

The examination served at the meeting of the Tamalpais High School District board largely as a focal point for some parents' larger discontent with Drake's educational program as a whole. (Another Tamalpais district study, page 15.)

The school is "experimenting too much with students," said one parent.

It's impossible for a student to take a structured academic course at the school, charged other parents.

Students who get "A" grades in history fail college entrance exams in history, said one.

Students countered parents' criticism by saying that the purpose of an education isn't to take tests. Craig Griffeath, student representative on the district board, said education "must continually indicate constant change to meet the needs of a changing world."

Hundreds of Drake parents and students crammed the board's meeting, which had to be moved to the larger student center from the faculty lounge to accommodate the crowd.

But after hours of verbal battle, with students and the board and some residents vigorously supporting the education program at Drake, nothing was resolved. The only action taken by the board was to invite parents to attend a meeting at Drake on March 14 at 8 p.m., when the faculty will explain programs.

To shouts of "yeah" and applause from fellow Drake students, Edward V. Neumeier told the protesting parents:

"We've got brains and feelings, we're old enough to have a say. You people are talking about education 20 or 30 years ago. We're completely different from the way a lot of you have been brought up."

The original cause of the controversy was a teen-ager's letter which described sexual activity at a party and formed the basis of a test given to a freshman English class.

Ann M. Hughes of San Anselmo told the board the test was "evil in itself" and said "immorality, chaos and low academic standards were perpetuated in the classrooms. . . The school experiments too much with our children."

June Weden of San Anselmo represented a group of Drake parents, said to have been concerned with education at the school since last May, particularly with improper labeling of courses. They wonder, she said, why "Catcher in the Rye" is required reading in world history, and why a girl who gets "A" in English can't spell or use the English language properly.

Mrs. Weden said this fall no structured courses were available at all, and students weren't allowed to bring textbooks or graded papers home.

She quoted a senior who told her "they don't really teach history at Drake" and said that

San Rafael Council Approves Aid For Two Evicted Families

Two families evicted by their landlord so that San Rafael can acquire a parcel across from city hall were awarded municipal relocation aid last night by the city council.

The Bertha Floyd family of 1317 Fifth Avenue will receive $500 in moving expenses and $500 in rental assistance, reported City Atty. Fred C. Robbins, the city's negotiator in the matter. The Floyd family plans to move out by March 15, he said.

The Goerge V. Kearnes family of 1313 Fifth Avenue will remain in their home for two years as tenants of the city for $50 per month, and then receive $500 in moving expenses, Robbins said. The family now pays a rent of $112 per month.

The city as landlord also will do some pruning work ad make sure the house is up to code, he added.

When the city's contract for purchase of the land was first announced, it was thought the families to be evicted were ineligible for relocation aid from the city because the contract called for purchase of uninhabited land and left evication to the seller. City Attorney Robbins reversed that opinion, however, after reviewing the state Uniform Relocation Act.

The act provides for payment of up to $500 in moving expenses and $4,000 over four years in rental assistance for families forced to relocate because of municipal acquisitions.

The city plans to convert the 21,700-square-foot parcel at Fifth Avenue and D Street into a parking lot and perhaps eventually use the site for a new public safety facility. Construction of the lot will require demolition of the Floyd residence only, with the Kearnes' home being torn down only if safety facilities should be located there.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

No 'Young' Rocks

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Geologists' hopes that the Apollo 17 astronauts brought back the youngest rocks from the moon have been dashed by a leading scientists who reported that some samples are among the oldest seen.

Dr. Gerald J. Wasserburg of the California Institute of Technology said a typical sample of the lava that flooded the valley the astronauts explored last month turned out by radioactive dating methods to have cooled 3.77 billion years ago.

This indicated, Wasserburg said yesterday, that the major volcanic activity in the moon ended 3.15 billion years ago. Before December's flight of Apollo 17, geologists expected astronauts Harrison H. Schmitt and Eugene A. Cernan would return with samples younger than three billion years and maybe only 500 million years old.

Avalanche Fatal

OMIESBACH, Germany (UPI) — An avalanche swept over a mountainside cabin early today and buried a party of skiers who could not hear it coming. They were deaf.

Police in this Bavarian Alpine community said at least four persons, including a 2-year-old child were killed in the predawn snowslide and three others were "seriously injured." Two more were missing.

The eight deaf people in the cabin, one of whom dug his way free and alerted rescue workers, were taking part in a special skiing course for individuals who cannot hear, police said.

Tour New Home

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Nixon and her daughter Julie Nixon Eisenhower took advantage of mild weather yesterday to visit the $100,000 country club estate that Julie and her husband David Eisenhower will begin renting next month.

Mrs. Nixon promised to help Julie Plant a vegetable garden on the spacious grounds that include a patio and swimming pool. They also discussed interior decorating plans.

The Eisenhowers will be renting the two-bedroom house from President Nixon's close friend C.B. (Bebe) Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla.

Blow To Ellsberg

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The judge in the Pentagon Papers trial dealt the defense a serious setback yesterday, ruling out attempts to show the papers were taken to provide accurate information about the Vietnam war to a Congress deceived by the President.

"There was no other way other than the one the defendants chose to get this information to the Congress," argued a lawyer for Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne ruled against them, sayin the "defense of justification" has not been allowed since well before the turn of the century, and has only been accepted in cases involving otherwise illegal actions taken to avoid death or serious personal injury.

Pope Fills Post

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI announced two new cardinals to Roman Catholic Curia posts today, extending his shakeup of the Vatican "cabinet."

Today's appointments were French Cardinal Paul Philippe as prefect of the Congregation of the Oriental Church and Italian Cardinal Sergio Pignedoli as president of the Secratariat for Non-Believers.

Security Tight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, under tight security throughout the day, discussed problems of Soviet Jewry with Mayor John V. Lindsay yesterday and told a cheering crowd of Jewish supporters that their donations in aid of Israel were indispensable.

With security agents poking into television news cameras before the start of filmed interviews, Mrs. Meir held meetings in her Waldorf Towers suite with Lindsay and Rep. Ogden Reid, D-N.Y.

Mrs. Meir was scheduled today to receive an honorary doctor of laws at Brandeis University in Boston.

Exodus Continues

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sources with access to government statistics said yesterday the exodus of Soviet Jews to Israel continues despite a controversial head tax on emigrants with university educations.

The sources said that since the tax was enacted Aug. 3, slightly more than 20,000 Jews have left the country, about 1,800 of them university-trained.

Cockroaches Are Conditioned

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — It's been hard to find a smart cockroach since Don Marquis' "Archie" gave up his literary career, but scientists at Oregon State University are trying to produce one.

Dr. W. P. Stephens said a behaviorial research program is teaching cockroaches despite their lack of brains—by conditioning their behavior through electric shocks.

He didn't explain what a conditioned cockroach will be good for.

Air Crash Blamed On Controllers

PARIS (UPI) — A French pilot today blamed military traffic controllers for the collision of two Spanish airliners in which one plane crashed, killing 68 persons. Most European airliners banned flights over France until civilian air controllers end their strike and return to work.

The French Air Force, whose men are filling in for striking civilian air controllers, blamed the crash on the pilot of the plane which survived the collision and said he turned directly into the path of an Iberian airliner which fell in flames, killing all aboard.

The British Airline Pilots Association said fliers had reported several near misses in the air since the air controllers struck 16 days ago.

Among the airlines canceling flights across French air space were Iberia Airlines, owner of the crashed plane, and Spantax, whose aircraft escaped; British European Airlines, British Caledonia, KLM, Air France, El Al and Scandinavian Airlines System. Swiss Air temporarily canceled flights over France, but said today they would be resumed after assurances were given by the French government.

The two major U.S. airlines flying over France, Pan American and Trans World Airlines, said they would continue to fly over French air space.

The collision between the Iberia Airlines DC9 and a Convair 990 "Coronado" of Spantax company occurred over western France. All aboard the Convair survived.

Yves Marchais, a representative of the French National Pilots Union, said: "The Coronado pilot was told to slow down too late. The military are forced to play a game they cannot win."

But Transport Minister Robert Galley said today, "We have not found anything indicating an error by the military control."

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Claude Grigaut said the Coronado pilot "for unknown reasons and without being authorized, made a 360 degree turn which brought the plane into the...airway used by the DC9."

Beef Prices Bring Rustling Increase

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — The soaring price of beef has been accompanied by increasing rustling of cattle on the open range, Nevada's agriculture director said Monday.

Thomas Ballow told a State Senate Committee that 2,000 head of cattle worth an estimated $600,000 were stolen in Nevada last year—up from about $200,000 worth rustled in prior years.

Famed Novelist Pearl Buck Dies

PEARL S. BUCK
Novelist dies at 80

DANBY, Vt. (UPI) — Novelist Pearl S. Buck, whose portrayals of Chinese peasant life won her Pulitzer and Nobel prizes, died at her home here today. She was 80.

Mrs. Buck, daughter of Presbyterian missionaries who worked in China, was hospitalized several times last summer and on Sept. 29 underwent surgery for removal of her gall bladder.

"She passed away quietly," said her personal secretary, Miss Beverly Drake. She said some members of Mrs. Buck's family were at her bedside when she died.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete but services will be private in accordance with her wishes.

Only recently Mrs. Buck was denied permission to reenter China. She had applied to the embassy in the People's Republic of China which claimed her works took "an attitude of distortion, smear and vilification toward the people of China and their leaders."

She was born in Hillsboro, W. Va.

Mrs. Buck published 29 novels, three collections of short stories and an autobiography, "For Spacious Skies," in 1966. Aides reported she was working on four other novels at the time of her death.

Mrs. Buck won the Pulitzer Prize in 1931 for her second novel, "The Good Earth," and seven years later she became the first American woman to win the Nobel Prize for literature.

The Nobel Prize was granted for no particular work, but the citation read: "For rich and genuine epic portrayals of Chinese peasant life, and for masterpieces of biography."

Mrs. Buck, who reportedly gave more than $7 million to charities, had resided at Danby since the late 1960s.

She was born Pearl Comfort Sydenstricker on June 26, 1892. She spent her childhood in China and learned to speak Chinese before English. In her own words, Mrs. Buck "grew up much alone" in China and learned to live in the Chinese style with their folklore and customs.

She returned to the United States at the age of 17 to enter Randolph-Macon College. After college she went back to China and two years later married a Presbyterian missionary, John Lossing Buck, whom she divorced in 1936 for incompatibility.

Mrs. Buck aided her husband in his work among the Chinese and bore two of his children. She taught in Chinese universities and lived the life of a missionary.

She began her career as a novelist with the book "East Wind, West Wind," and in 1930 wrote "The Good Earth." It was published the following year.

After winning the Pulitzer Prize, Mrs. Buck spent much of her time in America, writing novels and magazine articles. Following charges from conservatives that she was too "modernistic," Mrs. Buck resigned her missionary post with the Presbyterian Church in 1933.

On the same day she obtained a divorce in Reno, Mrs. Buck married her publisher, Richard J. Walsh, whose wife, a close friend of the novelist, had just divorced him.

They moved to a farm in Bucks County, near Doylestown, Pa., and adopted five children. After Walsh's death in 1960 Mrs. Buck adopted four other youngsters.

One of the latest of her novels, "The New Year," published in 1968, was inspired by the plight of Amer-Asian children. To aid these youngsters, the offspring of American servicemen and Asian women, she formed the Pearl S. Buck Foundation in 1964.

Mrs. Buck also founded Welcome House, Inc., in 1949, an adoption agency for children of mixed American-Asian blood.

In 1950 she published a small book called "The Child Who Never Grew," the story of her experiences with her oldest daughter, who was mentally retarded.

IRS Letter Asks Wrong Payment

BEDFORD HEIGHTS, Ohio (UPI) — Julia Chittum has received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service asking her to pay $92,000,050.06 in income tax for 1970 plus $1.78 interest.

Mrs. Chittum said the erroneous statement came from Austin, Tex., where she formerly worked.

The letter said if she does not pay within 10 days, addititional charges and penalties will be tacked on.

Fighting Continues In Truce Zones

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam and Cambodia reported more intensive fighting yesterday while some progress was reported in post-truce talks in Laos.

The Saigon command, citing updated reports received from the field, reported a substantial increase in casualties from post-truce fighting. Command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said that since the Jan. 28 cease-fire, Communists have committed 5,797 truce violations and have lost 12,192 men killed and 195 captured.

In Phnom Penh, officials reported fierce fighting along the southern Highway 2 as Communist troops attacked two major government outposts only 23 miles south of Phnom Penh. Military spokesmen claimed 106 Communists were killed at a cost of only two government soldiers dead and military sources attributed the heavy Communist casualties to saturation raids by U.S. warplanes.

In Honolulu, a statement issued from U.S. Pacific Forces headquarters said U.S. planes flew strikes at the request of the Phnom Penh government but did not say where the operations tooc place.

The military sources in Phnom Penh, however, said the raids were flown against Communist troops who attacked the towns of Samrong Yong and Bantea Trav at dusk Sunday. The fighting continued for nearly 24 hours.

In Vientiane, government and Communist Pathet Lao representatives to the Joint Military Commission and a committee on a coalition government met for 2-½ hours Monday. Government spokesmen said there was no substantive agreement, although some points were ironed out.

The Soviet news agency Tass said yesterday that six Soviet ships blocked since last May by U.S. mines in the Haiphong harbor of North Vietnam sailed out of port over the weekend. Tass said a special Soviet team was sent to Haiphong to help the blocked ships sail from the harbor, which is now being cleared of mines with U.S. Navy help.

Saigon's assistant commissioner for public information denied a Hanoi claim that mass execution and torture of Communist prisoners were being carried out in South Vietnamese jails. Pham Duong Hien called the report, carried Sunday by Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency, "a full fabrication by the Communist propaganda apparatus aimed at misleading public opinion."

The State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson was the first prison in Michigan, erected in 1838.

New Light Is Shed On Bugging Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials of President Nixon's reelection campaign sent FBI agents on "fishing expeditions" to keep them from "getting to the truth" about the Watergate case, according to a document given a Senate committee.

The document was a letter sent by the FBI to John W. Dean Jr., White House counsel, July 21. This was four days after tha break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate apartment building.

The letter, along with other FBI documents, was released yesterday by the Senate Judiciary Committee, which today was to resume its hearings on the nomination of acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III to be permanent head of the agency.

The letter described FBI interviews with employes of the Committee to Re-elect the President.

It said that "another cooperative source at the committee (interviewed by the FBI) advised confidentiolly that committee officials during interviews were sending FBI agents on fishing expeditions to keep them from getting the truth." The FBI letter also said: "Numerous interviews were conducted with personnel employed at the Committee to Reelect the President and in each interview, at the committee's insistence, an attorney at the commitee was present."

The letter showed that some persons at the committee were reluctant to talk to the FBI too openly. "Several persons subsequent to the interviews conducted at the committee contacted the Washington field office and requested to be further interviewed away from committee headquarters and without the knowledge of committee officials," it said.

The document said the FBI was told that people connected with the reelection campaign committee who testified bafore a grand jury were subsequently debriefed by campaign committee attorneys as to what happened at the grand jury sessions. These sessions are usually considered secret.

The letter, contained in a summary FBI report, was furnished to the Senate committee by Gray as part of Gray's offer last week to cooperate fully with the Senate inquiry on his nomination.

Two persons were convicted and five pleaded guilty in connection with the Watergate break-in, which, according to testimony, was part of an operation to bug the Democratic headquarters during the campaign.

Meanwhile, a judiciary committee spokesman said that, as a result of informal discussions between Republican Senators and Gray's staff, an effort would be made to broaden the scope of the questioning at the hearing.

The Republicans were understood to want more questions on the operation of the FBI instead of on politics.

Earnings Rise For Lockheed

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which two years ago had to be saved by the federal government from bankruptcy, reported increased earnings again Monday.

Daniel J. Haughton, chairman of the board and the man who directed the rescue appeal to the government, said the company earned $16.2 million last year, compared with $15.4 million the year before.

The profit worked out to $1.43 a share for stockholders, he said, compared to $1.36 a share the previous year.

After heated debate in Congress, Lockheed, the nation's largest defense contractor, obtained a guarantee from the federal government assuring repayment of $250 million in loans. Banks had refused to make the loans without such a guarantee.

Decision On Pay Hikes Is Delayed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The board of supervisors has decided to put off for one week a decision on new pay rates for 15,480 employees.

The board decided to delay action after three proposals made at a jammed meeting Monday night met with failure. About 550 employees attended the meeting, some of whom picketed outside city hall.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

No 'Young' Rocks

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Geologists' hopes that the Apollo 17 astronauts brought back the youngest rocks from the moon have been dashed by a leading scientists who reported that some samples are among the oldest seen.

Dr. Gerald J. Wasserburg of the California Institute of Technology said a typical sample of the lava that flooded the valley the astronauts explored last month turned out by radioactive dating methods to have cooled 3.77 billion years ago.

This indicated, Wasserburg said yesterday, that the major volcanic activity in the moon ended 3.15 billion years ago. Before December's flight of Apollo 17, geologists expected astronauts Harrison H. Schmitt and Eugene A. Cernan would return with samples younger than three billion years and maybe only 500 million years old.

Avalanche Fatal

OMIESBACH, Germany (UPI) — An avalanche swept over a mountainside cabin early today and buried a party of skiers who could not hear it coming. They were deaf.

Police in this Bavarian Alpine community said at least four persons, including a 2-year-old child were killed in the predawn snowslide and three others were "seriously injured." Two more were missing.

The eight deaf people in the cabin, one of whom dug his way free and alerted rescue workers, were taking part in a special skiing course for individuals who cannot hear, police said.

Tour New Home

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Nixon and her daughter Julie Nixon Eisenhower took advantage of mild weather yesterday to visit the $100,000 country club estate that Julie and her husband David Eisenhower will begin renting next month.

Mrs. Nixon promised to help Julie Plant a vegetable garden on the spacious grounds that include a patio and swimming pool. They also discussed interior decorating plans.

The Eisenhowers will be renting the two-bedroom house from President Nixon's close friend C.B. (Bebe) Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla.

Blow To Ellsberg

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The judge in the Pentagon Papers trial dealt the defense a serious setback yesterday, ruling out attempts to show the papers were taken to provide accurate information about the Vietnam war to a Congress deceived by the President.

"There was no other way other than the one the defendants chose to get this information to the Congress," argued a lawyer for Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne ruled against them, sayin the "defense of justification" has not been allowed since well before the turn of the century, and has only been accepted in cases involving otherwise illegal actions taken to avoid death or serious personal injury.

Pope Fills Post

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI announced two new cardinals to Roman Catholic Curia posts today, extending his shakeup of the Vatican "cabinet."

Today's appointments were French Cardinal Paul Philippe as prefect of the Congregation of the Oriental Church and Italian Cardinal Sergio Pignedoli as president of the Secratariat for Non-Believers.

Security Tight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, under tight security throughout the day, discussed problems of Soviet Jewry with Mayor John V. Lindsay yesterday and told a cheering crowd of Jewish supporters that their donations in aid of Israel were indispensable.

With security agents poking into television news cameras before the start of filmed interviews, Mrs. Meir held meetings in her Waldorf Towers suite with Lindsay and Rep. Ogden Reid, D-N.Y.

Mrs. Meir was scheduled today to receive an honorary doctor of laws at Brandeis University in Boston.

Exodus Continues

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sources with access to government statistics said yesterday the exodus of Soviet Jews to Israel continues despite a controversial head tax on emigrants with university educations.

The sources said that since the tax was enacted Aug. 3, slightly more than 20,000 Jews have left the country, about 1,800 of them university-trained.

Cockroaches Are Conditioned

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — It's been hard to find a smart cockroach since Don Marquis' "Archie" gave up his literary career, but scientists at Oregon State University are trying to produce one.

Dr. W. P. Stephens said a behaviorial research program is teaching cockroaches despite their lack of brains—by conditioning their behavior through electric shocks.

He didn't explain what a conditioned cockroach will be good for.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Reapportion Showdown Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Maneuvering for a showdown vote Thursday, Assembly Democrats have sweetened a reapportionment bill to entice Republicans into helping them override any veto by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"We have plenty of Republicans backing the bill," Assemblyman Ken Meade, architect of the plan, said Monday after the Assembly accepted amendments improving several GOP districts.

The amendments were approved on a split voice vote after an unsuccessful Republican attempt to send the measure back to a committee for a public hearing on the new district lines. The GOP move was rejected on a 40-21 vote.

Veteran Republican Assemblyman John L. E. Collier of Los Angeles openly supported the Democratic amendments, telling his GOP colleagues: "If you think we're going to gain more seats by letting the court do it (reapportion districts), then you're whistling in the dark."

Declaring that the legislature "is operating under a very severe time deadline," Meade said he definitely will take up the measure (AB8) for a floor vote Thursday.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, predicted the modified plan would be approved by a "surprising" margin with as many as 60 assemblymen casting favorable votes. Democrats would need 54 votes to override a veto.

The state Supreme Court has warned it will take over the politically ticklish job of redistricting if the legislature and Reagan fail to agree on a plan.

Meade said the new amendments would preserve most of Monterey County in the district of Assemblyman Bob Wood, R-Greenfield. The Salinas Valley had been cut out of Wood's district under the old bill.

He also said the University of California at Davis campus would be taken out of the district of Assemblyman Ray Johnso, R-Chico, and put entirely in that of Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento.

REAGAN PLANS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has all but decided not to run for the Senate, but is keeping it to himself.

A public announcement will be made within a few weeks, after private discussions with party leaders.

That is the consensus of Reagan intimates following the latest round in "what does he do after 1974?" conjecture.

The feeling is that Reagan does not really want to be a senator anyway, even if Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston wasn't what the governor acknowledges to be a very "formidable" opponent.

WAIVERS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Spring weddings can go ahead as planned despite a new law taking effect Wednesday that could have dashed or delayed the hopes of countless couples.

Responding to information that the new law would be nearly impossible to live up to, state Public Health Director Frederick B. Hodges yesterday told county clerks around the state to advise couples how to get a waiver to the new law.

The law requires that a woman undergo a blood test for susceptibility to German measles before being granted a license by a county clerk. However, there are only a handful of clinics in California capable of performing the tests.

So to prevent delays and confusion, Hodges sent a telegram to counties advising that couples obtain a waiver form from the clerks and have them signed by a superior court judge.

COAST PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. James O. Wedworth has introduced a measure appropriating $100 million for purchase of coastal lands to be used for parks as well as scenic and historic sites.

The amount is double the $40 million to $50 million proposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan for acquisition of coastal land as part of his plan to spend an $852 million budget surplus.

U.C. COSTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Federal cutbacks to education could cost the University of California more than $100 million in the next 28 months, leaving the nine-campus system with a possible crisis, its president Charls J. Hitch says.

Testifying before the Senate Finance Committee yesterday, Hitch said the lack of federal aid has created "gross uncertainties" within the system and could result in a "possible severe financial crisis" in 1973-74.

Hitch said he was preparing recommendations for increased state support to make up for at least part of the federal reductions. He said the suggestion would be submitted to the Board of Regents March 16 and later to the legislature.

DENIES CLAIM

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The chairman of a special legislative committee denies charges by Secretary of State Edmund Brown Jr. that lobbyist expense records were altered to hide the names of lawmaker recipients of campaign contributions.

Brown called a news conference yesterday to announce a legislative proposal to outlaw the practice of lobbyists making campaign contributions to legislators and other state office holders.

RACE COSTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State records show the winning state Senate campaign of Democrat Alan Robbins of North Hollywood cost $274,546, including nearly $17,000 from organized labor.

According to campaign statements by Robbins' finance committees on file yesterday, $128,591 was spent for last week's contest against Republican Phillip Johnson, a San Fernando city councilman.

Johnson had not filed his postelection spending statement by Monday. It is not due until April 3.

Countywide Plan On Tiburon Agenda

Adoption of the proposed county-wide general plan will be considered at a joint meeting of the Tiburon City Council and Planning Commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Del Mar School.

Representatives of the county planning department will attend the session to answer questions.

SEATED — Newly elected Sen. Alan Robbins, D-North Hollywood, survived Republican attempts yesterday to prevent his being seated in the senate because he has not lived in his district for the constitutionally required one year. The Senate's rejection of the GOP challenge was said by a top Democrat to be the end of Republican hopes of ousting Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego. (UPI Telephoto)

Labor—Establishes a minimum wage of $2.25 per hour and a maximum 35-hour work week for all public and private employes in California. (AB571 —Alatorre, D-Los Angeles.)

Trustees Shelve Plan For Early Schooling

Harry F. Roche, superintendent-principal, explained today that state education officials had cited rules against the district's proposal to admit youngsters at the age of 4 years, 9 months. Roche was instructed to seek further clarification from Sacramento.

The trustees also learned that a district advisory committee will meet March 15 to begin drafting a district program under the new state Early Childhood Education Act, which may supplant the abandoned proposal for early admission to kindergarten.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

LOTTERY — Ordered letters sent by March 15, notifying three temporary teachers of possible dismissal, if permanent teachers now on leave return.

BUDGET — Reviewed areas of the 1972-73 budget where surpluses or overspending have occurred, preparatory to discussing the 1973-74 budget. Roche said he has no figures yet for a tentative total for next year's budget.

CANDIDATES' NIGHT — Heard that candidates for the April 17 trustee elections will appear at the Lagunitas School multi-purpose room at 8 p.m. March 14.

PREDICTION — Heard Roche predict that current enrollment of 490 will climb to 507 in September, requiring some adjustments in class size.

ADJOURNED — To 7:30 p.m. March 19 in the Lagunitas School, for a review and program evaluation of the district's seventh and eighth grade programs.

Services Board Seeking Open Space Bond Bids

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night called for bids on the district's $600,000 open space bond issue approved overwhelmingly by voters last January.

Bids on the bond issue will be opened at 8 p.m. April 2, according to Genevieve T. Bolding, district managr.

Eyed for acquisition by the district are 12 parcels totaling 350 acres, she added.

The board last night directed county counsel to file condemnation proceedings against one of the parcels, a 23-acre property owned by Paul J. Stucker northwest of the intersection of Miller Creek Road and Las Gallinas Avenue, she said.

Condemnation of the land is necessary because Stucker has said he isn't interested in selling, Mrs. Bolding reported, adding she has no idea what the worth of the property may be.

The board next meets at 8 p.m. April 2.

Bandit Robs Woman In Apartment

A San Rafael woman was robbed at gunpoint and forced to commit an unnatural sex act in her Lincoln Avenue apartment yesterday, San Rafael police reported.

The robber came to her apartment after she returned from work and forced his way in with a handgun in a brown paper sack, she told police. He took approximately $25 from the wallet in her purse. He then forced her at gunpoint into the bedroom where he made her disrobe and commit the sex act, police reported.

He was described as Caucasian, no age given, with curly blonde hair, wearing glasses, a light-colored shirt, dark brown pants and a gold sweater, according to police reports.

Tires, Equipment Taken From Firm

Burglars broke a window at San Rafael Firestone at 1001 Irwin Street at 1 a.m. today and escaped with four or six tires and chrome mag wheels valued at $300 to $400, San Rafael police reported.

A window was broken with two by fours nailed together and two young men, possibly juveniles, took the tires and wheels from inside it, according to police. A witness saw the two run north on Irwin Street to be joined by a third young man. The witness told police that he did not see them carrying the wheels and tires.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

3:12 p.m., San Rafael — False alarm from street box at Montecillo Road and Nova Albion Way.

3:54 p.m., San Rafael — Check on extinguished fire in bathroom at 817 A Fourth Street; one piece of burning paper found; minor damage.

8:38 p.m., San Anselmo — Michael Trumbull of 30 Mariposa Avenue set box of hot ashes next to fence by Sohner's Tree service at 34 Mariposa Avenue; fence ignited doing $25 damage.

HEART VICTIM — Assemblyman Larry E. Townsend, D-Trrance, chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, died yesterday of an apparent heart attack at Sutter Memorial Hospital in Sacramento. An aide said Townsend, 42, had a history of heart illness, had suffered at least one previous attack and underwent surgery two years ago. (UPI Telephoto)

Prisoner Can't Find Out Who Won Viet War

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — A former prisoner of war said Monday since he was released from a Communist prison camp he has been trying to find out who won the Vietnam war.

Air Force Capt. Darrell Pyle, 32, said at a news conference that he walked aboard the U.S. freedom plane in Hanoi three weeks ago and immediately asked a crewman, "Who won the war?"

"'I don't know,'" was the crewman's terse reply," Pyle said.

Pyle said that he's been asking people ever since.

"I feel that it's going to be possibly five or 10 years until I can make a decision (as to who won the war)," said Pyle, whose family lives in Tustin, Calif.

Hub Panel Delays Subdivision Policy

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night postponed a decision on a four-lot subdivision proposed for 52 Park Way, the site of one of the oldest homes in the city, awaiting review of legal technicalities by City Atty. Hadden W. Roth.

Roth will be directed to look into an easement situation created by driveway patterns included in the subdivion proposal by Jack Barone, and report back to the commission at 8 p.m. March 19, according to Daniel W. Thomas, planning technician.

The proposal to subdivide the 1.6-acre parcel, site of the Tompkins estate, would leave untouched the nearby century-old Tompkins home, Thomas said. Neighbors last night appeared to express concerns about traffic patterns in the area, he added.

Commissioner John Levo Jr. urged the parcel be subdivided into only three lots, but Barone argued anything less than four lots would be uneconomical, Thomas said, adding commissioners generally agreed some sort of single family development eventually will be placed on the property.

San Anselmo Planning Commission Also:

HOMES — Approved permits for single family homes at 546 Scenic Avenue, 5 Miwok Drive, 31 Elk Horn Way, and 21 Elk Horn Way. A proposal for a home at 1 Indian Rock Road was held over pending completion of the city's new general plan and a proposal for a home at 85 Woodside Drive was withdrawn because of slide problems.

EASEMENT — Referred to planning and parks staff at request by Ralph O. Jennings for an easement across from city property on Indian Rock Court.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. March 19.

Migrant Camp Hit By Typhoid

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (UPI) — Health officials sought today to prevent the spread of a typhoid fever outbreak at a migrant labor camp where 107 persons have been hospitalized, many of them children.

Cause of the outbreak was not known, but officials suspected the camp water supply.

Death Payment

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel will pay $30,000 to every family that lost a breadwinner among the 106 victims of the Libyan airliner crash, the government announced today.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Reapportion Showdown Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Maneuvering for a showdown vote Thursday, Assembly Democrats have sweetened a reapportionment bill to entice Republicans into helping them override any veto by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"We have plenty of Republicans backing the bill," Assemblyman Ken Meade, architect of the plan, said Monday after the Assembly accepted amendments improving several GOP districts.

The amendments were approved on a split voice vote after an unsuccessful Republican attempt to send the measure back to a committee for a public hearing on the new district lines. The GOP move was rejected on a 40-21 vote.

Veteran Republican Assemblyman John L. E. Collier of Los Angeles openly supported the Democratic amendments, telling his GOP colleagues: "If you think we're going to gain more seats by letting the court do it (reapportion districts), then you're whistling in the dark."

Declaring that the legislature "is operating under a very severe time deadline," Meade said he definitely will take up the measure (AB8) for a floor vote Thursday.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, predicted the modified plan would be approved by a "surprising" margin with as many as 60 assemblymen casting favorable votes. Democrats would need 54 votes to override a veto.

The state Supreme Court has warned it will take over the politically ticklish job of redistricting if the legislature and Reagan fail to agree on a plan.

Meade said the new amendments would preserve most of Monterey County in the district of Assemblyman Bob Wood, R-Greenfield. The Salinas Valley had been cut out of Wood's district under the old bill.

He also said the University of California at Davis campus would be taken out of the district of Assemblyman Ray Johnso, R-Chico, and put entirely in that of Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento.

GREAT FAITH — Frank Treadway of Mill Valley said he has "great faith in public education."

Tam Education System Attacked

although her latest history grade was an "A" she scored only 20 per cent on the national scholastic aptitude test.

An American history student had written only two reports in one quarter, said Mrs. Weedon. "I think it's noble, but let's not throw out the baby with the bath water."

Frank Treadway, of 210 Rancho Drive, Mill Valley, said the press had blown the importance of the English test out of all proportion.

"This is one example of misjudgment but we shouldn't condemn the whole program. I have a great deal of faith in public education," he said, "and I think we're miles ahead of other schools in the Tam District."

Hans Schiller of Mill Valley said it was the board's responsibility to teach youngsters in a changing world to understand that world.

Referring to the disputed English exam, Schiller said: "If there are words they don't understand, like fornication which is a good and acceptable word, this is because they happen to use a different four-letter word most of the time."

Noel Berringer of San Anselmo asked for a review of Drake's English department, adding: "It's the right of parents to be thoroughly informed concerning curriculum."

Ann Light of Sleepy Hollow complained: "There's too much emphasis on what the students want instead of what is better for them."

No teacher entered the discussion.

Thomas Lorch, Drake's education leader, submitted to trustees a written answer to parents' criticism.

Frank L. Miller congratulated Lorch for backing his teachers unreservedly, and Bette Wallace said there is "a great need for students, parents and teachers to begin a real dialogue."

Jerrold M. Ladar said he thought the test was in bad taste, and asked for some "truth in labeling" of courses, saying that it wasn't too much to ask so parents will know what students are getting.

But while trustees appeared to believe that the March 14 meeting would satisfy parents' concern, Patricia Thompson warned: "You can't solve everything by talking, the board should set the policy for public education. This is a diversified community and we aren't going to solve its needs by mixing it up in one big porridge. You have to set the policy and not go around through all these meetings — parents get tired."

After the meeting Mrs. Weedon said she wasn't disappointed at the lack of any action on the board's part. Parents had simply wanted to air their concerns in public, she said, and hoped the next meeting at Drake would solve some problems.

PLAN

Elaine Rosen said from the audience as opponents applauded.

Also cheered was Mrs. Jack Haehl, who called the center a "phenomenal golden goose-egg." She suggested the town, like any family with a budget, should stop "having a child every year." The town could pay its way if it stopped growth, she predicted.

Others, including 520 who signed a petition, wanted a town vote, but Councilman Edward W. Colthurst called an election "just a tool to keep this going on and on and on."

Mayor Holmes S. Norville wondered how "John Q. Public, who has paid no attention to what is going on," could sort out the complexities of the issue.

Supporters of the project were not as vocal last night as at past hearings on the center and the redevelopment project that will be used to finance the necessary improvements. However, Councilman Robert J. Flahive said there is an even split in the town.

In previous meetings proponents stressed the financial wonders promised by Hahn.

The Southern California builder of shopping centers has estimated his creation will produce almost $2.8 million for the town between 1975 and 1980 from four major stores and myriad shops lining an air-conditioned mall.

However, despite the financial carrot, the plan has hit increasing opposition in Corte Madera and competition from 65 acres next to Bon Air Center in Larkspur.

Nevertheless, Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff offered some hope for the beleaguered development, promising not to "sweep it under the rug with a no vote to development. It will be developed one way or the other."

Development Plan On Agenda

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that the Fairfax Design Review Board will consider an environmental impact report for the controversial Canon Village and Tennis Club development when it meets at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Fairfax Womens Club.

The board will actually review a precise plan for the development, according to Robert E. Crowe, town administrator.

The proposal includes 128 units on 88 acres along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Glen Drive, he said.

The review board will also consider issuance of several sign and banner permits.

POWS

were still going through the routine processing.

Their release brought to 299 the number of U.S. POWs freed since the cease-fire—more than half of those known to be held by the Communists. All must be released by the end of the month.

Today some of the POWs planned to visit American children at schools on this U.S. Air Force base, and all those wishing to do so were to shop at the base department store.

Military doctors said today the only prisoner released in the latest batch to be carried from his freedom flight on a litter was in "satisfactory condition."

Army Staff Sgt. Gail Kerns, 26, Daniels, W.Va., insisted on walking onto the plane that picked him up in Hanoi but had to be carried off at Clark. Spokesmen refused to say what his exact medical problems were, but photographs showed him shaking hands with his left hand, apparently because he was unable to use his right.

Army Staff Sgt. Bill Baird, Wooster, Ohio, also had to be helped from the C141 jet hospital plane.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, March 6, the 65th day of 1973 with 300 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

British poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning, wife of poet Robert Browning, was born March 6, 1806.

On this day in history:

In 1836, Mexican forces captured the Alamo in San Antonio, Tex., killing the last of 187 Americans who had held out for 13 days, including famed frontiersman Davy Crockett. From the slaughter arose the cry "Remember the Alamo!"

In 1857, the United States Supreme Court handed down its landmark ruling that Negro slave Dred Scott could not sue for his freedom in a federal court.

In 1964, King Paul of Greece died at the age of 62 and was succeeded by his son, Prince Constantine. A military regime took over the country three years later, (and remains in control today).

In 1968, Joseph Martin, Massachusetts republican who was speaker of the House of Representatives from 1947 to 1949 and from 1953 to 1955, died at the age of 83.

A thought for the day: British poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning said, "The child's sob in the darkness curses deeper than the strong man in his wrath."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

OBITUARIES

John (Jack) Meagor Dies At 70

John A. (Jack) Meagor, a lifelong resident of Marin County, died yesterday in a local hospital following a lengthy illness.

Meagor, 70, was plant manager for Coca Cola Bottling Company in San Rafael for 32 years before retiring in 1962. Before that, he was employed by a San Francisco hardware firm for five years.

Born in San Anselmo, he attended Tamalpais High School. He and his wife, J. Helen, were married in 1925.

He was a member of Marin Lodge No. 191 Free and Accepted Masons, Marin Chapter No. 102 Royal Arch Masons, Mount Olivet Commandery No. 20 Knights Templar of Petaluma, Islam Temple Shrine.

He also was a member and past president of the Marin County Shrine Club, a member of San Rafael Chapter No. 215 Order of Eastern Star and Sons in Retirement Branch No. 7.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Annie Belle Nachtsheim of San Rafael, and two brothers, Joseph C. Meagor of San Rafael and William R. Meagor of San Anselmo.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

DOROTHY ASHOFF

Dorothy Ashoff, a native of Sausalito and a resident of Sonoma for the past 16 years, died yesterday in a local hospital following a long illness. She was 56.

She and her husband, Fred C. Ashoff, also a native of Sausalito, lived in Sausalito for 35 years before moving to Sonoma. She was the daughter of the late Mary Bailey Texeira, a lifelong resident of Sausalito. Mrs. Ashoff was a graduate of Tamalpais High School.

She was president of the Sonoma Valley Mastectomy Club, a member of the Marinita Parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West, San Rafael chapter.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two children, Caroline Feeney of Paradise and James F. Ashoff of Sonoma; four sisters, Mrs. Joseph Bertrand of Tiburon, Adeline Texeira of Terra Linda, Lillian Texeira of Palm Springs and Grace Johnson of San Rafael, and a brother, Alfred Texeira of San Anselmo.

Funeral will be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday at Chapel of Bates, Sonoma, followed by Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. at St. Francis Solano Church in Sonoma. Rosary will be recited at 7 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home. Interment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

JOHN PETERSON

Private funeral for John E. Peterson of Mill Valley, owner of a Southern Marin real estate firm, was held yesterday.

Peterson, 47, died Friday in an auto crash while vacationing in Mexico.

A native of San Francisco, he had lived in Marin County for 24 years, residing at 69 Greenwood Way. Peterson had been in the real estate business for the past eight years and was owner of Scott Valley Real Estate in Mill Valley. He was a member of the Olympic Club of San Francisco and the Marin County Real Estate Board.

Peterson is survived by his wife, Carol and three daughters, Susan Peterson, Lyn Leitch and Jan Peterson, all of Mill Valley and a sister, Carolyn Kane of New York.

Burial was private. The family prefers contributions to a favorite charity.

In Washington, Sudanese Cabinet minister, Abdel Rahman Abdullah, called on President Nixon today to express official condolences over the deaths of the two U.S. diplomats killed by Palestinian terrorists.

Following the meeting in the President's Oval Office, Nixon arranged to go to the State Department for a working luncheon on ways to cope with international terrorism and to dedicate a memorial plaque bearing the names of the two Americans slain in the Saudi Arabian embassy in Khartoum.

Abdullah, minister of public service and national reform, accompanied the bodies of Ambassador Cleo A. Noel Jr. and his deputy, G. Curtis Moore, on the presidential jet which brought them home Monday.

Trade Talks Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz will conduct trade talks with Soviet officials in Moscow next week, the White House announced Tuesday.

LAURA STEFFANS

Private funeral will be held for Laura Steffens, 18, of San Rafael, who collapsed and died Friday while shopping in a San Rafael store.

Miss Steffens suffered from congenital heart disease, according to her parents, Ronald and Beverly Steffens of 14 Comstock Drive.

Miss Steffens was born in San Francisco, and had attended Terra Linda High School until last January. She was a senior.

She also is survived by a brother, Kirk, and a sister, Linda Steffens of the home; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Muzio of San Francisco, and a paternal grandmother, Hazel Steffens of Santa Cruz.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Heart Association of Marin County.

PERCY STANG

Percy A. Stang, a resident of Mill Valley for 38 years before moving to San Francisco 10 years ago, died yesterday in a local convalescent home after a long illness.

Stang, 79, had been a volunteer with the Boy Scouts in Mill Valley for 38 years and was an executive board member of the Marin Council. He received the council's highest award, the Silver Beaver, in 1960.

Born i San Francisco, he worked for Western Union there for 55 years, beginning as a bicycle messenger boy. He was a purchasing agent when he retired in 1963.

He moved to San Francisco in 1963 after he and his wife, Hilda, were married.

He was a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West, San Francisco chapter and the Sequoia Club.

He is survived by his wife.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Ashley and McMullen Mortuary, 4200 Geary Boulevard, San Francisco. Inurnment will be private.

GALE PORTER

Funeral for Gale M. Porter of San Rafael will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Porter, 35, of 100 Bayo Vista Way, Apt. 18, drowned Sunday while on an outing at China Camp with his wife, Irene.

He was a student at College of Marin in Kentfield, where he was studying art and photography.

Porter had been a resident of San Rafael from 1970 to early 1972, moving for a short time to Denver, Colo., and San Francisco before returning to Marin seven months ago.

Born in Twin Falls, Ida., he was reared and went through schools in Boise, Ida. He moved from Boise in 1967, taking a job with the Red Cross in Lincoln, Neb.

He moved to San Francisco from Lincoln and worked at the Hunter's Point Naval Shipyard, San Francisco Veterans Hospital and for a short period as a clerk with the San Francisco Sheriffs' office.

He and his wife were married in May 1970. He was a Navy veteran.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two children, Paige and Clayton Porter, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Porter, and a sister Billie Miller, all of Boise.

MARTHA FISCHER

Private funeral for Martha K. Fischer, 76, of San Rafael, was yesterday in Mill Valley. Mrs. Fischer died Saturday at a local hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Berlin, Mrs. Fischer came to this country from Germany two years ago to make her home with her daughter, Inez Young, at 651 Wake Robin Lane.

Burial was private.

MRS. BAROZZI

Mass of the Resurrection for Louise K. Barozzi, longtime San Anselmo resident, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Barozzi, who was 80, died Sunday in the home at 47 Elm Avenue where she had lived 50 years.

She was born in San Francisco but moved to Marin 50 years ago.

She was the widow of Joseph P. Barozzi, a retired stonemason who died in 1969. At the time of Barozzi's death, the couple had been married 61 years.

Mrs. Barozzi is survived by a son, William Barozzi of San Francisco; three daughters, Mrs. Evelyn DaCostello and Rosalie (Babe) Barozzi, both of San Anselmo, and Marie Simontacchi of San Rafael; seven grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

JOHN F. SILVA

Mass of the Resurrection for John F. ("Cow John") Silva, 86, of Sausalito, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Star of the Sea Church in Sausalito.

Silva died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness.

He was born in the Azores Islands but had lived in Marin County 50 years.

He last worked as a bartender for the Seven Seas Restaurant in Sausalito. Before that he worked as a ranch hand.

His home was 86 Bridgeway.

His survivors include a granddaughter.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Star of the Sea Church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

COLONEL HEINZ

A Mass for Col. Richard Jude Heinz, a retired doctor, and father of Nancy Marquis of Kentfield, will be 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Veterans Home Chapel in Yountville.

He died Friday in Bear Valley, Alpine County, apparently of a heart attack suffered while on a skiing trip. He was 68.

He was born in San Francisco and graduated from the University of California Medical School. He was a World War II veteran of the European Theater, where he served as a surgeon in the Army. He was a career Army doctor, serving his last 10 years before retiring as a doctor at the Yountville Veterans Home.

He was a member of the American Medical Association, Upper Napa Valley Association, Reader of St. Joan of Arc Catholic Church in Yountville.

He is survived by his wife, Helen Dunne Heinz of Napa; another daughter, Janet Mitchell of San Francisco; a sister, Helen Gable of South Burlington, Vt. and five grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Treadway and Wiggins Funeral Chapel in Napa. Burial will be in Tulocay Cemetery, Napa.

GREAT FAITH — Frank Treadway of Mill Valley said he has "great faith in public education."

although her latest history grade was an "A" she scored only 20 per cent on the national scholastic aptitude test.

An American history student had written only two reports in one quarter, said Mrs. Weedon. "I think it's noble, but let's not throw out the baby with the bath water."

Frank Treadway, of 210 Rancho Drive, Mill Valley, said the press had blown the importance of the English test out of all proportion.

"This is one example of misjudgment but we shouldn't condemn the whole program. I have a great deal of faith in public education," he said, "and I think we're miles ahead of other schools in the Tam District."

Hans Schiller of Mill Valley said it was the board's responsibility to teach youngsters in a changing world to understand that world.

Referring to the disputed English exam, Schiller said: "If there are words they don't understand, like fornication which is a good and acceptable word, this is because they happen to use a different four-letter word most of the time."

Noel Berringer of San Anselmo asked for a review of Drake's English department, adding: "It's the right of parents to be thoroughly informed concerning curriculum."

Ann Light of Sleepy Hollow complained: "There's too much emphasis on what the students want instead of what is better for them."

No teacher entered the discussion.

Thomas Lorch, Drake's education leader, submitted to trustees a written answer to parents' criticism.

Frank L. Miller congratulated Lorch for backing his teachers unreservedly, and Bette Wallace said there is "a great need for students, parents and teachers to begin a real dialogue."

Jerrold M. Ladar said he thought the test was in bad taste, and asked for some "truth in labeling" of courses, saying that it wasn't too much to ask so parents will know what students are getting.

But while trustees appeared to believe that the March 14 meeting would satisfy parents' concern, Patricia Thompson warned: "You can't solve everything by talking, the board should set the policy for public education. This is a diversified community and we aren't going to solve its needs by mixing it up in one big porridge. You have to set the policy and not go around through all these meetings — parents get tired."

After the meeting Mrs. Weedon said she wasn't disappointed at the lack of any action on the board's part. Parents had simply wanted to air their concerns in public, she said, and hoped the next meeting at Drake would solve some problems.

Elaine Rosen said from the audience as opponents applauded.

Also cheered was Mrs. Jack Haehl, who called the center a "phenomenal golden goose-egg." She suggested the town, like any family with a budget, should stop "having a child every year." The town could pay its way if it stopped growth, she predicted.

Others, including 520 who signed a petition, wanted a town vote, but Councilman Edward W. Colthurst called an election "just a tool to keep this going on and on and on."

Mayor Holmes S. Norville wondered how "John Q. Public, who has paid no attention to what is going on," could sort out the complexities of the issue.

Supporters of the project were not as vocal last night as at past hearings on the center and the redevelopment project that will be used to finance the necessary improvements. However, Councilman Robert J. Flahive said there is an even split in the town.

In previous meetings proponents stressed the financial wonders promised by Hahn.

The Southern California builder of shopping centers has estimated his creation will produce almost $2.8 million for the town between 1975 and 1980 from four major stores and myriad shops lining an air-conditioned mall.

However, despite the financial carrot, the plan has hit increasing opposition in Corte Madera and competition from 65 acres next to Bon Air Center in Larkspur.

Nevertheless, Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff offered some hope for the beleaguered development, promising not to "sweep it under the rug with a no vote to development. It will be developed one way or the other."

Development Plan On Agenda

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that the Fairfax Design Review Board will consider an environmental impact report for the controversial Canon Village and Tennis Club development when it meets at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Fairfax Womens Club.

The board will actually review a precise plan for the development, according to Robert E. Crowe, town administrator.

The proposal includes 128 units on 88 acres along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Glen Drive, he said.

The review board will also consider issuance of several sign and banner permits.

were still going through the routine processing.

Their release brought to 299 the number of U.S. POWs freed since the cease-fire—more than half of those known to be held by the Communists. All must be released by the end of the month.

Today some of the POWs planned to visit American children at schools on this U.S. Air Force base, and all those wishing to do so were to shop at the base department store.

Military doctors said today the only prisoner released in the latest batch to be carried from his freedom flight on a litter was in "satisfactory condition."

Army Staff Sgt. Gail Kerns, 26, Daniels, W.Va., insisted on walking onto the plane that picked him up in Hanoi but had to be carried off at Clark. Spokesmen refused to say what his exact medical problems were, but photographs showed him shaking hands with his left hand, apparently because he was unable to use his right.

Army Staff Sgt. Bill Baird, Wooster, Ohio, also had to be helped from the C141 jet hospital plane.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, March 6, the 65th day of 1973 with 300 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

British poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning, wife of poet Robert Browning, was born March 6, 1806.

On this day in history:

In 1836, Mexican forces captured the Alamo in San Antonio, Tex., killing the last of 187 Americans who had held out for 13 days, including famed frontiersman Davy Crockett. From the slaughter arose the cry "Remember the Alamo!"

In 1857, the United States Supreme Court handed down its landmark ruling that Negro slave Dred Scott could not sue for his freedom in a federal court.

In 1964, King Paul of Greece died at the age of 62 and was succeeded by his son, Prince Constantine. A military regime took over the country three years later, (and remains in control today).

In 1968, Joseph Martin, Massachusetts republican who was speaker of the House of Representatives from 1947 to 1949 and from 1953 to 1955, died at the age of 83.

A thought for the day: British poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning said, "The child's sob in the darkness curses deeper than the strong man in his wrath."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

OBITUARIES

John (Jack) Meagor Dies At 70

John A. (Jack) Meagor, a lifelong resident of Marin County, died yesterday in a local hospital following a lengthy illness.

Meagor, 70, was plant manager for Coca Cola Bottling Company in San Rafael for 32 years before retiring in 1962. Before that, he was employed by a San Francisco hardware firm for five years.

Born in San Anselmo, he attended Tamalpais High School. He and his wife, J. Helen, were married in 1925.

He was a member of Marin Lodge No. 191 Free and Accepted Masons, Marin Chapter No. 102 Royal Arch Masons, Mount Olivet Commandery No. 20 Knights Templar of Petaluma, Islam Temple Shrine.

He also was a member and past president of the Marin County Shrine Club, a member of San Rafael Chapter No. 215 Order of Eastern Star and Sons in Retirement Branch No. 7.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Annie Belle Nachtsheim of San Rafael, and two brothers, Joseph C. Meagor of San Rafael and William R. Meagor of San Anselmo.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

DOROTHY ASHOFF

Dorothy Ashoff, a native of Sausalito and a resident of Sonoma for the past 16 years, died yesterday in a local hospital following a long illness. She was 56.

She and her husband, Fred C. Ashoff, also a native of Sausalito, lived in Sausalito for 35 years before moving to Sonoma. She was the daughter of the late Mary Bailey Texeira, a lifelong resident of Sausalito. Mrs. Ashoff was a graduate of Tamalpais High School.

She was president of the Sonoma Valley Mastectomy Club, a member of the Marinita Parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West, San Rafael chapter.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two children, Caroline Feeney of Paradise and James F. Ashoff of Sonoma; four sisters, Mrs. Joseph Bertrand of Tiburon, Adeline Texeira of Terra Linda, Lillian Texeira of Palm Springs and Grace Johnson of San Rafael, and a brother, Alfred Texeira of San Anselmo.

JOHN PETERSON

Private funeral for John E. Peterson of Mill Valley, owner of a Southern Marin real estate firm, was held yesterday.

Peterson, 47, died Friday in an auto crash while vacationing in Mexico.

A native of San Francisco, he had lived in Marin County for 24 years, residing at 69 Greenwood Way. Peterson had been in the real estate business for the past eight years and was owner of Scott Valley Real Estate in Mill Valley. He was a member of the Olympic Club of San Francisco and the Marin County Real Estate Board.

Peterson is survived by his wife, Carol and three daughters, Susan Peterson, Lyn Leitch and Jan Peterson, all of Mill Valley and a sister, Carolyn Kane of New York.

Burial was private. The family prefers contributions to a favorite charity.

LAURA STEFFANS

Private funeral will be held for Laura Steffens, 18, of San Rafael, who collapsed and died Friday while shopping in a San Rafael store.

Miss Steffens suffered from congenital heart disease, according to her parents, Ronald and Beverly Steffens of 14 Comstock Drive.

Miss Steffens was born in San Francisco, and had attended Terra Linda High School until last January. She was a senior.

She also is survived by a brother, Kirk, and a sister, Linda Steffens of the home; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Muzio of San Francisco, and a paternal grandmother, Hazel Steffens of Santa Cruz.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Heart Association of Marin County.

PERCY STANG

Percy A. Stang, a resident of Mill Valley for 38 years before moving to San Francisco 10 years ago, died yesterday in a local convalescent home after a long illness.

Stang, 79, had been a volunteer with the Boy Scouts in Mill Valley for 38 years and was an executive board member of the Marin Council. He received the council's highest award, the Silver Beaver, in 1960.

Born i San Francisco, he worked for Western Union there for 55 years, beginning as a bicycle messenger boy. He was a purchasing agent when he retired in 1963.

He moved to San Francisco in 1963 after he and his wife, Hilda, were married.

He was a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West, San Francisco chapter and the Sequoia Club.

He is survived by his wife.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Ashley and McMullen Mortuary, 4200 Geary Boulevard, San Francisco. Inurnment will be private.

GALE PORTER

Funeral for Gale M. Porter of San Rafael will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Porter, 35, of 100 Bayo Vista Way, Apt. 18, drowned Sunday while on an outing at China Camp with his wife, Irene.

He was a student at College of Marin in Kentfield, where he was studying art and photography.

Porter had been a resident of San Rafael from 1970 to early 1972, moving for a short time to Denver, Colo., and San Francisco before returning to Marin seven months ago.

Born in Twin Falls, Ida., he was reared and went through schools in Boise, Ida. He moved from Boise in 1967, taking a job with the Red Cross in Lincoln, Neb.

He moved to San Francisco from Lincoln and worked at the Hunter's Point Naval Shipyard, San Francisco Veterans Hospital and for a short period as a clerk with the San Francisco Sheriffs' office.

He and his wife were married in May 1970. He was a Navy veteran.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two children, Paige and Clayton Porter, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Porter, and a sister Billie Miller, all of Boise.

MARTHA FISCHER

Private funeral for Martha K. Fischer, 76, of San Rafael, was yesterday in Mill Valley. Mrs. Fischer died Saturday at a local hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Berlin, Mrs. Fischer came to this country from Germany two years ago to make her home with her daughter, Inez Young, at 651 Wake Robin Lane.

Burial was private.

MRS. BAROZZI

Mass of the Resurrection for Louise K. Barozzi, longtime San Anselmo resident, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Barozzi, who was 80, died Sunday in the home at 47 Elm Avenue where she had lived 50 years.

She was born in San Francisco but moved to Marin 50 years ago.

She was the widow of Joseph P. Barozzi, a retired stonemason who died in 1969. At the time of Barozzi's death, the couple had been married 61 years.

Mrs. Barozzi is survived by a son, William Barozzi of San Francisco; three daughters, Mrs. Evelyn DaCostello and Rosalie (Babe) Barozzi, both of San Anselmo, and Marie Simontacchi of San Rafael; seven grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

JOHN F. SILVA

Mass of the Resurrection for John F. ("Cow John") Silva, 86, of Sausalito, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Star of the Sea Church in Sausalito.

Silva died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness.

He was born in the Azores Islands but had lived in Marin County 50 years.

He last worked as a bartender for the Seven Seas Restaurant in Sausalito. Before that he worked as a ranch hand.

His home was 86 Bridgeway.

His survivors include a granddaughter.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Star of the Sea Church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

COLONEL HEINZ

A Mass for Col. Richard Jude Heinz, a retired doctor, and father of Nancy Marquis of Kentfield, will be 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Veterans Home Chapel in Yountville.

He died Friday in Bear Valley, Alpine County, apparently of a heart attack suffered while on a skiing trip. He was 68.

He was born in San Francisco and graduated from the University of California Medical School. He was a World War II veteran of the European Theater, where he served as a surgeon in the Army. He was a career Army doctor, serving his last 10 years before retiring as a doctor at the Yountville Veterans Home.

He was a member of the American Medical Association, Upper Napa Valley Association, Reader of St. Joan of Arc Catholic Church in Yountville.

He is survived by his wife, Helen Dunne Heinz of Napa; another daughter, Janet Mitchell of San Francisco; a sister, Helen Gable of South Burlington, Vt. and five grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Treadway and Wiggins Funeral Chapel in Napa. Burial will be in Tulocay Cemetery, Napa.

the hands of judicial authorities.

In Washington, Sudanese Cabinet minister, Abdel Rahman Abdullah, called on President Nixon today to express official condolences over the deaths of the two U.S. diplomats killed by Palestinian terrorists.

Following the meeting in the President's Oval Office, Nixon arranged to go to the State Department for a working luncheon on ways to cope with international terrorism and to dedicate a memorial plaque bearing the names of the two Americans slain in the Saudi Arabian embassy in Khartoum.

Abdullah, minister of public service and national reform, accompanied the bodies of Ambassador Cleo A. Noel Jr. and his deputy, G. Curtis Moore, on the presidential jet which brought them home Monday.

Trade Talks Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz will conduct trade talks with Soviet officials in Moscow next week, the White House announced Tuesday.

A PRAYER FOR PEACE

There was guarded hope today for a speedy surrender of the embattled encampment at Wounded Knee, S.D. Peace is in the minds of most concerned in the week-long holdout. Yesterday a group of Indian medicine men gathered around a ceremonial camp fire to pray to the morning star, asking for peace. One government source said today "we had at least five telescopic sights of Indians carrying M16 rifles. They could wipe out a bunch of FBI men or U.S. marshals outside Wounded Knee without giving them a chance."

J. L. Zoeller Found Dead In Auto

James Lewis Zoeller, former director of the Bel Marin Keys Community Service District, was found dead in an auto in the garage of the family home yesterday, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

Zoeller died of carbon monoxide poisoning, according to Keith C. Craig, coroner's investigator. A hose had been run from the auto exhaust into the auto. No note was found and no motive for the death was known, Craig reported.

Their son, Greg, 16, discovered Zoeller's body when he returned from an outing to the home at 917 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

The body was removed to Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato, where funeral arrangements were pending today.

Challenges Will Be Made Into Legality Of Arrests On Theft

By LARRY MOWELL

Attorneys for two San Anselmo police and a friend charged with burglary said yesterday that they will challenge the legality of the investigation leading to their arrest and the rulings of the Marin Municipal Court judge who conducted the preliminary hearing.

Superior Court Judge David Menary Jr. then ordered an all-day hearing for one day next week on what attorney J. Michael Anthony said are seven issues.

Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani and Lt. G. Albert Howenstein arrested the three Dec. 11 after a probation officer who had been riding with Silvia told the chief Silvia had asked him to participate in the burglary of a store.

Nine television sets valued at $1,223 were taken from the Sears catalogue store in the Redhill Shopping Center and found in the homes of the three.

Attorneys for each asked the court to suppress the evidence because of alleged improprieties in the investigation and to dismiss the charge on the ground the evidence upon which they were bound over to superior court was inadmissable.

Deputy Public Defender Gaile O'Connor, representing Osborne, also asked for a separate trial because the other two "made extrajudicial confessions and admission which incriminate defendant Osborne." O'Connor also sought barring Osborne's own confession and asked to obtain prosecution evidence.

The confession was illegally obtained because Osborne had not waived his right against self incrimination, Miss O'Connor said. Furthermore, she said, "Admissions and confessions were involuntary in that they were induced by improper promises of leniency made by police officers."

She said Howenstein told Osborne his cooperation would be considered by authorities and Buchignani told him he would recommend probation instead of prison.

The defense attorney in efforts to suppress the televisions contends the chief and Howenstein made illegal searches because they did not explain why they wanted admittance to homes of the two suspected officers and did not have a warrant or consent to enter.

Miss O'Connor said Municipal Court Judge David R. Baty improperly accepted the confessions and television sets as evidence in spite of the allegedly illegal searches and failures to observe the rights of the three.

Furthermore, she said, the judge accepted evidence on the television sets although "there was no competent evidence to connect the television sets recovered from the home of these three defendants with the alleged burglary of the Sears store."

In a closed preliminary hearing in January, the prosecution introduced what it said were business records and therefore, not admissable.

A hearing date and judge to weigh the defense arguments will be decided Monday by presiding judge Henry J. Broderick. The trial is set for the week of April 9.

Families See Better Status

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four California families out of every 10, or about 39 per cent of residents in the state, believe they are financially better off now than they were a year ago, the California Poll reported today.

Fewer than three families in 10, or 28 per cent, think they are worse off. About one-third sees no change, the poll said.

The survey of 1,079 representative households in northern and southern California disclosed that 41 per cent believe their financial condition will improve in the coming year.

As A Politician He's Right In Tune

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Bertram L. Podell, D-N.Y., tooc the House floor Tuesday to note that this is National Procrastination Week.

Because of it, he said, "I will put off my remarks on the subject until a later time." He then sat down.

Women Guards Are Opposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Correctional Officers Association opposed today the hiring of women correctional officers, saying they pose "a serious threat" to prison safety.

Three women have been hired as guards at San Quentin but one already has quit.

Arnold Thompson, CYOA chapter president in Marin County where San Quentin Prison is located, said in a statement:

"We consider the practice of hiring women correctional officers to be a serious threat to the lives of our male officers as well as to the women themselves, and to be an invasion of privacy of the inmates."

Report On Impact Is Approved

The Ross Valley Sanitary District Board last night formally accepted an environmental impact report, a step necessary in the construction of a new sewer trunkline through Ross and San Anselmo.

District Mgr. Ned J. Ongaro said San Anselmo's director of public works, Charles R. Leitzell wrote commending the district on the report, and its lack of "bulky repetitious material" often encountered in such documents.

The sewer trunkline, mandated by the state Regional Water Quality Control Board, will run through Ross and as far as Tunstead Avenue in San Anselmo this year.

Next year the trunkline will necessitate digging up the downtown streets for a two to three week period, and Leitzell said San Anselmo will require the street surfaces restored to their original condition after the work.

In other action, said Ongaro, the board agreed to sell the former district offices at 11 Liberty Place, San Anselmo to Peter Edwards, publisher of the Marin County Court Reporter, for $21,000.

Edwards, who sold the Ross Valley Reporter to Frank Turner two months ago, has been leasing the premises since the sanitary district moved out in July 1971, after it built a new office at the treatment plant on the San Quentin Peninsula.

Position Of Clark In Magee Trial Studied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark may help in San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee's defense at his murder trial, the California Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

The court ordered Superior Court Judge Morton R. Colvin, who is presiding over the trial in San Francisco, to reconsider his decision barring Clark from aiding in Magee's defense.

The high court said Colvin "utilized improper standards" in rejecting Clark and should have permitted him to "associate" in Magee's case under a six-month-old rule of state courts.

Magee's trial on charges of killing Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley during the 1970 Marin County Hall of Justice shoot-out was halted while the Supreme Court ruled on defense attorney Robert Carrow's appeal of Colvin's ruling.

Engineering Outlook

NEW YORK (UPI) — There will be a 42 per cent increase demand for bachelor of engineering degree holders in 1973, according to the Endicott Report, a copyrighted survey of 186 business firms. The report is put together by Frank S. Endicott, director of placement emeritus of Northwestern University.

Changes In Petaluma General Plan Backed

The Petaluma City Council last night approved amendments to the general plan and set aside land in the northern portion of the city for special transitional study.

City Planning Director William C. McGivern told the council the transitional plan would give the city a chance to study the proper use of the land before making any commitments by the June 30 deadline for the general and master plans.

Asst. City Planner Richard Anderson said, "transitional designates an umbrella category indicating the total area to be studied."

The existing zoning will continue in the area, he said, and landowners will be able to develop in accordance with these guidelines.

"You can't leave the transitional designation on the plan indefinitely," said McGivern. "It's the first stage in processing a study and a reflection of the proper zoning for the area."

City Atty Edouard E. Robert will report in two weeks on a request by a property owner in the area on the compatability of the plan with existing zoning.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

VOTING — Approved the use of automatic voting machines for the June 12 municipal elections, the machines to be provided by Computer Elections Systems, Inc., and will cost $300 to $400 less than the machines used in 1969. The Vote-A-Matic System will be the same used in Marin County and each of the city's 30 precincts will have three machines.

SEWER — Approved the annexation and outside sewer connection application by Santa Fe-Poneroy Inc. for their property at the foot of Hopper Street.

BIDS — Awarded 1973 refunding bonds to Dean Witter & Co. at an effective interest cost of $720,636 and an effective rate of 5.075 per cent and awarded Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael the demolition and removal of buildings project for the B street pump station.

LIBRARY — Approved a fund request by the library for additional card catalog units instead of a planned projector.

FIREWORKS — Accepted a request by the parks and recreation commission for an additional $200 of their $13,000 budget for the July 4 fireworks show.

ZONING — Adopted an ordinance prezoning Casa Grande annexation from agricultural to a planned unit development district.

FEES — Adopted an ordinance for sewer connection fees of $600 for the privilege of connection to the city sewer system.

Cong General Said Ready To Resume Peace Talks

SAIGON (UPI) — A Viet Cong general said Tuesday he was ready to return to the broken down negotiations concerning the exchange of Vietnamese prisoners of war.

Col. Dang Van Thu, acting chief delegate of the Viet Cong to the four-power Joint Military Commission (JMC), said the Saigon-Viet Cong stalemate should not affect future American prisoners repatriation. "They are two separate matters," he said.

Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra, head delegate of the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG—Viet Cong) to the JMC said he was willing to attend the regularly scheduled JMC senior delegates meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The talks, bogged down for a week, concern the terms and numbers of South Vietnamese prisoners to be exchanged by the Viet Cong and the Saigon government.

"If the meeting Wednesday will discuss the second phase of the formalities of the prisoner release, I am fully prepared to come myself and take part in the meeting," Tra said in a message to Lt. Gen. Du Quoc Dong, head of the South Vietnamese JMC delegation.

South Vietnamese government spokesmen were not available for comment.

A Saigon command spokesman Tuesday warned that the talks, if they remain deadlocked, could delay the release of all Vietnamese POWs past the March 28 deadline.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said the Saigon command has no way of knowing "the future." As recent as Monday, however, he had assured newsmen the South Vietnamese still planned to turn over all Communist prisoners within the 60-day period set by the Paris armistice agreement, which became effective Jan. 28.

Supporters Of Amnesty Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements contends a few "shortsighted politicians" are behind demands for amnesty for the men who refused to serve in the Vietnam War.

In a speech to an annual Veterans of Foreign Wars conference Monday, Clements said he was opposed to amnesty.

"In my view the current debate about amnesty revolves around an insistence by a few politicians that we grant manesty because amnesty means forgiveness," Clements said. "What these shortsighted politicians really want is vindication: An official admission that the servicemen and women who served were wrong while the few fleeing protestors were right."

Rules Set To Float Currencies

LONDON (UPI) — The government announced today it would agree to float the British pound jointly with the currencies of other European Common Market countries against the U.S. dollar. But it laid down certain rigid conditions.

The announcement was made by Chancellor Anthony Barber in his annual budget speech to Parliament.

Barber said the essential condition of a joint float against the dollar would be a pledge by Common Market member countries to support each other's currencies against money speculators no matter how costly the burden became.

"This is an essential condition for the whole community; and certainly the United Kindom could not join in a collective float unless it is met in full," he told a packed session of the House of Commons.

Another condition, Barber said, was that the new exchange rates at which Common Market currencies would be fixed against each other "must be acceptable to each member in terms of its immediate economic problems."

He said each member must also have an "unimpaired right" to change the agreed rate of its own currency at a later date after consultation with the other market countries.

Under a joint float, market currencies would retain fixed rates against each other but would be allowed to find their own levels against the dollar according to speculative demand.

Barber's insistence of joint market support for member countries' currencies reflected British concern that the pound, already weakened by Britain's deteriorating balance-of-payments position, would come under speculative attack if its exchange rate is fixed against other market currencies.

The chancellor said a joint float would "represent an important step towards economic and monetary union" among the Common Market countries.

Barber announced a "broadly neutral" budget retaining public spending and the nation's current 5 per cent economic growth rate at about their present levels.

He said the Common Market's controversial value added tax, which will replace purchase tax on most goods and services, will be applied at a standard 10 per cent.

In a closed preliminary hearing in January, the prosecution introduced what it said were business records and therefore, not admissable.

A hearing date and judge to weigh the defense arguments will be decided Monday by presiding judge Henry J. Broderick. The trial is set for the week of April 9.

As A Politician He's Right In Tune

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Bertram L. Podell, D-N.Y., tooc the House floor Tuesday to note that this is National Procrastination Week.

Because of it, he said, "I will put off my remarks on the subject until a later time." He then sat down.

Women Guards Are Opposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Correctional Officers Association opposed today the hiring of women correctional officers, saying they pose "a serious threat" to prison safety.

Three women have been hired as guards at San Quentin but one already has quit.

Arnold Thompson, CYOA chapter president in Marin County where San Quentin Prison is located, said in a statement:

"We consider the practice of hiring women correctional officers to be a serious threat to the lives of our male officers as well as to the women themselves, and to be an invasion of privacy of the inmates."

Report On Impact Is Approved

The Ross Valley Sanitary District Board last night formally accepted an environmental impact report, a step necessary in the construction of a new sewer trunkline through Ross and San Anselmo.

District Mgr. Ned J. Ongaro said San Anselmo's director of public works, Charles R. Leitzell wrote commending the district on the report, and its lack of "bulky repetitious material" often encountered in such documents.

The sewer trunkline, mandated by the state Regional Water Quality Control Board, will run through Ross and as far as Tunstead Avenue in San Anselmo this year.

Next year the trunkline will necessitate digging up the downtown streets for a two to three week period, and Leitzell said San Anselmo will require the street surfaces restored to their original condition after the work.

In other action, said Ongaro, the board agreed to sell the former district offices at 11 Liberty Place, San Anselmo to Peter Edwards, publisher of the Marin County Court Reporter, for $21,000.

Edwards, who sold the Ross Valley Reporter to Frank Turner two months ago, has been leasing the premises since the sanitary district moved out in July 1971, after it built a new office at the treatment plant on the San Quentin Peninsula.

Position Of Clark In Magee Trial Studied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark may help in San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee's defense at his murder trial, the California Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

The court ordered Superior Court Judge Morton R. Colvin, who is presiding over the trial in San Francisco, to reconsider his decision barring Clark from aiding in Magee's defense.

The high court said Colvin "utilized improper standards" in rejecting Clark and should have permitted him to "associate" in Magee's case under a six-month-old rule of state courts.

Magee's trial on charges of killing Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley during the 1970 Marin County Hall of Justice shoot-out was halted while the Supreme Court ruled on defense attorney Robert Carrow's appeal of Colvin's ruling.

Engineering Outlook

NEW YORK (UPI) — There will be a 42 per cent increase demand for bachelor of engineering degree holders in 1973, according to the Endicott Report, a copyrighted survey of 186 business firms. The report is put together by Frank S. Endicott, director of placement emeritus of Northwestern University.

Changes In Petaluma General Plan Backed

The Petaluma City Council last night approved amendments to the general plan and set aside land in the northern portion of the city for special transitional study.

City Planning Director William C. McGivern told the council the transitional plan would give the city a chance to study the proper use of the land before making any commitments by the June 30 deadline for the general and master plans.

Asst. City Planner Richard Anderson said, "transitional designates an umbrella category indicating the total area to be studied."

The existing zoning will continue in the area, he said, and landowners will be able to develop in accordance with these guidelines.

"You can't leave the transitional designation on the plan indefinitely," said McGivern. "It's the first stage in processing a study and a reflection of the proper zoning for the area."

City Atty Edouard E. Robert will report in two weeks on a request by a property owner in the area on the compatability of the plan with existing zoning.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

VOTING — Approved the use of automatic voting machines for the June 12 municipal elections, the machines to be provided by Computer Elections Systems, Inc., and will cost $300 to $400 less than the machines used in 1969. The Vote-A-Matic System will be the same used in Marin County and each of the city's 30 precincts will have three machines.

SEWER — Approved the annexation and outside sewer connection application by Santa Fe-Poneroy Inc. for their property at the foot of Hopper Street.

BIDS — Awarded 1973 refunding bonds to Dean Witter & Co. at an effective interest cost of $720,636 and an effective rate of 5.075 per cent and awarded Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael the demolition and removal of buildings project for the B street pump station.

LIBRARY — Approved a fund request by the library for additional card catalog units instead of a planned projector.

FIREWORKS — Accepted a request by the parks and recreation commission for an additional $200 of their $13,000 budget for the July 4 fireworks show.

ZONING — Adopted an ordinance prezoning Casa Grande annexation from agricultural to a planned unit development district.

FEES — Adopted an ordinance for sewer connection fees of $600 for the privilege of connection to the city sewer system.

Cong General Said Ready To Resume Peace Talks

SAIGON (UPI) — A Viet Cong general said Tuesday he was ready to return to the broken down negotiations concerning the exchange of Vietnamese prisoners of war.

Col. Dang Van Thu, acting chief delegate of the Viet Cong to the four-power Joint Military Commission (JMC), said the Saigon-Viet Cong stalemate should not affect future American prisoners repatriation. "They are two separate matters," he said.

Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra, head delegate of the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG—Viet Cong) to the JMC said he was willing to attend the regularly scheduled JMC senior delegates meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The talks, bogged down for a week, concern the terms and numbers of South Vietnamese prisoners to be exchanged by the Viet Cong and the Saigon government.

"If the meeting Wednesday will discuss the second phase of the formalities of the prisoner release, I am fully prepared to come myself and take part in the meeting," Tra said in a message to Lt. Gen. Du Quoc Dong, head of the South Vietnamese JMC delegation.

South Vietnamese government spokesmen were not available for comment.

A Saigon command spokesman Tuesday warned that the talks, if they remain deadlocked, could delay the release of all Vietnamese POWs past the March 28 deadline.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said the Saigon command has no way of knowing "the future." As recent as Monday, however, he had assured newsmen the South Vietnamese still planned to turn over all Communist prisoners within the 60-day period set by the Paris armistice agreement, which became effective Jan. 28.

Supporters Of Amnesty Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements contends a few "shortsighted politicians" are behind demands for amnesty for the men who refused to serve in the Vietnam War.

In a speech to an annual Veterans of Foreign Wars conference Monday, Clements said he was opposed to amnesty.

"In my view the current debate about amnesty revolves around an insistence by a few politicians that we grant manesty because amnesty means forgiveness," Clements said. "What these shortsighted politicians really want is vindication: An official admission that the servicemen and women who served were wrong while the few fleeing protestors were right."

Rules Set To Float Currencies

LONDON (UPI) — The government announced today it would agree to float the British pound jointly with the currencies of other European Common Market countries against the U.S. dollar. But it laid down certain rigid conditions.

The announcement was made by Chancellor Anthony Barber in his annual budget speech to Parliament.

Barber said the essential condition of a joint float against the dollar would be a pledge by Common Market member countries to support each other's currencies against money speculators no matter how costly the burden became.

"This is an essential condition for the whole community; and certainly the United Kindom could not join in a collective float unless it is met in full," he told a packed session of the House of Commons.

Another condition, Barber said, was that the new exchange rates at which Common Market currencies would be fixed against each other "must be acceptable to each member in terms of its immediate economic problems."

He said each member must also have an "unimpaired right" to change the agreed rate of its own currency at a later date after consultation with the other market countries.

Under a joint float, market currencies would retain fixed rates against each other but would be allowed to find their own levels against the dollar according to speculative demand.

Barber's insistence of joint market support for member countries' currencies reflected British concern that the pound, already weakened by Britain's deteriorating balance-of-payments position, would come under speculative attack if its exchange rate is fixed against other market currencies.

The chancellor said a joint float would "represent an important step towards economic and monetary union" among the Common Market countries.

Barber announced a "broadly neutral" budget retaining public spending and the nation's current 5 per cent economic growth rate at about their present levels.

He said the Common Market's controversial value added tax, which will replace purchase tax on most goods and services, will be applied at a standard 10 per cent.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Planning For Funds That Aren't There

Before he cast his vote to approve the "balanced environment" portion of the Marin Countywide Plan last week, County Planning Commissioner George P. Leonard made a remark that lays bare the real reason why the plan is being pushed.

Leonard set forth a series of objections to the plan, but then joined his fellow commissioners to make approval of its "environment" portion unanimous. He did so, he said, only because the county is required to have some kind of plan.

HEREIN LIES the key to the whole matter.

A series of boards of supervisors nagged the county planning department to produce a general plan for the unincorporated areas (which are the only areas for which the county has any authority to plan). But always, the planners were too busy.

They were too busy preparing the West Marin General Plan (which took four years, and then was completed by outside consultants — only to be thrown out shortly afterward). They were too busy doing contract work they had solicited from the newly incorporated cities of Tiburon and Novato. They were too busy studying subdivision plans. Etc., etc.

"Too busy" continued while the planning staff expanded. (There were 14 employees in the county planning department 10 years ago — before the incorporation of Tiburon and huge annexation to both San Rafael and Novato; there are 26 now for the smaller unincorporated area.)

THEN CAME a state requirement that countywide plans must be adopted if cities and counties were to receive federal money, distributed through the state, for planning projects.

Suddenly the county planning staff no longer was too busy. Suddenly a county general plan — kept on the back burner for at least a decade — became a "must." And with the city-county planning council as the agency, the county planning staff embarked full-tilt to produce, not merely a county general plan to supplement the cities' existing plans as a means of meeting the state requirement, but a whole new blueprint superseding everything the cities had done.

The lure was the federal handout — the "carrot." The pressure was the state requirement of a countywide plan to get that handout — the "stick."

That is why Commissioner Leonard voted for a plan he does not like: "We are required to have some kind of plan."

THERE IS a bitter irony to all this.

After huge expenditure of money and staff time, the county has produced a countywide plan that would require 16 new state laws to implement. Some of those laws run so counter to long-established legal concepts of property that no court could be expected to find them constitutional. And even with all those laws, it is quite probable, as Leonard himself remarked, that the plan "will never fly."

But meanwhile, 2,900 miles away in Washington, D.C., the money tap has been turned off. It is unlikely that there will be any more federal planning handouts. The reason for all the exercise, for all the agony, no longer even exists.

BAY DIRTY? JUST WAIT!

U.S. Holds Back Funds While Requiring Cleanup

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The same fist the Nixon administration uses to beat its breast about saving the environment is clenched tight around federal funds needed to do the job.

The administration's indifference to its own rhetoric is clear in its withholding of funds already appropriated by Congress for water pollution control facilities. With less than half of the money released by the administration, local agencies find themselves whipsawed between critical fund problems and the federal government's own requirement that the nation's waters be cleaned up by 1977.

In the Bay Area alone, sewage agencies figure they will be short $73.5 million by next fiscal year unless the federal money to pay 75 per cent of the cost of new facilities is released.

And with construction costs skyrocketing every year, the result of the fiscal freeze will be to delay construction of the needed facilities for years. Costs in the Bay Area went up 9.4 per cent last year, and are expected to jump by more than 6 per cent this year.

If you think the bay is dirty now, wait until 1976.

TWO RINGERS are in the competition for appointment as the two "public" members of the five-member hearing board of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

They are E. Robert Stallings, retired San Mateo County administrator, and incumbent Theodore Cleveland of Berkeley, a consulting chemical engineer. Both should be dropped in favor of candidates who suit the intention of the 1972 Legislature in adding "public" members to the board.

The hearing board, after all, has been criticized by citizen groups as too permissive toward industrial polluters. Public confidence in the board needs rebuilding.

Stallings earned his environmental credential as Sacramento lobbyist for Westbay Community Associates, which has been battling to dump 3,000 acres of fill in the bay off San Mateo County. He also was a leader in 1969 of the aborted campaign to scuttle the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

His strongest advocate on the district board is its chairman, San Mateo County Supervisor Robert B. St. Clair.

AS FOR CLEVELAND, how can he be considered when district directors eliminated Joseph E. Coons of San Rafael because — like Cleveland — he is a consulting chemical engineer and his clients could include industries coming before the board of variances?

The board of directors will settle the matter when it interviews finalists Wednesday afternoon.

Among the rejected applicants, incidentally, were two other San Rafael men. Dr. Charles W. Aby, former city councilman, was eliminated among doctor-applicants because several of them had experience in diseases related to air pollution. City Councilman John A. Miskimen was dropped from consideration on the ground the Legislature did not intend to have a public official fill a "public" seat. Both men are former directors of the smog district.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

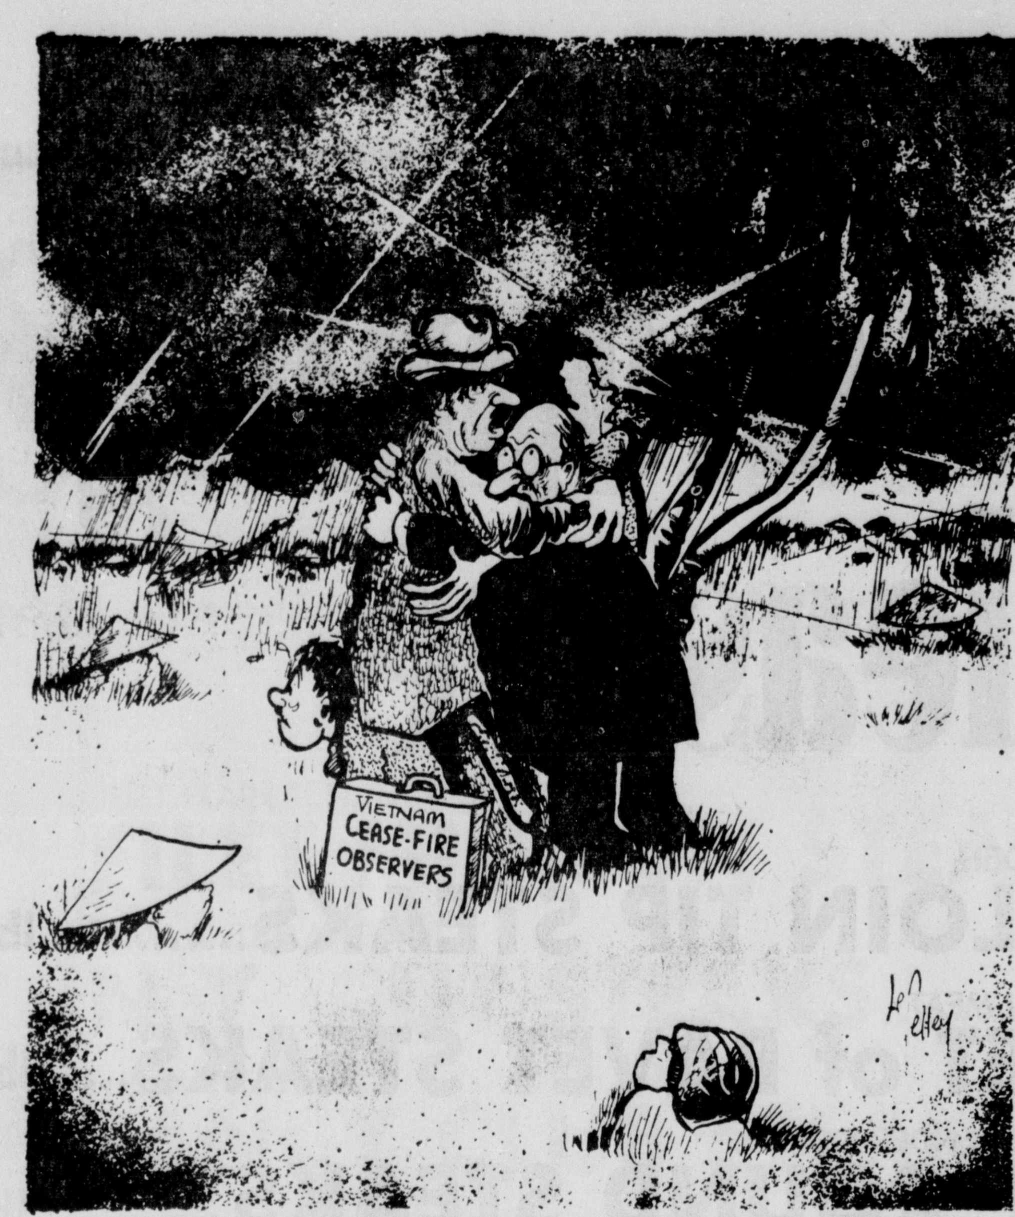
When an anthropologist marries a cannibal chief, folks are bound to wonder what's cooking.

In a wedding as mixed as this, there are questions about the ritual and worries about the menu.

Who did they have for the wedding breakfast?

How does a bride react when her chief telephones that he's bringing a friend home for dinner?

Looc at it this way: It's better to receive a marriage proposal from the bossman of a cannibal tribe than to get a luncheon invitation from him.



"I'm beginning to understand. Maybe the Americans did want to get out."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Center Would Avoid Fragmented Development

Mrs. Fratus of Larskpur, in a recent letter to your paper, expressed a concern that a proposed commercial development along Highway 101 within Corte Madera town limits would cause that area to become garish and unsightly.

It is the hope of averting just such a condition which is among the several reasons why I support the proposed shopping center — a planned project which will prevent the fragmented development of that area.

Mrs. BARBARA PACKARD

Thinks Dissolutions Should Not Be Publicized

I see no reason that your staff continue its present policy of writing divorce stories about anyone with any kind of title or of importance in the county. I don't believe this kind of personal business should be publicized. With any feelings you must be able to imagine how any people involved and children must feel, and how publicizing makes it worse for them.

Those who must know who is divorcing can read it with the other "vital" statistics.

Postal Service Should Have Competition

Frequent complaints and suggestions that have been voiced in response to our deteriorating mail service seem to miss the basic problem. As long as mail delivery is a closely guarded monopoly changing the name of the agency or pleas to the adcministrators and workers for improved service will have little or no effect.

I suggest therefore, a basic change in the law to allow other corporations to handle mail service as well. There would be two immediate results: One would be a reduction in the cost of the mail (both direct and indirect) in the form of tax subsidies, and the other would be improvement in the service we get. Now all we have to do is persuade our representatives in Congress to take such a bold step for progress.

Marshland Too Precious For Center

If, as Mayor Norville of Corte Madera insists, we must have another regional shopping center in Marin, it seems eminently reasonable to site it, as Larkspur points out, on land that is "table-top ready" and geologically feasible. To arbitrarily select precious estuarine marshland, dump over a period of months a million cubic yards of fill on top of it, then sit back for twelve or eighteen months and wait for the marsh to die, seems irresponsible to say the least.

As for the tantalizing but quite possibly specious glitter of tax dollars for Corte Madera — to pretend that a huge regional shopping center such as Mr. Hahn and Mayor Norville envisage would not destroy forever the small town atmosphere of Corte Madera is an exercise in futility.

What does it profit a town to gain tax revenues if it destroys itself in the process?

Commune, Junk Yard Feared In Tiburon

It is very obvious that the Tiburon City council approved a permit of rezoning the property of 102 acres (property located at 3825 Paradise Drive between Hacienda Drive and Francisco Bay) from residential to agricultural, even with an overwhelming and concerned residents from the Paradise Drive home owners association who were against it.

It seems rather strange that Mr. Soriano's plan was postponed for the next meeting, even when he was giving full details how and where he is going to do the grading in order to beautify his planned condominiums.

However, the owner of the 3825 Paradise Drive property, when asked if he is planning a commune on his property, he did not deny it, he mentioned that it is also going to be a recycling center, in one word a junk yard.

I wonder if the public is aware of what is going on. The owner of 3825 Paradise drive property was very vague and uncertain about the future plans. The public must be aware of the danger of a communal living, which creates criminality, drug problems, etc.

Is our beautiful Tiburon going to be a second Ashbury Heights or are our residents going to wake up?

We don't need a city council that approves dangerous plans with a stron disapproval of all the residents present at that meeting.

Time To Correct Districting Inequities

Thank you for another kind word in your editorial re supervisorial redistricting (Feb. 7). It is indeed a nice feeling to know that someone remembers after all these years (and all those words).

As you pointed out, it is time that the board of supervisors redistrict again, and this time consideration should definitely be given to those other considerations which are permitted in the Government Code: geography, topography, cohesiveness and community of interests.

There is one other thing in the Government Code which must be considered: a supervisor cannot be redistricted out of his district during his term in office or within six months of an election for the seat he holds. Until this year it has not been possible to undo the damage to representational rights which was done by acceptance of Mf. Leydecker's gerrymander because his plan made it possible for two members of the board to reside inside the city of San Rafael. However, this year one of those seats has been won by a resident of the old former Fourth District, Gary Giacomini who lives in Woodacre. We are, therefore, able to take a look once again at some of the plans which were developed and studied by the only supervisorial redistricting advisory committee which Marin has ever had and upon which I served as secretary. Those plans, as well as all the maps, minutes and our final recommendations were filed by me with the county clerk when we had completed our assignment.

It is important to remember that persons residing in cities have city councils to represent their interests but those of us who live in the unincorporated area of the county have only the board of supervisors to represent us. The city people speak of double taxation but they don't mention the fact that, because they don't makeup of the Board of Supervisors, the cities enjoy double representation. . .

There will never be a better time to redistrict Marin than now. . .

FUTURE OF INDOCHINA

'Environment Of Peace' Depends On Kissinger

By COURTNEY R. SHELDON

WASHINGTON — The "environment of peace" sought by President Nixon continues to elude him on the Indochina battlefield. But every long-range hope here is pinned on it.

White House officials expect the international conference on Indochina in Paris to make a modest contribution to pacifying the atmosphere.

Even more the President leans on his national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, to continue his intimate contacts with all parties involved.

It is, in many ways, thus far, a hey-day of personal diplomacy and unwritten agreements.

IN HIS PERSONAL relations with world leaders, Dr. Kissinger is executing basic policies of President Nixon. As his successes tumble after each other in rapid succession, his style and deportment seem more important than ever in preserving the atmosphere for productive bargaining.

Every word of Dr. Kissinger's press conferences testifies to the delicacy of the continuing negotiations with Communist nations. Dr. Kissinger appears to have the confidence of Communist leaders like no western man in the history of the cold war.

His press conferences are infrequent. But they provide guidelines for indefinite periods and are studied closely for months.

At his meeting with the press after his Asian visit, Dr. Kissinger looked forward to the day when U.S. relations with Hanoi will have progressed to the point that U.S. contacts with Peking already have.

Officials realize this to be an extremely difficult task. U.S. and North Vietnam are only now stopping hurling of explosives at each other. The Korean war with its collision of Chinese and U.S. forces is two decades away.

AS HE HAS from the start of negotiations leading to the cease-fire, Dr. Kissinger attempts to focus attention on the gains for all involved in a period of peace and reconstruction.

"The big issue is not whether they will break the cease-fire agreement, because that obviously involves many consequences.

"The big problem is whether Indochina can be moved from a condition of guerrilla war or even open warfare to a condition in which the energies of the peoples in that region are concentrated on constructive purpose."

WHILE DECLINING to speculate publicly on Chinese intentions, Dr. Kissinger seems encouraged by what he learned of Chinese attitudes while he was in Peking for five days.

He will only comment, "We have made clear to all the countries with which we have talked the importance of tranquility to the peace of the world, and Indochina was one of the subjects that was discussed in Peking."

Though most of the headlines on the Kissinger journey to Peking and Hanoi have centered on the establishment of China-U.S. liaison offices and a U.S.-North Vietnam economic commission, the fluid situations in Laos and Cambodia were in the forefront of discussions, Dr. Kissinger reports.

"We had extensive discussion on . . . a final agreement in Laos and a settlement in Cambodia," he says.

Dr. Kissinger goes about his business outwardly confident that the cease-fire in Vietnam will hold and that Laos and Cambodia will quiet down without further drastic action on the part of the U.S.

DR. KISSINGER told reporters when the Chinese-U.S. communique was released:

"The basic purpose of my visit to Hanoi was not to work out an economic aid program. The basic purpose was to establish contact with the leadership of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam in order to see whether it would be possible to establish with it in Indochina something like the relationship that we have managed to establish with the People's Republic in Asia in general . . .

"The economic commission will be the first opportunity that the leaders of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam have had to discuss something other than armistices or military arrangements with responsible Americans . . .

"We are asking for support for the idea of such a program, not on economic grounds and not even on humanitarian grounds primarily, but on the ground of the attempt to build peace in Indochina and therefore to contribute to peace in the world."

He repeated earlier assertions that aid to Hanoi was not a deal in return for a cease-fire. He also emphasized that Hanoi is aware that whatever aid the U.S. ultimately offers for reconstruction will have to have the approval of te U.S. Congress.

While U.S. Involved Elsewhere, Nations Of Europe Get Together

This was billed to be Richard Nixon's "year for Europe," but over the last week he himself was very busy trying to keep American prisoners of war coming out of Hanoi and talking to Mrs. Golda Meir from the Middle East.

His spare time went largely to trying to undo about everything his predecessor, Lyndon Johnson, had tried to do to the shape of the United States.

His secretary of state, William Rogers, enjoyed a balmy pre-spring reunion with the Chinese in Paris, just as though the only function of Paris was to provide another romantic meeting place for American and Chinese.

There were Europeans in Paris, too, but the important foreign ministers were there reluctantly. And the least of their real interests was in the flowering American-Chinese love affair.

PERHAPS THE MOST expressive fact of the week was the happ! almost rhapsodic, tone of a meeting in Bonn between West Germany's Willy Brandt and Britain's Edward Heath.

Mr. Heath had been in Washington the week before. It had been a perfectly friendly visit, in personal terms. But it had been overlaid with unconcealed differences over trade and money matters. The Brandt-Heath meeting was contrastingly cordial. The British press glowed with praise of Herr Brandt, and the German press returned the compliment to Mr. Heath. Both men seemed to find in each other the sympathetic closeness which neither finds any longer in Washington.

The fact of the matter is that, for the moment at least, American and West European interests are at least divergent. The newest and most exciting thing in Washington is its expanding relationship with China. The newest and most perplexing pre-occupation to the Europeans is whether they can pool their currencies in the present money crisis which appears to be pitting the dollars against them.

Can they tie the Common Market currencies together so that they move as one — an all-European currency — which will be able to float up or down against the dollar as the terms of trade and forces in the market move around?

IF A CLOSER UNION of the Common Market countries is at first good, then the remoteness of Washington and the seeming divergence of interests is helpful. Certainly, Mr. Nixon's request of Congress for the power to bargain over tariffs and terms of trade is having a wonderfully stimulating effect on the European search for "oneness"

But then there also is that other side of the coin. If the divergence of American from European interests goes much farther, will Leonid Brezhnev be the beneficiary?

The men of Moscow are being discreetly quiet these days while observing with fascination the broadening and deepening of differences between Washington and the great capitals of Western Europe. This is what they have yearned for ever since World War II, and done their utmost to bring about. Now, without any effort on their part whatever, it seems to be happening.

Of course, there is also the reverse of that story. Washington once held Moscow and Peking together by pushing against both. When Washington relaxed the pressure, their differences and conflicts of interest were able to express themselves.

Similarly, Russian pressure on Europe and America held the two together. In the absence of visible pressure — natural differences inevitably emerge.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Story Of Dog On Highway Does Not Have Happy Ending

Recently a small, shaggy gray dog was caught in the traffic on Highway 101 just north of the San Rafael pedestrian overpass. The intelligent little animal crawled into the safety of the center divider posts.

He stayed there watching the traffic whiz by in each direction, probably aware that to venture out into it would be his demise.

How he got there, no one knows. He may have jumped out of the back of a pickup truck or out of a car.

The California Highway Patrol started receiving calls about him at 7 a.m. and called for a Humane Society officer to come with his dog-catching equipment. No one knew whether the dog had been hit and was lying there wounded.

Finally, about 8:30 a.m., the patrolmen stopped traffic in both directions. When the traffic stopped, the dog took off on the run, but was caught by one of the patrolmen. It was given to the Humane Society officer.

A Marinwood woman called the Highway Patrol to tell them that she was gla that they had stopped traffic to save the dog. She said that it changed her entire idea of the patrol.

Three people visited the Humane Society to see if it was their dog, and 10 others offered to take it. The officers waited to find the owner and then offered it to one of the volunteers.

The story does not have a happy ending. The person selected was told that the dog needed medical attention, and he refused to pay for it, so the dog was put to sleep.

THE FREEZING weather this winter killed eucalyptus trees throughout Marin and southern Sonoma counties. These brown trees are mute evidence of the extreme cold. Many of them are 80 or 90 years old.

The dead eucalyptus present a danger. They shed their bark and leaves, killing vegetation under them. As a consequence, these dead material presents a great fire hazard.

Groves and rows of these dead trees are all over the area. Where they are on city or county property, the governments responsible should start immediately to clear the ground and cut down the dead trees.

This winter's freezing weather probably has done much to erase the biggest "selling job" of early-day California. In the days of the gold rush, the "Sydney Ducks" came from Australia.

In addition to raising havoc in San Francisco, they did a job of selling early-day Californians on planting eucalyptus as a fast growing tree, excellent for lumber and easy to grow. The Californians bought the seeds at a good price. However, instead of getting the better varities of eucalyptus, they got the blue gum, which is good for nothing but a wind break and is one of the scabbiest trees anywhere.

Iowa Legislator Sees Controls On Meat Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite official denials that the administration is nearing a decision to control meat prices, Rep. William J. Scherle, R-Iowa, today renewed his claim the White House is "seriously considering" such action along with alternative, less drastic steps.

Scherle said the administration is "in a real dilemma." Top officials have repeatedly indicated they regarded flat ceilings on farm or retail food prices as unworkable and likely to produce shortages and rationing.

But if the current food price spiral is not eased, the administration faces the grim prospect that organized labor will demand wage hikes going beyond the current 5.5 per cent "guideline" range, Scherle said.

Scherle, in a newsletter issued today, said the administration "is seriously considering placing raw agricultural products under price control." In an interview, he indicated he felt most attention was being given to a possible ceiling on raw or retail meat prices.

The Iowan said he did not believe administration officials have made any final decision. But, he added, "I don't care what anybody says. They are in a real bind. Something is going to have to give, and they know it."

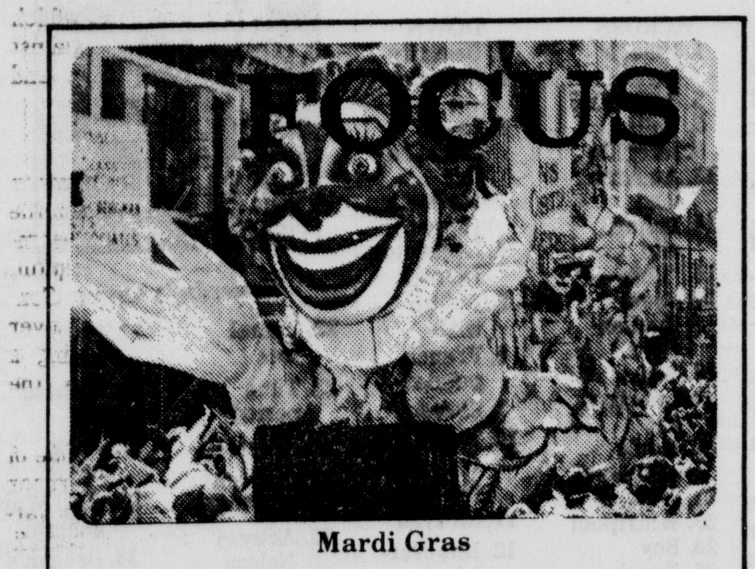
Scherle is himself a farmer and an opponent of farm product controls on grounds such action would produce shortages and black markets. He said administration experts have been discussing a variety of potential altrnative new steps to ease the price of meat.

The steps, Scherle said, include a freeze on retail meat prices at January-February average levels. Other possibilities discussed, he added, included an embargo on meat exports, promotion of "meatless days" for consumers to reduce demand pressure on the U.S. market, and efforts to step up slaughter of worn-out "cull" cows.

Skating, Boy, 7 Hits Auto, Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seven-year-old Vincent Scott was skating near his home when he lost control and went off the sidewalk into the path of an automobile, officers say.

The boy was dead on arrival at Mission Emergency Hospital shortly after the accident Sunday at the intersection of Montana and Saxon streets, police said.



Mardi Gras

Today, Shrove Tuesday, is called in French "Mardi Gras," or "Fat Tuesday," because ceremonies held on that day traditionally included parading a fat ox through the streets. Mardi Gras celebrations mark the last day of festivities prior to Lent. Although the carnival season in the U.S. actually begins with the New Year, the Mardi Gras celebrations start 10 days before Shrove Tuesday. In America, pre-Lenten carnivals usually take place in areas with strong French or Spanish ties. On Shrove Tuesday, spectacular parades highlight the daylight celebrations, followed by masked balls and pageants in the evening.

ART BUCHWALD

Italian Art Of Grave Robbing For Sake Of Culture (And Lira)

WASHINGTON — There is a big brouhaha going on at New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art about a rare Etruscan vase which the Met paid $1 million for. The question now being raised is, was the vase bought from a legitimate source or was it smuggled out of Italy through a black market operator? If the latter is true, Italy may try to reclaim it.

When I read the story, I recalled that 12 years ago in Italy I had the honor of interviewing the chief of all the Etruscan grave robbers in the town of Cerveteri, the capital of Etruscan tomb robbing. I called him Paolo, though that was not his name.

ROBBING ETRUSCAN graves in the hills around Cerveteri was one of the most honorable professions in the area, and Paolo was treated with great respect by everyone except the Italian police.

The big market for Etruscan art work in those days was not museums, but tourists. Paolo had great contempt for most of his tourist customers, who were only interested in obscene vases, for which the Etruscans were famous.

"They don't realize," he told me, "that since the Etruscans painted so few nonobscene vases, they are the ones with the value."

He also was outraged that a whole industry had sprung up in Italy making forgeries of Etruscan vases, which was hurting the grave robbers' market. "We will find a little cup in a tomb," he told me, "and someone will fabricate it two feet high. Then the tourist will say 'I'd rather have the bigger one without any cracks in it.' "

PAOLO TOLD ME you could tell the difference between a legitimate Etruscan grave robber and one who sold phony artifacts by the callouses on his hands. A legitimate grave robber was also known by how much time he had spent in jail for robbing tombs. Paolo did 18 months when he was caught one midnight scrabbling away in a pit that the Italian police had declared off-limits. He felt no guilt about this, since he maintains the Etruscans left no will specifying whom their art work should go to.

Most of the grave robbers of Cerveteri learned their trade digging for archaeologists for $1 a day. Once they discovered how to unearth the Etruscan tombs, they decided to go into business for themsleves. This made Cerveteri one of the most industrious towns in all of Italy, with the archaeologists digging in the daytime and grave robbers moonlighting at night.

PAOLO TOLD ME the most trouble the grave robbers ever got into was when the king of Sweden, an amateur archaeologist, was given the honor by the Italian government to make a dig for an Etruscan tomb. He found one, drilled a hole, and photographed the interior of the tomb, which had rare and marvelous things in it. But the king made a mistake. He decided to wait until the next day to actually open the tomb. He returned to Rome to invite his family and government officials back to watch him dig out the tomb the next morning. Alas, when everyone arrived the next day, the tomb had been completedly picked clean.

"We shared the king's disappointment," Paolo said, "but we have a saying in Cerveteri, 'Never let an Etruscan tomb sit by itself overnight.' "

I don't know if Paolo had anything to do with the Metropolitan Museum's vase or not. But I like to think he did. Some of the pieces he has found in tombs are probably on display in museums all over the world. He told me he respected the Etruscans, but he was not sure he approved of their sex life.

I'm sorry the Met didn't contact me first. I could have sent them to Paolo and they could have avoided the middleman. I wouldn't be surprised if Paolo would have sold the famous vase to the Met for $198, plus four bottles of a decent red Chianti.

Equipment Taken

Basketball equipment valued at $1,000 was stolen from a Geyerserville High School bus Saturday at Petaluma High School, police reported. Equipment stolen included 10 uniforms, six pair of tennis shoes and three basketballs.

PHONE WORKS

Belvedere Police Still In Business

The Belvedere Police Department really hasn't gone out of business, despite what some callers were told yesterday.

Persons who called the regular business number were told by telephone operators that the number was disconnected, Police Chief John W. Jaeger reported.

The trouble was simply that the telephone company was a few weeks previous on abolishing the business, nonemergency phone numbr the department has used for years. Equipment designed to switch calls automatically from the old number to the new all-purpose number, wasn't installed at the same time, Jaeger said. The switch had been planned for April 1.

Effective today, callers wanting to talk to Belvedere police either on emergency or on routine matters should use the new number — 435-2611, Jaeger said.

Planning For Funds That Aren't There

Before he cast his vote to approve the "balanced environment" portion of the Marin Countywide Plan last week, County Planning Commissioner George P. Leonard made a remark that lays bare the real reason why the plan is being pushed.

Leonard set forth a series of objections to the plan, but then joined his fellow commissioners to make approval of its "environment" portion unanimous. He did so, he said, only because the county is required to have some kind of plan.

HEREIN LIES the key to the whole matter.

A series of boards of supervisors nagged the county planning department to produce a general plan for the unincorporated areas (which are the only areas for which the county has any authority to plan). But always, the planners were too busy.

They were too busy preparing the West Marin General Plan (which took four years, and then was completed by outside consultants — only to be thrown out shortly afterward). They were too busy doing contract work they had solicited from the newly incorporated cities of Tiburon and Novato. They were too busy studying subdivision plans. Etc., etc.

"Too busy" continued while the planning staff expanded. (There were 14 employees in the county planning department 10 years ago — before the incorporation of Tiburon and huge annexation to both San Rafael and Novato; there are 26 now for the smaller unincorporated area.)

THEN CAME a state requirement that countywide plans must be adopted if cities and counties were to receive federal money, distributed through the state, for planning projects.

Suddenly the county planning staff no longer was too busy. Suddenly a county general plan — kept on the back burner for at least a decade — became a "must." And with the city-county planning council as the agency, the county planning staff embarked full-tilt to produce, not merely a county general plan to supplement the cities' existing plans as a means of meeting the state requirement, but a whole new blueprint superseding everything the cities had done.

The lure was the federal handout — the "carrot." The pressure was the state requirement of a countywide plan to get that handout — the "stick."

That is why Commissioner Leonard voted for a plan he does not like: "We are required to have some kind of plan."

THERE IS a bitter irony to all this.

After huge expenditure of money and staff time, the county has produced a countywide plan that would require 16 new state laws to implement. Some of those laws run so counter to long-established legal concepts of property that no court could be expected to find them constitutional. And even with all those laws, it is quite probable, as Leonard himself remarked, that the plan "will never fly."

But meanwhile, 2,900 miles away in Washington, D.C., the money tap has been turned off. It is unlikely that there will be any more federal planning handouts. The reason for all the exercise, for all the agony, no longer even exists.

BAY DIRTY? JUST WAIT!

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The same fist the Nixon administration uses to beat its breast about saving the environment is clenched tight around federal funds needed to do the job.

The administration's indifference to its own rhetoric is clear in its withholding of funds already appropriated by Congress for water pollution control facilities. With less than half of the money released by the administration, local agencies find themselves whipsawed between critical fund problems and the federal government's own requirement that the nation's waters be cleaned up by 1977.

In the Bay Area alone, sewage agencies figure they will be short $73.5 million by next fiscal year unless the federal money to pay 75 per cent of the cost of new facilities is released.

And with construction costs skyrocketing every year, the result of the fiscal freeze will be to delay construction of the needed facilities for years. Costs in the Bay Area went up 9.4 per cent last year, and are expected to jump by more than 6 per cent this year.

If you think the bay is dirty now, wait until 1976.

TWO RINGERS are in the competition for appointment as the two "public" members of the five-member hearing board of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

They are E. Robert Stallings, retired San Mateo County administrator, and incumbent Theodore Cleveland of Berkeley, a consulting chemical engineer. Both should be dropped in favor of candidates who suit the intention of the 1972 Legislature in adding "public" members to the board.

The hearing board, after all, has been criticized by citizen groups as too permissive toward industrial polluters. Public confidence in the board needs rebuilding.

Stallings earned his environmental credential as Sacramento lobbyist for Westbay Community Associates, which has been battling to dump 3,000 acres of fill in the bay off San Mateo County. He also was a leader in 1969 of the aborted campaign to scuttle the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

His strongest advocate on the district board is its chairman, San Mateo County Supervisor Robert B. St. Clair.

AS FOR CLEVELAND, how can he be considered when district directors eliminated Joseph E. Coons of San Rafael because — like Cleveland — he is a consulting chemical engineer and his clients could include industries coming before the board of variances?

The board of directors will settle the matter when it interviews finalists Wednesday afternoon.

Among the rejected applicants, incidentally, were two other San Rafael men. Dr. Charles W. Aby, former city councilman, was eliminated among doctor-applicants because several of them had experience in diseases related to air pollution. City Councilman John A. Miskimen was dropped from consideration on the ground the Legislature did not intend to have a public official fill a "public" seat. Both men are former directors of the smog district.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

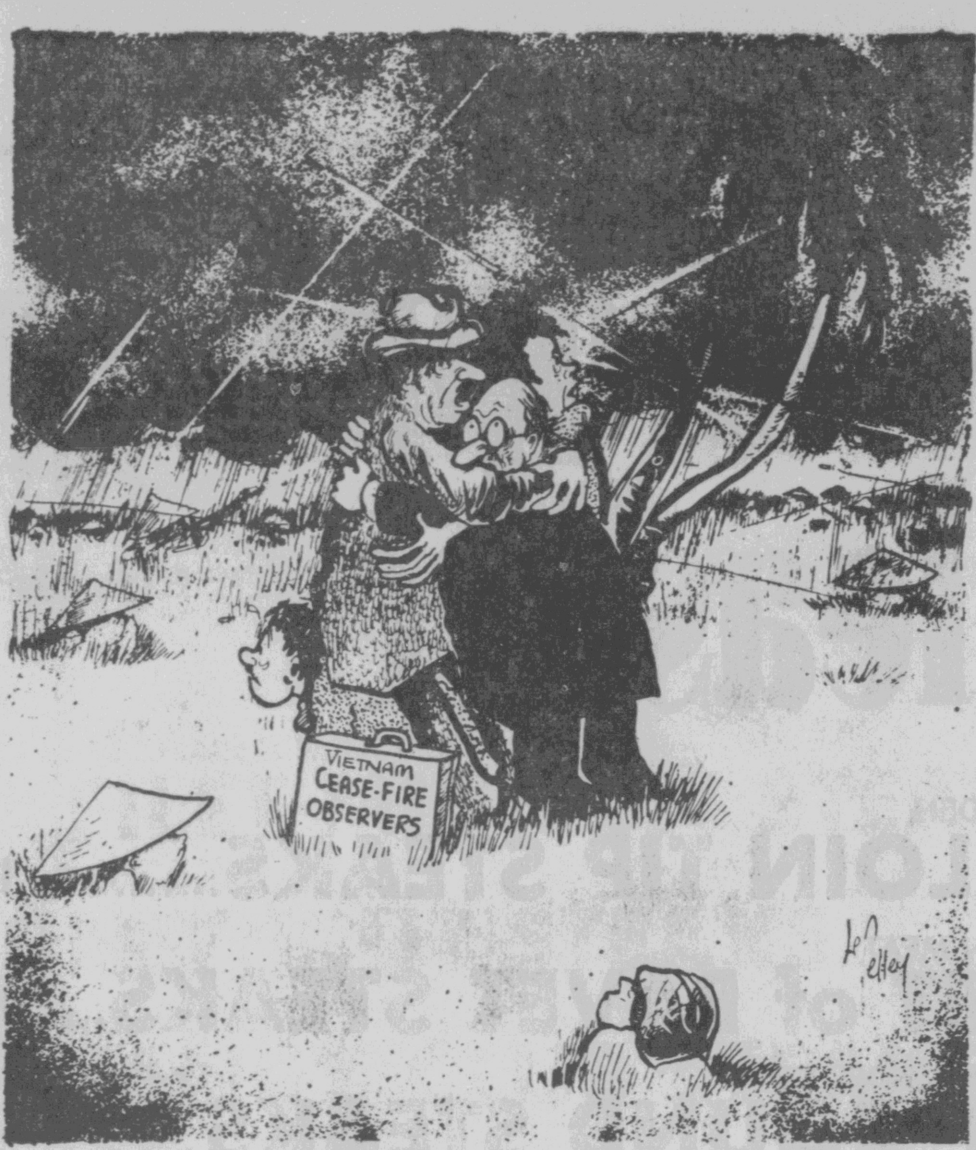
When an anthropologist marries a cannibal chief, folks are bound to wonder what's cooking.

In a wedding as mixed as this, there are questions about the ritual and worries about the menu.

Who did they have for the wedding breakfast?

How does a bride react when her chief telephones that he's bringing a friend home for dinner?

Looc at it this way: It's better to receive a marriage proposal from the bossman of a cannibal tribe than to get a luncheon invitation from him.



"I'm beginning to understand. Maybe the Americans did want to get out."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Center Would Avoid Fragmented Development

Mrs. Fratus of Larskpur, in a recent letter to your paper, expressed a concern that a proposed commercial development along Highway 101 within Corte Madera town limits would cause that area to become garish and unsightly.

It is the hope of averting just such a condition which is among the several reasons why I support the proposed shopping center — a planned project which will prevent the fragmented development of that area.

Mrs. BARBARA PACKARD
Corte Madera.

Thinks Dissolutions Should Not Be Publicized

I see no reason that your staff continue its present policy of writing divorce stories about anyone with any kind of title or of importance in the county. I don't believe this kind of personal business should be publicized. With any feelings you must be able to imagine how any people involved and children must feel, and how publicizing makes it worse for them.

Those who must know who is divorcing can read it with the other "vital" statistics.

Mrs. KATHIE COOK
Novato

Postal Service Should Have Competition

Frequent complaints and suggestions that have been voiced in response to our deteriorating mail service seem to miss the basic problem. As long as mail delivery is a closely guarded monopoly changing the name of the agency or pleas to the adcministrators and workers for improved service will have little or no effect.

I suggest therefore, a basic change in the law to allow other corporations to handle mail service as well. There would be two immediate results: One would be a reduction in the cost of the mail (both direct and indirect) in the form of tax subsidies, and the other would be improvement in the service we get. Now all we have to do is persuade our representatives in Congress to take such a bold step for progress.

Marshland Too Precious For Center

If, as Mayor Norville of Corte Madera insists, we must have another regional shopping center in Marin, it seems eminently reasonable to site it, as Larkspur points out, on land that is "table-top ready" and geologically feasible. To arbitrarily select precious estuarine marshland, dump over a period of months a million cubic yards of fill on top of it, then sit back for twelve or eighteen months and wait for the marsh to die, seems irresponsible to say the least.

As for the tantalizing but quite possibly specious glitter of tax dollars for Corte Madera — to pretend that a huge regional shopping center such as Mr. Hahn and Mayor Norville envisage would not destroy forever the small town atmosphere of Corte Madera is an exercise in futility.

What does it profit a town to gain tax revenues if it destroys itself in the process?

Commune, Junk Yard Feared In Tiburon

It is very obvious that the Tiburon City council approved a permit of rezoning the property of 102 acres (property located at 3825 Paradise Drive between Hacienda Drive and Francisco Bay) from residential to agricultural, even with an overwhelming and concerned residents from the Paradise Drive home owners association who were against it.

It seems rather strange that Mr. Soriano's plan was postponed for the next meeting, even when he was giving full details how and where he is going to do the grading in order to beautify his planned condominiums.

However, the owner of the 3825 Paradise Drive property, when asked if he is planning a commune on his property, he did not deny it, he mentioned that it is also going to be a recycling center, in one word a junk yard.

I wonder if the public is aware of what is going on. The owner of 3825 Paradise drive property was very vague and uncertain about the future plans. The public must be aware of the danger of a communal living, which creates criminality, drug problems, etc.

Is our beautiful Tiburon going to be a second Ashbury Heights or are our residents going to wake up?

We don't need a city council that approves dangerous plans with a stron disapproval of all the residents present at that meeting.

IRENE PELLEGRINI

Time To Correct Districting Inequities

Thank you for another kind word in your editorial re supervisorial redistricting (Feb. 7). It is indeed a nice feeling to know that someone remembers after all these years (and all those words).

As you pointed out, it is time that the board of supervisors redistrict again, and this time consideration should definitely be given to those other considerations which are permitted in the Government Code: geography, topography, cohesiveness and community of interests.

There is one other thing in the Government Code which must be considered: a supervisor cannot be redistricted out of his district during his term in office or within six months of an election for the seat he holds. Until this year it has not been possible to undo the damage to representational rights which was done by acceptance of Mf. Leydecker's gerrymander because his plan made it possible for two members of the board to reside inside the city of San Rafael. However, this year one of those seats has been won by a resident of the old former Fourth District, Gary Giacomini who lives in Woodacre. We are, therefore, able to take a look once again at some of the plans which were developed and studied by the only supervisorial redistricting advisory committee which Marin has ever had and upon which I served as secretary. Those plans, as well as all the maps, minutes and our final recommendations were filed by me with the county clerk when we had completed our assignment.

It is important to remember that persons residing in cities have city councils to represent their interests but those of us who live in the unincorporated area of the county have only the board of supervisors to represent us. The city people speak of double taxation but they don't mention the fact that, because they don't makeup of the Board of Supervisors, the cities enjoy double representation. . .

There will never be a better time to redistrict Marin than now. . .

FUTURE OF INDOCHINA

'Environment Of Peace' Depends On Kissinger

By COURTNEY R. SHELDON

WASHINGTON — The "environment of peace" sought by President Nixon continues to elude him on the Indochina battlefield. But every long-range hope here is pinned on it.

White House officials expect the international conference on Indochina in Paris to make a modest contribution to pacifying the atmosphere.

Even more the President leans on his national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, to continue his intimate contacts with all parties involved.

It is, in many ways, thus far, a hey-day of personal diplomacy and unwritten agreements.

IN HIS PERSONAL relations with world leaders, Dr. Kissinger is executing basic policies of President Nixon. As his successes tumble after each other in rapid succession, his style and deportment seem more important than ever in preserving the atmosphere for productive bargaining.

Every word of Dr. Kissinger's press conferences testifies to the delicacy of the continuing negotiations with Communist nations. Dr. Kissinger appears to have the confidence of Communist leaders like no western man in the history of the cold war.

His press conferences are infrequent. But they provide guidelines for indefinite periods and are studied closely for months.

At his meeting with the press after his Asian visit, Dr. Kissinger looked forward to the day when U.S. relations with Hanoi will have progressed to the point that U.S. contacts with Peking already have.

Officials realize this to be an extremely difficult task. U.S. and North Vietnam are only now stopping hurling of explosives at each other. The Korean war with its collision of Chinese and U.S. forces is two decades away.

AS HE HAS from the start of negotiations leading to the cease-fire, Dr. Kissinger attempts to focus attention on the gains for all involved in a period of peace and reconstruction.

"The big issue is not whether they will break the cease-fire agreement, because that obviously involves many consequences.

"The big problem is whether Indochina can be moved from a condition of guerrilla war or even open warfare to a condition in which the energies of the peoples in that region are concentrated on constructive purpose."

WHILE DECLINING to speculate publicly on Chinese intentions, Dr. Kissinger seems encouraged by what he learned of Chinese attitudes while he was in Peking for five days.

He will only comment, "We have made clear to all the countries with which we have talked the importance of tranquility to the peace of the world, and Indochina was one of the subjects that was discussed in Peking."

Though most of the headlines on the Kissinger journey to Peking and Hanoi have centered on the establishment of China-U.S. liaison offices and a U.S.-North Vietnam economic commission, the fluid situations in Laos and Cambodia were in the forefront of discussions, Dr. Kissinger reports.

"We had extensive discussion on . . . a final agreement in Laos and a settlement in Cambodia," he says.

Dr. Kissinger goes about his business outwardly confident that the cease-fire in Vietnam will hold and that Laos and Cambodia will quiet down without further drastic action on the part of the U.S.

DR. KISSINGER told reporters when the Chinese-U.S. communique was released:

"The basic purpose of my visit to Hanoi was not to work out an economic aid program. The basic purpose was to establish contact with the leadership of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam in order to see whether it would be possible to establish with it in Indochina something like the relationship that we have managed to establish with the People's Republic in Asia in general . . .

"The economic commission will be the first opportunity that the leaders of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam have had to discuss something other than armistices or military arrangements with responsible Americans . . .

"We are asking for support for the idea of such a program, not on economic grounds and not even on humanitarian grounds primarily, but on the ground of the attempt to build peace in Indochina and therefore to contribute to peace in the world."

He repeated earlier assertions that aid to Hanoi was not a deal in return for a cease-fire. He also emphasized that Hanoi is aware that whatever aid the U.S. ultimately offers for reconstruction will have to have the approval of te U.S. Congress.

While U.S. Involved Elsewhere, Nations Of Europe Get Together

This was billed to be Richard Nixon's "year for Europe," but over the last week he himself was very busy trying to keep American prisoners of war coming out of Hanoi and talking to Mrs. Golda Meir from the Middle East.

His spare time went largely to trying to undo about everything his predecessor, Lyndon Johnson, had tried to do to the shape of the United States.

His secretary of state, William Rogers, enjoyed a balmy pre-spring reunion with the Chinese in Paris, just as though the only function of Paris was to provide another romantic meeting place for American and Chinese.

There were Europeans in Paris, too, but the important foreign ministers were there reluctantly. And the least of their real interests was in the flowering American-Chinese love affair.

PERHAPS THE MOST expressive fact of the week was the happ! almost rhapsodic, tone of a meeting in Bonn between West Germany's Willy Brandt and Britain's Edward Heath.

Mr. Heath had been in Washington the week before. It had been a perfectly friendly visit, in personal terms. But it had been overlaid with unconcealed differences over trade and money matters. The Brandt-Heath meeting was contrastingly cordial. The British press glowed with praise of Herr Brandt, and the German press returned the compliment to Mr. Heath. Both men seemed to find in each other the sympathetic closeness which neither finds any longer in Washington.

The fact of the matter is that, for the moment at least, American and West European interests are at least divergent. The newest and most exciting thing in Washington is its expanding relationship with China. The newest and most perplexing pre-occupation to the Europeans is whether they can pool their currencies in the present money crisis which appears to be pitting the dollars against them.

Can they tie the Common Market currencies together so that they move as one — an all-European currency — which will be able to float up or down against the dollar as the terms of trade and forces in the market move around?

IF A CLOSER UNION of the Common Market countries is at first good, then the remoteness of Washington and the seeming divergence of interests is helpful. Certainly, Mr. Nixon's request of Congress for the power to bargain over tariffs and terms of trade is having a wonderfully stimulating effect on the European search for "oneness"

But then there also is that other side of the coin. If the divergence of American from European interests goes much farther, will Leonid Brezhnev be the beneficiary?

The men of Moscow are being discreetly quiet these days while observing with fascination the broadening and deepening of differences between Washington and the great capitals of Western Europe. This is what they have yearned for ever since World War II, and done their utmost to bring about. Now, without any effort on their part whatever, it seems to be happening.

Of course, there is also the reverse of that story. Washington once held Moscow and Peking together by pushing against both. When Washington relaxed the pressure, their differences and conflicts of interest were able to express themselves.

Similarly, Russian pressure on Europe and America held the two together. In the absence of visible pressure — natural differences inevitably emerge.

An Unforeseen Play Defeats Contract Of Six No-Trump

Imagine you have the East cards in today's hand. You have passed quietly during the auction, and you hope that your queen and your ace will defeat the slam. Let's see what kind of prophet you are.

HEAVE A SIGH

West opened the ten of spades, dummy plays the jack, and you cover with the queen. South wins with the king of spades, and you heave a sigh. There went one of your two hopes!

South leads the ten of diamonds to dummy's king and returns a low heart from dummy. You follow suit with a low heart, and South puts up the king of hearts, winning the trick.

South now cashes the queen of clubs, leads the jack of diamonds to dummy's ace, and continues with the ace of clubs. You follow suit, of course, and South discards a spade.

DISCARD IMPORTANT

Let's suppose you throw away some small diamond or small spade. South discards a second low spade and leads another low heart from the dummy. You play low again, and South wins with the queen of hearts. South leads a third heart, and you must win with the ace. South then has the rest of the tricks, making his slam.

THE SITUATION

What can you do about it? When dummy leads the king of clubs, you must throw away the ace of hearts.

Now South cannot develop the hearts without giving a trick to West's jack of hearts. This puts West in position to take the setting trick with his jack of clubs.

Aren't we lucky that this kind of play doesn't come along very often?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond despite the weakness of the suit.

Avoid going from one club to one spade on a weak four-card suit and a bad hand. Make it easy for partner to make a rebid at the level of one you would be delighted to pass him at one heart.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Oh, my word. Did today's birthday celebrities really say this? Answer: Yes or no.

1. Valentina Tereshkova, Russian cosmonaute, celebrates her 36th birthday today. She became the first woman in space when a Soviet rocket put Vostok VI into earth orbit on June 16, 1963. Did she celebrate by broadcasting this message: "Women of the world, unite! You have nothing to lose but your chains."

2. Robert (Lefty) Grove is considered one of baseball's all-time greats because of his remarkable major league pitching record. He won 300, lost 141 games in 17 years of play (lifetime average: .682), better than anyone ever elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame. Is it true he also was the bad-tempered ball player who once said to the Philadelphia manager, Connie Mack, "Nuts to you"?

3. Lou Costello, radio and film comedian, made millions laugh in the 1930s and 40s. Teamed with Bud Abbott, this chubby-cheeked fat man continually frustrated his partner, especially in trying to explain who's on first in a baseball sketch. Was it Costello who always said, "I'm a bad boy"?

4. Phillip H. Sheridan, Civil War hero, was the Union Army cavalry general who proved he was a match for the best the Confederates had to offer. After his troops were surprised by a dawn attack at Cedar Creek, Virginia, in 1864, Sheridan rode up and stopped the retreating Yanks by saying, "Face the other way, boys! We are going back." Yes or no?

ANSWERS

1. No; 2. Yes; 3. Yes; 4. Yes.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Story Of Dog On Highway Does Not Have Happy Ending

Recently a small, shaggy gray dog was caught in the traffic on Highway 101 just north of the San Rafael pedestrian overpass. The intelligent little animal crawled into the safety of the center divider posts.

He stayed there watching the traffic whiz by in each direction, probably aware that to venture out into it would be his demise.

How he got there, no one knows. He may have jumped out of the back of a pickup truck or out of a car.

The California Highway Patrol started receiving calls about him at 7 a.m. and called for a Humane Society officer to come with his dog-catching equipment. No one knew whether the dog had been hit and was lying there wounded.

Finally, about 8:30 a.m., the patrolmen stopped traffic in both directions. When the traffic stopped, the dog took off on the run, but was caught by one of the patrolmen. It was given to the Humane Society officer.

A Marinwood woman called the Highway Patrol to tell them that she was gla that they had stopped traffic to save the dog. She said that it changed her entire idea of the patrol.

Three people visited the Humane Society to see if it was their dog, and 10 others offered to take it. The officers waited to find the owner and then offered it to one of the volunteers.

The story does not have a happy ending. The person selected was told that the dog needed medical attention, and he refused to pay for it, so the dog was put to sleep.

THE FREEZING weather this winter killed eucalyptus trees throughout Marin and southern Sonoma counties. These brown trees are mute evidence of the extreme cold. Many of them are 80 or 90 years old.

The dead eucalyptus present a danger. They shed their bark and leaves, killing vegetation under them. As a consequence, these dead material presents a great fire hazard.

Groves and rows of these dead trees are all over the area. Where they are on city or county property, the governments responsible should start immediately to clear the ground and cut down the dead trees.

This winter's freezing weather probably has done much to erase the biggest "selling job" of early-day California. In the days of the gold rush, the "Sydney Ducks" came from Australia.

In addition to raising havoc in San Francisco, they did a job of selling early-day Californians on planting eucalyptus as a fast growing tree, excellent for lumber and easy to grow. The Californians bought the seeds at a good price. However, instead of getting the better varities of eucalyptus, they got the blue gum, which is good for nothing but a wind break and is one of the scabbiest trees anywhere.

Iowa Legislator Sees Controls On Meat Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite official denials that the administration is nearing a decision to control meat prices, Rep. William J. Scherle, R-Iowa, today renewed his claim the White House is "seriously considering" such action along with alternative, less drastic steps.

Scherle said the administration is "in a real dilemma." Top officials have repeatedly indicated they regarded flat ceilings on farm or retail food prices as unworkable and likely to produce shortages and rationing.

But if the current food price spiral is not eased, the administration faces the grim prospect that organized labor will demand wage hikes going beyond the current 5.5 per cent "guideline" range, Scherle said.

Scherle, in a newsletter issued today, said the administration "is seriously considering placing raw agricultural products under price control." In an interview, he indicated he felt most attention was being given to a possible ceiling on raw or retail meat prices.

The Iowan said he did not believe administration officials have made any final decision. But, he added, "I don't care what anybody says. They are in a real bind. Something is going to have to give, and they know it."

Scherle is himself a farmer and an opponent of farm product controls on grounds such action would produce shortages and black markets. He said administration experts have been discussing a variety of potential altrnative new steps to ease the price of meat.

The steps, Scherle said, include a freeze on retail meat prices at January-February average levels. Other possibilities discussed, he added, included an embargo on meat exports, promotion of "meatless days" for consumers to reduce demand pressure on the U.S. market, and efforts to step up slaughter of worn-out "cull" cows.

Skating, Boy, 7 Hits Auto, Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seven-year-old Vincent Scott was skating near his home when he lost control and went off the sidewalk into the path of an automobile, officers say.

The boy was dead on arrival at Mission Emergency Hospital shortly after the accident Sunday at the intersection of Montana and Saxon streets, police said.

Mardi Gras

Today, Shrove Tuesday, is called in French "Mardi Gras," or "Fat Tuesday," because ceremonies held on that day traditionally included parading a fat ox through the streets. Mardi Gras celebrations mark the last day of festivities prior to Lent. Although the carnival season in the U.S. actually begins with the New Year, the Mardi Gras celebrations start 10 days before Shrove Tuesday. In America, pre-Lenten carnivals usually take place in areas with strong French or Spanish ties. On Shrove Tuesday, spectacular parades highlight the daylight celebrations, followed by masked balls and pageants in the evening.

DO YOU KNOW — What is the king called who "rules" New Orleans on Mardi Gras?

ART BUCHWALD

Italian Art Of Grave Robbing For Sake Of Culture (And Lira)

WASHINGTON — There is a big brouhaha going on at New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art about a rare Etruscan vase which the Met paid $1 million for. The question now being raised is, was the vase bought from a legitimate source or was it smuggled out of Italy through a black market operator? If the latter is true, Italy may try to reclaim it.

When I read the story, I recalled that 12 years ago in Italy I had the honor of interviewing the chief of all the Etruscan grave robbers in the town of Cerveteri, the capital of Etruscan tomb robbing. I called him Paolo, though that was not his name.

ROBBING ETRUSCAN graves in the hills around Cerveteri was one of the most honorable professions in the area, and Paolo was treated with great respect by everyone except the Italian police.

The big market for Etruscan art work in those days was not museums, but tourists. Paolo had great contempt for most of his tourist customers, who were only interested in obscene vases, for which the Etruscans were famous.

"They don't realize," he told me, "that since the Etruscans painted so few nonobscene vases, they are the ones with the value."

He also was outraged that a whole industry had sprung up in Italy making forgeries of Etruscan vases, which was hurting the grave robbers' market. "We will find a little cup in a tomb," he told me, "and someone will fabricate it two feet high. Then the tourist will say 'I'd rather have the bigger one without any cracks in it.' "

PAOLO TOLD ME you could tell the difference between a legitimate Etruscan grave robber and one who sold phony artifacts by the callouses on his hands. A legitimate grave robber was also known by how much time he had spent in jail for robbing tombs. Paolo did 18 months when he was caught one midnight scrabbling away in a pit that the Italian police had declared off-limits. He felt no guilt about this, since he maintains the Etruscans left no will specifying whom their art work should go to.

Most of the grave robbers of Cerveteri learned their trade digging for archaeologists for $1 a day. Once they discovered how to unearth the Etruscan tombs, they decided to go into business for themsleves. This made Cerveteri one of the most industrious towns in all of Italy, with the archaeologists digging in the daytime and grave robbers moonlighting at night.

PAOLO TOLD ME the most trouble the grave robbers ever got into was when the king of Sweden, an amateur archaeologist, was given the honor by the Italian government to make a dig for an Etruscan tomb. He found one, drilled a hole, and photographed the interior of the tomb, which had rare and marvelous things in it. But the king made a mistake. He decided to wait until the next day to actually open the tomb. He returned to Rome to invite his family and government officials back to watch him dig out the tomb the next morning. Alas, when everyone arrived the next day, the tomb had been completedly picked clean.

"We shared the king's disappointment," Paolo said, "but we have a saying in Cerveteri, 'Never let an Etruscan tomb sit by itself overnight.' "

I don't know if Paolo had anything to do with the Metropolitan Museum's vase or not. But I like to think he did. Some of the pieces he has found in tombs are probably on display in museums all over the world. He told me he respected the Etruscans, but he was not sure he approved of their sex life.

I'm sorry the Met didn't contact me first. I could have sent them to Paolo and they could have avoided the middleman. I wouldn't be surprised if Paolo would have sold the famous vase to the Met for $198, plus four bottles of a decent red Chianti.

PHONE WORKS

Belvedere Police Still In Business

The Belvedere Police Department really hasn't gone out of business, despite what some callers were told yesterday.

Persons who called the regular business number were told by telephone operators that the number was disconnected, Police Chief John W. Jaeger reported.

The trouble was simply that the telephone company was a few weeks previous on abolishing the business, nonemergency phone numbr the department has used for years. Equipment designed to switch calls automatically from the old number to the new all-purpose number, wasn't installed at the same time, Jaeger said. The switch had been planned for April 1.

Effective today, callers wanting to talk to Belvedere police either on emergency or on routine matters should use the new number — 435-2611, Jaeger said.

Open Space Plan Before Council

Open space and planning matters will highlight the Larkspur City Council meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The council will consider endorsement of the countywide general plan along with an open space ordinance.

The Doyle Drive approach to the Golden Gate Bridge will also be discussed.

Plan Panel Expansion Is Decided

San Rafael's 60-member Citizens' Advisory Committee on the General Plan will be expanded by at least five members in an attempt to gain representation from adjacent unincorporated areas within the city's "sphere of influence," the city council decided last night. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

The move comes in the wake of criticism from the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board that San Rafael is concerned with the future of areas lying outside city limits but has included only residents living within the city on its advisory committee.

The council said it will ask residents from the following areas to apply for seats on the committee by March 14: Marinwood, Upper Lucas Valley, Santa Venetia, Northridge, San Rafael Meadows, Los Ranchitos, Country Club, Bayside Acres and Lomita Park.

Councilmen said they will decide how many additional members to appoint once all applications have been submitted.

In a related move, the council approved a recommendation by the planning commission that the city's general plan, and not the county's, be used as a guideline within the city's sphere of influence.

Councilman John A. Miskimen was absent.

'Telephone' Set for Noon Show

The Sonoma State College Opera Workshop will present the one-act comic opera "The Telephone" Thursday at noon in Ives Hall.

The program will also include scenes from Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutti," Bizet's "Carmen" and "The Pearl Fishers" and Dounoud's "Faust."

Safe Combination In A Safe Place

WEST BLOOMFIELD, N.Y. (UPI) — There were two old safes at the West Bloomfield Town Hall. Since no one had the combination to the locks, a specialist had to be called in to open them.

The first safe contained old town records. The second contained only a tin box. Inside the tin box was the combination to the locked safe.

San Rafael Silent On Redevelop Talks

San Rafael's roller coaster redevelopment negotiations with the County of Marin rolled on last night.

City Atty. Fred C. Robbins, emerging with councilmen after a closed session on the county's latest proposal to end a 10-month squabble on the city's redevelopment plan, reported only that "negotiations will continue" with the county on the matter.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini later revealed, however, that the city will meet the county's latest offer with a counter proposal. "That's all I can say," he said.

County supervisors last week offered to withdraw two court suits blocking San Rafael's redevelopment plans in return for limited veto power over the kinds of projects permissible in the project.

The redevelopment question has been on the verge of settlement on at least four occasions, only to be scuttled at the last moment by one side pulling out.

Annual Pancake Winner Announced

OLNEY, England (UPI) — A 24-year-old housewife, Mrs. Ella Crouch, today won the annual Olney Pancake race in a time of one minute, seven seconds.

The rules require the housewives to cook a pancake and then run, flipping it at least three times in the pan, a distance of 415 yards from the ancient Bull Inn across the village to the steps of the church.

Locations Cut For Newspapers

The San Rafael City Council, in an attempt to stem a rising tide of newspaper racks that "grow like mushrooms" on city property, last night declared stands will be permitted to encroach downtown on the city right-of-way in seven locations only.

The council also issued enroachment permits for stands at the locations to four newspaper distributors — the Independent-Journal, Pacific Sun, Christian Science Monitor and the San Francisco Newspaper Printing Co., which prints and distributes the San Francisco Examiner and the San Francisco Chronicle.

Sites on city property chosen for the stands are the kiosk, or bus ticket stand under the San Rafael Viaduct; Fourth and C streets at the bus stop; Fourth and G streets by the mailbox; B and Julia streets; Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue at the bus depot; D Street at the post office and at 711 D Street.

The action, which does not affect racks on private property in the downtown area, was taken because the racks detract from the city's beauty and create safety hazards, according to City Mgr. William J. Bielser. "We want to consolidate them instead of having racks scattered about," he said.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

POLICE — Presented a resolution of commendation to San Rafael policeman Brian Bodily for action "above and beyond the call of duty" last year during his rescue of a fire victim on one occasion and apprehension of an armed burglary suspect on another. Bodily was recently named Peace Officer of the Year by the Marin County Peace Officer's Association.

TENNIS COURTS — Approved a joint powers agreement with the Dixie School District for construction of tennis courts at Don Timoteo and Vallecito schools and called for bids at 10 a.m. April 2. The agreement provides that the city spend up to $26,000 for the courts and retain complete control of them as public facilities.

FEES — Set the following fees for utility permits and inspections connected with work requiring operating in and opening of city streets: Pacific Gas and Electric Co., $500 annually plus costs of inspections; Marin Municipal Water District, actual cost of inspections; Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., $2 per permit plus actual cost of time per permit, and all other utilities and public agencies, $2 plus actual cost of time per permit.

HORSE — Said Blackstone Canyon Horsemen's Association members and other horse owners may continue to board their beasts on Mont Marin Open Space Assessment District lands until May 1, pending submission of certificates of insurance totalling $100,000 by each horse owner now using a boarding area on the parcel.

POPULATION — Asked the state Department of Finance to conduct a population estimate of the city for a fee of $400. The estimate is needed to determine allocation of state sales tax monies and other funds, Bielser said.

KIOSK — Said the city will rent the bus ticket "kiosk" under the San Rafael Viaduct to ticket seller William O. Berry of 35 Rafael Drive for $25 per month.

CCPC — Extended the city's joint powers agreement and membership on the City-County Planning Council for one year with sceptical hope that "some good will come of it," as Mayor C. Paul Bettini put it, because "since we've joined, I feel we've been ignored."

CLAIM — Denied a claim for $130 by Earl E. Boutilier.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m., to March 12.

Foreign Aid Tab At $11.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. foreign aid bill for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972, totaled $11.3 billion, an administration report to Congress showed today.

The total included $5.3 billion for military assistance and 6 billion for economic aid, the report said. The figures were released by Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Second Woman Begins Training At San Quentin

Another woman has begun training to be a San Quentin prison guard — and the hiring of women correctional officers will become a routine thing, a San Quentin spokesman said today.

Bonnie Briggs, 29, a former dispatcher for the California Highway Patrol, began a week's training yesterday. She is a Sonoma County resident, according to Lee DeBord, prison information officer. Mrs. Briggs is expected to join Wilma Ruth Schneider, 31-year-old mother of three children, as the prison's second woman guard.

DeBord said that as fast as women pass the qualifying tests, their names will be placed on the hiring list for new guards, along with those of qualified males.

"I don't think there will be anything on the eligibility list to indicate whether the person is a man or a woman," DeBord reported.

Centennial Outlay Depends On Prop. D

The scope of San Rafael's centennial celebration next year may depend on the outcome of a proposed amendment to the city charter that will appear on the April 17 ballot, City Mgr. William J. Bielser told the San Rafael City Council last night.

The city charter now puts a $1,000 lid on promotional and advertising spending butroposition D on the ballot, if approved, will allow the city to spend up to $15,000 on such matters. Proposals to delete or increase the $1,000 lid have been defeated three times by voters since 1967.

"This charter change is appopriate on the eve of our 100th celebration," said Bielser, electioneering for passage of the charter amendment. "The city's participation in the centennial is limited to $1,000 unless the charter amendment passes."

Councilmen last night suggested that a series of events might be appropriate to celebrate the city's 100th birthday, beginning on the official centennial date of Feb. 18 and perhaps stretching to the Fourth of July.

The council declared it will set an official date as a focal point of centennial activities in the near future.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

An Unforeseen Play Defeats Contract Of Six No-Trump

Imagine you have the East cards in today's hand. You have passed quietly during the auction, and you hope that your queen and your ace will defeat the slam. Let's see what kind of prophet you are.

HEAVE A SIGH

West opened the ten of spades, dummy plays the jack, and you cover with the queen. South wins with the king of spades, and you heave a sigh. There went one of your two hopes!

South leads the ten of diamonds to dummy's king and returns a low heart from dummy. You follow suit with a low heart, and South puts up the king of hearts, winning the trick.

South now cashes the queen of clubs, leads the jack of diamonds to dummy's ace, and continues with the ace of clubs. You follow suit, of course, and South discards a spade.

DISCARD IMPORTANT

Let's suppose you throw away some small diamond or small spade. South discards a second low spade and leads another low heart from the dummy. You play low again, and South wins with the queen of hearts. South leads a third heart, and you must win with the ace. South then has the rest of the tricks, making his slam.

THE SITUATION

What can you do about it? When dummy leads the king of clubs, you must throw away the ace of hearts.

Now South cannot develop the hearts without giving a trick to West's jack of hearts. This puts West in position to take the setting trick with his jack of clubs.

Aren't we lucky that this kind of play doesn't come along very often?

DAILY QUESTION

Partner deals and bids one club.

The next player passes, and you hold:
♠- Q 8 6 4
♥- A 6 5
♦- 9 7 6 5
♣- 7 4.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond despite the weakness of the suit.

Avoid going from one club to one spade on a weak four-card suit and a bad hand. Make it easy for partner to make a rebid at the level of one you would be delighted to pass him at one heart.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Oh, my word. Did today's birthday celebrities really say this? Answer: Yes or no.

1. Valentina Tereshkova, Russian cosmonaute, celebrates her 36th birthday today. She became the first woman in space when a Soviet rocket put Vostok VI into earth orbit on June 16, 1963. Did she celebrate by broadcasting this message: "Women of the world, unite! You have nothing to lose but your chains."

2. Robert (Lefty) Grove is considered one of baseball's all-time greats because of his remarkable major league pitching record. He won 300, lost 141 games in 17 years of play (lifetime average: .682), better than anyone ever elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame. Is it true he also was the bad-tempered ball player who once said to the Philadelphia manager, Connie Mack, "Nuts to you"?

3. Lou Costello, radio and film comedian, made millions laugh in the 1930s and 40s. Teamed with Bud Abbott, this chubby-cheeked fat man continually frustrated his partner, especially in trying to explain who's on first in a baseball sketch. Was it Costello who always said, "I'm a bad boy"?

4. Phillip H. Sheridan, Civil War hero, was the Union Army cavalry general who proved he was a match for the best the Confederates had to offer. After his troops were surprised by a dawn attack at Cedar Creek, Virginia, in 1864, Sheridan rode up and stopped the retreating Yanks by saying, "Face the other way, boys! We are going back." Yes or no?

ANSWERS

1. No; 2. Yes; 3. Yes; 4. Yes.

Furniture Store Struck By Bullet

Someone apparently fired a bullet through a window of Braverman's furniture store, 208 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo, on Friday or Saturday, according to police.

The missile left a one-inch hole in the window, but no slug was found, police reported.

Growth Control Plans Presented

By BONNIE BARD

Two similar plans aimed at controlling the spiraling growth rate were presented to the Rohnert Park City Council last night.

Councilman Vernon P. Smith submitted the strongest proposal, limiting the population increase to 1,750 new residents per year. "We do not have an obligation to encourage, promote or permit growth for the sake of growth," Smith said. "On the contrary, we have the obligation to protect and enhance the investment and environment of those already here."

Councilman Armando Flores suggested the council adopt a policy of keeping growth in line with school and city services. He suggested a seven-member growth policy commission be formed to recommend how many new living units should be built, as well as their location and type.

The council set both ideas aside until next Monday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall for further discussion.

Smith's proposal would establish an 11-member growth evaluation commission similar to what Flores proposed. Both said Rohnert Park's population should not exceed 45,000 in the future, although Flores said he thought 35,000 might be a better figure.

Smith said crowded schools, overloaded sewer treatment facilities and dwindling open space are cause enough to consider putting strong controls on growth. "Indeed, at this very moment we have as much to offer and perhaps more to lose than did Santa Clara County in the 1950s," he said.

Councilman Louis G. Beary questioned whether controls on development would really solve the city's problems. "Unemployment could be a worse problem," he warned. "We may be concerned with children on double sessions (at schools), but will we put the head of the household out of a job?"

Developers in the audience heartily cheered Beary's remark, but made no comment throughout the discussion.

City Atty. Richard Maxwell warned the council that growth control measures by cities remain largely untested in the courts and could be struck down.

Smith said he expects the council will get a great deal of pressure from developers and real estate agents in the process of developing the policy. "Developers have a responsibility for conducting their building programs in such a way that they are assets to the community," he said. "This responsibility includes taking all practical steps to insure protection against creating an unhealthy environment."

Smith said that if the council hesitates to establish a control policy, it could instead hold a referendum on the growth question.

Both Smith and Flores said they hope some type of policy and growth commission can be in gear and operating full steam by the end of June.

Rohnert Park Council Increases Sewer Fee

Sewer treatment improvements totaling $176,850 were approved by the Rohnert Park City Councl last night, along with increases in sewer connection fees to cover costs.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the improvements would upgrade quality of treatment to meet requirements set by the state Water Quality Control Board.

The first phase of construction was estimated to cost $90,700, to be followed by further refinements in phase two estimated at $86,150.

To meet the expenses, the council voted to increase sewer connection fees by $100 on single-family homes and by $75 each for apartments and mobile home units. The average connection fee is now $2,734.

Callinan said the first projct would be relocation of the sewer outfall line to the west of the treatment plant. Engineers had warned that outfall in Hinebaugh Creek would create terrible dor this summer for residents of nearby mobile home parks. Callinan said the $2,250 project will stop that problem.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

APPEAL — Overturned the Feb. 8 planning commission decision and granted a use permit to Sonoma County Institute of Human Abilities to convert old Sonoma State College classroom buildings at 265 College View Drive into apartments and classrooms.

MINIBUS — Heard a minibus service for the college and outlying shopping centers could cost $13,000 for the first ten months of operation. The council agreed to request the Golden Gate Bridge District to conduct a survey to determine need for the service.

WELL — Approved a contract with Argonaut Constructors of Santa Rosa to build a connection with the Santa Rosa Aqueduct at a cost of $5,848.

POLICE — Approved purchase of an unmarked police car at an estimated cost of $3,500.

Events Scheduled For Candidates

A series of events for Joan Brownstein, candidate for the Kentfield School District board, and for Gloria Ricardi, incumbent candidate, has been announced.

A joint coffee for Mrs. Brownstein and Mrs. Ricadi will be hald March 14 at 8 p.m. at the home of Kaki Jacobs, at 284 North Almenar Drive, Greenbrae.

A fund-raising gathering for Mrs. Brownstein will be held Friday at 8 p.m. at her home, 25 Wolfe Glen Way, Kentfield, with Rita Abrams, Lyn Elder and Janny Hall of the Magic Mountain Workshop.

A coffee for Mrs. Brownstein will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. by Ann Schmitt, William and Jean Glascock, at the Glascock home, 101 Diablo Drive, Kent Woodlands.

Burglars Strike At Delicatessen

Large quantities of meat, beer, cigarettes and hardboiled eggs were stolen last Wedesday or Thursday from a Forest Knolls store by burglars, the Marin County Sheriff's Department reported yesterday.

After entering Gai's Delicatessen through an unlocked meat locker, the burglars took 22 pounds of prime rib, three cases of beer, seven or eight cartons of cigarettes and two dozen eggs, deputies said.

Water Boiling Ban Lifted In West Marin

The Marin County Health Department has lifted its boil-water order for Bolinas and other areas of West Marin.

The order was imposed during January's heavy rains, which washed out the Bolinas water system forcing use of a termporary systerm.

According to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, the order was lifted on the recommendation of the state Department of Public Health.

She said tests on samples from four other systems also indicate the water no longer requires boiling.

Those systems are the Coast Springs Water Co. and the Estero Mutual Water Co., both of Tomales, the Olema Water Co. and the Noren Estates water system of Point Reyes Station.

Highway Safety Coloring Books

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The state of Ohio is buying 600,000 coloring books.

The state Controlling Board voted Monday to spend $13,800 for the books, depicting good highway safety practices. State officials intend to distribute them to first and second graders throughout Ohio.

"The theory behind the coloring book is when you color you stay within the lines and we would like to transfer that to having children stay within lines at crosswalks," Frank Ryan, an administrative assistant in the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, told the board.

Plan Panel Expansion Is Decided

San Rafael's 60-member Citizens' Advisory Committee on the General Plan will be expanded by at least five members in an attempt to gain representation from adjacent unincorporated areas within the city's "sphere of influence," the city council decided last night. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

The move comes in the wake of criticism from the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board that San Rafael is concerned with the future of areas lying outside city limits but has included only residents living within the city on its advisory committee.

The council said it will ask residents from the following areas to apply for seats on the committee by March 14: Marinwood, Upper Lucas Valley, Santa Venetia, Northridge, San Rafael Meadows, Los Ranchitos, Country Club, Bayside Acres and Lomita Park.

Councilmen said they will decide how many additional members to appoint once all applications have been submitted.

In a related move, the council approved a recommendation by the planning commission that the city's general plan, and not the county's, be used as a guideline within the city's sphere of influence.

Councilman John A. Miskimen was absent.

San Rafael Silent On Redevelop Talks

San Rafael's roller coaster redevelopment negotiations with the County of Marin rolled on last night.

City Atty. Fred C. Robbins, emerging with councilmen after a closed session on the county's latest proposal to end a 10-month squabble on the city's redevelopment plan, reported only that "negotiations will continue" with the county on the matter.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini later revealed, however, that the city will meet the county's latest offer with a counter proposal. "That's all I can say," he said.

County supervisors last week offered to withdraw two court suits blocking San Rafael's redevelopment plans in return for limited veto power over the kinds of projects permissible in the project.

The redevelopment question has been on the verge of settlement on at least four occasions, only to be scuttled at the last moment by one side pulling out.

Annual Pancake Winner Announced

OLNEY, England (UPI) — A 24-year-old housewife, Mrs. Ella Crouch, today won the annual Olney Pancake race in a time of one minute, seven seconds.

The rules require the housewives to cook a pancake and then run, flipping it at least three times in the pan, a distance of 415 yards from the ancient Bull Inn across the village to the steps of the church.

Locations Cut For Newspapers

The San Rafael City Council, in an attempt to stem a rising tide of newspaper racks that "grow like mushrooms" on city property, last night declared stands will be permitted to encroach downtown on the city right-of-way in seven locations only.

The council also issued enroachment permits for stands at the locations to four newspaper distributors — the Independent-Journal, Pacific Sun, Christian Science Monitor and the San Francisco Newspaper Printing Co., which prints and distributes the San Francisco Examiner and the San Francisco Chronicle.

Sites on city property chosen for the stands are the kiosk, or bus ticket stand under the San Rafael Viaduct; Fourth and C streets at the bus stop; Fourth and G streets by the mailbox; B and Julia streets; Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue at the bus depot; D Street at the post office and at 711 D Street.

The action, which does not affect racks on private property in the downtown area, was taken because the racks detract from the city's beauty and create safety hazards, according to City Mgr. William J. Bielser. "We want to consolidate them instead of having racks scattered about," he said.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

POLICE — Presented a resolution of commendation to San Rafael policeman Brian Bodily for action "above and beyond the call of duty" last year during his rescue of a fire victim on one occasion and apprehension of an armed burglary suspect on another. Bodily was recently named Peace Officer of the Year by the Marin County Peace Officer's Association.

TENNIS COURTS — Approved a joint powers agreement with the Dixie School District for construction of tennis courts at Don Timoteo and Vallecito schools and called for bids at 10 a.m. April 2. The agreement provides that the city spend up to $26,000 for the courts and retain complete control of them as public facilities.

FEES — Set the following fees for utility permits and inspections connected with work requiring operating in and opening of city streets: Pacific Gas and Electric Co., $500 annually plus costs of inspections; Marin Municipal Water District, actual cost of inspections; Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., $2 per permit plus actual cost of time per permit, and all other utilities and public agencies, $2 plus actual cost of time per permit.

HORSE — Said Blackstone Canyon Horsemen's Association members and other horse owners may continue to board their beasts on Mont Marin Open Space Assessment District lands until May 1, pending submission of certificates of insurance totalling $100,000 by each horse owner now using a boarding area on the parcel.

POPULATION — Asked the state Department of Finance to conduct a population estimate of the city for a fee of $400. The estimate is needed to determine allocation of state sales tax monies and other funds, Bielser said.

KIOSK — Said the city will rent the bus ticket "kiosk" under the San Rafael Viaduct to ticket seller William O. Berry of 35 Rafael Drive for $25 per month.

CCPC — Extended the city's joint powers agreement and membership on the City-County Planning Council for one year with sceptical hope that "some good will come of it," as Mayor C. Paul Bettini put it, because "since we've joined, I feel we've been ignored."

CLAIM — Denied a claim for $130 by Earl E. Boutilier.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m., to March 12.

Foreign Aid Tab At $11.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. foreign aid bill for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972, totaled $11.3 billion, an administration report to Congress showed today.

The total included $5.3 billion for military assistance and 6 billion for economic aid, the report said. The figures were released by Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Winifred Setrakian Coffees Slated

Three coffee mornings at 10 o'clock for Winifred Setrakian, candidate for the Kentfield School District Board will be held next week.

On March 13, the coffee will be at the home of Jean Hagler, 345 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, on March 15 at the home of Jan West, 441 Palm Drive, Kentfield, and on March 16 at the home of Barbara Parenteau, 66 Hillcrest Avenue, Larkspur.

Second Woman Begins Training At San Quentin

Another woman has begun training to be a San Quentin prison guard — and the hiring of women correctional officers will become a routine thing, a San Quentin spokesman said today.

Bonnie Briggs, 29, a former dispatcher for the California Highway Patrol, began a week's training yesterday. She is a Sonoma County resident, according to Lee DeBord, prison information officer. Mrs. Briggs is expected to join Wilma Ruth Schneider, 31-year-old mother of three children, as the prison's second woman guard.

DeBord said that as fast as women pass the qualifying tests, their names will be placed on the hiring list for new guards, along with those of qualified males.

"I don't think there will be anything on the eligibility list to indicate whether the person is a man or a woman," DeBord reported.

Centennial Outlay Depends On Prop. D

The scope of San Rafael's centennial celebration next year may depend on the outcome of a proposed amendment to the city charter that will appear on the April 17 ballot, City Mgr. William J. Bielser told the San Rafael City Council last night.

The city charter now puts a $1,000 lid on promotional and advertising spending butroposition D on the ballot, if approved, will allow the city to spend up to $15,000 on such matters. Proposals to delete or increase the $1,000 lid have been defeated three times by voters since 1967.

"This charter change is appopriate on the eve of our 100th celebration," said Bielser, electioneering for passage of the charter amendment. "The city's participation in the centennial is limited to $1,000 unless the charter amendment passes."

Councilmen last night suggested that a series of events might be appropriate to celebrate the city's 100th birthday, beginning on the official centennial date of Feb. 18 and perhaps stretching to the Fourth of July.

The council declared it will set an official date as a focal point of centennial activities in the near future.

Coffee Speaker

Maurine Ballard, candidate for the Tamalpais High School District board, will speak at a coffee at 11 a.m. Saturday at the home of Ann Tweedt, 9 Lower Alcatraz Place, Mill Valley.

'Telephone' Set for Noon Show

The Sonoma State College Opera Workshop will present the one-act comic opera "The Telephone" Thursday at noon in Ives Hall.

The program will also include scenes from Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutti," Bizet's "Carmen" and "The Pearl Fishers" and Dounoud's "Faust."

JUNK IS OUT

Designer Halston Ushers In The Age Of Serenity

By PHYLLIS FELDKAMP
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — Fashion has been so peaceable lately that one can easily be lulled into thinking nothing much is happening. But just because there have been no sensational hot pants, midis, or see-throughs does not mean this is an uneventful spring.

On the contrary, we are in a significant period. Only once in the proverbial blue moon will you find what obtains in fashion today; a situation where the spirit of a single designer dominates — and an American designer, at that.

For the most part, those in the past who have upset the fashion applecart — Courreges, Gernreich, Quant, Dior, Chanel — have done so through some initial shock or other. What is uncommon about the arrival of Halston, an Iowa-born former milliner who is the designer of the hour, is its having come about without the usual hoopla.

It is he who has ushered in an era of serenity. Where not long ago noisy prints were brought out to the accompaniment of ear-splitting rock, this spring orderly stripes and polka dots come in to Cole Porter tunes. For his opening, another American designer, Chester Weinberg, even went to the length of hiring a string quartet to play Mozart as a background for his tidy tie-silks and pale crepes and suedes.

THE BASIC styles are still classic: the shirtdress, sweater, raincoat, cardigan suit, wrap skirt, pants and caftan. Halston has quietly elevated all these mundane staples to the nth degree of desirability, which cannot be termed an act of radicalism. You could, in fact, quite honestly characterize the Halston mode as reactionary — at the risk of having his free-thinking coterie of fans and associates jump down your throat.

"Less is more," a fashion observer, quoting architect Mies van der Rohe, said of Halston's relinquishment of fancy buttons, braid trims, ruffles and other extraneous gimcrackery in favor of superb cut and fabric.

"Halston got rid of the junk," said another. "He stripped down to the essentials, making clothes seem less important than the woman who is wearing them."

His concept is close to that expressed by veteran designer Bonnie Cashin, who, though more functional in outlook, has long been preoccupied with form, fabric, color and practical American life-style use. Now the trend toward elegant simplicity is fanning out in all directions. It is felt in Paris: Marc Bohan of Dior and Givenchy are both moving toward uncomplicated day clothes, although they do hold on to flounces and ruffles for evening.

The idea of the woman mattering more than her dress appeals. Thousands of Halston customers last season bought the identical $180 shirtdress of a suedelike material and, along with their best friends and worst enemies, have been wearing it gladly. Sales of the Ultrasuede dress have totaled $900,000, according to the latest accounting at the designer's Seventh Avenue wholesale firm, Halston Originals, Inc. A short-sleeved version to retail at the same price is in his spring line.

A DANGER of uniformity appears inherent here — dangers as well for younger designers who may slip too easily into a simplistic Halston mold. At least one, Clovis Ruffin, whose cleanlined designs retail at $36 to $50 vs. the Halston price sale of from $75 for a shirt to $660 for a costume, is already being tagged "the poor girl's Halston."

But the rationale behind "everybody into her Halston" is that nobody is going to look the same in it. Each customer's individuality is going to shine through, one hopes, as she expresses her own taste by her manner of wearing the dress and her choice of accessories.

(Christian Science Monitor photos)

At his showings Halston's models excel at proving this can be so. Each girl may be tall and rangy, have clothes-hanger shoulders and walk like a dancer, but there all similarities end. Karen Bjomsen is China-doll pretty, with long blonde locks. Pat Cleveland and Naomi Sims, New York's most frequently booked black fashion mannequins, have totally opposite styles. One trips down the runway, tossing her mane of curls with quicksilver movements. The other, whose hair is cropped close to a magnificent head, is a marvel of sinous grace.

Anjelica Huston, daughter of movie director John Huston, grew up riding her father's horses over the Irish countryside. After a fling at acting on one film, she has taken up modeling in New York. She lopes along through a showroom, turning and stopping to confront her audience like a startled thoroughbred yearling.

Until last fall when she spent a few weeks in Paris, wher she decided her style ought to be patterned after the 1920's girls Van Dongen painted, she wore her dark hair shoulder-length. Now she has a Dutch cut, one of the short hairstyles that look new again, given the right shaping on the right head. Like designer-of-the-hour Halston, she is the very model of distinctive, contemporary chic.

Organizations Enter Radio's Snake Races

Four Marin County non-profit organizations have entered the annual KABL Radio St. Patrick's Day Snake Race for first prizes of $1,000 cash and $1,000 worth of free air time.

Participating in the event Friday, March 16 are B'nai B'rith Women, Ta Mar Chapter, San Rafael; The Bargain Box Auxiliary to Sunny Hills, San Rafael; the Pathfinders, Marin Art & Garden Center, Ross and the Israeli Fair, San Rafael.

The snake races, with a host of celebrity judges and snake racers, will be held at the Crown Zellerbach Plaza beginning at noon.

Second prize is $300 and third prize is $200. Any non-profit organization in the San Francisco Bay Area may enter by writing KABL. Snakes will be provided.

ON THE AGENDA

Expectant Parents Classes Planned To Start Tonight

A new series of nine classes for expectant parents will be held by the Education for Childbirth program beginning tonight. Classes will be held weekly on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the offices of Gunhild Brown, RPT, 1300 South Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae.

Classes include instruction to increase the understanding of pregnancy and labor and techniques for breathing, relaxation, comfort in pregnancy and post-natal recovery.

Fathers are urged to attend all classes as the instruction is directed to the couple as a team. Information on breast-feeding and films on childbirth are also included in the series.

Expectant mothers must have written permission from their physicians to participate. Instructor for this series will be Valarie Haworth. Further information may be obtained from the offices of Mr. Brown.

A BENEFIT WINE and cheese tasting party, "Wine Shine," will be held by the Marin County Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club for members and guests Friday at 6:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Shiner of Peacock Gap.

Wine and cheese tasting instruction and appreciation will be directed by the Charles Krug Vineyards and the Marin French Cheese Company.

The party will benefit the scholarship fund for a Marin County resident to attend a summer session at Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts in Gatlinburg, Tenn. Previous years' winners are Mrs. Joseph Reyes, a teacher at the Bel Aire School in Tiburon and Nancy Turk, a College of Marin student and a part-time instructor with the San Anselmo Recreation Department.

Party chairman is Mrs. William Sinclair, and reservations chairman is Mrs. Fred E. Bardo of San Rafael.

A FAMILY STYLE spaghetti dinner will be sponsored by the United Presbyterian Women of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael Friday at 7 p.m. in Canoles Hall, 510 5th Avenue, San Rafael.

The Novato Rural Band will entertain after dinner. Reservations may be made through the church office.

"A TRIP THROUGH the Holy Land" is the topic for the slide talk by Mrs. Richard Calahan for the Mill Valley Community Church Club tomorrow at noon in the church.

A PANEL discussion on "Options in Programming" will be presented by the Ross Valley Council of the Parent-Teacher Association at their Thursday meeting beginning at 10 a.m. in the multi-purpose room of Lagunitas school.

The public is invited to attend. Speakers will be Harry Roach of the Lagunitas School District, Tom Anderson, superintendent at Ross and Jack Hayes, curriculum coordinator for Sir Francis Drake High School.

THE MONTHLY meeting of the Parent-Teacher Guild of Our Lady of Loretto School will be held Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the parish hall in Novato.

Guest speaker will be Sister Susannah Malarkey, O.P., whose topic will be "Religion Today - Current Trends in Catholic Theology." A question and answer period will follow her talk.

All parishioners and their friends, as well as parents of parochial school children, are invited.

A DRAMA literary program will be presented by the Tamalpais Center Woman's Club Friday at noon. A book review by Mrs. Russell Wolcott will follow at 1 p.m. at the clubhouse.

Dessert luncheon hostesses are Mmes. Joseph Florke, Thomas Cusick and Cecil E. Brous, chairman.

Mrs. Schneider Heads Governing Council

Mrs. Robert Schneider of San Anselmo is the new president of the Sunny Hills Guilds Governing Council.

Birdie Schneider has been a member of the Toy Booth Guild of Sunny Hills for 10 years and has been its president, vice president and treasurer in previous years.

The governing council assists the 32 guilds with fund raising, helping to staff the Bargain Box and acquaint the community with the Sunny Hills program. It also coordinates the Grade Festival in October.

Mrs. Schneider, a 24-year resident of Marin, is also a director of the Marin Council of Civic Affairs, is a member of the Bay Area Social Planning Council, a past president of Acacia Unit of Marin Foundation, and has been active in Sleepy Hollow community projects.

Mrs. Schneider is a native of Oklahoma and she and her husband, a Bechtel Corp. employee, have three sons, William, 22; John, 20; and Thomas, 15.

The other new officers of the governing are Mmes. Charles Spongberg of San Rafael, first vice president; Ray Monson of Novato, second vice president; Robert Berry of Kentfield, recording secretary; and David Matson of Novato, corresponding secretary.

Take Your Wife Or Just Don't Go

NEW YORK (UPI) — Any new husbands confused about the duties of the new state of life can be guided by words by John H. Young. The words were put down in the 19th century, appearing in prose titled "Our Deportment, or the Manners, Conduct and Dress of the Most Refined Society."

The man wrote: "It is the husband's duty and should be his pleasure to accompany her to church, to social gatherings, to lectures and such places of entertainment as they both mutually enjoy and appreciate. In fact, he ought not to attend a social gathering unless attended by his wife, nor go to an evening entertainment without her. If it is not a fit place for his wife to attend, neither is it fit for him."

Rotate Silver Use For Patina

NEW YORC (UPI) — Jewelers say the softly radiant patina or finish that makes silver a glowing prize as an heirloom comes from daily use. They suggest that newlyweds rotate silver service during daily use to insure a unifrm patina.

Wash silver right after use. Wash in hot, sudsy water. Rinse with hot water and dry thoroughly. To remove stains of eggs, mustard or olives, use a reliable silver polish.

RENEE POOLE
April wedding

Reed Willits To Marry Renee Rulon

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rulon Poole of Menan, Idaho, announce the engagement of their daughter, Renee, to Reed Robert Willits of Forest Knolls. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Willits of Forest Knolls.

Renee was graduated from Rigby High School and Ricks College in Idaho. She attends Brigham Young University.

Reed was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, College of Marin and Brigham Young, where he is studying for a master's degree.

Nursing Degree

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — The University of Missouri offers a Bachelor of Science Degree in nursing, under a program started in 1950.

Rohnert Park Women Choose Mrs. Flores

Cecil Virginia Flores of Rohnert Park has been named president of the Rohnert Park Women's Association. Wife of Armando Flores, vice principal of Martin Luther King School in Sausalito and vice mayor of the Rohnert Park City Council, Mrs. Flores has served as historian and sergeant at arms during her three year membership.

Mrs. Flores said the club supports community projects and charitable organizations which are in need of financial assistance.

Activities for the year include a membership coffee in March, progressive dinner and community Easter egg hunt in April, a fashion show for scholarships to graduating Rancho Cotate High School girls in May and an outdoor salad bar luncheon in June.

The club also plans a group birthday party for emotionally disturbed teen-agers at Napa State Hospital in July, an August pool party, a booth at the Rohnert Park Founder's Day celebration in September, an Octoberfest and a children's community Halloween parade and a Christmas tree festival and party for Napa State Hospital.

A native of Livermore, Mrs. Flores is also active in the Rohnert Park Garden Club and is founder's day committee director. She was graduated from Watsonville High School and attended Cabrillo College in Santa Cruz.

She has lived in Sonoma County for eight years, and she and her husband have two children, Mike, 10 and Beth, 8. Her hobbies include sewing, knitting, bike riding and decorating.

Silver Purchase In Pairs, Pieces

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Jewelry Industry Council advises that silver flatware and serving pieces can be bought individually or as place setting pairs, such as a spoon and fork, two teaspoons.

Once the couple has begun the silver service, wedding gifters are more than likely to gift them with silvery wedding wishes, making the dream of a complete silver service come true faster.

The bride should register her pattern with the bridal registry outlets in town — either a jeweler or department store.

Growth Control Plans Presented

By BONNIE BARD

Two similar plans aimed at controlling the spiraling growth rate were presented to the Rohnert Park City Council last night.

Councilman Vernon P. Smith submitted the strongest proposal, limiting the population increase to 1,750 new residents per year. "We do not have an obligation to encourage, promote or permit growth for the sake of growth," Smith said. "On the contrary, we have the obligation to protect and enhance the investment and environment of those already here."

Councilman Armando Flores suggested the council adopt a policy of keeping growth in line with school and city services. He suggested a seven-member growth policy commission be formed to recommend how many new living units should be built, as well as their location and type.

The council set both ideas aside until next Monday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall for further discussion.

Smith's proposal would establish an 11-member growth evaluation commission similar to what Flores proposed. Both said Rohnert Park's population should not exceed 45,000 in the future, although Flores said he thought 35,000 might be a better figure.

Smith said crowded schools, overloaded sewer treatment facilities and dwindling open space are cause enough to consider putting strong controls on growth. "Indeed, at this very moment we have as much to offer and perhaps more to lose than did Santa Clara County in the 1950s," he said.

Councilman Louis G. Beary questioned whether controls on development would really solve the city's problems. "Unemployment could be a worse problem," he warned. "We may be concerned with children on double sessions (at schools), but will we put the head of the household out of a job?"

Developers in the audience heartily cheered Beary's remark, but made no comment throughout the discussion.

City Atty. Richard Maxwell warned the council that growth control measures by cities remain largely untested in the courts and could be struck down.

Smith said he expects the council will get a great deal of pressure from developers and real estate agents in the process of developing the policy. "Developers have a responsibility for conducting their building programs in such a way that they are assets to the community," he said. "This responsibility includes taking all practical steps to insure protection against creating an unhealthy environment."

Smith said that if the council hesitates to establish a control policy, it could instead hold a referendum on the growth question.

Both Smith and Flores said they hope some type of policy and growth commission can be in gear and operating full steam by the end of June.

Rohnert Park Council Increases Sewer Fee

Sewer treatment improvements totaling $176,850 were approved by the Rohnert Park City Councl last night, along with increases in sewer connection fees to cover costs.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the improvements would upgrade quality of treatment to meet requirements set by the state Water Quality Control Board.

The first phase of construction was estimated to cost $90,700, to be followed by further refinements in phase two estimated at $86,150.

To meet the expenses, the council voted to increase sewer connection fees by $100 on single-family homes and by $75 each for apartments and mobile home units. The average connection fee is now $2,734.

Callinan said the first projct would be relocation of the sewer outfall line to the west of the treatment plant. Engineers had warned that outfall in Hinebaugh Creek would create terrible dor this summer for residents of nearby mobile home parks. Callinan said the $2,250 project will stop that problem.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

APPEAL — Overturned the Feb. 8 planning commission decision and granted a use permit to Sonoma County Institute of Human Abilities to convert old Sonoma State College classroom buildings at 265 College View Drive into apartments and classrooms.

MINIBUS — Heard a minibus service for the college and outlying shopping centers could cost $13,000 for the first ten months of operation. The council agreed to request the Golden Gate Bridge District to conduct a survey to determine need for the service.

WELL — Approved a contract with Argonaut Constructors of Santa Rosa to build a connection with the Santa Rosa Aqueduct at a cost of $5,848.

POLICE — Approved purchase of an unmarked police car at an estimated cost of $3,500.

Events Scheduled For Candidates

A series of events for Joan Brownstein, candidate for the Kentfield School District board, and for Gloria Ricardi, incumbent candidate, has been announced.

A joint coffee for Mrs. Brownstein and Mrs. Ricadi will be hald March 14 at 8 p.m. at the home of Kaki Jacobs, at 284 North Almenar Drive, Greenbrae.

A fund-raising gathering for Mrs. Brownstein will be held Friday at 8 p.m. at her home, 25 Wolfe Glen Way, Kentfield, with Rita Abrams, Lyn Elder and Janny Hall of the Magic Mountain Workshop.

A coffee for Mrs. Brownstein will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. by Ann Schmitt, William and Jean Glascock, at the Glascock home, 101 Diablo Drive, Kent Woodlands.

Burglars Strike At Delicatessen

Large quantities of meat, beer, cigarettes and hardboiled eggs were stolen last Wedesday or Thursday from a Forest Knolls store by burglars, the Marin County Sheriff's Department reported yesterday.

After entering Gai's Delicatessen through an unlocked meat locker, the burglars took 22 pounds of prime rib, three cases of beer, seven or eight cartons of cigarettes and two dozen eggs, deputies said.

Water Boiling Ban Lifted In West Marin

The Marin County Health Department has lifted its boil-water order for Bolinas and other areas of West Marin.

The order was imposed during January's heavy rains, which washed out the Bolinas water system forcing use of a termporary systerm.

According to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, the order was lifted on the recommendation of the state Department of Public Health.

She said tests on samples from four other systems also indicate the water no longer requires boiling.

Those systems are the Coast Springs Water Co. and the Estero Mutual Water Co., both of Tomales, the Olema Water Co. and the Noren Estates water system of Point Reyes Station.

Highway Safety Coloring Books

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The state of Ohio is buying 600,000 coloring books.

The state Controlling Board voted Monday to spend $13,800 for the books, depicting good highway safety practices. State officials intend to distribute them to first and second graders throughout Ohio.

"The theory behind the coloring book is when you color you stay within the lines and we would like to transfer that to having children stay within lines at crosswalks," Frank Ryan, an administrative assistant in the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, told the board.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Here's Something To See About A First Love — What It Is

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I wrote "What Is a Crush?" a few years ago. Now, the older me writes "What is a First Love — From beginning to End." Hope you like it. — E.D.

DEAR E.D.:

We do, we do. Incidentally, your "What Is a Crush?" got more requests for repeats than did almost any "What Is a?" column we ever printed.

WHAT IS A FIRST LOVE?
(From Beginning to End)

IT'S MEETING him and really liking him as a friend, but not like THAT!

IT's INDECISION, but then going out with him and deciding you like him like THAT!

IT's DOING lots of special things together: shows, movies, even bowling, because everything becomes special just being with him.

IT's SEEING him every day, talking to him on the phone for hours every night, dreaming about him, and still not being with him enough.

IT's BEING so nervous about meeting his mother that you fall down the stairs.

IT'S STARTING to think maybe you will spend your whole life with him.

IT's WRITING notes to each other and sharing lockers and books.

IT'S NOT needing a diary anymore because you tell him everything.

IT'S BEING ecstatically happy to be alive.

IT'S THINKING about him 25 hours a day, seven days a week, even in your dreams.

IT'S HAVING him tell you nothing's too good for you and he has you on a pedestal 20 feet high.

IT'S THE SUMMER when both of you go away, realizing you won't see each other again for 10 weeks and being very upset, but he reassures you that you'll have a beautiful year together after the summer.

IT'S SAYING goodbye, tears streaming down your faces, while he holds you in his arms.

IT'S SENDING him a letter with a "love" card every day.

IT'S SEEING a green envelope in the mailbox and knowing it's from him!

IT'S GETTING a phone call from him, and all your friends being so happy for you.

IT'S COUNTING the days, the hours, the minutes.

IT'S HAVING him come home and not being able to wait to do all the things you've planned.

IT'S SLOWLY realizing he's changed — you're always the last to see it!

IT'S HOURS on the phone discussing what happened.

IT'S WRITING him letters but not giving them to him because you're not sure how he'll react.

IT'S HOURS of crying, not being able to accept the change.

IT'S TALKING to the mirror, pretending it's him, saying what you wish you could say in person.

IT'S READING all his love letters and asking yourself, "Why?"

IT'S HAVING all your dreams shattered.

IT'S WISHING that he'll change back, but knowing he won't.

IT'S HANGING on until you just can't anymore.

IT'S BREAKING up, both of you crying wishing things hadn't had to change.

A FIRST LOVE is all of this and more, but after all the hurt subsides, you know you'll be thankful for the love you once shared. — E.D. (STILL WRITING)

INSIDE YOUR HOME

Contemporary Mood A Strong Statement

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY
Distributed by General Features Corp.

A consumer goes to an interior designer at the local department or furniture store and explains that he wants to achieve a room that has gleaming wood floors, wood paneling on the walls, lots of storage and a few choice possessions from around the world.

What kind of room would you conjure up if you were the designer? Traditional? American or Canadian Colonial? Country French or English? Any of those would seem a natural solution to the client's needs.

BUT WHAT ABOUT a totally contemporary interior? Can't that also fill the need? A room where individually interesting furnishings are presented in a crisp, nonfussy background. One where each object can be seen and appreciated on its own merit, but one where many possessions can be kept out of sight and brought out only when needed.

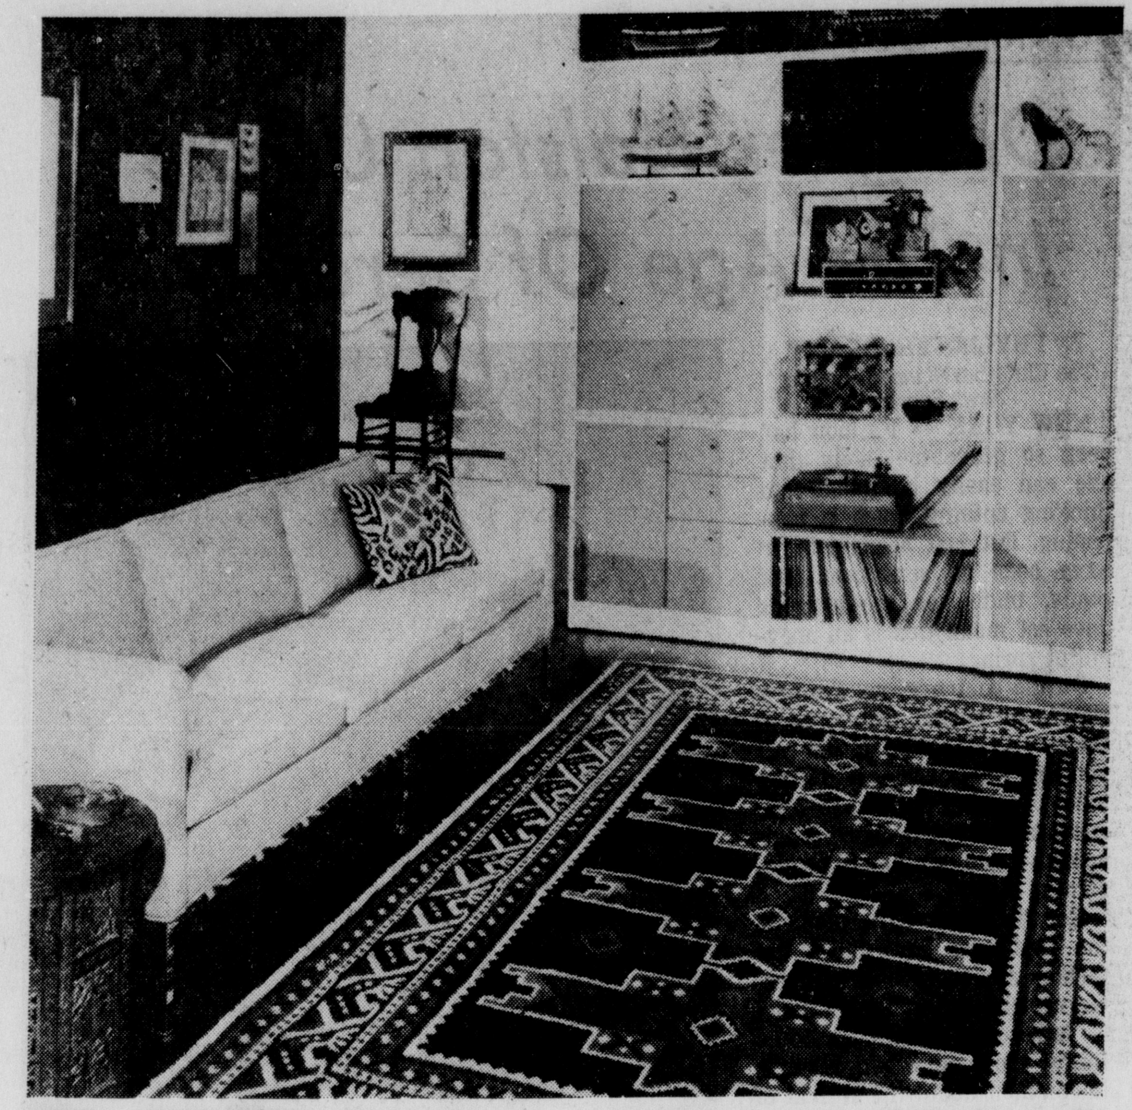
If the idea seems strange, just take a look at the room illustrated today. Wood floors, right? And some walls surfaced in paneling. There's an area rug that has an Oriental motif. And there's a collection of ship models, a Moroccan side table, grandmother's kitchen chair and some African artifacts.

Yet the total effect is that of a contemporary room. And, in fact, even the rug is a 1973 offering.

Am I trying to prove something with this little game? I guess so. I'm trying to prove that comfort, style and personality can be achieved without a hoaky background from a previous design period. And that same truth also works when the structure of a house is designed. Many a contemporary architect has had to educate his clients to understand that a woody, bricky, homey structure does not have to imitate the old family homestead! Comfort is really a timeless element.

PROBABLY THE strongest statement in the living room illustrated is the area rug. It has that universal look that seems to thread its way through many classic designs. It's made by a Danish firm, Egetaepper, a company that has specialized in long-yarn rya rugs.

Now they've moved in a new direction with this plush-pile Kaukasia area rug. When paired with those wood floors and modern storage units and sofa, the rug does become one of those "appropriate anywhere" kinds of possessions. You might even try it in a traditional, country or colonial interior — if you must.



THE CUSTOMER asked for a room effect of polished wood floors, wood paneling, storage space and display of a few choice items from around the world. This room fills the bill with combination storage and display wall piece and new Danish manufacture Oriental motif rug, the focal point of the room. The effect is contemporary.

Lea Says
Go back to Natures way of reducing

Okay, you've tried every new gadget — you've exercised and made muscle, you have broiled in steam baths — and ruined your skin, and it made you look years older. You've starved and lost 5 pounds and gained 10 back. You've worn plastic pants and lost inches on your hips, but alas it not only came back, but you have discovered you now are inches bigger — you now have a flabby fanny. Okay — STOP. Go back to nature's way of reducing. Centuries ago the Europeans found a mineral that cooled the body and when applied with pressure it reshaped the body. This European process not only did the cooling, tightening, and re-condition the skin but it reshaped the body — and after each treatment instead of feeling tired, hot cross, and hungry — as with exercise, you will feel cool, confident, slim, and ready to conquer the world. So get up and go to Ann-Maries.

JUNK IS OUT

Designer Halston Ushers In The Age Of Serenity

By PHYLLIS FELDKAMP
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — Fashion has been so peaceable lately that one can easily be lulled into thinking nothing much is happening. But just because there have been no sensational hot pants, midis, or see-throughs does not mean this is an uneventful spring.

On the contrary, we are in a significant period. Only once in the proverbial blue moon will you find what obtains in fashion today; a situation where the spirit of a single designer dominates — and an American designer, at that.

For the most part, those in the past who have upset the fashion applecart — Courreges, Gernreich, Quant, Dior, Chanel — have done so through some initial shock or other. What is uncommon about the arrival of Halston, an Iowa-born former milliner who is the designer of the hour, is its having come about without the usual hoopla.

It is he who has ushered in an era of serenity. Where not long ago noisy prints were brought out to the accompaniment of ear-splitting rock, this spring orderly stripes and polka dots come in to Cole Porter tunes. For his opening, another American designer, Chester Weinberg, even went to the length of hiring a string quartet to play Mozart as a background for his tidy tie-silks and pale crepes and suedes.

IOWA-BORN FASHION designer Halston's styles dominate the fashion scene with their serenity. Typical is the natural poplin raincoat with matching skirt and hat, plus ivory cashmere sweater. Everyone looks different in his designs because they allow for a choice of accessories to express the wearer's taste.

THE BASIC styles are still classic: the shirtdress, sweater, raincoat, cardigan suit, wrap skirt, pants and caftan. Halston has quietly elevated all these mundane staples to the nth degree of desirability, which cannot be termed an act of radicalism. You could, in fact, quite honestly characterize the Halston mode as reactionary — at the risk of having his free-thinking coterie of fans and associates jump down your throat.

"Less is more," a fashion observer, quoting architect Mies van der Rohe, said of Halston's relinquishment of fancy buttons, braid trims, ruffles and other extraneous gimcrackery in favor of superb cut and fabric.

"Halston got rid of the junk," said another. "He stripped down to the essentials, making clothes seem less important than the woman who is wearing them."

His concept is close to that expressed by veteran designer Bonnie Cashin, who, though more functional in outlook, has long been preoccupied with form, fabric, color and practical American life-style use. Now the trend toward elegant simplicity is fanning out in all directions. It is felt in Paris: Marc Bohan of Dior and Givenchy are both moving toward uncomplicated day clothes, although they do hold on to flounces and ruffles for evening.

The idea of the woman mattering more than her dress appeals. Thousands of Halston customers last season bought the identical $180 shirtdress of a suedelike material and, along with their best friends and worst enemies, have been wearing it gladly. Sales of the Ultrasuede dress have totaled $900,000, according to the latest accounting at the designer's Seventh Avenue wholesale firm, Halston Originals, Inc. A short-sleeved version to retail at the same price is in his spring line.

(Christian Science Monitor photos)

A DANGER of uniformity appears inherent here — dangers as well for younger designers who may slip too easily into a simplistic Halston mold. At least one, Clovis Ruffin, whose cleanlined designs retail at $36 to $50 vs. the Halston price sale of from $75 for a shirt to $660 for a costume, is already being tagged "the poor girl's Halston."

But the rationale behind "everybody into her Halston" is that nobody is going to look the same in it. Each customer's individuality is going to shine through, one hopes, as she expresses her own taste by her manner of wearing the dress and her choice of accessories.

At his showings Halston's models excel at proving this can be so. Each girl may be tall and rangy, have clothes-hanger shoulders and walk like a dancer, but there all similarities end. Karen Bjomsen is China-doll pretty, with long blonde locks. Pat Cleveland and Naomi Sims, New York's most frequently booked black fashion mannequins, have totally opposite styles. One trips down the runway, tossing her mane of curls with quicksilver movements. The other, whose hair is cropped close to a magnificent head, is a marvel of sinous grace.

Anjelica Huston, daughter of movie director John Huston, grew up riding her father's horses over the Irish countryside. After a fling at acting on one film, she has taken up modeling in New York. She lopes along through a showroom, turning and stopping to confront her audience like a startled thoroughbred yearling.

Until last fall when she spent a few weeks in Paris, wher she decided her style ought to be patterned after the 1920's girls Van Dongen painted, she wore her dark hair shoulder-length. Now she has a Dutch cut, one of the short hairstyles that look new again, given the right shaping on the right head. Like designer-of-the-hour Halston, she is the very model of distinctive, contemporary chic.

Organizations Enter Radio's Snake Races

Four Marin County non-profit organizations have entered the annual KABL Radio St. Patrick's Day Snake Race for first prizes of $1,000 cash and $1,000 worth of free air time.

Participating in the event Friday, March 16 are B'nai B'rith Women, Ta Mar Chapter, San Rafael; The Bargain Box Auxiliary to Sunny Hills, San Rafael; the Pathfinders, Marin Art & Garden Center, Ross and the Israeli Fair, San Rafael.

The snake races, with a host of celebrity judges and snake racers, will be held at the Crown Zellerbach Plaza beginning at noon.

Second prize is $300 and third prize is $200. Any non-profit organization in the San Francisco Bay Area may enter by writing KABL. Snakes will be provided.

ON THE AGENDA

Expectant Parents Classes Planned To Start Tonight

A new series of nine classes for expectant parents will be held by the Education for Childbirth program beginning tonight. Classes will be held weekly on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the offices of Gunhild Brown, RPT, 1300 South Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae.

Classes include instruction to increase the understanding of pregnancy and labor and techniques for breathing, relaxation, comfort in pregnancy and post-natal recovery.

Fathers are urged to attend all classes as the instruction is directed to the couple as a team. Information on breast-feeding and films on childbirth are also included in the series.

Expectant mothers must have written permission from their physicians to participate. Instructor for this series will be Valarie Haworth. Further information may be obtained from the offices of Mr. Brown.

A BENEFIT WINE and cheese tasting party, "Wine Shine," will be held by the Marin County Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club for members and guests Friday at 6:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Shiner of Peacock Gap.

Wine and cheese tasting instruction and appreciation will be directed by the Charles Krug Vineyards and the Marin French Cheese Company.

The party will benefit the scholarship fund for a Marin County resident to attend a summer session at Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts in Gatlinburg, Tenn. Previous years' winners are Mrs. Joseph Reyes, a teacher at the Bel Aire School in Tiburon and Nancy Turk, a College of Marin student and a part-time instructor with the San Anselmo Recreation Department.

Party chairman is Mrs. William Sinclair, and reservations chairman is Mrs. Fred E. Bardo of San Rafael.

A FAMILY STYLE spaghetti dinner will be sponsored by the United Presbyterian Women of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael Friday at 7 p.m. in Canoles Hall, 510 5th Avenue, San Rafael.

The Novato Rural Band will entertain after dinner. Reservations may be made through the church office.

"A TRIP THROUGH the Holy Land" is the topic for the slide talk by Mrs. Richard Calahan for the Mill Valley Community Church Club tomorrow at noon in the church.

A PANEL discussion on "Options in Programming" will be presented by the Ross Valley Council of the Parent-Teacher Association at their Thursday meeting beginning at 10 a.m. in the multi-purpose room of Lagunitas school.

The public is invited to attend. Speakers will be Harry Roach of the Lagunitas School District, Tom Anderson, superintendent at Ross and Jack Hayes, curriculum coordinator for Sir Francis Drake High School.

THE MONTHLY meeting of the Parent-Teacher Guild of Our Lady of Loretto School will be held Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the parish hall in Novato.

Guest speaker will be Sister-Susannah Malarkey, O.P., whose topic will be "Religion Today - Current Trends in Catholic Theology." A question and answer period will follow her talk.

All parishioners and their friends, as well as parents of parochial school children, are invited.

A DRAMA literary program will be presented by the Tamalpais Center Woman's Club Friday at noon. A book review by Mrs. Russell Wolcott will follow at 1 p.m. at the clubhouse.

Dessert luncheon hostesses are Mmes. Joseph Florke, Thomas Cusick and Cecil E. Brous, chairman.

Mrs. Schneider Heads Governing Council

Birdie Schneider has been a member of the Toy Booth Guild of Sunny Hills for 10 years and has been its president, vice president and treasurer in previous years.

The governing council assists the 32 guilds with fund raising, helping to staff the Bargain Box and acquaint the community with the Sunny Hills program. It also coordinates the Grade Festival in October.

Mrs. Schneider, a 24-year resident of Marin, is also a director of the Marin Council of Civic Affairs, is a member of the Bay Area Social Planning Council, a past president of Acacia Unit of Marin Foundation, and has been active in Sleepy Hollow community projects.

Mrs. Schneider is a native of Oklahoma and she and her husband, a Bechtel Corp. employee, have three sons, William, 22; John, 20; and Thomas, 15.

The other new officers of the governing are Mmes. Charles Spongberg of San Rafael, first vice president; Ray Monson of Novato, second vice president; Robert Berry of Kentfield, recording secretary; and David Matson of Novato, corresponding secretary.

Take Your Wife Or Just Don't Go

NEW YORK (UPI) — Any new husbands confused about the duties of the new state of life can be guided by words by John H. Young. The words were put down in the 19th century, appearing in prose titled "Our Deportment, or the Manners, Conduct and Dress of the Most Refined Society."

The man wrote: "It is the husband's duty and should be his pleasure to accompany her to church, to social gatherings, to lectures and such places of entertainment as they both mutually enjoy and appreciate. In fact, he ought not to attend a social gathering unless attended by his wife, nor go to an evening entertainment without her. If it is not a fit place for his wife to attend, neither is it fit for him."

Rotate Silver Use For Patina

NEW YORC (UPI) — Jewelers say the softly radiant patina or finish that makes silver a glowing prize as an heirloom comes from daily use. They suggest that newlyweds rotate silver service during daily use to insure a unifrm patina.

Wash silver right after use. Wash in hot, sudsy water. Rinse with hot water and dry thoroughly. To remove stains of eggs, mustard or olives, use a reliable silver polish.

Reed Willits To Marry Renee Rulon

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rulon Poole of Menan, Idaho, announce the engagement of their daughter, Renee, to Reed Robert Willits of Forest Knolls. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Willits of Forest Knolls.

Renee was graduated from Rigby High School and Ricks College in Idaho. She attends Brigham Young University.

Reed was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, College of Marin and Brigham Young, where he is studying for a master's degree.

The couple plans an April 20 wedding at the Morman Temple in Salt Lake City.

Nursing Degree

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — The University of Missouri offers a Bachelor of Science Degree in nursing, under a program started in 1950.

Rohnert Park Women Choose Mrs. Flores

Cecil Virginia Flores of Rohnert Park has been named president of the Rohnert Park Women's Association. Wife of Armando Flores, vice principal of Martin Luther King School in Sausalito and vice mayor of the Rohnert Park City Council, Mrs. Flores has served as historian and sergeant at arms during her three year membership.

Mrs. Flores said the club supports community projects and charitable organizations which are in need of financial assistance.

Activities for the year include a membership coffee in March, progressive dinner and community Easter egg hunt in April, a fashion show for scholarships to graduating Rancho Cotate High School girls in May and an outdoor salad bar luncheon in June.

The club also plans a group birthday party for emotionally disturbed teen-agers at Napa State Hospital in July, an August pool party, a booth at the Rohnert Park Founder's Day celebration in September, an Octoberfest and a children's community Halloween parade and a Christmas tree festival and party for Napa State Hospital.

A native of Livermore, Mrs. Flores is also active in the Rohnert Park Garden Club and is founder's day committee director. She was graduated from Watsonville High School and attended Cabrillo College in Santa Cruz.

She has lived in Sonoma County for eight years, and she and her husband have two children, Mike, 10 and Beth, 8. Her hobbies include sewing, knitting, bike riding and decorating.

Silver Purchase In Pairs, Pieces

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Jewelry Industry Council advises that silver flatware and serving pieces can be bought individually or as place setting pairs, such as a spoon and fork, two teaspoons.

Once the couple has begun the silver service, wedding gifters are more than likely to gift them with silvery wedding wishes, making the dream of a complete silver service come true faster.

The bride should register her pattern with the bridal registry outlets in town — either a jeweler or department store.

ART REVIEW

You Can See Art — But What About The Other Four Senses?

By ADA GARFINKEL

Granted that for most people the sense of sight predominates all others. But we can know the world best through the use of our five senses.

The challenge to enlarge upon our sense experience — "actual or implied" is the basis for the current "Sensory Show" at the Marin Society of Artists Gallery in Ross.

Further guidelines to artists and viewers expanding the concept, quote: "Of or pertaining to sensation; conveying or producing sense impuleses; to perceive by all of the senses," prepares one to witness a polished, handsomely varied exhibit. Which is there.

And while many artists believe that nature is the epitome of sense-experience, not a single traditional landscape passed the jury in this show. What they looked for was something special, such as Evelyn Violante's "Spring came early this Year," Or Mary Bonner's "Geo-Flora" which received a merit award.

Some of the entries which appealed to the sense of smell or touch or taste at the same time wereel Cardy's ceramic "Apple Pie," Gwen Stone's dry, acrid fiber glass "Hairy Soot Red," and Helen Hipshman's "Market" with its colorful rows of shiny eggplants, red peppers, stringbeans, and crusty squash.

Among the enticing "feelies" are Naomi Hardy's unlikely "Silk Purse" which plays up contrasting textures that make you want to run your fingers through. Also Glenna Kormier's "Grandma Bean," another merit award winner.

While the sense of sound is not included audibly in the exhibit, it is the theme of June Lederman's birds in her graphic "Sing me a Rainbow." And one can almost hear it in the crackly, electrically-sanded etched surface of Bruce Lauritzen's "Compression," a U-shaped metal construction which was awarded the cash prize.

The sensation of seeing differently is noted in several works.

Barbara Blume's "Golden People," a mosaic-like oil painting, for example, deranges one's senses with its contorted bodies with interchangeable parts and alternating day and night views.

And Martin Stoelzel's "Cathedral of the Absurd," a magnificently painted surrealistic vision is evocatively sensual and votive in its Dionysian symbolism.

"Something Else Sensory," a film shown by Tony Williams at the show's opening, stressed the variety and wealth of textural and color richness to be found all about us in eroded metals, peeling paint, windswept desert weeds, and airborne flotillas — as a few examples. And in the action and interaction of people in motion and in repose.

This exhibit will continue through March 25, and may be viewed daily from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. The gallery is located in the Art and Garden Center.

Tam High Board Plans Sex Education Symposium

The Tamalpais High School District board last night decided to arrange a public symposium on sex education after a citizens' advisory committee said the subject is a "very sensitive issue in the community." (Another Tamalpais district story, page 1.)

A report on sex education, including venereal disease, in the district's three high schools indicated instruction is fragmented among many departments, without coordination.

Edward T. Faber, who prepared the report with Dr. Marjorie McGee and Jane Perry, told trustees "not enough is being done, and what is,8needs more direction and organization so that each student who wishes is exposed."

Faber said it would "be presumptuous" of the committee to organize a sex education course as it is such a sensitive issue. "What's needed is a totally new look at the manner in which it's being taught."

Trustees agreed with Faber's suggestion to conduct a public symposium on the subject within the next 30 to 45 days, and instructed administrative assistant Edward J. Neumeier to work with the committee in organizing it.

Later a district-wide workshop will develop the scope and content of the courses, said trustees.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

ADULT EDUCATION — Agreed that the district work with College of Marin representatives on a suggestion that the college assume responsibility for the adult education programs at Tamalpais, Redwood and Drake high schools.

ACCOUNTANT — Authorized advertising for candidates for the new district office position of chief accountant, who will be paid in the range $1,163 to $1,414 a month.

FIELD — Agreed to spend $1,400 on top of the $1,000 authorized Feb. 5 for soils and engineering studies to determine whether Redwood's athletic field can be rehabilitated.

STUDENT TEACHING — Approved student teaching contracts with California State University and Colleges for the State University in Sonoma, with the University of California at Berkeley and Lone Mountain College, San Francisco.

CONFERENCES — Approved attendances at conferences for 20 district employees.

WALKWAYS — Approved transferring $5,200 from the special reserves for final payments for the Tamalpais high walkways and lighting project: $200 to Bushnell, Jessup, Murphy and Van de Weghe, and $5,200.24 to Neil T. Burton.

Irish Coffee Art Auction Is Set

The Terra Linda Art Association will hold its annual Irish Coffee Art Auction on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, from 7 to 11 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Hundreds of oils, acrylics, watercolors, pen and ink drawings and sculpture will be auctioned off by Al Newman of San Rafael. Proceeds will benefit the association's gallery and workshop.

Works to be auctioned off will be displayed from Sunday through March 16 at the association headquarters, 4172 Redwood Highway, from noon to 3 p.m.

Oils On Display

Oil paintings by Sonoma State College Senior Charles Rodgers-Martin will be on display at the college library through March 16. He formerly taught at the De Young Museum in San Francisco.

DANCE REVIEW

'Giselle' Star Carries Show

By MARIE RAMEAU

SAN FRANCISCO — The American Ballet Theater, opening its San Francisco run with the romantic ballet "Giselle," played to a half-filled but appreciative opera house Sunday evening.

Enthusiasm of the audience for featured artists Natalia Makarova and Ivan Nagy was high and the poor turnout did not diminish the general quality of the performance.

In the first act, the corps de ballet was spirited and danced well, although the choreography of the peasant dances was repetitious.

"Giselle's" main weakness derives from its plot, which centers around a peasant girl who falls in love with a nobleman. She is betrayed by him, goes mad and dies of despair. In the second act, her ghost reappears to the nobleman in a graveyard, and declares to him her undying love.

In view of the increasing sophistication and complexity of 20th-century ballets, this naive 19th-century classic remains a challenge to the best of dancers, as few possess the sensitivity and dramatic talent required to render it believable.

Natalia Makarova, however, possesses both of these qualities and gave one of the most convincing and moving performances of the title role I have seen.

She is exquisitely light and has the impeccable technique necessry for the romantic style, whose difficulties find their culmination in "Giselle." Her "mad scene" was shattering in its intensity, and yet it was never over acted. Also, as Giselle, her relationship with Berthe (her mother) was carefully thought out. This point was made even stronger by the outstanding acting of Ruth Mayer as Berthe, a character who can otherwise become a stereotype.

In Act two the graveyard scene, Makarova appeared to float through the air as if propelled by some external force. This emphasized her exceptional musicality and slender, fragile physique. Her dancing has soul — an undefinable quality conspicuous by its absence in many of her contemporaries.

Karena Brock, as Myrta, the evil Queen of the Wilis, showed strong technique, but gave an indifferent rendition of the role, paying no attention to the dramatic aspects of this potentially powerful part. The result was mechanical and "correct."

Ivan Nagy, as the nobleman Albrecht, showed the stage presence of a great dancer, but he needs to mature more as an actor. It is not sufficient to present fine dancing and noble bearing in this ballet, for acting is really its core. His technique, elevation and control are beyond reproach, but although he has some of Nureyev's intensity in personality, a certain monotony characterized his acting and made his performance less memorable than it could have been.

Sets and costumes were exciting and beautiful, but the orchestra (as usual) was far from perfect — the brass was too loud, and the oboe soloist in Act Two was out of tune.

American Ballet Theatre will perform in San Francisco through the 11th, presenting "Rodeo" and a mixed program along with the classics "Swan Lake" and "Coppelia."

Research Group Says Safety Car Dangerous

NEW YORK (UPI) — A research group at Columbia University, charging that a proposed crash-worthy "safety car" may cause more accidents than it prevents, has suggested reducing its weight and speed to make it safer.

In its report Monday, the group, operating under a grant from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, said the projected car was lethally heavy and damaging to the environment.

It proposed cutting its size and horsepower, building in a device to keep its speed below 50 miles an hour, and installing a fail-safe guidance system to prevent crashes.

Time Is Opposed To National Press Council

NEW YORK (UPI) — Time Inc., claiming a national press council would give the illusion that the nation's newspapers and magazines were all unified in thought and opinion, says it will not support such a body but would answer its questions.

The Twentieth Century Fund has proposed a national news council.

"Too many politicians and others are already disposed to discuss 'the press' or 'the media' as though all the thousands of magazines, newspapers and news organizations of TV and radio can be considered a single institution," Time Inc. editor-in-chief Hedley Donovan said Monday.

Donovan said that while Time Inc. could not join such a council or support it financially, it would answer its inquiries.

Wine Sales Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California wine sales totaled a record 239 million gallons in 1972, up 13 million gallons over the previous year, according to the Wine Institute.

Pickets Up At Schools In The East

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Teachers in New Haven, Conn., rejected a contract offer from the Board of Education Monday. A union spokesman said pickets would be in front of all the city's schools today.

Officials said they would all on substitute teachers for the 22,000 pupils in the public school system.

In Amsterdam, N.Y., however, teachers were expected back in the classroom today after unanamously ratifying a new two-year contract.

The 1,365 New Haven teachers overwhelmingly rejected what the board described as its final contract offer.

A spokesman for the Salem Education Association said about 85 per cent of the school system's 238 teachers refused to work in an effort to force the school board to recognize the union. About 5,200 students are affected by the strike.

Legion Honors Older Members

Honored were: Leo Arbini, Emil B. Bianco, Lawrence A. Cowan, William M. Crane, Richard M. Miehling, Roy R. Rhodes, John H. DeRosa, Joseph Demaretti, Joseph Dias, Charles Giudic, Charles T. Lund, Leon Sigard, Joseph Soldavini, Felix M. Torrano, Frank C. Toscano, Walker B. Vaning, Harry M. Williams and Jack Zander.

The legion was formed by the American Expeditionary Force 54 years ago in Paris, France.

Improvers To Elect

The San Rafael Meadows Improvement Association will elect a successor to retiring Chairman James Jensick at 7:30 p.m. March 14 in room 308-A Marin County Civic Center.

Condemnation Claim Rejected By Council

The Corte Madera Town Council last night routinely rejected a $10 million inverse condemnation claim by the frustrated would-be developer of the Heerdt Marsh. (Another Corte Madera Town Council story, page 1.)

Such action, taken on all claims against the city, clears the way for a lawsuit by William J. Heerdt and developer Frank M. Burke of San Rafael against the town, the state, Marin County and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The commission has turned down plans for the 68 acres of salt marsh six times since 1966, but the town had backed the first five. Burke's most recent proposal for the first time provided no open space. Instead, it showed $5.5 million in marina and commercial facilities.

The project drew unanimous condemnation from citizens' groups in conservation commission hearings in December and the commission unanimously rejected it in January.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

APARTMENTS — Denied an appeal by architect James S. Mallot, who sought to build eight two-story apartments on less than an acre of land where San Clemente Creek reaches Paradise Drive.7The council instead recommended five or six units of lower profile buildings leaving open space at one end of the lot, which has been considered for public purchase as open space.

REVENUE SHARING — Rejected a demand by the East Corte Madera Hilldwellers Association to hold public hearings on $87,000 in federal revenue sharing funds allocated at the council's Feb. 20 meeting. Councilmen said they had enough public input.

DESIGN REVIEW — Introduced an ordinance increasing the membership of the board of design from three to five and giving them decision making authority. The planning commission favored leaving the board advisory.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT — Passed six motions to set up an assessment district northwest of the Corte Madera Shopping Center for 61 homes benefitted by installation of new flood control gates. The town will pay $12,258; homeowners will pay the rest of the $23,498 bill over nine years.

INSURANCE — Increased the town's monthly contribution to each employee's health care program from $17.91 to $19.30 to reflect an increase in price.

RETIREMENT — Voted to pay retired finance director Jack Vance $118 in back retirement pay a recent state law made due him.

POLICE — Voted to require new police applicants to have at least six units of college police science and 15 total college units. In the past, only a high school diploma was needed.

POLICE CAR — Authorized purchase of a radio-equipped police car for about $5,000.

SIGN — Upheld planning commission denial of a freestanding sign for Civic Federal Savings and Loan Association of 645 Tamalpais Drive.

REFUND — Acting as the Corte Madera Sanitary District board, refunded $2,750 to Stanley A. Weigel. The San Francisco judge sought the rebate for 10 unused sewer connections in the Fifer tract.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. March 14 for further hearing on short-term amendments to the town general plan.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Here's Something To See About A First Love — What It Is

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I wrote "What Is a Crush?" a few years ago. Now, the older me writes "What is a First Love — From beginning to End." Hope you like it. — E.D.

DEAR E.D.:

We do, we do. Incidentally, your "What Is a Crush?" got more requests for repeats than did almost any "What Is a?" column we ever printed.

WHAT IS A FIRST LOVE?
(From Beginning to End)

IT'S MEETING him and really liking him as a friend, but not like THAT!

IT's INDECISION, but then going out with him and deciding you like him like THAT!

IT's DOING lots of special things together: shows, movies, even bowling, because everything becomes special just being with him.

IT's SEEING him every day, talking to him on the phone for hours every night, dreaming about him, and still not being with him enough.

IT's BEING so nervous about meeting his mother that you fall down the stairs.

IT'S STARTING to think maybe you will spend your whole life with him.

IT's WRITING notes to each other and sharing lockers and books.

IT'S NOT needing a diary anymore because you tell him everything.

IT'S BEING ecstatically happy to be alive.

IT'S THINKING about him 25 hours a day, seven days a week, even in your dreams.

IT'S HAVING him tell you nothing's too good for you and he has you on a pedestal 20 feet high.

IT'S THE SUMMER when both of you go away, realizing you won't see each other again for 10 weeks and being very upset, but he reassures you that you'll have a beautiful year together after the summer.

IT'S SAYING goodbye, tears streaming down your faces, while he holds you in his arms.

IT'S SENDING him a letter with a "love" card every day.

IT'S SEEING a green envelope in the mailbox and knowing it's from him!

IT'S GETTING a phone call from him, and all your friends being so happy for you.

IT'S COUNTING the days, the hours, the minutes.

IT'S HAVING him come home and not being able to wait to do all the things you've planned.

IT'S SLOWLY realizing he's changed — you're always the last to see it!

IT'S HOURS on the phone discussing what happened.

IT'S WRITING him letters but not giving them to him because you're not sure how he'll react.

IT'S HOURS of crying, not being able to accept the change.

IT'S TALKING to the mirror, pretending it's him, saying what you wish you could say in person.

IT'S READING all his love letters and asking yourself, "Why?"

IT'S HAVING all your dreams shattered.

IT'S WISHING that he'll change back, but knowing he won't.

IT'S HANGING on until you just can't anymore.

IT'S BREAKING up, both of you crying wishing things hadn't had to change.

A FIRST LOVE is all of this and more, but after all the hurt subsides, you know you'll be thankful for the love you once shared. — E.D. (STILL WRITING)

Contemporary Mood A Strong Statement

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY
Distributed by General Features Corp.

A consumer goes to an interior designer at the local department or furniture store and explains that he wants to achieve a room that has gleaming wood floors, wood paneling on the walls, lots of storage and a few choice possessions from around the world.

What kind of room would you conjure up if you were the designer? Traditional? American or Canadian Colonial? Country French or English? Any of those would seem a natural solution to the client's needs.

BUT WHAT ABOUT a totally contemporary interior? Can't that also fill the need? A room where individually interesting furnishings are presented in a crisp, nonfussy background. One where each object can be seen and appreciated on its own merit; but one where many possessions can be kept out of sight and brought out only when needed.

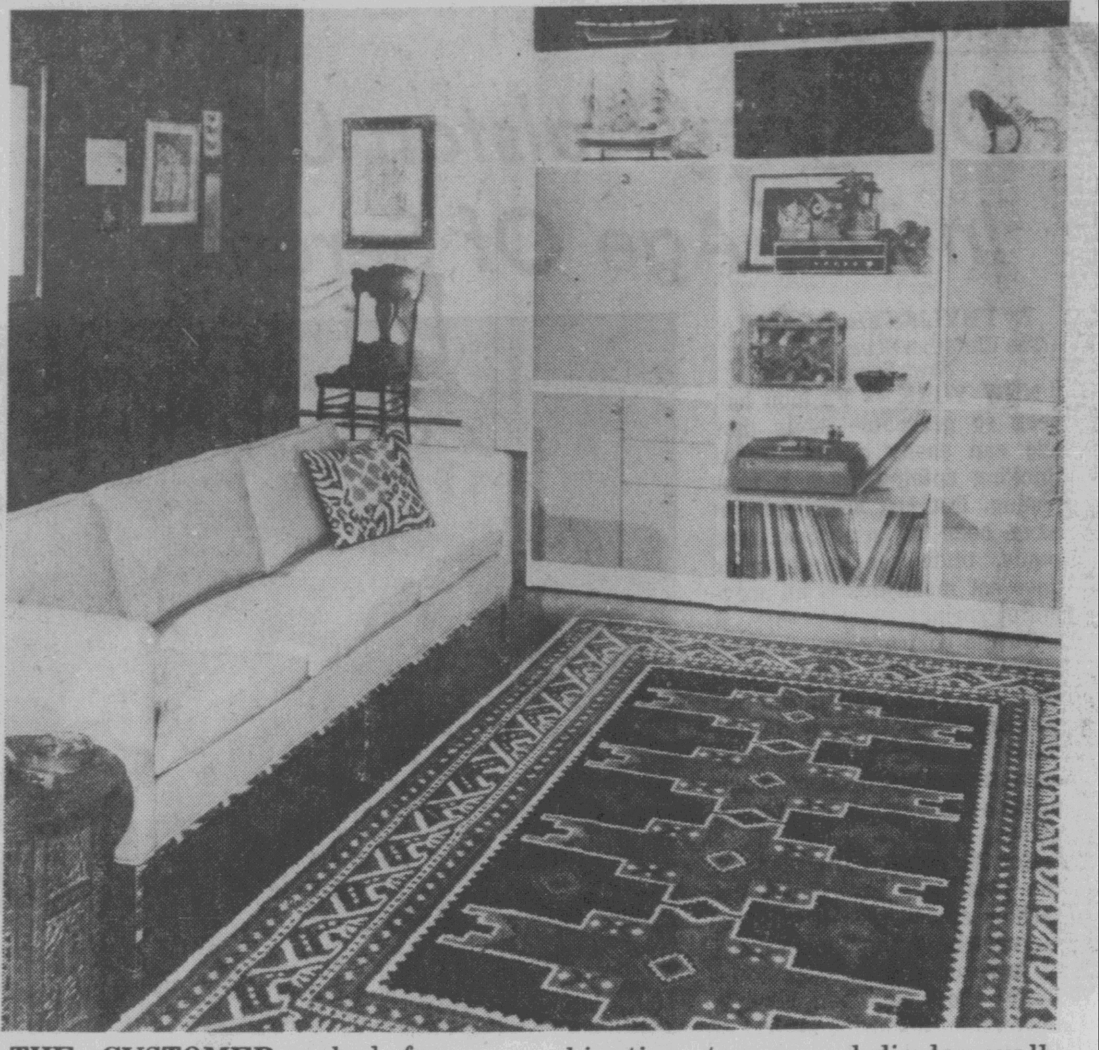
If the idea seems strange, just take a look at the room illustrated today. Wood floors, right? And some walls surfaced in paneling. There's an area rug that has an Oriental motif. And there's a collection of ship models, a Moroccan side table, grandmother's kitchen chair and some African artifacts.

Yet the total effect is that of a contemporary room. And, in fact, even the rug is a 1973 offering.

Am I trying to prove something with this little game? I guess so. I'm trying to prove that comfort, style and personality can be achieved without a hoaky background from a previous design period. And that same truth also works when the structure of a house is designed. Many a contemporary architect has had to educate his clients to understand that a woody, bricky, homey structure does not have to imitate the old family homestead! Comfort is really a timeless element.

PROBABLY THE strongest statement in the living room illustrated is the area rug. It has that universal look that seems to thread its way through many classic designs. It's made by a Danish firm, Egetaepper, a company that has specialized in long-yarn rya rugs.

Now they've moved in a new direction with this plush-pile Kaukasia area rug. When paired with those wood floors and modern storage units and sofa, the rug does become one of those "appropriate anywhere" kinds of possessions. You might even try it in a traditional, country or colonial interior — if you must.



THE CUSTOMER asked for a room effect of polished wood floors, wood paneling, storage space and display of a few choice items from around the world. This room fills the bill with combination storage and display wall piece and new Danish manufacture Oriental motif rug, the focal point of the room. The effect is contemporary.

Boon To Business

Department stores with beauty salons report that short hair for women has been a boon to business. It keeps the women coming into the store oftener, brings in the younger women and aids the wig business, Women's Wear Daily reports.

Go back

Natures
way of
Okay, you've tried every new gadget — you've exercised and made muscle, you have broiled in steam baths — and ruined your skin, and it made you look years older. You've starved and lost 5 pounds and gained 10 back. You've worn plastic pants and lost inches on your hips, but alas it not only came back, but you have discovered you now are inches bigger — you now have a flabby fanny. Okay — STOP. Go back to nature's way of reducing. Centuries ago the Europeans found a mineral that cooled the body and when applied with pressure it reshaped the body. This European process not only did the cooling, tightening, and re-condition the skin but it reshaped the body — and after each treatment instead of feeling tired, hot cross, and hungry — as with exercise, you will feel cool, confident, slim, and ready to conquer the world. Council Seeks Lower Fee From Consultant

The Mill Valley City Council voted last night to bargain with planning consultants Sedway-Cooke of San Francisco on the cost of rewriting the city's general plan, holding in reserve the possibility of giving the job to either of two other firms if the Sedway-Cooke price isn't right.

Richard Jessup, planning commissioner, told the council that a special city committee appointed to interview firms had begun with 11 consulting groups about a month ago and had narrowed down to three, of which Sedway-Cooke was the first choice.

The other two are Wedell Group of Sausalito and Williams and Mocine of San Francisco.

Councilman Robert E. Capron suggested that, before contracting, the city should hold a public hearing with all three firms. He also said the city should consider getting price quotes on the job from the three before making a decision.

But the majority of the council opposed the two ideas. "I am not impressed with the idea of having professional men appear in a public meeting to try to sell themselves," said Councilman Edward J. Boessenecker.

Boessenecker said negotiations should begin with Sedway-Cooke and then move on to the other firms if the first price was too high.

The council voted 4-1 to follow Boessenecker's suggestions. Councilman Gerald J. Hood voted "no," contending the committee had left some better firms off the final list.

Jessup told the council that Sedway had estimated earlier they would charge about $45,000 for the job, which will take about 18 months.

Earlier in the meeting the council also introduced for a first reading a residential building moratorium which would last until the general plan is revised. Because of wording changes in the ordinance at previous meetings, action on the ban has been postponed several times. The council set March 19 as the date for final adoption.

If the ban passes, developers could not submit plans for subdivisions, involving five or more lots, for planned residential developments or for planned unit developments until the plan is revised.

The ban has a one-year initial life and could be renewed for another year.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed session to interview applicants for openings on the art commission.

CONDEMNATION — Ordered the staff to begin condemnation proceedings against three property owners in the vicinity of the Vista Linda Avenue slide in order to get land for a temporary walkway to serve stranded residents in the area. Robert Derzon of 6 Dawn Place presented a petition from 36 residents asking for the walkway.

BUS DEPOT — Commissioned the city's business assistance committee to interview applicants wishing to rent the city bus depot. The council asked for a report and recommendations on applicants at its March 19 meeting. The council set 5 p.m. Wednesday as the deadline for anyone wishing to make proposals for renting the bus depot to apply.

OFFICE SPACE — Authorized staff to lease space at 26 Miller Avenue to house the planning department. Heard a report indicating that a proposal to use the library basement as council chambers would violate an agreement with the state which requires that the library be used solely as a library for 20 years after its construction.

KITE HILL — Heard a report from the parks and recreation commission recommending that the city buy all of Kite Hill if possible and suggesting which portions to buy if the hill is developed.

BIKE PATH — Approved the principle of a bike path bridge in the marsh area at the end of present Sycamore Avenue.

ENVIRONMENTAL REPORT — Set March 19 for a public hearing on an environmental impact report on the Miller Avenue master plan.

BUILDING RECORD — Adopted at second reading an ordinance requiring sellers of residential property to get a zoning report on their land for buyers before any sale. The city will provide the reports for a fee of $50 each.

ARCHEOLOGICAL REMAINS — Asked the planning commission and city attorney to work on ordinances to protect Indian shell mounds inside Mill Valley.

USE PERMIT — At the suggestion of councilman Hood, decided to begin appeal process on a use permit granted to the Sweetwater Lounge by the planning commission allowing the lounge to serve lunches.

Dance, Chess Tourney Set

The Rohnert Park Recreation Department has planned a dance and chess tournament for youngsters.

The dance Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight at the community center will feature music by Sly-Slick and wicked. Youngsters from junior and senior high schools may attend.

The Youth Chess Club tournament will begin Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Rohnert Park Junior High School. Play is open to students from second grade through high school.

Window Smashed And Mike Stolen

A burglar smashed a plate glass window and stole a microphone between 2 and 6 a.m. Wednesday from the banquet room of Nave Lanes, 5800 Redwood Highway, Ignacio, Marin sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Value of the missing item was not determined.

Library Board Raked By Council

By REBECCA LARSEN

Several Mill Valley city councilmen and the city manager accused the city library board last night of dawdling instead o acting to cut costs at the city library, which has been running over its budget by as much as $2,000 per month.

In the strongest language used yet with Jean Downs, acting board chairman, councilmen told the board to consider cutting back on professional services and full-time employees, as well as slashing hours and part-time employees as the board has proposed.

The board has opposed firing full-time employees on the grounds it would lower the quality of the library.

The disagreement over the budget has already led to several joint council-library board meetings and the resignation last week of the city librarian, Albert L. Hankenson.

The latest squabble arose when Mrs. Downs reported on alternatives the board is considering for staying within the $153,878 budget.

When she said the board was postponing action until a consultant could be hired to do a time-motion study, the council exploded.

"I'm really disturbed that this problem has been going on for five months and is still facing us," said Councilman Robert E. Capron. "I thought we'd have a decision tonight."

The council voted unanimously to meet with the board to take action on the budget crisis at a joint meeting Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. Mrs. Downs said her board would meet at 10 a.m. that day to try to reach decisions.

The council also said it would let stand a previous motion insisting that all budget overrides stop as of Wednesday.

Among possible solutions which Mrs. Downs suggested are cutting hours from 60 to 50 to reduce part-time payroll by about $600 per month. She said the board is also considering a book buying moratorium for the rest of the fiscal year and a cutback on periodicals. She said the library staff has offered to give up a week's pay by closing down the library during the Easter vacation period.

City Manager William H. Cunningham repeated his previous stand that the library does not need to cut hours if it will only eliminate one or two full-time employees. "All we need to do is get rid of a few of the fat people up there, and we can keep it open for 60 hours," he said. "There's no department in this city that this council wouldn't jump on if they proposed a 16 per cent cutback in hours like the library is suggesting."

He also told the council that the library board suggestions would not result in much saving.

Councilman Capron said the board should consider a middle ground between reducing hours and "slashing the heck out of the professional quality to keep it open as a book warehouse."

Mayor Jean S. Barnard said that on some days the library could announce that it would be a reading room, with no reference or professional service available.

"That goes against the grain for me," said Mrs. Downs.

Councilman Robert E. Burton said the library board's proposals "scared" him.

Mrs. Downs assured him they would be interim measures until the end of the budget period. She said the board is considering other ideas to put the library on a better financial basis in the next budget period.

Burton said Miss Hankenson's resignation would help the budget somewhat, since the city would not be paying a librarian's salary for two or three months.

Coast Commission To Be Described

The recently created California State Coastal Commission will be described at the Marin Conservation League's 39th annual dinner March 14 at 6 p.m. at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

Speakers will be Joseph E. Bodovitz, executive director of the commission, and Richard A. Wilson, a commission member. Reservations may be made at the league office in San Rafael.

YMCA Funds Drive At $8,000

A campaign for sustaining members for the Marin Young Men's Christian Association has rasied about $8,000 since it began Feb. 7, according to James Looney, YMCA executive director.

He said he hopes that the goal of $13,200 will be met by tomorrow, when 65 volunteers will gather at a dinner at Terra Linda High School cafeteria.

The money will be used to finance YMCA programs for youngsters which are not self-supporting, Looney said.

Gourmet Burglar Given Sentence

A 25-year-old San Rafael man yesterday pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a felony charge of stealing a huge banquet from a San Rafael restaurant.

Phillip Brian Crist admitted a felony burglary after Judge David Menary Jr. and the district attorney agreed he will spend no more than six months in jail or in a treatment program. Sentencing was set for April 9.

While Crist was in jail on a malicious mischief arrest Dec. 30, a roommate told police 50 to 60 bottles of wine and liquor and a large quantity of frozen food had appeared in their house Dec. 29 or 30.

Crist was subsequently charged with taking the food and drink from the Medallion restaurant at Second and G Streets.

Anniversary Silver Dollars Being Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To commemorate the nation's 200th anniversary, the Treasury Department wants to produce silver dollars and half dollars carrying "appropriate Revolutionary War designs."

The Treasury asked Congress Monday to authorize the series. The designs would be placed on the reverse sides of the Eisenhower silver dollar and the Kennedy 50-cent piece.

U.S. Mint Director Mary Brooks, who announced the plan, said the new coins would be placed in general circulation on July 4, 1975, a full year before the anniversary, if Congress gives its approval.

An Equal Housing Lender

A home improvement loan and the Hardmans.
Special services for special people.

The following is a transcript of an actual interview held with Mrs. Barry Hardman, Woodside, California.

"Well, I'd like to tell you some really spectacular story about our swimming pool loan, but the truth is, I can't.

"I called my Security Pacific Bank manager, told him we wanted to put in a pool, he asked how much money we needed, and zap! We had the loan in nothing flat. Which is sort of spectacular in itself, I think.

"Of course, they know us pretty well. We have a business account, a savings account, a checking account, Master Charge and Ready ReservAccount, a car loan, three or four truck loans…

"It's obvious that we think Security Pacific is something special."

Why not see us first for a home improvement loan. After all, you're already doing business with us. Aren't you?

ART REVIEW

You Can See Art — But What About The Other Four Senses?

By ADA GARFINKEL

Granted that for most people the sense of sight predominates all others. But we can know the world best through the use of our five senses.

The challenge to enlarge upon our sense experience — "actual or implied" is the basis for the current "Sensory Show" at the Marin Society of Artists Gallery in Ross.

Further guidelines to artists and viewers expanding the concept, quote: "Of or pertaining to sensation; conveying or producing sense impuleses; to perceive by all of the senses," prepares one to witness a polished, handsomely varied exhibit. Which is there.

And while many artists believe that nature is the epitome of sense-experience, not a single traditional landscape passed the jury in this show. What they looked for was something special, such as Evelyn Violante's "Spring came early this Year." Or Mary Bonner's "Geo-Flora" which received a merit award.

Some of the entries which appealed to the sense of smell or touch or taste at the same time wereel Cardy's ceramic "Apple Pie," Gwen Stone's dry, acrid fiber glass "Hairy Soot Red," and Helen Hipshman's "Market" with its colorful rows of shiny eggplants, red peppers, stringbeans, and crusty squash.

Among the enticing "feelies" are Naomi Hardy's unlikely "Silk Purse" which plays up contrasting textures that make you want to run your fingers through. Also Glenna Kormier's "Grandma Bean," another merit award winner.

While the sense of sound is not included audibly in the exhibit, it is the theme of June Lederman's birds in her graphic "Sing me a Rainbow." And one can almost hear it in the crackly, electrically-sanded etched surface of Bruce Lauritzen's "Compression," a U-shaped metal construction which was awarded the cash prize.

The sensation of seeing differently is noted in several works.

Barbara Blume's "Golden People," a mosaic-like oil painting, for example, deranges one's senses with its contorted bodies with interchangeable parts and alternating day and night views.

And Martin Stoelzel's "Cathedral of the Absurd," a magnificently painted surrealistic vision is evocatively sensual and votive in its Dionysian symbolism.

"Something Else Sensory," a film shown by Tony Williams at the show's opening, stressed the variety and wealth of textural and color richness to be found all about us in eroded metals, peeling paint, windswept desert weeds, and airborne flotillas — as a few examples. And in the action and interaction of people in motion and in repose.

This exhibit will continue through March 25, and may be viewed daily from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. The gallery is located in the Art and Garden Center.

Tam High Board Plans Sex Education Symposium

The Tamalpais High School District board last night decided to arrange a public symposium on sex education after a citizens' advisory committee said the subject is a "very sensitive issue in the community." (Another Tamalpais district story, page 1.)

A report on sex education, including venereal disease, in the district's three high schools indicated instruction is fragmented among many departments, without coordination.

Edward T. Faber, who prepared the report with Dr. Marjorie McGee and Jane Perry, told trustees "not enough is being done, and what is,8needs more direction and organization so that each student who wishes is exposed."

Faber said it would "be presumptuous" of the committee to organize a sex education course as it is such a sensitive issue. "What's needed is a totally new look at the manner in which it's being taught."

Trustees agreed with Faber's suggestion to conduct a public symposium on the subject within the next 30 to 45 days, and instructed administrative assistant Edward J. Neumeier to work with the committee in organizing it.

Later a district-wide workshop will develop the scope and content of the courses, said trustees.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

ADULT EDUCATION — Agreed that the district work with College of Marin representatives on a suggestion that the college assume responsibility for the adult education programs at Tamalpais, Redwood and Drake high schools.

ACCOUNTANT — Authorized advertising for candidates for the new district office position of chief accountant, who will be paid in the range $1,163 to $1,414 a month.

FIELD — Agreed to spend $1,400 on top of the $1,000 authorized Feb. 5 for soils and engineering studies to determine whether Redwood's athletic field can be rehabilitated.

STUDENT TEACHING — Approved student teaching contracts with California State University and Colleges for the State University in Sonoma, with the University of California at Berkeley and Lone Mountain College, San Francisco.

CONFERENCES — Approved attendances at conferences for 20 district employees.

WALKWAYS — Approved transferring $5,200 from the special reserves for final payments for the Tamalpais high walkways and lighting project: $200 to Bushnell, Jessup, Murphy and Van de Weghe, and $5,200.24 to Neil T. Burton.

Irish Coffee Art Auction Is Set

The Terra Linda Art Association will hold its annual Irish Coffee Art Auction on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, from 7 to 11 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Hundreds of oils, acrylics, watercolors, pen and ink drawings and sculpture will be auctioned off by Al Newman of San Rafael. .Proceeds will benefit the association's gallery and workshop.

Works to be auctioned off will be displayed from Sunday through March 16 at the association headquarters, 4172 Redwood Highway, from noon to 3 p.m.

Oils On Display

Oil paintings by Sonoma State College Senior Charles Rodgers-Martin will be on display at the college library through March 16. He formerly taught at the De Young Museum in San Francisco.

DANCE REVIEW

'Giselle' Star Carries Show

By MARIE RAMEAU

SAN FRANCISCO — The American Ballet Theater, opening its San Francisco run with the romantic ballet "Giselle," played to a half-filled but appreciative opera house Sunday evening.

Enthusiasm of the audience for featured artists Natalia Makarova and Ivan Nagy was high and the poor turnout did not diminish the general quality of the performance.

In the first act, the corps de ballet was spirited and danced well, although the choreography of the peasant dances was repetitious.

"Giselle's" main weakness derives from its plot, which centers around a peasant girl who falls in love with a nobleman. She is betrayed by him, goes mad and dies of despair. In the second act, her ghost reappears to the nobleman in a graveyard, and declares to him her undying love.

In view of the increasing sophistication and complexity of 20th-century ballets, this naive 19th-century classic remains a challenge to the best of dancers, as few possess the sensitivity and dramatic talent required to render it believable.

Natalia Makarova, however, possesses both of these qualities and gave one of the most convincing and moving performances of the title role I have seen.

She is exquisitely light and has the impeccable technique necessry for the romantic style, whose difficulties find their culmination in "Giselle." Her "mad scene" was shattering in its intensity, and yet it was never over acted. Also, as Giselle, her relationship with Berthe (her mother) was carefully thought out. This point was made even stronger by the outstanding acting of Ruth Mayer as Berthe, a character who can otherwise become a stereotype.

In Act two the graveyard scene, Makarova appeared to float through the air as if propelled by some external force. This emphasized her exceptional musicality and slender, fragile physique. Her dancing has soul — an undefinable quality conspicuous by its absence in many of her contemporaries.

Karena Brock, as Myrta, the evil Queen of the Wilis, showed strong technique, but gave an indifferent rendition of the role, paying no attention to the dramatic aspects of this potentially powerful part. The result was mechanical and "correct."

Ivan Nagy, as the nobleman Albrecht, showed the stage presence of a great dancer, but he needs to mature more as an actor. It is not sufficient to present fine dancing and noble bearing in this ballet, for acting is really its core. His technique, elevation and control are beyond reproach, but although he has some of Nureyev's intensity in personality, a certain monotony characterized his acting and made his performance less memorable than it could have been.

Sets and costumes were exciting and beautiful, but the orchestra (as usual) was far from perfect — the brass was too loud, and the oboe soloist in Act Two was out of tune.

American Ballet Theatre will perform in San Francisco through the 11th, presenting "Rodeo" and a mixed program along with the classics "Swan Lake" and "Coppelia."

Research Group Says Safety Car Dangerous

NEW YORK (UPI) — A research group at Columbia University, charging that a proposed crash-worthy "safety car" may cause more accidents than it prevents, has suggested reducing its weight and speed to make it safer.

In its report Monday, the group, operating under a grant from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, said the projected car was lethally heavy and damaging to the environment.

It proposed cutting its size and horsepower, building in a device to keep its speed below 50 miles an hour, and installing a fail-safe guidance system to prevent crashes.

Time Is Opposed To National Press Council

NEW YORK (UPI) — Time Inc., claiming a national press council would give the illusion that the nation's newspapers and magazines were all unified in thought and opinion, says it will not support such a body but would answer its questions.

The Twentieth Century Fund has proposed a national news council.

"Too many politicians and others are already disposed to discuss 'the press' or 'the media' as though all the thousands of magazines, newspapers and news organizations of TV and radio can be considered a single institution," Time Inc. editor-in-chief Hedley Donovan said Monday.

Donovan said that while Time Inc. could not join such a council or support it financially, it would answer its inquiries.

Pickets Up At Schools In The East

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Teachers in New Haven, Conn., rejected a contract offer from the Board of Education Monday. A union spokesman said pickets would be in front of all the city's schools today.

Officials said they would all on substitute teachers for the 22,000 pupils in the public school system.

In Amsterdam, N.Y., however, teachers were expected back in the classroom today after unanamously ratifying a new two-year contract.

The 1,365 New Haven teachers overwhelmingly rejected what the board described as its final contract offer.

A spokesman for the Salem Education Association said about 85 per cent of the school system's 238 teachers refused to work in an effort to force the school board to recognize the union. About 5,200 students are affected by the strike.

The legion was formed by the American Expeditionary Force 54 years ago in Paris, France.

Improvers To Elect

The San Rafael Meadows Improvement Association will elect a successor to retiring Chairman James Jensick at 7:30 p.m. March 14 in room 308-A Marin County Civic Center.

Condemnation Claim Rejected By Council

The Corte Madera Town Council last night routinely rejected a $10 million inverse condemnation claim by the frustrated would-be developer of the Heerdt Marsh. (Another Corte Madera Town Council story, page 1.)

Such action, taken on all claims against the city, clears the way for a lawsuit by William J. Heerdt and developer Frank M. Burke of San Rafael against the town, the state, Marin County and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The commission has turned down plans for the 68 acres of salt marsh six times since 1966, but the town had backed the first five. Burke's most recent proposal for the first time provided no open space. Instead, it showed $5.5 million in marina and commercial facilities.

The project drew unanimous condemnation from citizens' groups in conservation commission hearings in December and the commission unanimously rejected it in January.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

APARTMENTS — Denied an appeal by architect James S. Mallot, who sought to build eight two-story apartments on less than an acre of land where San Clemente Creek reaches Paradise Drive.7The council instead recommended five or six units of lower profile buildings leaving open space at one end of the lot, which has been considered for public purchase as open space.

REVENUE SHARING — Rejected a demand by the East Corte Madera Hilldwellers Association to hold public hearings on $87,000 in federal revenue sharing funds allocated at the council's Feb. 20 meeting. Councilmen said they had enough public input.

DESIGN REVIEW — Introduced an ordinance increasing the membership of the board of design from three to five and giving them decision making authority. The planning commission favored leaving the board advisory.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT — Passed six motions to set up an assessment district northwest of the Corte Madera Shopping Center for 61 homes benefitted by installation of new flood control gates. The town will pay $12,258; homeowners will pay the rest of the $23,498 bill over nine years.

INSURANCE — Increased the town's monthly contribution to each employee's health care program from $17.91 to $19.30 to reflect an increase in price.

RETIREMENT — Voted to pay retired finance director Jack Vance $118 in back retirement pay a recent state law made due him.

POLICE — Voted to require new police applicants to have at least six units of college police science and 15 total college units. In the past, only a high school diploma was needed.

POLICE CAR — Authorized purchase of a radio-equipped police car for about $5,000.

SIGN — Upheld planning commission denial of a freestanding sign for Civic Federal Savings and Loan Association of 645 Tamalpais Drive.

REFUND — Acting as the Corte Madera Sanitary District board, refunded $2,750 to Stanley A. Weigel. The San Francisco judge sought the rebate for 10 unused sewer connections in the Fifer tract.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. March 14 for further hearing on short-term amendments to the town general plan.

Action On Marshland Plan Delayed

By ERIC M. INGRAM

Marin County planning commissioners generally agreed last night to permit some residential development on 27 acres of filled marshland behind Marin Catholic High School in Kentfield, but differed on how much and when and where it will be built.

Following four hours' testimony and discussion, the commission unanimously agreed to postpone action until after March 27 when it will further discuss a controversial master plan for 272 condominiums on the site.

The site, fronting Corte Madera Creek at Bon Air Road, is owned by the Catholic church but is under option to San Jose architect Goodwin B. Steinberg, who last night outlined his plans for development.

Besides the 272 condominiums, which would sell for about $50,000 each, Steinberg is proposing a medical center opposite Marin General Hospital.

As the meeting began, Planning Director Werner von Gundell urged the master plan be adopted with a modification reducing the density to 260 units in two stages.

The relatively high density (10 units per acre) is justified because the property is centrally located near shopping, transit and other facilities, he said.

Steinberg then offered the commission a lengthy monologue on the merits of his development and how its two-story buildings "will be a compliment to the community."

His comments brought low groans from members of the capacity audience made up of Kentfield, Larkspur and Greenbrae residents opposed to residential development of the parcel.

Some 16 persons spoke out against the project, claiming it would aggravate already bad traffic and drainage conditions and would destroy marsh plants and wildlife in two small areas where marsh still exists.

John Roberto, planning director for the City of Larkspur, said his city council opposes the development and said it could have an adverse effect on his community.

The property, which is bounded by the city on two sides, will eventually become the responsibility of Larkspur after it is developed, he said.

I it were within the corporated limits of Larkspur now, Roberto continued, the city could demand higher building standards, two acres of public open space and $30,000 in bedroom taxes.

The site is listed in the Larkspur General Plan for open space-recreational use, he said, but added that the city has no plan to buy it.

Larkspur City Councilman Joan Sestak urged no residential development be permitted on the filled land since her city's experience has been such projects tend to sink. (Property owners in the Greenbrae Marina subdivision have filed suit against the developer for such problems.)

Mrs. Sestak said she would prefer to see carefully planned office and professional buildings on the site.

Other speakers, including Willis A. Evans of the Marin Conservation League, Joi Losee of Larkspur and biology instructor Russell M. Ridge of the College of Marin, urged no development of the site.

They all proposed that portions of the land be returned to marsh as habitat for wildlife, including the endangered red bellied harvest mouse.

Two members of the audience spoke in support of the project, both claiming it would be an improvement to "the mess" others were calling a marsh.

David H. Jordan and Paul H. Brent, both of Greenbrae, said the proposed project is no different than neighboring developments that were built on filled marsh.

"These Johnny-come-lately ecologists talking about the loss of wildlife. . . are pretty ridiculous," said Jordan, a 24-year resident of the area. "It's easy to begin speaking of this as the beginning of the rape (of the creek's marshes) but it's not. . . it's the end."

He said it would make no difference to the creek's ecology if the site were developed or not.

Tom Thorner of Kentfield, meanwhile, said the planning commission should not approve any project until it determines whether the Marin Municipal Water District, which has proclaimed a threatened water shortage, can supply the water.

Other nearby residents urged that the site, a ponding area for rain runoff, be placed in the county's protective F-2 flood zone. (Such action would require extensive engineering studies.)

Commissioners, looking drawn, agreed to postpone any formal action on the master plan and related zoning to March 27.

Commissioner John F. West, generally considered an opponent of large developments, said he would support some residential use of the land because parts of it "are a mess." However, he said, more open space for marshes has to be shown and the density reduced.

Commissioners Margaret B. Azevedo and Rebecca Watkin said they would support development of the property if the density were reduced and a firm commitment made that 15 per cent of the dwellings would be sold to moderate-income families. They didn't say what density they would support.

Commissioner George P. Leonard, noting the central location of the property, said he would support higher densty if more moderate-income housing is provided.

Commissioner William Long said he was concerned over residents' fears that a ponding area would be destroyed and urged further study by the developer' engineer.

Commissioners Jack G. Nixon and Kenneth G. Stevens withheld specific recommendations though Nixon said he wanted more staff comment on the proposal that the development be built in two stages, the second no sooner than four years from now.

Von Gundell said that recommendation is based on the proposed countywide general plan to limit the rate of growth.

Flag Writing Charge Booted

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — A state law that bans the use of words or symbols on the American flag is vague, arbitrary, overbroad and unconstitutional, the New Jersey Supreme Court ruled Monday.

In a 6-0 decision, the court overturned the law which made it a misdemeanor to affix to any flag "any inscription, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, words, characters, marks, notice or token of any nature whatsoever."

The decision reversed the conviction of Stanley Zimmelman, a graduate of Temple University arrested July 4, 1970, in Camden County for having two American flags with the peace symbol on his ice cream wagon.

Sheriff's Patrol Horse Show March 17, 18

The 4-M Mounted Sheriff's Patrol will have its 13th annual horse show March 17 and 18, starting at 8:30 a.m., at the Atherton Club Stables, 50 H Lane, Novato.

Competition in the English division will be March 17 and in the Western division March 18, with judging by Lawrence Mayfield of Linden, San Joaquin County.

Entries for the competition will close March 13. Further information can be obtained from Kathe Carson, 1850 Indian Valley Road.

Two Badly Hurt In Auto Crash

Two persons were badly hurt yesterday in a single-car crash on Shoreline Highway just south of Point Reyes Station.

The California Highway Patrol, which had no details of the accident, said Herbert G. Lyttle, 21, of Inverness, was southbound on the Highway about 4:30 p.m. when his car ran off the road.

Lyttle was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital with a puncture wound in the throat and facial scrapes and cuts.

Council Candidate Coffees Scheduled

Three campaign coffees for incumbent councilman Lawrence E. Mulryan, seeking his first full term on the San Rafael City Council April 17, have been scheduled over the next week.

Mulryan will speak at 8 p.m. Thursday at the home of John Galbraith, 863 Butternut Drive; 8 p.m. Friday at the home of Eric Eitreim, 17 Bolanos Drive and at 8 p.m. March 13 at the home of Hiro Mareta, 202 Bungalow Avenue.

REUNION — Leonard Simms of San Rafael and twin sister, Lucille Ranstrom, getting together after 20 years, look over snapshots evoking the past, with Mrs. Ramstrom's daughter, Kathy Monahan, who arranged the reunion, and the latter's own daughter, Christine. The three being entertained yesterday at Simms's San Rafael home, flew in from Pennsylvania over the weekend.

Twins Celebrate 50th Birthday; Event Marks A 20-Year Reunion

By PAUL LIBERATORE

They hadn't seen each other in 20 years when Mrs. Ramstrom's daughter, Kathy Monahan, 21, persuaded her to make the flight from Pittsburgh, Pa., to San Francisco to celebrate their 50th birthday together.

"I had to practically carry her on the plane," her daughter said.

After a tearful reunion at the airport Saturday, the twins were guests of honor at a dinner party at La Petite Auberge restaurant in San Rafael, where they were surprised by family members and old friends.

"It feels beautiful to see her again," said Simms, of 132 Glen Park Avenue.

Mrs. Ramstrom recognized her brother immediately at the airport, although after 20 years "he has a new wrinkle or two," she said.

Simms left Pittsburgh after the death of their mother, settling in San Rafael where he went to work at Sam Busschaert's auto upholstery shop in 1956 as a windshield cutter.

He was stricken in 1957 by a cerebral hemorrhage that left him speechless and with his right side paralyzed.

Following a delicate 10-hour operation, Simms began a courageous recovery, regaining his speech and the use of his right arm and leg.

With the help of his boss, the late Sam Busschaert, he was able to regain his skills as a windshield cutter and return to work full-time at the upholstery shop, where he still is employed.

Over the years, circumstance and Mrs. Ramstrom's fear of travel kept the twins apart.

"I drove to New Jersey once to visit my son," she remarked, "and ended up in New York. If I tried to drive to California, I probably would have wound up in Canada."

Before Saturday, their only contact was by letter and by telephone.

Mrs. Ramstrom's daughter, Kathy, whom Simms hadn't seen since she was 14 months old, made most of the arrangements in Pittsburgh. She made the trip along with her own daughter, 14-month-old Christine.

Frank Holland, Simm's cousin and roommate, handled the details on the California end.

"She is two minutes older," said Holland, who was quickly corrected by Mrs. Ramstrom who pointed out that lthough her twin brother is 50, she is "only 42."

"They fought like cats and dogs," recalled older brother Lawrence Simms, 53, up from Los Angeles for the reunion.

"They still do," quipped Holland.

"And she still wins," laughed Simms.

Reservists For Police Approved

The Belvedere City Council last night approved the formation of a police reserve unit to provide practical training for men interested in policework and to assist regular officers.

"We are all vitally interested in the success of the program," said Mayor Thomas S. Price. "Hopefully it will be a model for tying active duty with higher education."

Councilmen were concerned that reserves receive adequate training before being put into the field.

Police Chief John Jaeger assured them that reserves would be required to complete 50 hours of training before they assume regular duties and are authorized to carry firearms.

While in training, reserve officers will ride along and observe regular officers on duty. "They will simply absorb," said Jaeger.

After that, their primary function will be to ride as "second man" and to perform office and clerical duties in relief of regular policemen.

They will never work alone, said Jaeger, except in transferring prisoners to San Francisco city jail.

The council instructed Jaeger to present a report on the progress of the program at its July meeting.

In creating the reserve norce, Belvedere joins the cities of Fairfax, Mill Valley, Novato and San Anselmo.

The Belvedere City Council also:

BUS — Agreed to request Golden Gate Transit limit bus service at Teal and Beach roads to three buses between 7 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. and six buses between 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m., citing limited usage of the service.

STUDY — Authorized Mayor Price to send requests for bids to six consulting firms to compile a study of city operations to see if Belvedere is being run as efficiently as possible.

SANITARY DISTRICT — Turned down a cost sharing proposal by Tiburon Sanitary District for a sewage treatment process to be leased from Bio-Kinetics Inc. on city attorney Robert F. Mackay's opinion that it would be "a prohibitive gift of city funds."

DOGS — Accepted a suggestion by Councilman David E. Bordon that the police department send form letters to owners of dogs breaking city animal regulations notifying them of the infractions and advising them that reports will be sent to Humane Society if infractions continue.

LITTLE LEAGUE — Voted to contribute $250 to sponsor two teams in Tiburon Peninsula Little League.

CONFERENCE — Authorized Mackay to attend conference of the city attorneys' department of League of California Cities March 2-4 in Redding.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 7:30 p.m., March 19, at city offices, when council will make final decision on payment for repair of city storm drain damaged during construction of Jerome Debs' residence, 314 Bella Vista Avenue. Next regular council meeting at 7:30 p.m. April 2 at community building.

Moratorium Extension To Be Sought

Sausalito City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr will ask the city council to extend Sausalito's moratorium on new subdivisions for one year at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

St. Cyr said the extension is needed because the city has not yet completed new subdivision regulations or its open space element. The open space committee, which has been working on a plan for land acquisition for the past year, is due to present its recommendations to the council sometime next month.

"The open space element is nearly ready to go," the city manager said, but added that the subdivision regulations are nowhere near completed.

The council adopted the moratorium last March to give officials time to revise the subdivision ordinance and prepare the open space acquisition plan. Affected are lot splits and residential planned unit developments.

Persons wishing to proceed with developments during the ban can obtain a variance if they can prove their projects will not be affected by the open space plan or new regulations.

Crash Fatal To 25 Blamed On Engine

MOSCOW (UPI) — Engine failure probably caused the crash of a Bulgarian airliner that killed all 25 persons aboard about one mile from the Sheremetvevo Airport, Bulgarian sources said Sunday.

However, western sources said there was an unconfirmed report the Balkan Airlines plane, a Soviet-built Ilyushin-18 turboprop, exploded in the air before going down in flames Saturday. They said the tail section was the only part of the wreckage found intact.

Drumgo Loses Bid To Dismiss Counsel

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — San Quentin inmate Fleeta Drumgo yesterday lost a bid to fire his court-appointed attorney and replace him at public expense with a lawyer of his own choice.

The California Supreme Court ruled 4 to 3 that trial judges have the power to select "any competent counsel" to represent an indigent defendant.

Drumgo, who was acquitted last year in connection with the murder of a Soledad Prison guard, is awaiting trial along with five other San Quentin inmates on murder charges stemming from a bloody uprising at San Quentin in August 1971.

During an abortive escape attempt three correctional officers and three inmates, including Soledad Brother George Jackson, were killed.

San Rafael attorney Richard H. Breiner had been appointed in Marin Superior Court to represent Drumgo on five counts of murder, but the inmate sought to have him replaced with Richard Hodge, a San Francisco lawyer.

Hodge was part of the defense team which represented the so-called "Los Siete," who were acquitted of killing a San Francisco policeman.

Breiner had joined Drumgo in seeking Hodge's appointment, after the inmate said he did not want the San Rafael lawyer.

The high court ruled, though, that "the appointment of counsel to represent an indigent rests, as always, in the sound discretion of the trial court."

The court unanimously found that Breiner had exhibited "competence of the highest level" in the case.

Since he is competent, four jurors agreed, the trial court has not abused its discretion in appointing him.

Three justices noted, however, that since Breiner wanted out of the case and Hodge had volunteered for the appointment, he should get it.

Yesterday's decision should mean that the long-stalled case will be returned to the Marin Superior Court calendar for further action. No trial date has been set yet.

Arrest Is Made After Auto Crash

An 18-year-old San Rafael man was hospitalized and a 25-year-old Fairfax man arrested after an accident at 12:56 a.m. today at Lindaro and Second streets, San Rafael, police reported.

Robert Oefinger of 237 Picnic Avenue, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with possible concussion, and cuts of face and neck, hospital spokesmen reported.

Robert Michael Meyer of 48 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at the same hospital for a cut on his left wrist and scalp. He was then booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving. He was released on $1,200 bail to appear Monday in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, Oefinger was northbound on Lindaro Street when the light turned green to yellow. His car and Meyer's car, eastbound on Second Street, collided.

Council Seeks Lower Fee From Consultant

The Mill Valley City Council voted last night to bargain with planning consultants Sedway-Cooke of San Francisco on the cost of rewriting the city's general plan, holding in reserve the possibility of giving the job to either of two other firms if the Sedway-Cooke price isn't right.

Richard Jessup, planning commissioner, told the council that a special city committee appointed to interview firms had begun with 11 consulting groups about a month ago and had narrowed down to three, of which Sedway-Cooke was the first choice.

The other two are Wedell Group of Sausalito and Williams and Mocine of San Francisco.

Councilman Robert E. Capron suggested that, before contracting, the city should hold a public hearing with all three firms. He also said the city should consider getting price quotes on the job from the three before making a decision.

But the majority of the council opposed the two ideas. "I am not impressed with the idea of having professional men appear in a public meeting to try to sell themselves," said Councilman Edward J. Boessenecker.

Boessenecker said negotiations should begin with Sedway-Cooke and then move on to the other firms if the first price was too high.

The council voted 4-1 to follow Boessenecker's suggestions. Councilman Gerald J. Hood voted "no," contending the committee had left some better firms off the final list.

Jessup told the council that Sedway had estimated earlier they would charge about $45,000 for the job, which will take about 18 months.

Earlier in the meeting the council also introduced for a first reading a residential building moratorium which would last until the general plan is revised. Because of wording changes in the ordinance at previous meetings, action on the ban has been postponed several times. The council set March 19 as the date for final adoption.

If the ban passes, developers could not submit plans for subdivisions, involving five or more lots, for planned residential developments or for planned unit developments until the plan is revised.

The ban has a one-year initial life and could be renewed for another year.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed session to interview applicants for openings on the art commission.

CONDEMNATION — Ordered the staff to begin condemnation proceedings against three property owners in the vicinity of the Vista Linda Avenue slide in order to get land for a temporary walkway to serve stranded residents in the area. Robert Derzon of 6 Dawn Place presented a petition from 36 residents asking for the walkway.

BUS DEPOT — Commissioned the city's business assistance committee to interview applicants wishing to rent the city bus depot. The council asked for a report and recommendations on applicants at its March 19 meeting. The council set 5 p.m. Wednesday as the deadline for anyone wishing to make proposals for renting the bus depot to apply.

OFFICE SPACE — Authorized staff to lease space at 26 Miller Avenue to house the planning department. Heard a report indicating that a proposal to use the library basement as council chambers would violate an agreement with the state which requires that the library be used solely as a library for 20 years after its construction.

KITE HILL — Heard a report from the parks and recreation commission recommending that the city buy all of Kite Hill if possible and suggesting which portions to buy if the hill is developed.

ENVIRONMENTAL REPORT — Set March 19 for a public hearing on an environmental impact report on the Miller Avenue master plan.

BUILDING RECORD — Adopted at second reading an ordinance requiring sellers of residential property to get a zoning report on their land for buyers before any sale. The city will provide the reports for a fee of $50 each.

ARCHEOLOGICAL REMAINS — Asked the planning commission and city attorney to work on ordinances to protect Indian shell mounds inside Mill Valley.

USE PERMIT — At the suggestion of councilman Hood, decided to begin appeal process on a use permit granted to the Sweetwater Lounge by the planning commission allowing the lounge to serve lunches.

Dance, Chess Tourney Set

The Rohnert Park Recreation Department has planned a dance and chess tournament for youngsters.

The dance Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight at the community center will feature music by Sly-Slick and wicked. Youngsters from junior and senior high schools may attend.

The Youth Chess Club tournament will begin Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Rohnert Park Junior High School. Play is open to students from second grade through high school.

Window Smashed And Mike Stolen

A burglar smashed a plate glass window and stole a microphone between 2 and 6 a.m. Wednesday from the banquet room of Nave Lanes, 5800 Redwood Highway, Ignacio, Marin sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Value of the missing item was not determined.

Library Board Raked By Council

By REBECCA LARSEN

Several Mill Valley city councilmen and the city manager accused the city library board last night of dawdling instead o acting to cut costs at the city library, which has been running over its budget by as much as $2,000 per month.

In the strongest language used yet with Jean Downs, acting board chairman, councilmen told the board to consider cutting back on professional services and full-time employees, as well as slashing hours and part-time employees as the board has proposed.

The board has opposed firing full-time employees on the grounds it would lower the quality of the library.

The disagreement over the budget has already led to several joint council-library board meetings and the resignation last week of the city librarian, Albert L. Hankenson.

The latest squabble arose when Mrs. Downs reported on alternatives the board is considering for staying within the $153,878 budget.

When she said the board was postponing action until a consultant could be hired to do a time-motion study, the council exploded.

"I'm really disturbed that this problem has been going on for five months and is still facing us," said Councilman Robert E. Capron. "I thought we'd have a decision tonight."

The council voted unanimously to meet with the board to take action on the budget crisis at a joint meeting Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. Mrs. Downs said her board would meet at 10 a.m. that day to try to reach decisions.

The council also said it would let stand a previous motion insisting that all budget overrides stop as of Wednesday.

Among possible solutions which Mrs. Downs suggested are cutting hours from 60 to 50 to reduce part-time payroll by about $600 per month. She said the board is also considering a book buying moratorium for the rest of the fiscal year and a cutback on periodicals. She said the library staff has offered to give up a week's pay by closing down the library during the Easter vacation period.

City Manager William H. Cunningham repeated his previous stand that the library does not need to cut hours if it will only eliminate one or two full-time employees. "All we need to do is get rid of a few of the fat people up there, and we can keep it open for 60 hours," he said. "There's no department in this city that this council wouldn't jump on if they proposed a 16 per cent cutback in hours like the library is suggesting."

He also told the council that the library board suggestions would not result in much saving.

Councilman Capron said the board should consider a middle ground between reducing hours and "slashing the heck out of the professional quality to keep it open as a book warehouse."

Mayor Jean S. Barnard said that on some days the library could announce that it would be a reading room, with no reference or professional service available.

"That goes against the grain for me," said Mrs. Downs.

Councilman Robert E. Burton said the library board's proposals "scared" him.

Mrs. Downs assured him they would be interim measures until the end of the budget period. She said the board is considering other ideas to put the library on a better financial basis in the next budget period.

Burton said Miss Hankenson's resignation would help the budget somewhat, since the city would not be paying a librarian's salary for two or three months.

Coast Commission To Be Described

The recently created California State Coastal Commission will be described at the Marin Conservation League's 39th annual dinner March 14 at 6 p.m. at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

Speakers will be Joseph E. Bodovitz, executive director of the commission, and Richard A. Wilson, a commission member. Reservations may be made at the league office in San Rafael.

YMCA Funds Drive At $8,000

A campaign for sustaining members for the Marin Young Men's Christian Association has rasied about $8,000 since it began Feb. 7, according to James Looney, YMCA executive director.

He said he hopes that the goal of $13,200 will be met by tomorrow, when 65 volunteers will gather at a dinner at Terra Linda High School cafeteria.

The money will be used to finance YMCA programs for youngsters which are not self-supporting, Looney said.

Gourmet Burglar Given Sentence

A 25-year-old San Rafael man yesterday pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a felony charge of stealing a huge banquet from a San Rafael restaurant.

Phillip Brian Crist admitted a felony burglary after Judge David Menary Jr. and the district attorney agreed he will spend no more than six months in jail or in a treatment program. Sentencing was set for April 9.

While Crist was in jail on a malicious mischief arrest Dec. 30, a roommate told police 50 to 60 bottles of wine and liquor and a large quantity of frozen food had appeared in their house Dec. 29 or 30.

Crist was subsequently charged with taking the food and drink from the Medallion restaurant at Second and G Streets.

Anniversary Silver Dollars Being Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To commemorate the nation's 200th anniversary, the Treasury Department wants to produce silver dollars and half dollars carrying "appropriate Revolutionary War designs."

The Treasury asked Congress Monday to authorize the series. The designs would be placed on the reverse sides of the Eisenhower silver dollar and the Kennedy 50-cent piece.

U.S. Mint Director Mary Brooks, who announced the plan, said the new coins would be placed in general circulation on July 4, 1975, a full year before the anniversary, if Congress gives its approval.

A home improvement loan and the Hardmans.
Special services for special people.

The following is a transcript of an actual interview held with Mrs. Barry Hardman, Woodside, California.

"Well, I'd like to tell you some really spectacular story about our swimming pool loan, but the truth is, I can't.

"I called my Security Pacific Bank manager, told him we wanted to put in a pool, he asked how much money we needed, and zap! We had the loan in nothing flat. Which is sort of spectacular in itself, I think.

"Of course, they know us pretty well. We have a business account, a savings account, a checking account, Master Charge and Ready ReservAccount, a car loan, three or four truck loans...

"It's obvious that we think Security Pacific is something special."

Why not see us first for a home improvement loan. After all, you're already doing business with us. Aren't you?

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

Action On Marshland Plan Delayed

By ERIC M. INGRAM

Marin County planning commissioners generally agreed last night to permit some residential development on 27 acres of filled marshland behind Marin Catholic High School in Kentfield, but differed on how much and when and where it will be built.

Following four hours' testimony and discussion, the commission unanimously agreed to postpone action until after March 27 when it will further discuss a controversial master plan for 272 condominiums on the site.

The site, fronting Corte Madera Creek at Bon Air Road, is owned by the Catholic church but is under option to San Jose architect Goodwin B. Steinberg, who last night outlined his plans for development.

Besides the 272 condominiums, which would sell for about $50,000 each, Steinberg is proposing a medical center opposite Marin General Hospital.

As the meeting began, Planning Director Werner von Gundell urged the master plan be adopted with a modification reducing the density to 260 units in two stages.

The relatively high density (10 units per acre) is justified because the property is centrally located near shopping, transit and other facilities, he said.

Steinberg then offered the commission a lengthy monologue on the merits of his development and how its two-story buildings "will be a compliment to the community."

His comments brought low groans from members of the capacity audience made up of Kentfield, Larkspur and Greenbrae residents opposed to residential development of the parcel.

Some 16 persons spoke out against the project, claiming it would aggravate already bad traffic and drainage conditions and would destroy marsh plants and wildlife in two small areas where marsh still exists.

John Roberto, planning director for the City of Larkspur, said his city council opposes the development and said it could have an adverse effect on his community.

The property, which is bounded by the city on two sides, will eventually become the responsibility of Larkspur after it is developed, he said.

I it were within the corporated limits of Larkspur now, Roberto continued, the city could demand higher building standards, two acres of public open space and $30,000 in bedroom taxes.

The site is listed in the Larkspur General Plan for open space-recreational use, he said, but added that the city has no plan to buy it.

Larkspur City Councilman Joan Sestak urged no residential development be permitted on the filled land since her city's experience has been such projects tend to sink. (Property owners in the Greenbrae Marina subdivision have filed suit against the developer for such problems.)

Mrs. Sestak said she would prefer to see carefully planned office and professional buildings on the site.

Other speakers, including Willis A. Evans of the Marin Conservation League, Joi Losee of Larkspur and biology instructor Russell M. Ridge of the College of Marin, urged no development of the site.

They all proposed that portions of the land be returned to marsh as habitat for wildlife, including the endangered red bellied harvest mouse.

Two members of the audience spoke in support of the project, both claiming it would be an improvement to "the mess" others were calling a marsh.

David H. Jordan and Paul H. Brent, both of Greenbrae, said the proposed project is no different than neighboring developments that were built on filled marsh.

"These Johnny-come-lately ecologists talking about the loss of wildlife. . . are pretty ridiculous," said Jordan, a 24-year resident of the area. "It's easy to begin speaking of this as the beginning of the rape (of the creek's marshes) but it's not. . . it's the end."

He said it would make no difference to the creek's ecology if the site were developed or not.

Tom Thorner of Kentfield, meanwhile, said the planning commission should not approve any project until it determines whether the Marin Municipal Water District, which has proclaimed a threatened water shortage, can supply the water.

Other nearby residents urged that the site, a ponding area for rain runoff, be placed in the county's protective F-2 flood zone. (Such action would require extensive engineering studies.)

Commissioners, looking drawn, agreed to postpone any formal action on the master plan and related zoning to March 27.

Commissioner John F. West, generally considered an opponent of large developments, said he would support some residential use of the land because parts of it "are a mess." However, he said, more open space for marshes has to be shown and the density reduced.

Commissioners Margaret B. Azevedo and Rebecca Watkin said they would support development of the property if the density were reduced and a firm commitment made that 15 per cent of the dwellings would be sold to moderate-income families. They didn't say what density they would support.

Commissioner George P. Leonard, noting the central location of the property, said he would support higher densty if more moderate-income housing is provided.

Commissioner William Long said he was concerned over residents' fears that a ponding area would be destroyed and urged further study by the developer' engineer.

Commissioners Jack G. Nixon and Kenneth G. Stevens withheld specific recommendations though Nixon said he wanted more staff comment on the proposal that the development be built in two stages, the second no sooner than four years from now.

Von Gundell said that recommendation is based on the proposed countywide general plan to limit the rate of growth.

Flag Writing Charge Booted

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — A state law that bans the use of words or symbols on the American flag is vague, arbitrary, overbroad and unconstitutional, the New Jersey Supreme Court ruled Monday.

In a 6-0 decision, the court overturned the law which made it a misdemeanor to affix to any flag "any inscription, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, words, characters, marks, notice or token of any nature whatsoever."

The decision reversed the conviction of Stanley Zimmelman, a graduate of Temple University arrested July 4, 1970, in Camden County for having two American flags with the peace symbol on his ice cream wagon.

Sheriff's Patrol Horse Show March 17, 18

The 4-M Mounted Sheriff's Patrol will have its 13th annual horse show March 17 and 18, starting at 8:30 a.m., at the Atherton Club Stables, 50 H Lane, Novato.

Competition in the English division will be March 17 and in the Western division March 18, with judging by Lawrence Mayfield of Linden, San Joaquin County.

Entries for the competition will close March 13. Further information can be obtained from Kathe Carson, 1850 Indian Valley Road.

Two Badly Hurt In Auto Crash

Two persons were badly hurt yesterday in a single-car crash on Shoreline Highway just south of Point Reyes Station.

The California Highway Patrol, which had no details of the accident, said Herbert G. Lyttle, 21, of Inverness, was southbound on the Highway about 4:30 p.m. when his car ran off the road.

Lyttle was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital with a puncture wound in the throat and facial scrapes and cuts.

Council Candidate Coffees Scheduled

Three campaign coffees for incumbent councilman Lawrence E. Mulryan, seeking his first full term on the San Rafael City Council April 17, have been scheduled over the next week.

Mulryan will speak at 8 p.m. Thursday at the home of John Galbraith, 863 Butternut Drive; 8 p.m. Friday at the home of Eric Eitreim, 17 Bolanos Drive and at 8 p.m. March 13 at the home of Hiro Mareta, 202 Bungalow Avenue.

REUNION — Leonard Simms of San Rafael and twin sister, Lucille Ranstrom, getting together after 20 years, look over snapshots evoking the past, with Mrs. Ramstrom's daughter, Kathy Monahan, who arranged the reunion, and the latter's own daughter, Christine. The three being entertained yesterday at Simms's San Rafael home, flew in from Pennsylvania over the weekend.

By PAUL LIBERATORE

They hadn't seen each other in 20 years when Mrs. Ramstrom's daughter, Kathy Monahan, 21, persuaded her to make the flight from Pittsburgh, Pa., to San Francisco to celebrate their 50th birthday together.

"I had to practically carry her on the plane," her daughter said.

After a tearful reunion at the airport Saturday, the twins were guests of honor at a dinner party at La Petite Auberge restaurant in San Rafael, where they were surprised by family members and old friends.

"It feels beautiful to see her again," said Simms, of 132 Glen Park Avenue.

Mrs. Ramstrom recognized her brother immediately at the airport, although after 20 years "he has a new wrinkle or two," she said.

Simms left Pittsburgh after the death of their mother, settling in San Rafael where he went to work at Sam Busschaert's auto upholstery shop in 1956 as a windshield cutter.

He was stricken in 1957 by a cerebral hemorrhage that left him speechless and with his right side paralyzed.

Following a delicate 10-hour operation, Simms began a courageous recovery, regaining his speech and the use of his right arm and leg.

With the help of his boss, the late Sam Busschaert, he was able to regain his skills as a windshield cutter and return to work full-time at the upholstery shop, where he still is employed.

Over the years, circumstance and Mrs. Ramstrom's fear of travel kept the twins apart.

"I drove to New Jersey once to visit my son," she remarked, "and ended up in New York. If I tried to drive to California, I probably would have wound up in Canada."

Before Saturday, their only contact was by letter and by telephone.

Mrs. Ramstrom's daughter, Kathy, whom Simms hadn't seen since she was 14 months old, made most of the arrangements in Pittsburgh. She made the trip along with her own daughter, 14-month-old Christine.

Frank Holland, Simm's cousin and roommate, handled the details on the California end.

"She is two minutes older," said Holland, who was quickly corrected by Mrs. Ramstrom who pointed out that lthough her twin brother is 50, she is "only 42."

"They fought like cats and dogs," recalled older brother Lawrence Simms, 53, up from Los Angeles for the reunion.

"They still do," quipped Holland.

"And she still wins," laughed Simms.

Reservists For Police Approved

The Belvedere City Council last night approved the formation of a police reserve unit to provide practical training for men interested in policework and to assist regular officers.

"We are all vitally interested in the success of the program," said Mayor Thomas S. Price. "Hopefully it will be a model for tying active duty with higher education."

Councilmen were concerned that reserves receive adequate training before being put into the field.

Police Chief John Jaeger assured them that reserves would be required to complete 50 hours of training before they assume regular duties and are authorized to carry firearms.

While in training, reserve officers will ride along and observe regular officers on duty. "They will simply absorb," said Jaeger.

After that, their primary function will be to ride as "second man" and to perform office and clerical duties in relief of regular policemen.

They will never work alone, said Jaeger, except in transferring prisoners to San Francisco city jail.

The council instructed Jaeger to present a report on the progress of the program at its July meeting.

In creating the reserve norce, Belvedere joins the cities of Fairfax, Mill Valley, Novato and San Anselmo.

The Belvedere City Council also:

BUS — Agreed to request Golden Gate Transit limit bus service at Teal and Beach roads to three buses between 7 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. and six buses between 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m., citing limited usage of the service.

STUDY — Authorized Mayor Price to send requests for bids to six consulting firms to compile a study of city operations to see if Belvedere is being run as efficiently as possible.

SANITARY DISTRICT — Turned down a cost sharing proposal by Tiburon Sanitary District for a sewage treatment process to be leased from Bio-Kinetics Inc. on city attorney Robert F. Mackay's opinion that it would be "a prohibitive gift of city funds."

DOGS — Accepted a suggestion by Councilman David E. Bordon that the police department send form letters to owners of dogs breaking city animal regulations notifying them of the infractions and advising them that reports will be sent to Humane Society if infractions continue.

LITTLE LEAGUE — Voted to contribute $250 to sponsor two teams in Tiburon Peninsula Little League.

CONFERENCE — Authorized Mackay to attend conference of the city attorneys' department of League of California Cities March 2-4 in Redding.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 7:30 p.m., March 19, at city offices, when council will make final decision on payment for repair of city storm drain damaged during construction of Jerome Debs' residence, 314 Bella Vista Avenue. Next regular council meeting at 7:30 p.m. April 2 at community building.

Moratorium Extension To Be Sought

Sausalito City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr will ask the city council to extend Sausalito's moratorium on new subdivisions for one year at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

St. Cyr said the extension is needed because the city has not yet completed new subdivision regulations or its open space element. The open space committee, which has been working on a plan for land acquisition for the past year, is due to present its recommendations to the council sometime next month.

"The open space element is nearly ready to go," the city manager said, but added that the subdivision regulations are nowhere near completed.

The council adopted the moratorium last March to give officials time to revise the subdivision ordinance and prepare the open space acquisition plan. Affected are lot splits and residential planned unit developments.

Persons wishing to proceed with developments during the ban can obtain a variance if they can prove their projects will not be affected by the open space plan or new regulations.

Crash Fatal To 25 Blamed On Engine

MOSCOW (UPI) — Engine failure probably caused the crash of a Bulgarian airliner that killed all 25 persons aboard about one mile from the Sheremetvevo Airport, Bulgarian sources said Sunday.

However, western sources said there was an unconfirmed report the Balkan Airlines plane, a Soviet-built Ilyushin-18 turboprop, exploded in the air before going down in flames Saturday. They said the tail section was the only part of the wreckage found intact.

Drumgo Loses Bid To Dismiss Counsel

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — San Quentin inmate Fleeta Drumgo yesterday lost a bid to fire his court-appointed attorney and replace him at public expense with a lawyer of his own choice.

The California Supreme Court ruled 4 to 3 that trial judges have the power to select "any competent counsel" to represent an indigent defendant.

Drumgo, who was acquitted last year in connection with the murder of a Soledad Prison guard, is awaiting trial along with five other San Quentin inmates on murder charges stemming from a bloody uprising at San Quentin in August 1971.

During an abortive escape attempt three correctional officers and three inmates, including Soledad Brother George Jackson, were killed.

San Rafael attorney Richard H. Breiner had been appointed in Marin Superior Court to represent Drumgo on five counts of murder, but the inmate sought to have him replaced with Richard Hodge, a San Francisco lawyer.

Hodge was part of the defense team which represented the so-called "Los Siete," who were acquitted of killing a San Francisco policeman.

Breiner had joined Drumgo in seeking Hodge's appointment, after the inmate said he did not want the San Rafael lawyer.

The high court ruled, though, that "the appointment of counsel to represent an indigent rests, as always, in the sound discretion of the trial court."

The court unanimously found that Breiner had exhibited "competence of the highest level" in the case.

Since he is competent, four jurors agreed, the trial court has not abused its discretion in appointing him.

Three justices noted, however, that since Breiner wanted out of the case and Hodge had volunteered for the appointment, he should get it.

Yesterday's decision should mean that the long-stalled case will be returned to the Marin Superior Court calendar for further action. No trial date has been set yet.

Arrest Is Made After Auto Crash

An 18-year-old San Rafael man was hospitalized and a 25-year-old Fairfax man arrested after an accident at 12:56 a.m. today at Lindaro and Second streets, San Rafael, police reported.

Robert Oefinger of 237 Picnic Avenue, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with possible concussion, and cuts of face and neck, hospital spokesmen reported.

Robert Michael Meyer of 48 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at the same hospital for a cut on his left wrist and scalp. He was then booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving. He was released on $1,200 bail to appear Monday in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, Oefinger was northbound on Lindaro Street when the light turned green to yellow. His car and Meyer's car, eastbound on Second Street, collided.

Rejects Rights Move

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — The equal rights for women amendment to the Constitution suffered another setback Tuesday when the Maine Senate rejected it by a single vote—17 to 16.

Do You Want A BETTER Deal On The SAME New Car?

All new car dealers have the same models, styles, colors and optional equipment on their new cars. What is the difference between dealers on the same make of car?

THE ANSWER IS IN THE COST OF DOING BUSINESS IN ONE AREA AS AGAINST ANOTHER

Marin County new car dealers have a much lower cost of doing business than the dealers "over the bridge." This is why your new car will cost less in Marin County. WHY DON'T YOU CHECK AND SEE!

Do You Want
A BETTER Deal
On The SAME New Car?

All new car dealers have the same models, styles, colors and optional equipment on their new cars. What is the difference between dealers on the same make of car?

THE ANSWER IS IN THE COST OF DOING BUSINESS
IN ONE AREA AS AGAINST ANOTHER

Marin County new car dealers have a much lower cost of doing business than the dealers "over the bridge." This is why your new car will cost less in Marin County. WHY DON'T YOU CHECK AND SEE!

12 Drivers Sentenced

Twelve persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court on misdemeanor drunken driving charges.

Motorists are considered legally drunk at a blood alcohol reading of .10, approximately equivalent to five weak drinks in an hour or eight in four hours.

Sentenced Wednesday by Judge Gary W. Thomas were:

Manuel Estrada Martins, 37, of 413 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley, arrested Dec. 6 on Fourth Street, San Rafael, given two days in jail, a $302 fine and one year probation, and ordered to attend a school about drunken driving.

John Howard Epstein, 46, of San Francisco, arrested Jan. 13 on Highway 101, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $302 fine and two years probation.

Donald Gene Julian, 39, of 224 La Verne Avenue, Homestead Valley, arrested Dec. 10 on Highway 101, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $250 fine, 20 hours work for the Marin Volunteer Bureau, two years probation and attendance at a school about drunken driving.

Thomas Francis McGivern Jr., 42, of San Francisco, arrested Jan. 25 on Irwin Street, San Rafael, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $250 fine, two years probation and attendance at a school about drunken driving.

Kim Grant Hamilton, 21, of 30 Brookdale Avenue, San Rafael, arrested Dec. 2 on Bridgeway, Sausalito, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $250 fine, one year probation and attendance at a school about drunken driving.

Robert Gordonoff, 42, of 670 Sunset Parkway, Novato, arrested Feb. 2 on Highway 101, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $250 fine, two years probation and attendance at a school about drunken driving.

Mark Adolph Lippert, 36, of no fixed address, arrested Feb. 18 on Highway 1, given 15 days in jail, suspended to two years probation and a $302 fine.

Sentenced Thursday by Judge Peter Allen Smith were:

Karl Koss Sandholdt, 31, of 41 Belvedere Street, San Rafael, arrested Jan. 27 in San Rafael, given a $240 fine, one year probation and attendance at a school about drunken driving.

Thomas Francis Kane, 31, of 321 Second Street, Sausalito, arrested Feb. 6 on Bridgeway, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $250 fine, two years probation and attendance at a school about drunken driving.

Maud E. Jahrling, 41, of 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, arrested Jan. 13 on Sir Francis Drake, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $250 fine or 80 hours work for the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department and two years probation.

Richard Grant Nelson, age unknown, of 1212 Seventh Street, Novato, arrested Feb. 25 on Center Boulevard, Novato, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $225 fine, two years probation and attendance at a school about drunken driving.

Donald Louis Loegering, 50, of 55 Belleview Avenue, San Rafael, arrested Feb. 21 on Third Street, San Rafael, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $250 fine, two years probation and attendance at a school about drunken driving.

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Marin Hospital District
San Rafael, California

We have examined the balance sheet of MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL as of June 30, 1972 and the related statements of revenues and expenses, changes in fund balances and changes in financial position for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

As more fully described in Note 2 to the financial statements, the Hospital's financial statements are presented in accordance with the recommendations included in the recently published Hospital Audit Guide of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Fund balances and related assets and liabilities at the beginning of the year have been restated to conform with current year's presentation.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of Marin General Hospital as of June 30, 1972, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year, except for the change, which we approve, described in the preceding paragraph.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
JUNE 30, 1972

NOTE 1 - SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES:

A. Patient Service Revenue:

Patient service revenue other than that derived from the Community Mental Health Center (See G below) is accounted for at established rates on an accrual basis. Allowances and uncollectibles relating to such revenue are accounted for separately.

B. Third-Party Reimbursement:

A substantial portion of patient service revenue is derived from the Federal Medical Program (Medicare) and the California Medical Assistance Program (Medi-Cal). Differences between revenue at established rates and estimated amounts to be realized under the cost reimbursement principles of the programs are charged or credited, as appropriate, to allowance accounts on an accrual basis.

Timing differences in recognition of expenses for financial and cost reimbursement purposes, which result principally from the use of an accelerated method of depreciation for cost reimbursement and the use of the straight-line method for financial reporting, are deferred for financial reporting.

C. Gifts, Grants and Bequests:

Gifts, grants and bequests that are not restricted by donors are reported as non-operating income.

Restricted resources resulting from gifts, grants and bequests for specific operating purposes are credited directly to specific purpose funds balances when such gifts, grants and bequests are made, and reported in the unrestricted funds financial statements as other operating revenue in the period in which they are expended and included in operating expenses.

Restricted resources resulting from gifts, grants and bequests for plant replacement and expansion are credited directly to plant replacement and expansion funds balances when such gifts, grants and bequests are made and are transferred to unrestricted funds balances in the period in which they are expended.

D. Inventories:

Inventories are shown in the financial statements at the lower of cost or marker, cost being determined on the first-in, first-out method.

E. Property, plant and equipment:

Depreciation is provided by use of the straight-line method over estimated useful lives ranging from 40 years for buildings, to 5 to 20 years for equipment.

It is the policy of the Hospital to fund accumulated depreciation.

F. Pension Plan:

The Hospital's policy is to fund pension costs accrued. Included in annual pension expense is amortization of prior service costs over a period of 25 years.

G. Operations of Community Mental Health Center:

The Community Mental Health Center has been operated (see Note 6) under terms of a contractual arrangement between the Hospital District and the County of Marin whereby the county reimburses the District as follows for county patients:

i. In-patient - All costs in excess of amounts billed to patients and other third-parties, or in the case of county patients, for charges at standard rates plus costs in excess of such rates.

ii. Out-patient - All costs, except depreciation, related to the out-patient facilities and equipment, reduced by amounts received from patients.

NOTE 2 - UNRESTRICTED AND RESTRICTED FUNDS:

To conform to the current year's presentation, which is based upon the principles set forth in the recently published Hospital Audit Guide of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, certain reclassifications of, and additions to, beginning fund balances and related assets and liabilities have been made as of June 30, 1971. These restatements are as follows:

A. The Marin General Hospital volunteers fund balance, not previously reported in the Hospital financial statements, has been added to the unrestricted funds balance. This fund balance amounted to $25,708 at June 30, 1971 and consisted of cash of $26,166 less accrued expenses of $458.

B. Unexpended gifts not restricted as to use by the donors in the amount of $67,119 have been reclassified from specific purpose funds to unrestricted board designated funds.

C. Unexpended gifts restricted by donors for replacement of property, plant and equipment, in the amount of $26,144 have been reclassified from specific purpose funds to plant replacement and expansion restricted funds.

D. Unexpended funded depreciation in the amount of $515,079 has been reclassified from restricted plant replacement and expansion funds to unrestricted board designated funds.

Increase in other operating revenue	$ 6,293
Increase in operating expenses	6,293
Increase in income from operations	-0-
Increase in non-operating income	60,803
Increase in excess of revenues over expenses	$60,803

NOTE 3 - BOARD DESIGNATED UNRESTRICTED FUNDS:

Of total unrestricted a sets of $10,552,008, the Board of Directors has designated $545,936 to be used as follows:

Funded depreciation for replacement of property, plant and equipment	$379,714
Funded Medicare accelerated depreciation to be reimbursed to the federal government in future years	100,000
Unrestricted gifts for replacement of property, plant and equipment	$ 66,222
	$545,936

At June 30, 1972 depreciation of $161,041, in addition to the above amounts, had not as yet been segregated from operating assets.

NOTE 4 - FEDERAL AND STATE MEDICAL CARE PROGRAMS:

At June 30, 1972 the amounts receivable in excess of provisional payments received under the Federal Medical Program (Medicare) and the California Medical Assistance Program (Medi-Cal) for the fiscal years June 30, 1968 through June 30, 1972, inclusively, were as follows:

Medicare	$152,971
	$172,281

Deferred Medicare and Medi-Cal revenue (see Note 1) resulting from timing difference in recognition of expenses for financial and cost reimbursement purposes amounted to $254,000 at June 30, 1972.

The Hospital had non-interest bearing interim financing advances under the Medicare program totaling $126,600.

NOTE 5 - PENSION PLAN:

The Hospital has a contributory pension plan for its eligible employees. The total pension expense was $111,063 for the year ended June 30, 1972. At January 1, 1972, the assets of the pension plan exceeded all vested benefits.

During the year, a change in actuarial assumptions was made and the plan was amended both as to benefits and employees covered. The effect of these changes was to reduce pension plan expense for the year approximately $62,900 and to increase unfunded prior service cost $152,000.

NOTE 6 - COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CENTER:

The amounts included in revenue relating to the Community Mental Health Center were as follows:

In-patient:
Amounts billed to patients, county and other third parties at standard rates	$ 963,324
Excess of costs over amounts billed to patients and other third parties at standard rates (received or receivable from County of Marin)	104,435
	1,067,759
Out-patient:
Costs of care provided (excluding depreciation of $12,077), received or receivable from County of Marin	1,007,730
	$2,075,489

At June 30, 1972 the Hospital had non-interest bearing interim financing advances from the County of Marin for out-patient costs totaling $80,000.

Effective July 1, 1972 the County of Marin assumed the out-patient operations and Unit "B" of the in-patient operations of the Community Mental Health Center. Although a final contract has not as yet been effected, terms are expected to include the following:

A) The facilities will remain under the ownership of the Marin Hospital District; however, the Hospital will not be reimbursed for depreciation.

B) Equipment of $17,789 and accrued vacations of $56,923 as of June 30, 1972 are to be assumed by the County of Marin.

C) Costs of operation are to be borne by the County of Marin including reimbursement to the Hospital for any expenses it incurs in maintaining the facilities.

The operations of the Unit "A" in-patient facility will remain with the Hospital. However, it will receive from the federal government, through the County of Marin, a staffing grant in addition to amounts billed to patients and other third parties at standard rates.

NOTE 7 - KERNAN ROBSON TRUST:

Marin County Hospital District (for use in the Marin General Hospital) is beneficiary under a remainderman interest in a trust created under the will of Kernan Robson. The beneficial interest "for the establishment of free room or rooms" is to be received by December 31, 1977. The value of the Hospital's interest in the trust at June 30, 1972 is approximately $460,000; however, an indeterminable amount of prior and future capital gains taxes is to be deducted therefrom. Under the terms of the trust, the hospital is currently receiving periodic distributions of a portion of the income of the trust.

NOTE 8 - COMMITMENTS:

At June 30, 1972 the Hospital was obligated for uncompleted contract costs in the amount of $190,074 for remodeling projects.

The Board of Directors has approved various remodeling and expansion projects for bids which have not as yet been let at June 30, 1972. Costs to construct and equip such projects are estimated to be approximately $220,000.

The Hospital is committed under long-term lease contracts through January, 1977 for equipment and maintenance providing for average annual rentals approximating $43,900.

Court Backlogs Are Reduced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — State Supreme Court Chief Justice said superior courts in California reduced their backlog of criminal and civil cases last year for the first time in seven years.

Wright said the new practices were based on recommendations from a similar conference in 1971.

The judges at this year's conference approved 18 proposals to further speed up courtroom procedures.

Carrier Midway Returns To U.S.

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UPI) — The USS Midway, first attack carrier to return from Vietnam since the cease-fire, arrived home to a waving crowd and a huge "Welcome Home" sign fluttering from the Golden Gate Bridge.

A dense fog and rain Saturday didn't hinder scores of persons who crowded onto the bridge to welcome home the 65,000-ton vessel, while the Midway's 4,500-man crew stood proudly in formation on the deck.

Another 4,000 persons were on hand to greet the men as the ship docked minutes later at its home base, Alameda Naval Air Station, to complete an 11-month tour—a record for a single combat cruise of a U.S. fighting ship.

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Marin Hospital District
San Rafael, California

We have examined the balance sheet of MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL as of June 30, 1972 and the related statements of revenues and expenses, changes in fund balances and changes in financial position for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

As more fully described in Note 2 to the financial statements, the Hospital's financial statements are presented in accordance with the recommendations included in the recently published Hospital Audit Guide of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Fund balances and related assets and liabilities at the beginning of the year have been restated to conform with current year's presentation.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of Marin General Hospital as of June 30, 1972, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year, except for the change, which we approve, described in the preceding paragraph.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS JUNE 30, 1972

NOTE 1 - SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES:

A. Patient Service Revenue:

Patient service revenue other than that derived from the Community Mental Health Center (See G below) is accounted for at established rates on an accrual basis. Allowances and uncollectibles relating to such revenue are accounted for separately.

B. Third-Party Reimbursement:

A substantial portion of patient service revenue is derived from the Federal Medical Program (Medicare) and the California Medical Assistance Program (Medi-Cal). Differences between revenue at established rates and estimated amounts to be realized under the cost reimbursement principles of the programs are charged or credited, as appropriate, to allowance accounts on an accrual basis.

Timing differences in recognition of expenses for financial and cost reimbursement purposes, which result principally from the use of an accelerated method of depreciation for cost reimbursement and the use of the straight-line method for financial reporting, are deferred for financial reporting.

C. Gifts, Grants and Bequests:

Gifts, grants and bequests that are not restricted by donors are reported as non-operating income.

Restricted resources resulting from gifts, grants and bequests for specific operating purposes are credited directly to specific purpose funds balances when such gifts, grants and bequests are made, and reported in the unrestricted funds financial statements as other operating revenue in the period in which they are expended and included in operating expenses.

Restricted resources resulting from gifts, grants and bequests for plant replacement and expansion are credited directly to plant replacement and expansion funds balances when such gifts, grants and bequests are made and are transferred to unrestricted funds balances in the period in which they are expended.

D. Inventories:

Inventories are shown in the financial statements at the lower of cost or marker, cost being determined on the first-in, first-out method.

E. Property, plant and equipment:

Depreciation is provided by use of the straight-line method over estimated useful lives ranging from 40 years for buildings, to 5 to 20 years for equipment.

It is the policy of the Hospital to fund accumulated depreciation.

F. Pension Plan:

The Hospital's policy is to fund pension costs accrued. Included in annual pension expense is amortization of prior service costs over a period of 25 years.

G. Operations of Community Mental Health Center:

The Community Mental Health Center has been operated (see Note 6) under terms of a contractual arrangement between the Hospital District and the County of Marin whereby the county reimburses the District as follows for county patients:

i. In-patient - All costs in excess of amounts billed to patients and other third-parties, or in the case of county patients, for charges at standard rates plus costs in excess of such rates.
ii. Out-patient - All costs, except depreciation, related to the out-patient facilities and equipment, reduced by amounts received from patients.

NOTE 2 - UNRESTRICTED AND RESTRICTED FUNDS:

To conform to the current year's presentation, which is based upon the principles set forth in the recently published Hospital Audit Guide of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, certain reclassifications of, and additions to, beginning fund balances and related assets and liabilities have been made as of June 30, 1971. These restatements are as follows:

A. The Marin General Hospital volunteers fund balance, not previously reported in the Hospital financial statements, has been added to the unrestricted funds balance. This fund balance amounted to $25,708 at June 30, 1971 and consisted of cash of $26,166 less accrued expenses of $458.

B. Unexpended gifts not restricted as to use by the donors in the amount of $67,119 have been reclassified from specific purpose funds to unrestricted board designated funds.

C. Unexpended gifts restricted by donors for replacement of property, plant and equipment, in the amount of $26,144 have been reclassified from specific purpose funds to plant replacement and expansion restricted funds.

D. Unexpended funded depreciation in the amount of $515,079 has been reclassified from restricted plant replacement and expansion funds to unrestricted board designated funds.

Increase in other operating revenue	$ 6,293
Increase in operating expenses	6,293
Increase in income from operations	-0-
Increase in non-operating income	60,803
Increase in excess of revenues over expenses	$60,803

NOTE 3 - BOARD DESIGNATED UNRESTRICTED FUNDS:

Of total unrestricted assets of $10,552,008, the Board of Directors has designated $545,936 to be used as follows:

Funded depreciation for replacement of property, plant and equipment	$379,714
Funded Medicare accelerated depreciation to be reimbursed to the federal government in future years	100,000
Unrestricted gifts for replacement of property, plant and equipment	$ 66,222
	$545,936

At June 30, 1972 depreciation of $161,041, in addition to the above amounts, had not as yet been segregated from operating assets.

NOTE 4 - FEDERAL AND STATE MEDICAL CARE PROGRAMS:

At June 30, 1972 the amounts receivable in excess of provisional payments received under the Federal Medical Program (Medicare) and the California Medical Assistance Program (Medi-Cal) for the fiscal years June 30, 1968 through June 30, 1972, inclusively, were as follows:

Medicare	$152,971
	$172,281

Deferred Medicare and Medi-Cal revenue (see Note 1) resulting from timing difference in recognition of expenses for financial and cost reimbursement purposes amounted to $254,000 at June 30, 1972.

The Hospital had non-interest bearing interim financing advances under the Medicare program totaling $126,600.

NOTE 5 - PENSION PLAN:

The Hospital has a contributory pension plan for its eligible employees. The total pension expense was $111,063 for the year ended June 30, 1972. At January 1, 1972, the assets of the pension plan exceeded all vested benefits.

During the year, a change in actuarial assumptions was made and the plan was amended both as to benefits and employees covered. The effect of these changes was to reduce pension plan expense for the year approximately $62,900 and to increase unfunded prior service cost $152,000.

NOTE 6 - COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CENTER:

The amounts included in revenue relating to the Community Mental Health Center were as follows:

In-patient:
Amounts billed to patients, county and other third parties at standard rates	$ 963,324
Excess of costs over amounts billed to patients and other third parties at standard rates (received or receivable from County of Marin)	104,435
	1,067,759
Out-patient:
Costs of care provided (excluding depreciation of $12,077), received or receivable from County of Marin	1,007,730
	$2,075,489

At June 30, 1972 the Hospital had non-interest bearing interim financing advances from the County of Marin for out-patient costs totaling $80,000.

Effective July 1, 1972 the County of Marin assumed the out-patient operations and Unit "B" of the in-patient operations of the Community Mental Health Center. Although a final contract has not as yet been effected, terms are expected to include the following:

A) The facilities will remain under the ownership of the Marin Hospital District; however, the Hospital will not be reimbursed for depreciation.

B) Equipment of $17,789 and accrued vacations of $56,923 as of June 30, 1972 are to be assumed by the County of Marin.

C) Costs of operation are to be borne by the County of Marin including reimbursement to the Hospital for any expenses it incurs in maintaining the facilities.

The operations of the Unit "A" in-patient facility will remain with the Hospital. However, it will receive from the federal government, through the County of Marin, a staffing grant in addition to amounts billed to patients and other third parties at standard rates.

NOTE 7 - KERNAN ROBSON TRUST:

Marin County Hospital District (for use in the Marin General Hospital) is beneficiary under a remainderman interest in a trust created under the will of Kernan Robson. The beneficial interest "for the establishment of free room or rooms" is to be received by December 31, 1977. The value of the Hospital's interest in the trust at June 30, 1972 is approximately $460,000; however, an indeterminable amount of prior and future capital gains taxes is to be deducted therefrom. Under the terms of the trust, the hospital is currently receiving periodic distributions of a portion of the income of the trust.

NOTE 8 - COMMITMENTS:

At June 30, 1972 the Hospital was obligated for uncompleted contract costs in the amount of $190,074 for remodeling projects.

The Board of Directors has approved various remodeling and expansion projects for bids which have not as yet been let at June 30, 1972. Costs to construct and equip such projects are estimated to be approximately $220,000.

The Hospital is committed under long-term lease contracts through January, 1977 for equipment and maintenance providing for average annual rentals approximating $43,900.

Court Will Hear Storer Challenge

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Supreme Court yesterday agreed to hear a challenge of California's election laws by would-be independent candidates, including former Marin supervisor Thomas T. Storer.

Storer sought unsuccessfully to get on the ballot las November as an independent candidate for Congress.

The high court yesterday, however, accepted for hearing next fall the appeals of rulings by a three-judge U. S. District court panel. This panel had rejected the challenge to the constitutionality of the state election code which makes it virtually impossible for a person to qualify as an independent candidate.

Joining Storer in trying to knock down the law were Lawrence H. Fromhagen, a would-be independent congressional candidate from Santa Cruz County, and Communist party members Gus Hall and Jarvis Tyner.

Hall and Tyner wanted to run as independent candidates for president and vice president on California's 1972 ballot.

State law requires an independent to gather signatures equal to 5 per cent of the vote cast in the preceding election, and voters who have participated in previous primary elections are not eligible to sign.

Independents must gather an "immense number of signatures from a small portion of the general public" during a 24-day period in August and September when many persons are apt to be on vacation, lawyers for the challengers noted.

The District Court which had rejected the challenge, said the laws were designed to prevent "the confusion of a laundry-list ballot."

Storer today hailed the Supreme Court's acceptance of the case and said a decision favorable to his point of view "might make politics a little fairer."

Density Set On 'Public Scenic' Sites

The Novato City Council last night set density on lands which had been designated as "public scenic" and marked for potential acquisition by the city or county in the Novato General Plan.

Councilmen changed the designation of the lands to "private scenic" and then set a density range from one unit per 10 acres to one unit per 60 acres, according to senior planner Mark Westfall.

Councilmen also asked the staff to explore the possibility of having an overlay of open-space zoning on the lands, Westfall said.

The council also changed all land designated for private scenic to hill and canyon residential, thereby increasing the allowable density.

Private scenic would have permitted a range from one unit per two acres to one unit per 10 acres, while hill and canyon residential will permit a range from one unit per acre to one unit per five acres.

The council also continued for one week an appeal from Kaufman and Broad Inc. of planning commission denial of precise plans for 224 apartments along San Marin Drive between San Marin High School and the San Marin Club.

Historic Old House Topples Into Lagoon

An historic Bolinas house, which was toppled by the 1906 earthquake and then rebuilt, collapsed and fell into the Bolinas Lagoon last night.

The two-story wood-frame structure at 81 Wharf Road, known locally as "The Studio," fell about 9 p.m. It had been declared unsafe for human habitation by the county building department on Feb. 14.

According to attorney Thomas J. Barfield, Bolinas's unofficial historian, "The Studio" was built in 1895 by Frank G. Waterhouse, the community's first subdivider.

Waterhouse had taken over operation of the village's only grocery store after its owner, John C. Gibson, died in 1895. He constructed the building for use as a warehouse for the tore.

His wife, Nellie Esten Waterhouse, a well-known painter, used the top floor as her studio.

The earthquake of April 18, 1906 brought the building down, but it was quickly rebuilt.

Mrs. Waterhouse continued to use the studio until the early 1920s. Her husband died of a stroke in the building in 1921. After that, it was turned into a repair shop by a man named Ed Powell.

Powell operated it until World War II, when the building was turned into a recreation center for the Coast Guard.

Waterhouse's daughter, Mrs. Lewis G. Pepper, and her husband, converted it into a residence after the war.

The building, which had been sagging toward the water, had been empty for several months. Its current owner, Dr. Carl Smith of Orinda, had used it as a weekend retreat until it became uninhabitable.

PhD Program Is Ordered

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California is heading for a big oversupply of PhD's by the end of the decade unless planned expansion of the state's graduate study programs is pruned back, says a report prepared for a legislative committee.

The report, released Sunday by the legislature's Joint Committee on the Master Plan for Higher Education, was prepared by Lewis B. Mayhew of Stanford University.

The surplus has already begun to appear in many fields and is accompanied by an oversupply of teachers, the report says. The only area where need for persons with graduate training will continue to outstrip the supply, Mayhew adds, will be the health sciences and related fields.

'Resource' Teacher Post To Be Ended

The Nicasio School District board last night voted to abolish the "resource" teacher post at the school in order to make necessary budget plans for next year according to Marie S. Rogers, board vice president.

The full-time teacher has provided special help to students with reading problems in the small school.

An Earthquake Aftershock 13 Days Later

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Another aftershock was recorded Monday from the earthquake that rattled Southern California 13 days ago.

The aftershock at 4:56 a.m. registered 3.5 on the Richter scale, the Caltech Seismological Laboratory reported.

It was at least the 14th aftershock since the quake Feb. 21, but the first in the past week.

The earlier quake, registering 5.75 on the Richter scale, had its epicenter offshore from Point Mugu. It did at least $1 million worth of damage to the coastal region of Ventura County and was felt throughout the Los Angeles region.

"Now, here is Goldilocks with a word for Mrs. Bear's old-fashioned homemade porridge."

Court Backlogs Are Reduced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — State Supreme Court Chief Justice said superior courts in California reduced their backlog of criminal and civil cases last year for the first time in seven years.

Wright said the new practices were based on recommendations from a similar conference in 1971.

The judges at this year's conference approved 18 proposals to further speed up courtroom procedures.

Carrier Midway Returns To U.S.

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UPI) — The USS Midway, first attack carrier to return from Vietnam since the cease-fire, arrived home to a waving crowd and a huge "Welcome Home" sign fluttering from the Golden Gate Bridge.

A dense fog and rain Saturday didn't hinder scores of persons who crowded onto the bridge to welcome home the 65,000-ton vessel, while the Midway's 4,500-man crew stood proudly in formation on the deck.

Another 4,000 persons were on hand to greet the men as the ship docked minutes later at its home base, Alameda Naval Air Station, to complete an 11-month tour—a record for a single combat cruise of a U.S. fighting ship.

They'll Be Watching This Young Net Star

JERRY SUYDERHOUD

Suyderhoud, who will be starting his second season as the Beavers' No. 1 man, defeated three highly regarded players and advanced to the finals of the Timber Hill Racquet Club Invitational in Corvallis recently. In the finals, he lost to Dick Knight, the tourney's No. 1 seed, a man considered the outstanding pro in the Pacific Northwest.

"I thought he did a great job, not only in the way he played, but also in the manner in which he conducted himself throughout the tournament," said Paul Valenti, OSU's veteran tennis coach. "He did one heck of a job, and I was proud of him."

The OSU tennis team opens its 1973 season on March 18 in Reno against the University of Nevada. Other foes on the Oregon State spring vacation trip include Sacramento State, Cal at Davis, San Jose State, Canada College in Redwood City, and Foothill College in Los Altos, so Suyderhoud, young brother of water ski champ Mike, will be spending a few days back in the Bay Area.

SWIMMER ROBIN BACKHAUS is back in San Rafael after a most successful trip to Bremen, Germany where he competed in an international invitational meet staged by the German Swim Federation. In four outings, Robin won three times and came in second the once.

He won the 100-meter butterfly in 56.87 seconds, the 200-meter fly in 2:04.87, and the 400-meter freestyle in 4:04.45. He was second in the 200 free, 1:55.18. The plane in which Robin was aboard landed at S.F. Internatinal Airport last night and he said it was a good trip, good experience, and he was glad to clock those times and still get a chance at a good workout.

COACHES IN THE Far Western Conference will announce their selections for coach and player of the year tomorrow, and most of the money is being bet on Sonoma State coach Bill Trumbo and his highscoring guard, Steve Tiedeman, a unanimous pick member of the FWC all-star team named yesterday.

All Trumbo did was to take a team which had won only three of 51 games in two years, mix in some active recruiting, add some self confidence, and come up with a winner. That's some recipe.

Tiedeman, a junior, is one of seven returnees next year for the Cossacks who will be on the lookout for a good big man, say like College of Marin's 6-foot-9 Neil Traub. From what I have heard, there are quite a few four-year colleges interested in obtaining Traub's services for next year.

BRUCE D'AMBRA of San Rafael, right-handed pitcher at University of Pacific, has returned to the baseball wars at UOP. A junior, D'Ambra last year was used in relief and in nine appearances had a record of 0 wins, 2 losses and an earned run average of 2.84.

BASKETBALL ISSUE

Amateur Sports Row Heard In Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association says the Amateur Athletic Union "has played the part of an outlaw" in arranging a U.S. tour by the Soviet basketball team.

David Riveness, president of the AAU, says, however, that his organization acted properly as "the legitimate and only recognized representative of the United States" in international amateur basketball.

The two athletic groups clashed Monday before a House Education Subcommittee investigating their long-standing jurisdictional squabble.

Thomas C. Hansen, NCAA assistant executive director, said the AAU had scheduled the eight-city tour by the Soviet basketball team at a time "which is to the greatest disadvantage of the American student-athlete and which precludes assembly of the best U.S. team."

Hansen told the subcommittee that when the AAU approached the Soviets "it had no authority to conclude arrangements for a competition on behalf of the U.S.

"The AAU had, and has, absolutely no authority to arrange competition for NCAA member colleges or for other members of the Basketball Federation.

"Under all the rules applicable to such arrangements, therefore, the CBS-AAU arranged tour is illegal, and the AAU as played the part of an outlaw."

Riveness, in his testimony, charged the NCAA with refusing to abide by terms of a jurisdictional settlement by an impartial commission appointed by the Sports Arbitration Board, and that the NCAA wrongly believed it "owned" athletes of its affiliated colleges.

AAU Executive Director Ollan Cassell said the NCAA also "chose to subordinate the best interests of our nation to its own interests, whatever they may be."

Hansen, referring to the controversial final-seconds victory of the Russian basketball team over the Americans at Munich last year, said CBS-TV and the AAU had billed the Soviet team's American tour "as a rematch ... in a blatant attempt to cash in on he widely felt dissatisfaction and resentment regarding the conduct and outcome of the Olympic final game between the U.S. and USSR teams."

Both Reps. John O'Hara, D-Mich., chairman of the subcommittee, and John Dellenback, Ore., its ranking Republica, said they hoped legislative action was not needed to solve the dispute.

But Dellenback warned that "If continued feuding has a negative impact on the well being of the college athletes," such action may be necessary."

Peterson Willing To Do It Again: 'Trade' Families

Tampa, Fla. (UPI) — Fritz Peterson said he would do it all over again.

The 31-year-old lefthanded pitcher for the New York Yankees was talking about the most astonishing "trade" in all baseball history, one in which he and fellow Yankee pitcher Mike Kekich swapped their wives, their younger children and even their pet dogs five months ago.

Peterson, in a personal telephone call from the Yankees' training base in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., revealed Monday he, Kekich and their respective wives agreed to the trade after due consideration.

"There was nothing dirty about it," said Peterson. "This was not a wife swap, it was a life swap."

Under conditions of the agreement, Peterson's wife of 7 ½ years, Marilyn, went to live with Kekich last October and Kekich's wife of seven years, Susan, went to live with Peterson. Peterson's youngest son, Eric, 2, went with his mother, and Kekich's youngest daughter, Regen, also 2, stayed with her mother. Gregg, 5, Peterson's oldest son, remained with his father, and Kristen, 5, Kekich's oldest daughter, remained with her father.

"Susan and I are in love," said Peterson. "I miss my little boy, that's the bad part of it. I don't see too much of him."

Then asked if he would do such a thing again, Peterson said, "I would. This really makes my life complete."

"Some people are going to think it's a wife swap," Peterson added. "Mike and I agreed it was a life swap. Don't make this out to be cheap."

The Kekich alliance with Marilyn, however, isn't going so well, the 27-year-old Kekich admitted.

"Chip (Marilyn's nickname) and I thought we were perfectly suited but things developed and we began to butt heads," Kekich revealed in Fort Lauderdale. "Chip was all for it at the start but began to back off. I think her background began to overwhelm her. She would be the first in her family to get a divorce.

"We agreed that if anyone wasn't happy, it would be all off. Marilyn and I lived up to it but, when we elected to return to our original state, the other pair had gone. I am out in the cold—the only one who has nothing."

"After the season ended (last October), we moved in with our other families," Peterson said. "I moved to Franklin Lakes, N.J., and Mike to Mahwah, N.J."

Peterson, trying to explain how the situation had developed, said he and Kekich had been great friends since Kekich joined the Yankees in 1969.

"In the beginning, it was fun just being together, the four of us," said Peterson. "Then as things went along it became more serious. It all started last July 15. We were living in Franklin Lakes and Mike and Susan were living in Mahwah (a distance of about eight miles).

"Mike started to campaign for my wife about in August. He talked to me seriously about it. He told his own wife, Susan, that he loved Marilyn more. That started it. There wasn't anything dirty about it. Marilyn didn't think he was serious at first. She thought it was funny at first, and so did I. Then we all discussed it seriously and we agreed."

Peterson added, "We both found we were unbelievably happy with the other. We each had found something we had been lacking. Divorces are now in progress."

Sonoma's Tiedeman Is Tabbed

Sonoma State College guard Steve Tiedeman was the lone unanimous pick by the Far Western Conference basketball coaches to the all-conference first team, it was announced yesterday.

Joining Tiedeman on the conference team were teammates Bill Belander, a junior forward who was placed on the second team, and senior forward George Schandelmier, who was given honorable mention recognition.

Tiedeman, a 6-foot-2 junior, led the FWC in scoring this season with a 22.6 point per game average. He averaged 20.7 points for the entire season, while shooting 48.8 per cent from the floor. He placed in the league statistics with a free throw percentage of 83.3.

Also voted to the first team were Gary Fox from University of California, Davis; Rick Dire-

49ERS, RAIDERS ON BASKETBALL COURT

It's a Super Bowl, of sorts.

The San Francisco 49ers and Oakland Raiders, a pair of perennial National Football League playoff participants, meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Redwood High School. In a basketball game presented by the Redwood Benchwarmers booster group and Central Marin Babe Ruth League, Super Bowl VIII, the name coined by game organizers.

Tickets for the game in the school's gymnasium in Larkspur will cost $2 each. Donning sneakers instead of cleats will be such 49ers as running backs Vic Washington and Larry Schreiber, wide receiver John Isenbarger, safety Johnny Fuller, linebacker Jim Sniadecki, and defensive linemen Cedrick Hardman, Earl Edwards and Bob Hoskins.

The Raiders will be represented by wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff, running back Charlie Smith, center Jim Otto, linebacker Dan Conners, tackle Art Shell and defensive linemen Ben Davidson, Tony Cline and Art Thoms.

Drake '5' Seeks End To Historical Trend

IJ Sports

Stigma Of Defeat On Marinites

Drake High School, which reversed an historical trend in 1966, will have a chance to reverse another one beginning Thursday in the basketball Tournament of Champions at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

When the Pirates of 1966 took the floor for their first game against powerful McClymonds High of Oakland, they carried the stigma bequeathed them by their Marin County Athletic League predecessors, who had won only two of 13 tournament games.

Since the MCAL began playing in the tournament in 1960, only Tamalpais High in 1963 so much as won a game. The consolation title the Indians gathered that year had been the only honor.

Perhaps the MCAL didn't belong in so high-powered a tournament, some people speculated. Or perhaps the MCAL champion should play off for a berth.

Against this backdrop, Drake carried supposedly unbeatable McClymonds into the final minutes before losing a 51-47 decision, then went on to capture a consolation championship. This ushered in an era of respectability, as Marin teams gathered three consolation titles and a fourth-place finish the next four years.

In 1971, however, things changed for the worse. Redwood lost a very physical game to Oakland's Castlemont, the same school Drake will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m., then lost again and was eliminated. Tamalpais lost two straight close games last year and went home before Saturday's concluding festivities.

On the whole, then, MCAL teams have a dismal 11-21 record in the TOC and have lost four straight games, something Drake hopes to rectify. The log for 13 tournaments shows five consolation titles and one fourth-place finish. No MCAL team ever has made the finals. No team other than Drake in 1967 won its opening game.

Marin teams represented the North Bay League three straight times just prior to the formation of the MCAL, with scarcely better results. Drake finished third in 1957 and won the consolation title in 1958, and San Rafael was eliminated in two games in 1959. Marin teams were 4-4 in that period.

Drake is the only Marin team with a winning record in the TOC, going 7-5 over the years. Tamalpais is 4-6, Redwood 4-8 and San Rafael 0-6.

GARNER MOST VALUABLE

Marin Tars Have Lion's Share Of All-Star Picks

College of Marin basketball players took the lion's share of honors in the Camino Norte Conference all-star selections, led by Wil Garner, named the conference's most valuable player.

Garner, 6-foot-4 forward who is averaging 16 points per game, was one of the conference's top scorers throughout the season.

Marin's other starting forward, Joe Casteel, 6-3 and averaging 11 points a game, also was named to the first team all-conference squad. Marin's 6-9 center, Neil Traub, was named to the second team and 6-0 guard Joe DeMaestri was given honorable mention. DeMaestri is averaging 15 points per game and Traub 12.

Casteel, Traub and DeMaestri are sophomores, while Garner is a freshman, one of two freshmen on the six-man first team. Other members of the first team were De Anza freshman Dan Perry, West Valley's Rick Hile and Paul Boskovich, and Contra Costa's Floyd Harris.

Joining Traub on the second team were Canada's Steve Kircher, Contra Costa's Mike Johnson, De Anza's Gary Hoffman and Skyline's Herb Eastman. Other honorable mentions were Mitch Plaat of De Anza, Kelly McWilliams of Solano and Dave Thomas of Santa Rosa.

College of Marin's conference champion cagers will be leaving Marin County tomorrow for Ventura and the state junior college championships Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Marin's first-round opponent will be Riverside City College, 3 p.m. A win in that Thursday game would guarantee Marin playing Friday and Saturday, but a loss would end the Tars' season right there.

San Rafael's radio station KTIM will broadcast the first game Thursday and if the Tars advance, the other Marin games, with station manager Bob Dinsmore doing the play-by-play.

PINA ARRIVES

A's Finley, 3 Holdouts Dickering

Combined AP & UPI

MESA, Ariz. — Oakland owner Charlie Finley has flown back to Chicago without getting the signatures of Vida Blue, Ken Holtzman or Dave Duncan on a 1973 contract.

Holtzman, 19-game winner, is working out with the team here and Finley talked to him Sunday. Duncan, tabbed as No. 1 catcher now that Gene Tenace has been shifted to first, is still in Oakland. And Finley couldn't even find Blue although he called his Oakland apartment several times over the weekend.

The A's new reliefer, Horacio Pina, arrived in training camp Monday and threw batting practice. A right hander, Pina came to Oakland in the trade that sent first baseman Mike Epstein to Texas.

Meanwhile, it was announced that Catfish Hunter will start here Friday when the A's launch their Cactus League season against Milwaukee. He'll be followed by Dennis Myers and Darold Knowles.

Healy Reporting To Giants' Camp

Combined AP & UPI

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. — Catcher Fran Healy has signed his contract with the San Francisco Giants and right fielder Bobby Bonds has slugged the team's first home run of the spring training season.

Both developments occurred Monday with Healy heading here from Massachusetts about the time Bonds was heading around the bases after a 400-foot smash in an intrasquad clash.

Warriors, Pistons In Oakland Go

OAKLAND (UPI) — Golden State's Rick Barry is looking for a rough night when the Warriors tangle with the Detroit Pistons tonight in the Oakland Arena.

"The guys the Pistons put on me—Don Adams, Fred Foster, Willie Norwood—are all holders and grabbers," Barry said during a practice session.

"Guys who aren't real good defensive players are always holding and pounding you. I don't like that."

On defense the hot-shooting Barry will have his work cut out for him. He will have to handle Curtis Rowe who has averaged 25 points a game against the Warriors.

Court Will Hear Storer Challenge

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Supreme Court yesterday agreed to hear a challenge of California's election laws by would-be independent candidates, including former Marin supervisor Thomas T. Storer.

Storer sought unsuccessfully to get on the ballot las November as an independent candidate for Congress.

The high court yesterday, however, accepted for hearing next fall the appeals of rulings by a three-judge U. S. District court panel. This panel had rejected the challenge to the constitutionality of the state election code which makes it virtually impossible for a person to qualify as an independent candidate.

Joining Storer in trying to knock down the law were Lawrence H. Fromhagen, a would-be independent congressional candidate from Santa Cruz County, and Communist party members Gus Hall and Jarvis Tyner.

Hall and Tyner wanted to run as independent candidates for president and vice president on California's 1972 ballot.

State law requires an independent to gather signatures equal to 5 per cent of the vote cast in the preceding election, and voters who have participated in previous primary elections are not eligible to sign.

Independents must gather an "immense number of signatures from a small portion of the general public" during a 24-day period in August and September when many persons are apt to be on vacation, lawyers for the challengers noted.

The District Court which had rejected the challenge, said the laws were designed to prevent "the confusion of a laundry-list ballot."

Storer today hailed the Supreme Court's acceptance of the case and said a decision favorable to his point of view "might make politics a little fairer."

Historic Old House Topples Into Lagoon

An historic Bolinas house, which was toppled by the 1906 earthquake and then rebuilt, collapsed and fell into the Bolinas Lagoon last night.

The two-story wood-frame structure at 81 Wharf Road, known locally as "The Studio," fell about 9 p.m. It had been declared unsafe for human habitation by the county building department on Feb. 14.

According to attorney Thomas J. Barfield, Bolinas's unofficial historian, "The Studio" was built in 1895 by Frank G. Waterhouse, the community's first subdivider.

Waterhouse had taken over operation of the village's only grocery store after its owner, John C. Gibson, died in 1895. He constructed the building for use as a warehouse for the tore.

His wife, Nellie Esten Waterhouse, a well-known painter, used the top floor as her studio.

The earthquake of April 18, 1906 brought the building down, but it was quickly rebuilt.

Mrs. Waterhouse continued to use the studio until the early 1920s. Her husband died of a stroke in the building in 1921. After that, it was turned into a repair shop by a man named Ed Powell.

Powell operated it until World War II, when the building was turned into a recreation center for the Coast Guard.

Waterhouse's daughter, Mrs. Lewis G. Pepper, and her husband, converted it into a residence after the war.

The building, which had been sagging toward the water, had been empty for several months. Its current owner, Dr. Carl Smith of Orinda, had used it as a weekend retreat until it became uninhabitable.

PhD Program Is Ordered

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California is heading for a big oversupply of PhD's by the end of the decade unless planned expansion of the state's graduate study programs is pruned back, says a report prepared for a legislative committee.

The report, released Sunday by the legislature's Joint Committee on the Master Plan for Higher Education, was prepared by Lewis B. Mayhew of Stanford University.

The surplus has already begun to appear in many fields and is accompanied by an oversupply of teachers, the report says. The only area where need for persons with graduate training will continue to outstrip the supply, Mayhew adds, will be the health sciences and related fields.

'Resource' Teacher Post To Be Ended

The Nicasio School District board last night voted to abolish the "resource" teacher post at the school in order to make necessary budget plans for next year according to Marie S. Rogers, board vice president.

The full-time teacher has provided special help to students with reading problems in the small school.

Density Set On 'Public Scenic' Sites

The Novato City Council last night set density on lands which had been designated as "public scenic" and marked for potential acquisition by the city or county in the Novato General Plan.

Councilmen changed the designation of the lands to "private scenic" and then set a density range from one unit per 10 acres to one unit per 60 acres, according to senior planner Mark Westfall.

Councilmen also asked the staff to explore the possibility of having an overlay of open-space zoning on the lands, Westfall said.

The council also changed all land designated for private scenic to hill and canyon residential, thereby increasing the allowable density.

Private scenic would have permitted a range from one unit per two acres to one unit per 10 acres, while hill and canyon residential will permit a range from one unit per acre to one unit per five acres.

The council also continued for one week an appeal from Kaufman and Broad Inc. of planning commission denial of precise plans for 224 apartments along San Marin Drive between San Marin High School and the San Marin Club.

An Earthquake Aftershock 13 Days Later

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Another aftershock was recorded Monday from the earthquake that rattled Southern California 13 days ago.

The aftershock at 4:56 a.m. registered 3.5 on the Richter scale, the Caltech Seismological Laboratory reported.

It was at least the 14th aftershock since the quake Feb. 21, but the first in the past week.

The earlier quake, registering 5.75 on the Richter scale, had its epicenter offshore from Point Mugu. It did at least $1 million worth of damage to the coastal region of Ventura County and was felt throughout the Los Angeles region.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

At Least Some Birds Survived

Last Jan. 19, more than 100,000 gallons of waste oil was spilled apparently by vandals into the Oakland Estuary. At the time, Department of Fish and Game personnel responded to the task of retrieving and caring for the oily birds.

The United States Coast Guard personnel from the training center at Government Island cooperated with the department crews retrieving the birds quickly, and workers from the International Bird Rescue Research Center aided the department in cleaning and treating the birds. Some 175 dead birds and 282 oil soaked but still living birds are known to have been retrieved from the Oakland Channel and adjacent San Leandro Bay.

NEARLY HALF of those that were still alive when picked up have succumbed; but others have responded well to treatment, and approximately 75 of them have been released into the wild in good condition. Three of the six clapper rails survived, and were released in the Napa Marsh. Coots, ducks and grebes were the principal kinds of birds affected.

TROUT PLANTS are scheduled for Stafford Reservoir near Novato this week. A few weeks ago, a mid-morning weekday survey there showed that 31 anglers were using the lake. A total of 26 trout were caught by 23 of the anglers interviewed in 35 hours of fishing effort. The average catch was .74 trout per angler hour. A fish an hour? That's not bad.

A report from Alice Williams, the Audubon Society bird counter of Stafford Lake, states that the canvasbacks and the Canada geese have nearly all left the lake for their northern nesting sites, but that the great blue herons have a rookery started right there at the lake. Four nests were noted by our reporter.

DESPITE HIGHLY restrictive regulations on hunting, the bear take during the 1972-73 season in California rose sharply, the Department of Fish and Game recently reported.

In its final report on the two-and-one-half-month season ending Jan. 1, the DFG said that hunters took 626 bears — this on the basis of returned tags. Tag returns for the previous season indicated that 559 bears had been taken during 1971-72.

Regulation taking effect last season prohibited the taking of cubs and sows accompanied by cubs, and outlawed bear-baiting and the taking of bears within 400 yards of any posted garbage dump.

The Department of Fish and Game said that the harvest figures, together with the volume of bear nuisance complaints and other information from the field, indicate that the bear population in California is on the increase.

Siskiyou, with a take of 97 bears, led all counties. Trinity County with 89 was second and Shasta County was third, 79. Marin, Napa and Sonoma reported no bears, but Lake County came up with five and Mendocino 19.

A FEW DAYS ago, I received a letter from John Segale, a Marinite who wrote from Hong Kong. He says, "I read in your column of Feb. 6 that a fisherman was cited for using two rods in San Pablo Bay. Where can a person fish with two rods?" The answer is: West of the Golden Gate Bridge in ocean waters. (It sounds like John is coming home!)

Of interest also is a clipping John enclosed from a Hong Kong newspaper. It reads, "If you have experience in foreign land sales we need you to establish a dealer sales office in Hong Kong. You would have exclusive rights to sell our property. The place is Nevada, the Great American West. Ranches of 1¼ acre near the picturesque town of Elko, in the heart of cowboy country. The market is superb. The time is now. The opportunity is yours." Wow! You and I know Elko is deer country — the best!

Seals' Marshall To Rangers In Trade

Combined AP & UPI

NEW YORK — The last original California Golden Seal is gone. The New York Rangers further bolstered their defensive corps yesterday by acquiring Bert Marshall, who was with the original Seals' cast in the 1967-68 season. The Rangers promised the Seals future considerations in return for the big defenseman.

The 29-year-old Marshall, in his eighth season in the National Hockey League, was in his sixth campaign with California and was the team captain. In 55 games this season, the 6-2, 195-pounder had two goals and six assists for eight points. He also accumulated 71 penalty minutes, which is more than any Ranger player has.

The deal, which was completed prior to the National Hockey League midnight trading deadline of Sunday night, was the third made by the Rangers since last Friday. A series of injuries has been hampering their defensive corps for the last two months.

Football

PRINCETON — The New York Giants of the National Football League are considering a temporary move to Princeton next season until the team's permanent home in the Hackensack Meadowlands Sport Complex is completed, it was announced yesterday.

Paul D. Firstenberg, Princeton University financial vice-president, said team officials have informally sought the use of Palmer Stadium for 13 regular season games next season and the year following it. The team has already signed a 30-year lease with the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority for the Meadowlands Stadium.

Golf

NEW YORK — Bud Allin, winner of the Florida Citrus Open last weekend, has climbed 23 places to no. 6 on the weekly Professional Golfers Association money list, it was announced yesterday by the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Allin earned $30,000 for his victory, pushing his earnings for the year to $45,042.

Rounding out the top 10 are John Schlee ($48,017), Rod Funseth ($47,966), Allin, Orville Moody ($42,998), Bob Dickson ($42,538), Grier Jones ($40,047) and Gay Brewer ($39,027).

Basketball

NEW YORK — The Players Association of the National Basketball Association yesterday reached agreement on a three-year contract with the league's Board of Governors, providing for a $20,000 a year minimum salary and amended pension benefits.

The minimum salary requirement, which will take effect next year, is the highest in professional sports.

Under terms of the amended pension plan, full retirement benefits, amounting to $750 a year for each year of service, are now payable beginning at age 50.

The new contract also established a minimum of 11 players on each club's active list and states that each player waived before Dec. 1 must be paid for a whole season.

LOS ANGELES — Dave Benaderet, 38, was named today as the head basketball coach at Loyola University, replacing Dick Baker who stepped down to devote fulltime to the school's athletic director's job.

HONOLULU — Red Rocha, head basketball coach at the University of Hawaii for the past 10 years, yesterday left the post and accepted a job as coordinator of a statewide university athletic commission.

General

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission yesterday waived the broadcasting limit rule to permit American Broadcasting Company and National Broadcasting Company to televise pro basketball, pro hockey and the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball playoffs.

Murcer Tops Predecessors In 1 Category

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Bobby Murcer already has surpassed Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle, his center field predecessors with the New York Yankees—in one category anyway.

Murcer Monday became the youngest Yankee ever to sign a $100,000 contract when he agreed to terms for the 1973 American League season.

Murcer, at 26, easily outdistanced the former Yankee greats to the $100,000 plateau. DiMaggio was 35 when he reached the figure and Mantle was 31.

Last season, Murcer, like Mantle a native of Oklahoma, hit .292 with 33 homers, 96 runs batted in and a league high 102 runs scored. He was named to the AL All-Star team.

The Yankees also signed pitcher Steve Kline, 16-9 last season, to a contract estimated at $40,000, leaving four players — Sparky Lyle, Fritz Peterson, Roy White and Gene Michael—unsigned.

Rusty Staub of the New York Mets also signed a blockbuster contract Monday, agreeing to a three-year pact worth $330,000. Staub, who met with Mets' General Manager Bob Scheffing for five days, was leading the Mets in hitting when he suffered a broken bone in his hand on June 3. He appeared in only 66 games, missing from June 18 to Sept. 18.

Elsewhere, Bill Stein, a pinch- hitting whiz for the St. Louis Cardinals late last season, continued his torrid hitting with four straight hits in an intra-squad game. . . Bill Buckner boosted his hit production to six in seven at-bats Monday with a double and two singles in a Los Angeles Dodger intrasquad game. The Dodgers lost short-stop Bill Russell for a few days with sun poisoning ... Montreal announced the signing of pitcher Bill Stoneman, who pitched his second career nohitter last season, leaving only Mike Marshall and Jim Fairey unsigned.

National League Cy Young winner Steve Carlton returned to training with the Philadelphia Phils after a three-day absence. Carlton suffered a seizure of acute bronchitis ... John Mayberry became the first Kanas City Royal ever to sign a two-year contract when the 23-year-old first baseman agreed to terms ... Johnny Briggs and Ellie Rodriguez signed with the Milwaukee Brewers, leaving only Brock Davis unsigned and Horacio Pina and Manny Trillo joined Oakland A's' workouts.

Mike Ivie, a No. 1 draft choice a few years back who walked out of the San Diego camp a year ago, is the Padres' hitting sensation this spring. Ivie, a 6-4, 220-pounder, left last season, claiming he did not want to catch in the majors.

The Chicago White Sox reported no progress with their six holdouts but did trade rookie infielder Jim Redmon to Nitaku of the Japanese League ... Bert Blyleven, 17-17 last season, signed with Minnesota but the Twins still did not have signed contracts from Harmon Killebrew, Rod Carew or Jim Kaat.

Belander, who finished fifth in league scoring with an 18.9 average, was joined on the second team by Mike Harski from Chico, Mike Stanbra from San Francisco State, Stan Cherry from Hayward and Manny Cranford from Davis.

Getting honorable mention recognition with Schandelmier were Vance Devost from San Francisco, Don Krueger and Larry Haren from Sacramento, Carl Massey from Humboldt State College and Mark Olson from Davis.

Basketball Results

Harvey Wallbanger defeated Ghilotti Brothers 57-42, Tetons West trimmed First American Title 61-56, and Lisa's Gang won on forfeit from McGillicuddy Construction in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball league action last night.

COACH SAYS

Tar Golf Team Ready To Jell

B-O-O-M!

"We're about ready to explode. We're about ready to jell," says College of Marin golf coach Ed Grimm.

His team is 1-1 in Camino Norte Conference play and 2-2 overall, but it appears that the record is deceiving. The veteran Tar squad, which finished second last year with an 8-4 mark, has been playing under trying weather conditions.

"The rain has held us back a bit," Grimm continues, "but we are about due to get rolling — maybe this week." The Tars visited Alameda Junior College today at 1 p.m.

Despite the wetness woes, Grimm voices confidence his team is coming around. "We've been practicing diligently, and it should begin to pay off."

Army veteran Jim Fitzpatrick leads a seasoned team determined to unseat defending chmapion West Valley of Campbell. "We've lost to them once already, but with such a balanced league and with the talent we have, we should be right in there," the coach asserts.

ED GRIMM
Golf coach

Although the competition is intense with contenders DeAnza of Cupertino, Skyline of San Bruno, Santa Rosa and champin West Valley Grimm likes his team's chances. "It's a wide-open race."

Apparently, Grimm feels he has sufficient quality to challenge. Fitzpatrick and Churchfield typify the Tar golfers' "up and coming" image that Grimm was referring to. "Fitzpatrick is progressing well, and Churchfield is coming right along," the coach adds.

As the players mold into an extremely formidable contingent, Grimm is pointing them towards two major tourneys — the CNC meet and the Northern California championships. On May 7, the CNC will hold its conference tourney in Santa Rosa at Sonoma Country Club to determine representatives to the Northern California Junior College Golf Tournament May 14 in Carmel Valley.

Two USF Cagers Are Selected

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Backcourt ace Louie Nelson of the University of Washington is going all out in his drive for the Pac-8 scoring title.

He closed out his home career Monday night by popping 11-of-16 from the field and all 13 free throws for 35 points in leading the Huskies to the 83-75 win over Oregon.

In another Pac-8 battle, Washington State napped an 11-game losing streak by dominating the boards to take the 67-64 squeaker over Oregon State.

In news off the courts, the champion University of San Francisco Dons landed guard Phil Smith and forward Kevin Restani on the 1973 All West Coast athletic conference team. Rounding out the all-star quintet were William Averitt of Pepperdine, Mike Stewart of Santa Clara and Jim Baker of Nevada, Las Vegas.

The second team included Steve Smith of Loyola, Bob Florence of Nevada-Las Vegas, Greg Williams of Seattle and two freshmen, Pete Padgett of Nevada-Reno and Frank Oleynick of Seattle.

Mrs. Clemente Files Suit: $5 Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — Vera Zaballa Clemente, wife of the late Pittsburgh Pirates' star Roberto Clemente, is asking for $5 million in damages from the manufacturer of the airplane in which her husband was killed and the manufacturer of the plane's engines.

Mrs. Clemente filed suit on behalf of herself and her three children in Manhattan Federal Court Monday against the McDonnell-Douglas Cor of St. Louis Mo., manufacturers of the plane, and Curtiss-Wright Corp of New Jersey, the makers of the engine.

The 38-year-old Clemente was killed on New Year's Eve when the private plane he was in crashed into the Atlantic Ocean shortly after takeoff from San Juan Airport. The plane was attempting to return to San Juan to make an emergency landing when it went down. Clemente was returning from a relief mission to victims of the Nicaraguan earthquake. His body was never recovered.

The suit alleges that Curtiss-Wright was negligent in the design, manufacture, servicing and inspection of its TC-18 engine. Douglas aircraft was accused of wrongfully representing that the airplane and all of its parts were free of defects.

Stuart Speiser, lawyer for Mrs. Clemente, said that the two inboard engines of the turbo-prop plane were recovered from the ocean floor and found to be defective.

A wrongful death claim was also filed against the Federal Aviation Administration which, if rejected, could make the agency a defendant in the case in six months.

each connected for three safeties.

Manager Charlie Fox used eight pitchers and said he was impressed with Ron Bryant, John Morris and rookies John D'Acquisto and Frank Riccelli.

Bernie Williams, a left field candidate who hurt his left wrist swinging a bat a couple of days ago, did not play, but X-rays indicated no fracture.

There was still no word from holdouts Tito Fuentes and Jerry Johnson.

Speier's Rise In Giants' Organization

CASA GRANDE — There wasn't anything pushy or arrogant in the way Chris Speier took charge of the San Francisco Giants' infield defense when he reported for spring training. He merely was doing what comes naturally to him, once again assuming the leadership role he won in just two major league seasons.

Speier is a natural leader with a mature confidence far beyond his years. It's difficult to believe he is just 22 and has been in pro ball only three years. He broke in in Class AA at Amarillo in 1970 and the following year became the shortstop whiz of the Giants at age 20.

Last season Speier was the Giants' most outstanding player. He was consistent with glove and bat from start to finish of a campaign that was deeply disappointing to the Candlestick Kids because first Willie McCovey was put out of action and then Juan Marichal and Sam McDowell bumped into pitching miseries.

"WITH MCCOVEY, Marichal and McDowell coming back to form this season, we'll be tough to stop," said Speier, not in a hopeful manner but with a determination that seemed to say that the three M's already were well along the comeback road even though this was just the second week of 1973 spring training.

Comeback of the three M's, coupled with consistency at third base and left field, will reestablish the winning ways of the Giants, according to Speier.

"WE'LL GET OFF to a good start if we can get a consistent playing unit early," said Speier. "We kept inserting and bringing in new players throughout the season last year."

Speier was the lone representative of the Giants in the All Star Game at Atlanta last season. He led all Giants in batting at .269 and tied for second best with nine game-winning hits.

He drew 82 walks, sixth highest total in the National League, hit 15 homers, most by any shortstop in the league, and was second to Philadelphia's Larry Bowa in official fielding averages. He also struck out 92 times.

"I'd like to cut my strikeouts in half this season," said Speier.

DURING THE WINTER Speier married the former Aleta Pagnini of Medford, Ore. The bride and groom have made their home in San Mateo. They also are making future plans for ranch style living east of Medford where Speier bought 20 acres at $500 an acre.

"For the time being," said Speier, "we're just going to hold onto the acreage. Actually, it's a sound investment because the price has gone up to $1,000 an acre since we bought it."

When someone remarked to Speier that marriage gave him a serene and happy look, he didn't stammer or display any embarrassment.

"Yes," he said, "that's what it's all about, isn't it?"

A most remarkable young man.

San Rafael Nine Wins Opener

Lance Loughlin provided most of the muscle yesterday when San Rafael High School's baseball team opened its 1973 season with an 11-8 victory over Galileo High at San Francisco's Funston Field.

Loughlin bashed a double, two singles and totaled seven runs batted in for the Bulldogs who colected 14 hits in a slugfest which saw 23 total hits.

They'll Be Watching This Young Net Star

JERRY SUYDERHOUD

Suyderhoud, who will be starting his second season as the Beavers' No. 1 man, defeated three highly regarded players and advanced to the finals of the Timber Hill Racquet Club Invitational in Corvallis recently. In the finals, he lost to Dick Knight, the tourney's No. 1 seed, a man considered the outstanding pro in the Pacific Northwest.

"I thought he did a great job, not only in the way he played, but also in the manner in which he conducted himself throughout the tournament," said Paul Valenti, OSU's veteran tennis coach. "He did one heck of a job, and I was proud of him."

The OSU tennis team opens its 1973 season on March 18 in Reno against the University of Nevada. Other foes on the Oregon State spring vacation trip include Sacramento State, Cal at Davis, San Jose State, Canada College in Redwood City, and Foothill College in Los Altos, so Suyderhoud, young brother of water ski champ Mike, will be spending a few days back in the Bay Area.

SWIMMER ROBIN BACKHAUS is back in San Rafael after a most successful trip to Bremen, Germany where he competed in an international invitational meet staged by the German Swim Federation. In four outings, Robin won three times and came in second the once.

He won the 100-meter butterfly in 56.87 seconds, the 200-meter fly in 2:04.87, and the 400-meter freestyle in 4:04.45. He was second in the 200 free, 1:55.18. The plane in which Robin was aboard landed at S.F. Internatinal Airport last night and he said it was a good trip, good experience, and he was glad to clock those times and still get a chance at a good workout.

COACHES IN THE Far Western Conference will announce their selections for coach and player of the year tomorrow, and most of the money is being bet on Sonoma State coach Bill Trumbo and his highscoring guard, Steve Tiedeman, a unanimous pick member of the FWC all-star team named yesterday.

All Trumbo did was to take a team which had won only three of 51 games in two years, mix in some active recruiting, add some self confidence, and come up with a winner. That's some recipe.

Tiedeman, a junior, is one of seven returnees next year for the Cossacks who will be on the lookout for a good big man, say like College of Marin's 6-foot-9 Neil Traub. From what I have heard, there are quite a few four-year colleges interested in obtaining Traub's services for next year.

BRUCE D'AMBRA of San Rafael, right-handed pitcher at University of Pacific, has returned to the baseball wars at UOP. A junior, D'Ambra last year was used in relief and in nine appearances had a record of 0 wins, 2 losses and an earned run average of 2.84.

BASKETBALL ISSUE

Amateur Sports Row Heard In Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association says the Amateur Athletic Union "has played the part of an outlaw" in arranging a U.S. tour by the Soviet basketball team.

David Riveness, president of the AAU, says, however, that his organization acted properly as "the legitimate and only recognized representative of the United States" in international amateur basketball.

The two athletic groups clashed Monday before a House Education Subcommittee investigating their long-standing jurisdictional squabble.

Thomas C. Hansen, NCAA assistant executive director, said the AAU had scheduled the eight-city tour by the Soviet basketball team at a time "which is to the greatest disadvantage of the American student-athlete and which precludes assembly of the best U.S. team."

Hansen told the subcommittee that when the AAU approached the Soviets "it had no authority to conclude arrangements for a competition on behalf of the U.S.

"The AAU had, and has, absolutely no authority to arrange competition for NCAA member colleges or for other members of the Basketball Federation.

"Under all the rules applicable to such arrangements, therefore, the CBS-AAU arranged tour is illegal, and the AAU as played the part of an outlaw."

Riveness, in his testimony, charged the NCAA with refusing to abide by terms of a jurisdictional settlement by an impartial commission appointed by the Sports Arbitration Board, and that the NCAA wrongly believed it "owned" athletes of its affiliated colleges.

AAU Executive Director Ollan Cassell said the NCAA also "chose to subordinate the best interests of our nation to its own interests, whatever they may be."

Hansen, referring to the controversial final-seconds victory of the Russian basketball team over the Americans at Munich last year, said CBS-TV and the AAU had billed the Soviet team's American tour "as a rematch ... in a blatant attempt to cash in on he widely felt dissatisfaction and resentment regarding the conduct and outcome of the Olympic final game between the U.S. and USSR teams."

Both Reps. John O'Hara, D-Mich., chairman of the subcommittee, and John Dellenback, Ore., its ranking Republica, said they hoped legislative action was not needed to solve the dispute.

But Dellenback warned that "If continued feuding has a negative impact on the well being of the college athletes," such action may be necessary."

Peterson Willing To Do It Again: 'Trade' Families

Tampa, Fla. (UPI) — Fritz Peterson said he would do it all over again.

The 31-year-old lefthanded pitcher for the New York Yankees was talking about the most astonishing "trade" in all baseball history, one in which he and fellow Yankee pitcher Mike Kekich swapped their wives, their younger children and even their pet dogs five months ago.

Peterson, in a personal telephone call from the Yankees' training base in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., revealed Monday he, Kekich and their respective wives agreed to the trade after due consideration.

"There was nothing dirty about it," said Peterson. "This was not a wife swap, it was a life swap."

Under conditions of the agreement, Peterson's wife of 7 ½ years, Marilyn, went to live with Kekich last October and Kekich's wife of seven years, Susan, went to live with Peterson. Peterson's youngest son, Eric, 2, went with his mother, and Kekich's youngest daughter, Regen, also 2, stayed with her mother. Gregg, 5, Peterson's oldest son, remained with his father, and Kristen, 5, Kekich's oldest daughter, remained with her father.

"Susan and I are in love," said Peterson. "I miss my little boy, that's the bad part of it. I don't see too much of him."

Then asked if he would do such a thing again, Peterson said, "I would. This really makes my life complete."

"Some people are going to think it's a wife swap," Peterson added. "Mike and I agreed it was a life swap. Don't make this out to be cheap."

The Kekich alliance with Marilyn, however, isn't going so well, the 27-year-old Kekich admitted.

"Chip (Marilyn's nickname) and I thought we were perfectly suited but things developed and we began to butt heads," Kekich revealed in Fort Lauderdale. "Chip was all for it at the start but began to back off. I think her background began to overwhelm her. She would be the first in her family to get a divorce.

"We agreed that if anyone wasn't happy, it would be all off. Marilyn and I lived up to it but, when we elected to return to our original state, the other pair had gone. I am out in the cold—the only one who has nothing."

"After the season ended (last October), we moved in with our other families," Peterson said. "I moved to Franklin Lakes, N.J., and Mike to Mahwah, N.J."

Peterson, trying to explain how the situation had developed, said he and Kekich had been great friends since Kekich joined the Yankees in 1969.

"In the beginning, it was fun just being together, the four of us," said Peterson. "Then as things went along it became more serious. It all started last July 15. We were living in Franklin Lakes and Mike and Susan were living in Mahwah (a distance of about eight miles).

"Mike started to campaign for my wife about in August. He talked to me seriously about it. He told his own wife, Susan, that he loved Marilyn more. That started it. There wasn't anything dirty about it. Marilyn didn't think he was serious at first. She thought it was funny at first, and so did I. Then we all discussed it seriously and we agreed."

Peterson added, "We both found we were unbelievably happy with the other. We each had found something we had been lacking. Divorces are now in progress."

Sonoma's Tiedeman Is Tabbed

Sonoma State College guard Steve Tiedeman was the lone unanimous pick by the Far Western Conference basketball coaches to the all-conference first team, it was announced yesterday.

Joining Tiedeman on the conference team were teammates Bill Belander, a junior forward who was placed on the second team, and senior forward George Schandelmier, who was given honorable mention recognition.

Tiedeman, a 6-foot-2 junior, led the FWC in scoring this season with a 22.6 point per game average. He averaged 20.7 points for the entire season, while shooting 48.8 per cent from the floor. He placed in the league statistics with a free throw percentage of 83.3.

Also voted to the first team were Gary Fox from University of California, Davis; Rick Dire-

49ERS, RAIDERS ON BASKETBALL COURT

It's a Super Bowl, of sorts.

The San Francisco 49ers and Oakland Raiders, a pair of perennial National Football League playoff participants, meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Redwood High School. In a basketball game presented by the Redwood Benchwarmers booster group and Central Marin Babe Ruth League, Super Bowl VIII, the name coined by game organizers.

Tickets for the game in the school's gymnasium in Larkspur will cost $2 each. Donning sneakers instead of cleats will be such 49ers as running backs Vic Washington and Larry Schreiber, wide receiver John Isenbarger, safety Johnny Fuller, linebacker Jim Sniadecki, and defensive linemen Cedrick Hardman, Earl Edwards and Bob Hoskins.

The Raiders will be represented by wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff, running back Charlie Smith, center Jim Otto, linebacker Dan Conners, tackle Art Shell and defensive linemen Ben Davidson, Tony Cline and Art Thoms.

Drake '5' Seeks End To Historical Trend

Stigma Of Defeat On Marinites

Drake High School, which reversed an historical trend in 1966, will have a chance to reverse another one beginning Thursday in the basketball Tournament of Champions at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

When the Pirates of 1966 took the floor for their first game against powerful McClymonds High of Oakland, they carried the stigma bequeathed them by their Marin County Athletic League predecessors, who had won only two of 13 tournament games.

Since the MCAL began playing in the tournament in 1960, only Tamalpais High in 1963 so much as won a game. The consolation title the Indians gathered that year had been the only honor.

Perhaps the MCAL didn't belong in so high-powered a tournament, some people speculated. Or perhaps the MCAL champion should play off for a berth.

Against this backdrop, Drake carried supposedly unbeatable McClymonds into the final minutes before losing a 51-47 decision, then went on to capture a consolation championship. This ushered in an era of respectability, as Marin teams gathered three consolation titles and a fourth-place finish the next four years.

In 1971, however, things changed for the worse. Redwood lost a very physical game to Oakland's Castlemont, the same school Drake will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m., then lost again and was eliminated. Tamalpais lost two straight close games last year and went home before Saturday's concluding festivities.

On the whole, then, MCAL teams have a dismal 11-21 record in the TOC and have lost four straight games, something Drake hopes to rectify. The log for 13 tournaments shows five consolation titles and one fourth-place finish. No MCAL team ever has made the finals. No team other than Drake in 1967 won its opening game.

Marin teams represented the North Bay League three straight times just prior to the formation of the MCAL, with scarcely better results. Drake finished third in 1957 and won the consolation title in 1958, and San Rafael was eliminated in two games in 1959. Marin teams were 4-4 in that period.

Drake is the only Marin team with a winning record in the TOC, going 7-5 over the years. Tamalpais is 4-6, Redwood 4-8 and San Rafael 0-6.

GARNER MOST VALUABLE

Marin Tars Have Lion's Share Of All-Star Picks

College of Marin basketball players took the lion's share of honors in the Camino Norte Conference all-star selections, led by Wil Garner, named the conference's most valuable player.

Garner, 6-foot-4 forward who is averaging 16 points per game, was one of the conference's top scorers throughout the season.

Marin's other starting forward, Joe Casteel, 6-3 and averaging 11 points a game, also was named to the first team all-conference squad. Marin's 6-9 center, Neil Traub, was named to the second team and 6-0 guard Joe DeMaestri was given honorable mention. DeMaestri is averaging 15 points per game and Traub 12.

Casteel, Traub and DeMaestri are sophomores, while Garner is a freshman, one of two freshmen on the six-man first team. Other members of the first team were De Anza freshman Dan Perry, West Valley's Rick Hile and Paul Boskovich, and Contra Costa's Floyd Harris.

Joining Traub on the second team were Canada's Steve Kircher, Contra Costa's Mike Johnson, De Anza's Gary Hoffman and Skyline's Herb Eastman. Other honorable mentions were Mitch Plaat of De Anza, Kelly McWilliams of Solano and Dave Thomas of Santa Rosa.

College of Marin's conference champion cagers will be leaving Marin County tomorrow for Ventura and the state junior college championships Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Marin's first-round opponent will be Riverside City College, 3 p.m. A win in that Thursday game would guarantee Marin playing Friday and Saturday, but a loss would end the Tars' season right there.

San Rafael's radio station KTIM will broadcast the first game Thursday and if the Tars advance, the other Marin games, with station manager Bob Dinsmore doing the play-by-play.

PINA ARRIVES

A's Finley, 3 Holdouts Dickering

Combined AP & UPI

MESA, Ariz. — Oakland owner Charlie Finley has flown back to Chicago without getting the signatures of Vida Blue, Ken Holtzman or Dave Duncan on a 1973 contract.

Holtzman, 19-game winner, is working out with the team here and Finley talked to him Sunday. Duncan, tabbed as No. 1 catcher now that Gene Tenace has been shifted to first, is still in Oakland. And Finley couldn't even find Blue although he called his Oakland apartment several times over the weekend.

The A's new reliefer, Horacio Pina, arrived in training camp Monday and threw batting practice. A right hander, Pina came to Oakland in the trade that sent first baseman Mike Epstein to Texas.

Meanwhile, it was announced that Catfish Hunter will start here Friday when the A's launch their Cactus League season against Milwaukee. He'll be followed by Dennis Myers and Darold Knowles.

Warriors, Pistons In Oakland Go

OAKLAND (UPI) — Golden State's Rick Barry is looking for a rough night when the Warriors tangle with the Detroit Pistons tonight in the Oakland Arena.

"The guys the Pistons put on me—Don Adams, Fred Foster, Willie Norwood—are all holders and grabbers," Barry said during a practice session.

"Guys who aren't real good defensive players are always holding and pounding you. I don't like that."

On defense the hot-shooting Barry will have his work cut out for him. He will have to handle Curtis Rowe who has averaged 25 points a game against the Warriors.

Healy Reporting To Giants' Camp

Combined AP & UPI

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. — Catcher Fran Healy has signed his contract with the San Francisco Giants and right fielder Bobby Bonds has slugged the team's first home run of the spring training season.

Both developments occurred Monday with Healy heading here from Massachusetts about the time Bonds was heading around the bases after a 400-foot smash in an intrasquad clash.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuity Explained For Income Seeker

By ROGER E. SPEAR

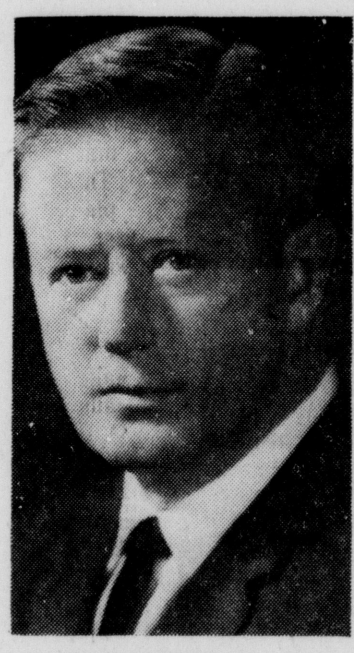
Q. I am approaching retirement and am trying to figure how much income I can muster up. I have been considering a 5 per cent passbook savings account. But a high-rated insurance company has offered me a straight life annuity that will pay what amounts to 9 per cent income on my investment for the rest of my life. Would this be riskier than the bank? — L.B.

A. I am not sure from your letter if you fully understand what an annuity is. Since the company has a good reputation you need not be concerned with risk; monthly income is guaranteed for your lifetime. But unless you have a refund option written into the contract any portion of the principal which might remain after your death reverts to the life insurance company, not to your estate. The insurance company uses not only the income it earns from your money but also dips into your capital to provide monthly payments.

An individual could set up this type of plan for himself but there is the constant threat of outliving the capital. If, for instance, you deposited $100,000 in a 5 per cent savings account and withdrew $9,000 annually, it would take only 17 years to exhaust your capital plus accrued interest. This same capital used to purchase a single premium straight life annuity would guarantee about $9,000 annually, regardless of how many years you lived.

If you are married and have heirs, you would probably prefer some form other than straight life for your annuity. There are many varieties and terms which can be used alone or in combination to provide the best possible plan for your needs.

In one plan the payment escalates with the cost of living index; another guarantees payments for at least 10 years, regardless of the number of years the annuitant lives. In any case, make a very thorough study of the various plans so that you understand what you are buying.



42-YEAR VETERAN — E.A. (Bud) Rengman of San Rafael retired last month as chief labor negotiator for Standard Oil's Western Division, ending a 42-year career with Standard Oil of California. He began as radio dispatcher aboard Standard Oil tankers in 1930. After World War II, he transferred to shore duty as a labor negotiator for Standard Oil. He and his wife Lillian plan to tour the United States.

Good Economy Reports Cause Market Surge

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market surged in early trading today with two bright reports related to the U.S. economy helping induce buying.

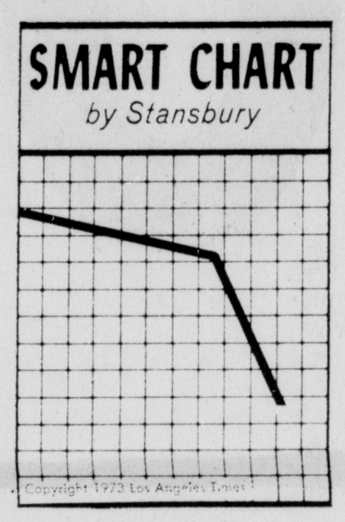
Investors and traders not only were encouraged by the market's recent leveling off from the sharp decline that began last January, but two reports showing a sharp gain in January factory orders and higher corporate capital spending persuaded them to buy.

The Commerce Department said total new orders in January rose 3.5 per cent from December, a rather sizable gain. The Conference Board, a private group, said the country's top manufacturers increased their capital appropriations in the 1972 fourth quarter by 12.3 per cent from the third quarter.

Mattel led the actives, up ⅜ to 8 ¼ on turnover of 90,600 shares.

Prices were broadly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Imperial Oil was the most active issue, off ⅛ to 39 ⅛ on 41,800 shares.

Big Board glamors were mostly higher. Schlumberger added 2 ⅜; Polaroid 2 ⅛.



"Our public relations campaign magnified the old image instead of creating a new one."

Two Marin Men Are Awarded Napa, Solano Auto Franchises

Richard S. Taylor of Mill Valley and James H. Graham of Larkspur have been awarded franchises for Porsche, Audi and Mercedes-Benz sales in Napa and Solano Counties.

The three automobiles will be sold in one dealership for the first time in the west with the opening this week of the R.S. Taylor Corporation in Vallejo, at 1516 Solano Avenue.

Before purchasing Solano Volkswagen a year ago, Taylor was vice president and business manager for Reynold C. Johnson Co. and its subsidiary, Porsche Audi West, distributor for Porsche, Audi and Volkswagen vehicles.

Taylor

Graham

Graham, who will serve as general manager for the new R.S. Taylor dealership, has 20 years of experience in imported cars. He founded Atlas Volkswagen in San Francisco in 1954.

EPICENTER INC., a new corporation which designs advertising and marketing systems, has just been formed in Sausalito with Wayne A. Bonnett of Sausalito as president.

Allen Schwartz of Mill Valley is vice president of marketing and Robert L. Blosser of Mill Valley is vice president of design. All three have more than 10 years of experience in graphic designing and advertising.

Bonnett said his corporation will design programs to package, advertise and market products. "We might develop a new product ourselves and design a package program of advertising and marketing," said Bonnett. The company plans to open its headquarters in downtown Sausalito.

HENRY A. ROSSO and LAWRENCE E. HOYT, both of San Rafael, will be among speakers at the National Society of Fund Raisers convention tomorrow through Friday at the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim.

Rosso, who heads H. A. Ross Associates, will speak on "How To Get Started in Deferred Giving." Hoyt, vice president of Southern Pacific, will discuss "Implication of Future Tax Legislation."

TEN SCHOLARSHIPS worth $300 each are offered by Manpower Inc. to children of Manpower Inc. employees worldwide.

Marcia Pettijohn, manager of the San Rafael office of Manpower Inc., announced that the competition is open to high school seniors whose parent or guardian is a Manpower temporary employee. Application requests must be postmarked no later than March 15. Applicants must be under 21 years of age, with no previous full-time college or university enrollment.

Manpower Inc. is a worldwide employment organization which handles temporary jobs only.

IAN F. MITCHELL of San Rafael has been named as assistant vice president at Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, San Francisco.

Mitchell came to Fireman's Fund from Remington Rand in 1962 as director of services in Los Angeles, was advanced to systems analyst and assigned to the San Francisco home office in 1963. After a series of promotions, he was named in 1971 to his present post as director of corporate planning and development.

JAMES E. GORMAN, who has been an associated at Nipper & Marchant Realtors for five years, passed his state examination for a broker's license. Nipper & Marchant, with headquarters in San Rafael, now has 11 associates with broker ratings.

THREE MARIN executives have been elected to the San Francisco chapter of the Administrative Management Society, which is interested in developing better management.

New members are Claire C. Edelstein of Tiburon, office manager for Wentworth Dahl & Belden investment counselors; Richard H. Leesman of Mill Valley, branch manager of Stivers Lifesaver, Inc. personnel agency; and Walter F. Petroitis of Tiburon, personnel manager for Fromm & Sichel, wholesale distributors of Christian Brothers wine.

DOROTHY H. OCZKUS of Fox & Carskadon Inc. Realtors in San Rafael has been awarded a Graduate, Realtors Institute (GRI) educational certificate, according to William Lewis, president of the Marin County Board of Realtors. Mrs. Oczkus is chairman of the board of realtors education committee.

FRANCIS H. INGALL of Tiburon, television actor and former owner of Butler's Pantry restaurant, hasn't really turned bartender. He sometimes turns up behind the bar at Tiburon Tommie's to help out his friend, Tommie Cox. At the same time, Ingall is getting acquainted with the bar business in case his next restaurant contains a cocktail lounge.

M-D CONDOMINIUM Corp., a new firm to repair, remodel and convert rental apartments to condominium homes, has been formed in San Rafael, with James T. McLaughlin of Ross as president. Attorney for the corporation is Czar S. Winters of San Rafael.

The corporation's first project is to convert a group of multi-family structures in Santa Rosa at the corner of College Avenue and Manhattan Avenue into condominiums.

McLaughlin has been in the business for about five years. His company will operate primarily in Marin and Sonoma Counties.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

At Least Some Birds Survived

Last Jan. 19, more than 100,000 gallons of waste oil was spilled apparently by vandals into the Oakland Estuary. At the time, Department of Fish and Game personnel responded to the task of retrieving and caring for the oily birds.

The United States Coast Guard personnel from the training center at Government Island cooperated with the department crews retrieving the birds quickly, and workers from the International Bird Rescue Research Center aided the department in cleaning and treating the birds. Some 175 dead birds and 282 oil soaked but still living birds are known to have been retrieved from the Oakland Channel and adjacent San Leandro Bay.

NEARLY HALF of those that were still alive when picked up have succumbed; but others have responded well to treatment, and approximately 75 of them have been released into the wild in good condition. Three of the six clapper rails survived, and were released in the Napa Marsh. Coots, ducks and grebes were the principal kinds of birds affected.

TROUT PLANTS are scheduled for Stafford Reservoir near Novato this week. A few weeks ago, a mid-morning weekday survey there showed that 31 anglers were using the lake. A total of 26 trout were caught by 23 of the anglers interviewed in 35 hours of fishing effort. The average catch was .74 trout per angler hour. A fish an hour? That's not bad.

A report from Alice Williams, the Audubon Society bird counter of Stafford Lake, states that the canvasbacks and the Canada geese have nearly all left the lake for their northern nesting sites, but that the great blue herons have a rookery started right there at the lake. Four nests were noted by our reporter.

DESPITE HIGHLY restrictive regulations on hunting, the bear take during the 1972-73 season in California rose sharply, the Department of Fish and Game recently reported.

In its final report on the two-and-one-half-month season ending Jan. 1, the DFG said that hunters took 626 bears — this on the basis of returned tags. Tag returns for the previous season indicated that 559 bears had been taken during 1971-72.

Regulation taking effect last season prohibited the taking of cubs and sows accompanied by cubs, and outlawed bear-baiting and the taking of bears within 400 yards of any posted garbage dump.

The Department of Fish and Game said that the harvest figures, together with the volume of bear nuisance complaints and other information from the field, indicate that the bear population in California is on the increase.

Siskiyou, with a take of 97 bears, led all counties. Trinity County with 89 was second and Shasta County was third, 79. Marin, Napa and Sonoma reported no bears, but Lake County came up with five and Mendocino 19.

A FEW DAYS ago, I received a letter from John Segale, a Marinite who wrote from Hong Kong. He says, "I read in your column of Feb. 6 that a fisherman was cited for using two rods in San Pablo Bay. Where can a person fish with two rods?" The answer is: West of the Golden Gate Bridge in ocean waters. (It sounds like John is coming home!)

Of interest also is a clipping John enclosed from a Hong Kong newspaper. It reads, "If you have experience in foreign land sales we need you to establish a dealer sales office in Hong Kong. You would have exclusive rights to sell our property. The place is Nevada, the Great American West. Ranches of 1¼ acre near the picturesque town of Elko, in the heart of cowboy country. The market is superb. The time is now. The opportunity is yours." Wow! You and I know Elko is deer country — the best!

Seals' Marshall To Rangers In Trade

Combined AP & UPI

NEW YORK — The last original California Golden Seal is gone. The New York Rangers further bolstered their defensive corps yesterday by acquiring Bert Marshall, who was with the original Seals' cast in the 1967-68 season. The Rangers promised the Seals future considerations in return for the big defenseman.

The 29-year-old Marshall, in his eighth season in the National Hockey League, was in his sixth campaign with California and was the team captain. In 55 games this season, the 6-2, 195-pounder had two goals and six assists for eight points. He also accumulated 71 penalty minutes, which is more than any Ranger player has.

The deal, which was completed prior to the National Hockey League midnight trading deadline of Sunday night, was the third made by the Rangers since last Friday. A series of injuries has been hampering their defensive corps for the last two months.

Football

PRINCETON — The New York Giants of the National Football League are considering a temporary move to Princeton next season until the team's permanent home in the Hackensack Meadowlands Sport Complex is completed, it was announced yesterday.

Paul D. Firstenberg, Princeton University financial vice-president, said team officials have informally sought the use of Palmer Stadium for 13 regular season games next season and the year following it. The team has already signed a 30-year lease with the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority for the Meadowlands Stadium.

Golf

NEW YORK — Bud Allin, winner of the Florida Citrus Open last weekend, has climbed 23 places to no. 6 on the weekly Professional Golfers Association money list, it was announced yesterday by the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Allin earned $30,000 for his victory, pushing his earnings for the year to $45,042.

Rounding out the top 10 are John Schlee ($48,017), Rod Funseth ($47,966), Allin, Orville Moody ($42,998), Bob Dickson ($42,538), Grier Jones ($40,047) and Gay Brewer ($39,027).

Basketball

NEW YORK — The Players Association of the National Basketball Association yesterday reached agreement on a three-year contract with the league's Board of Governors, providing for a $20,000 a year minimum salary and amended pension benefits.

The minimum salary requirement, which will take effect next year, is the highest in professional sports.

Under terms of the amended pension plan, full retirement benefits, amounting to $750 a year for each year of service, are now payable beginning at age 50.

The new contract also established a minimum of 11 players on each club's active list and states that each player waived before Dec. 1 must be paid for a whole season.

LOS ANGELES — Dave Benaderet, 38, was named today as the head basketball coach at Loyola University, replacing Dick Baker who stepped down to devote fulltime to the school's athletic director's job.

HONOLULU — Red Rocha, head basketball coach at the University of Hawaii for the past 10 years, yesterday left the post and accepted a job as coordinator of a statewide university athletic commission.

General

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission yesterday waived the broadcasting limit rule to permit American Broadcasting Company and National Broadcasting Company to televise pro basketball, pro hockey and the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball playoffs.

Murcer Tops Predecessors In 1 Category

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Bobby Murcer already has surpassed Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle, his center field predecessors with the New York Yankees—in one category anyway.

Murcer Monday became the youngest Yankee ever to sign a $100,000 contract when he agreed to terms for the 1973 American League season.

Murcer, at 26, easily outdistanced the former Yankee greats to the $100,000 plateau. DiMaggio was 35 when he reached the figure and Mantle was 31.

Last season, Murcer, like Mantle a native of Oklahoma, hit .292 with 33 homers, 96 runs batted in and a league high 102 runs scored. He was named to the AL All-Star team.

The Yankees also signed pitcher Steve Kline, 16-9 last season, to a contract estimated at $40,000, leaving four players — Sparky Lyle, Fritz Peterson, Roy White and Gene Michael—unsigned.

Rusty Staub of the New York Mets also signed a blockbuster contract Monday, agreeing to a three-year pact worth $330,000. Staub, who met with Mets' General Manager Bob Scheffing for five days, was leading the Mets in hitting when he suffered a broken bone in his hand on June 3. He appeared in only 66 games, missing from June 18 to Sept. 18.

Elsewhere, Bill Stein, a pinch- hitting whiz for the St. Louis Cardinals late last season, continued his torrid hitting with four straight hits in an intra-squad game. . . Bill Buckner boosted his hit production to six in seven at-bats Monday with a double and two singles in a Los Angeles Dodger intrasquad game. The Dodgers lost short-stop Bill Russell for a few days with sun poisoning ... Montreal announced the signing of pitcher Bill Stoneman, who pitched his second career nohitter last season, leaving only Mike Marshall and Jim Fairey unsigned.

National League Cy Young winner Steve Carlton returned to training with the Philadelphia Phils after a three-day absence. Carlton suffered a seizure of acute bronchitis ... John Mayberry became the first Kanas City Royal ever to sign a two-year contract when the 23-year-old first baseman agreed to terms ... Johnny Briggs and Ellie Rodriguez signed with the Milwaukee Brewers, leaving only Brock Davis unsigned and Horacio Pina and Manny Trillo joined Oakland A's' workouts.

Mike Ivie, a No. 1 draft choice a few years back who walked out of the San Diego camp a year ago, is the Padres' hitting sensation this spring. Ivie, a 6-4, 220-pounder, left last season, claiming he did not want to catch in the majors.

The Chicago White Sox reported no progress with their six holdouts but did trade rookie infielder Jim Redmon to Nitaku of the Japanese League ... Bert Blyleven, 17-17 last season, signed with Minnesota but the Twins still did not have signed contracts from Harmon Killebrew, Rod Carew or Jim Kaat.

Belander, who finished fifth in league scoring with an 18.9 average, was joined on the second team by Mike Harski from Chico, Mike Stanbra from San Francisco State, Stan Cherry from Hayward and Manny Cranford from Davis.

Getting honorable mention recognition with Schandelmier were Vance Devost from San Francisco, Don Krueger and Larry Haren from Sacramento, Carl Massey from Humboldt State College and Mark Olson from Davis.

Basketball Results

Harvey Wallbanger defeated Ghilotti Brothers 57-42, Tetons West trimmed First American Title 61-56, and Lisa's Gang won on forfeit from McGillicuddy Construction in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball league action last night.

COACH SAYS

Tar Golf Team Ready To Jell

B-O-O-M!

"We're about ready to explode. We're about ready to jell," says College of Marin golf coach Ed Grimm.

His team is 1-1 in Camino Norte Conference play and 2-2 overall, but it appears that the record is deceiving. The veteran Tar squad, which finished second last year with an 8-4 mark, has been playing under trying weather conditions.

"The rain has held us back a bit," Grimm continues, "but we are about due to get rolling — maybe this week." The Tars visited Alameda Junior College today at 1 p.m.

Despite the wetness woes, Grimm voices confidence his team is coming around. "We've been practicing diligently, and it should begin to pay off."

Army veteran Jim Fitzpatrick leads a seasoned team determined to unseat defending chmapion West Valley of Campbell. "We've lost to them once already, but with such a balanced league and with the talent we have, we should be right in there," the coach asserts.

ED GRIMM

Apparently, Grimm feels he has sufficient quality to challenge. Fitzpatrick and Churchfield typify the Tar golfers' "up and coming" image that Grimm was referring to. "Fitzpatrick is progressing well, and Churchfield is coming right along," the coach adds.

As the players mold into an extremely formidable contingent, Grimm is pointing them towards two major tourneys — the CNC meet and the Northern California championships. On May 7, the CNC will hold its conference tourney in Santa Rosa at Sonoma Country Club to determine representatives to the Northern California Junior College Golf Tournament May 14 in Carmel Valley.

Two USF Cagers Are Selected

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Backcourt ace Louie Nelson of the University of Washington is going all out in his drive for the Pac-8 scoring title.

He closed out his home career Monday night by popping 11-of-16 from the field and all 13 free throws for 35 points in leading the Huskies to the 83-75 win over Oregon.

In another Pac-8 battle, Washington State napped an 11-game losing streak by dominating the boards to take the 67-64 squeaker over Oregon State.

In news off the courts, the champion University of San Francisco Dons landed guard Phil Smith and forward Kevin Restani on the 1973 All West Coast athletic conference team. Rounding out the all-star quintet were William Averitt of Pepperdine, Mike Stewart of Santa Clara and Jim Baker of Nevada, Las Vegas.

The second team included Steve Smith of Loyola, Bob Florence of Nevada-Las Vegas, Greg Williams of Seattle and two freshmen, Pete Padgett of Nevada-Reno and Frank Oleynick of Seattle.

Mrs. Clemente Files Suit: $5 Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — Vera Zaballa Clemente, wife of the late Pittsburgh Pirates' star Roberto Clemente, is asking for $5 million in damages from the manufacturer of the airplane in which her husband was killed and the manufacturer of the plane's engines.

Mrs. Clemente filed suit on behalf of herself and her three children in Manhattan Federal Court Monday against the McDonnell-Douglas Cor of St. Louis Mo., manufacturers of the plane, and Curtiss-Wright Corp of New Jersey, the makers of the engine.

The 38-year-old Clemente was killed on New Year's Eve when the private plane he was in crashed into the Atlantic Ocean shortly after takeoff from San Juan Airport. The plane was attempting to return to San Juan to make an emergency landing when it went down. Clemente was returning from a relief mission to victims of the Nicaraguan earthquake. His body was never recovered.

The suit alleges that Curtiss-Wright was negligent in the design, manufacture, servicing and inspection of its TC-18 engine. Douglas aircraft was accused of wrongfully representing that the airplane and all of its parts were free of defects.

Stuart Speiser, lawyer for Mrs. Clemente, said that the two inboard engines of the turbo-prop plane were recovered from the ocean floor and found to be defective.

A wrongful death claim was also filed against the Federal Aviation Administration which, if rejected, could make the agency a defendant in the case in six months.

Speier's Rise In Giants' Organization

CASA GRANDE — There wasn't anything pushy or arrogant in the way Chris Speier took charge of the San Francisco Giants' infield defense when he reported for spring training. He merely was doing what comes naturally to him, once again assuming the leadership role he won in just two major league seasons.

Speier is a natural leader with a mature confidence far beyond his years. It's difficult to believe he is just 22 and has been in pro ball only three years. He broke in in Class AA at Amarillo in 1970 and the following year became the shortstop whiz of the Giants at age 20.

Last season Speier was the Giants' most outstanding player. He was consistent with glove and bat from start to finish of a campaign that was deeply disappointing to the Candlestick Kids because first Willie McCovey was put out of action and then Juan Marichal and Sam McDowell bumped into pitching miseries.

"WITH MCCOVEY, Marichal and McDowell coming back to form this season, we'll be tough to stop," said Speier, not in a hopeful manner but with a determination that seemed to say that the three M's already were well along the comeback road even though this was just the second week of 1973 spring training.

Comeback of the three M's, coupled with consistency at third base and left field, will reestablish the winning ways of the Giants, according to Speier.

"WE'LL GET OFF to a good start if we can get a consistent playing unit early," said Speier. "We kept inserting and bringing in new players throughout the season last year."

Speier was the lone representative of the Giants in the All Star Game at Atlanta last season. He led all Giants in batting at .269 and tied for second best with nine game-winning hits.

He drew 82 walks, sixth highest total in the National League, hit 15 homers, most by any shortstop in the league, and was second to Philadelphia's Larry Bowa in official fielding averages. He also struck out 92 times.

"I'd like to cut my strikeouts in half this season," said Speier.

DURING THE WINTER Speier married the former Aleta Pagnini of Medford, Ore. The bride and groom have made their home in San Mateo. They also are making future plans for ranch style living east of Medford where Speier bought 20 acres at $500 an acre.

"For the time being," said Speier, "we're just going to hold onto the acreage. Actually, it's a sound investment because the price has gone up to $1,000 an acre since we bought it."

When someone remarked to Speier that marriage gave him a serene and happy look, he didn't stammer or display any embarrassment.

"Yes," he said, "that's what it's all about, isn't it?"

A most remarkable young man.

San Rafael Nine Wins Opener

Lance Loughlin provided most of the muscle yesterday when San Rafael High School's baseball team opened its 1973 season with an 11-8 victory over Galileo High at San Francisco's Funston Field.

Loughlin bashed a double, two singles and totaled seven runs batted in for the Bulldogs who colected 14 hits in a slugfest which saw 23 total hits.

Audubon Society Sets Rides, Walks

Several nature walks and rides in Marin County have been scheduled this month by the Marin Audubon Society.

Thomas Harris will lead a nature walk along Bourne trail at 9:30 a.m., March 18 from Audubon Canyon Ranch. Malcolm Smith will lead a hike to study Mount Tamalpais plants at 9:30 a.m., March 25, starting on the Mountain Home parking lot on Panoramic Highway to tour the Matt Davis Trail.

The Terra Linda ridges will be studied at 9:30 a.m., March 31 starting at the end of Del Ganado Road with Jean Starkweather and Wilma Follette leaders.

Elizabeth Terwilliger will lead a canoe trip at 10 a.m. March 12 on the Petaluma River, starting at Black Point. There is a fee for this trip. Novato's new bicycle trail will be explored at 10 a.m. March 19, starting at Novato Boulevard and San Marin Drive.

People who cannot walk but want to explore nature can go on an auto caravan starting at 10 a.m. at Safeway in Mill Valley March 26 to Samuel Taylor and Tomales Bay state parks. The caravan will go first to Cala market in Fairfax to pick up more travelers.

Strikers Backed By Club Panel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Sierra Club Executive Committee has come out in support of striking Shell Oil Company workers.

The club had the responsibility of proving to union members that it is not more interested in coyotes and lions than people, said club spokesman Dwight Steele.

The resolution Saturday came after company officials asked the club to remain neutral.

Part of the resolution pledged to back the workers in "efforts to obtain working conditions which are environmentally safe."

About 4,000 workers have been on strike at Shell refinery locations since Jan. 24 over health and safety conditions.

Two Arrested In Hotel Fires

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Firemen extinguished three separate fires in a vacant Fillmore St. hotel Sunday and made two arrests.

Two unidentified men, both about 50 years old were held as suspects when firemen extinguished the fires in the now-vacant Manor Plaza Hotel.

Bay Area Forum For Citizens Set

A new attempt to involve citizens in regional problems will be launched Saturday with formation of a Regional Citizens Forum.

The meeting will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the War Memorial Auditorium in San Francisco's Civic Center.

Citizens will consider how the forum should work and who will run it. Any resident of the nine-county Bay Area can be a voting member. There will be no dues or fees, according to the sponsor of the forum, the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Formation of the forum was proposed by a group of citizens who have been working on the idea under ABAG for the past nine months. The group proposed that the forum will take positions on regional problems and watchdog regional agencies.

Twenty coordinating committee members will be elected, according to the citizens group that designed the forum. It also proposed that 10 other committee members be selected to balance membership by geography, ethnic background, income, interests and sex.

Free beverages will be served.

Equal Ex-Convict Treatment Asked

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Just as there are laws prohibiting discrimination based on sex, race and religion, so should there be a law forbidding discrimination against ex-convicts, according to Assemblyman Walter Karabian.

"Under our system the man's forced to continue paying back society and being treated as a second class citizen after he has served his time," the Monterey Park Democrat said during the weekend.

Annuity Explained For Income Seeker

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am approaching retirement and am trying to figure how much income I can muster up. I have been considering a 5 per cent passbook savings account. But a high-rated insurance company has offered me a straight life annuity that will pay what amounts to 9 per cent income on my investment for the rest of my life. Would this be riskier than the bank? — L.B.

A. I am not sure from your letter if you fully understand what an annuity is. Since the company has a good reputation you need not be concerned with risk; monthly income is guaranteed for your lifetime. But unless you have a refund option written into the contract any portion of the principal which might remain after your death reverts to the life insurance company, not to your estate. The insurance company uses not only the income it earns from your money but also dips into your capital to provide monthly payments.

An individual could set up this type of plan for himself but there is the constant threat of outliving the capital. If, for instance, you deposited $100,000 in a 5 per cent savings account and withdrew $9,000 annually, it would take only 17 years to exhaust your capital plus accrued interest. This same capital used to purchase a single premium straight life annuity would guarantee about $9,000 annually, regardless of how many years you lived.

If you are married and have heirs, you would probably prefer some form other than straight life for your annuity. There are many varieties and terms which can be used alone or in combination to provide the best possible plan for your needs.

In one plan the payment escalates with the cost of living index; another guarantees payments for at least 10 years, regardless of the number of years the annuitant lives. In any case, make a very thorough study of the various plans so that you understand what you are buying.

42-YEAR VETERAN — E.A. (Bud) Rengman of San Rafael retired last month as chief labor negotiator for Standard Oil's Western Division, ending a 42-year career with Standard Oil of California. He began as radio dispatcher aboard Standard Oil tankers in 1930. After World War II, he transferred to shore duty as a labor negotiator for Standard Oil. He and his wife Lillian plan to tour the United States.

TESTING IN A QUIET CHAMBER

A technician prepares for an environmental test at Europe's most advanced noise cell, used by Perkins Engines Group in developing quieter engines, at Peterborough, England. Insulated with more than 6,000 wedges of polyurethane foam to eliminate echoes, the chamber is so sound absorbent that a rifle fired in the chamber makes only a muffled "pop." (UPI Telephoto)

Good Economy Reports Cause Market Surge

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market surged in early trading today with two bright reports related to the U.S. economy helping induce buying.

Investors and traders not only were encouraged by the market's recent leveling off from the sharp decline that began last January, but two reports showing a sharp gain in January factory orders and higher corporate capital spending persuaded them to buy.

The Commerce Department said total new orders in January rose 3.5 per cent from December, a rather sizable gain. The Conference Board, a private group, said the country's top manufacturers increased their capital appropriations in the 1972 fourth quarter by 12.3 per cent from the third quarter.

Mattel led the actives, up ⅜ to 8 ¼ on turnover of 90,600 shares.

Prices were broadly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Imperial Oil was the most active issue, off ⅛ to 39 ⅛ on 41,800 shares.

Big Board glamors were mostly higher. Schlumberger added 2 ⅜; Polaroid 2 ⅛.

Two Marin Men Are Awarded Napa, Solano Auto Franchises

Richard S. Taylor of Mill Valley and James H. Graham of Larkspur have been awarded franchises for Porsche, Audi and Mercedes-Benz sales in Napa and Solano Counties.

The three automobiles will be sold in one dealership for the first time in the west with the opening this week of the R.S. Taylor Corporation in Vallejo, at 1516 Solano Avenue.

Before purchasing Solano Volkswagen a year ago, Taylor was vice president and business manager for Reynold C. Johnson Co. and its subsidiary, Porsche Audi West, distributor for Porsche, Audi and Volkswagen vehicles.

Taylor

Graham

Graham, who will serve as general manager for the new R.S. Taylor dealership, has 20 years of experience in imported cars. He founded Atlas Volkswagen in San Francisco in 1954.

EPICENTER INC., a new corporation which designs advertising and marketing systems, has just been formed in Sausalito with Wayne A. Bonnett of Sausalito as president.

Allen Schwartz of Mill Valley is vice president of marketing and Robert L. Blosser of Mill Valley is vice president of design. All three have more than 10 years of experience in graphic designing and advertising.

Bonnett said his corporation will design programs to package, advertise and market products. "We might develop a new product ourselves and design a package program of advertising and marketing," said Bonnett. The company plans to open its headquarters in downtown Sausalito.

HENRY A. ROSSO and LAWRENCE E. HOYT, both of San Rafael, will be among speakers at the National Society of Fund Raisers convention tomorrow through Friday at the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim.

Rosso, who heads H. A. Ross Associates, will speak on "How To Get Started in Deferred Giving." Hoyt, vice president of Southern Pacific, will discuss "Implication of Future Tax Legislation."

TEN SCHOLARSHIPS worth $300 each are offered by Manpower Inc. to children of Manpower Inc. employees worldwide.

Marcia Pettijohn, manager of the San Rafael office of Manpower Inc., announced that the competition is open to high school seniors whose parent or guardian is a Manpower temporary employee. Application requests must be postmarked no later than March 15. Applicants must be under 21 years of age, with no previous full-time college or university enrollment.

Manpower Inc. is a worldwide employment organization which handles temporary jobs only.

IAN F. MITCHELL of San Rafael has been named as assistant vice president at Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, San Francisco.

Mitchell came to Fireman's Fund from Remington Rand in 1962 as director of services in Los Angeles, was advanced to systems analyst and assigned to the San Francisco home office in 1963. After a series of promotions, he was named in 1971 to his present post as director of corporate planning and development.

JAMES E. GORMAN, who has been an associated at Nipper & Marchant Realtors for five years, passed his state examination for a broker's license. Nipper & Marchant, with headquarters in San Rafael, now has 11 associates with broker ratings.

THREE MARIN executives have been elected to the San Francisco chapter of the Administrative Management Society, which is interested in developing better management.

New members are Claire C. Edelstein of Tiburon, office manager for Wentworth Dahl & Belden investment counselors; Richard H. Leesman of Mill Valley, branch manager of Stivers Lifesaver, Inc. personnel agency; and Walter F. Petroitis of Tiburon, personnel manager for Fromm & Sichel, wholesale distributors of Christian Brothers wine.

DOROTHY H. OCZKUS of Fox & Carskadon Inc. Realtors in San Rafael has been awarded a Graduate, Realtors Institute (GRI) educational certificate, according to William Lewis, president of the Marin County Board of Realtors. Mrs. Oczkus is chairman of the board of realtors education committee.

FRANCIS H. INGALL of Tiburon, television actor and former owner of Butler's Pantry restaurant, hasn't really turned bartender. He sometimes turns up behind the bar at Tiburon Tommie's to help out his friend, Tommie Cox. At the same time, Ingall is getting acquainted with the bar business in case his next restaurant contains a cocktail lounge.

M-D CONDOMINIUM Corp., a new firm to repair, remodel and convert rental apartments to condominium homes, has been formed in San Rafael, with James T. McLaughlin of Ross as president. Attorney for the corporation is Czar S. Winters of San Rafael.

The corporation's first project is to convert a group of multi-family structures in Santa Rosa at the corner of College Avenue and Manhattan Avenue into condominiums.

McLaughlin has been in the business for about five years. His company will operate primarily in Marin and Sonoma Counties.

Outlook Good

ALEXANDRIA, La. (UPI) — Louisiana is expected to gain $3 billion in new industrial development over the next three years, according to state business sources.

MAIN SPEAKER — Dr. James L. Bennington of Belvedere will give the opening address at the American Cancer Society's National Conference on urologic cancer March 29 in Washington D.C. He heads the department of clinical and anatomical pathology at Children's Hospital of San Francisco.

Bay Area Forum For Citizens Set

A new attempt to involve citizens in regional problems will be launched Saturday with formation of a Regional Citizens Forum.

The meeting will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the War Memorial Auditorium in San Francisco's Civic Center.

Citizens will consider how the forum should work and who will run it. Any resident of the nine-county Bay Area can be a voting member. There will be no dues or fees, according to the sponsor of the forum, the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Formation of the forum was proposed by a group of citizens who have been working on the idea under ABAG for the past nine months. The group proposed that the forum will take positions on regional problems and watchdog regional agencies.

Twenty coordinating committee members will be elected, according to the citizens group that designed the forum. It also proposed that 10 other committee members be selected to balance membership by geography, ethnic background, income, interests and sex.

Free beverages will be served.

Equal Ex-Convict Treatment Asked

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Just as there are laws prohibiting discrimination based on sex, race and religion, so should there be a law forbidding discrimination against ex-convicts, according to Assemblyman Walter Karabian.

"Under our system the man's forced to continue paying back society and being treated as a second class citizen after he has served his time," the Monterey Park Democrat said during the weekend.

Audubon Society Sets Rides, Walks

Several nature walks and rides in Marin County have been scheduled this month by the Marin Audubon Society.

Thomas Harris will lead a nature walk along Bourne trail at 9:30 a.m., March 18 from Audubon Canyon Ranch. Malcolm Smith will lead a hike to study Mount Tamalpais plants at 9:30 a.m., March 25, starting on the Mountain Home parking lot on Panoramic Highway to tour the Matt Davis Trail.

The Terra Linda ridges will be studied at 9:30 a.m., March 31 starting at the end of Del Ganado Road with Jean Starkweather and Wilma Follette leaders.

Elizabeth Terwilliger will lead a canoe trip at 10 a.m. March 12 on the Petaluma River, starting at Black Point. There is a fee for this trip. Novato's new bicycle trail will be explored at 10 a.m. March 19, starting at Novato Boulevard and San Marin Drive.

People who cannot walk but want to explore nature can go on an auto caravan starting at 10 a.m. at Safeway in Mill Valley March 26 to Samuel Taylor and Tomales Bay state parks. The caravan will go first to Cala market in Fairfax to pick up more travelers.

String Designs

Strikers Backed By Club Panel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Sierra Club Executive Committee has come out in support of striking Shell Oil Company workers.

The club had the responsibility of proving to union members that it is not more interested in coyotes and lions than people, said club spokesman Dwight Steele.

The resolution Saturday came after company officials asked the club to remain neutral.

Part of the resolution pledged to back the workers in "efforts to obtain working conditions which are environmentally safe."

About 4,000 workers have been on strike at Shell refinery locations since Jan. 24 over health and safety conditions.

Two Arrested In Hotel Fires

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Firemen extinguished three separate fires in a vacant Fillmore St. hotel Sunday and made two arrests.

Two unidentified men, both about 50 years old were held as suspects when firemen extinguished the fires in the now-vacant Manor Plaza Hotel.

PARENTS PROTEST — June Weden of San Anselmo spoke calmly through a microphone to hundreds of students and parents and the Tamalpais High School District Board as she detailed parents' worries about innovative courses at Drake High School.

Education Goals At Drake Under Attack

Exam Leads To General Discussion

By PATRICIA PERRY

Whether an English exam given at Sir Francis Drake High School last month was pornographic became a secondary issue last night at the mass turnout of parents and students it inspired.

The examination served at the meeting of the Tamalpais High School District board largely as a focal point for some parents' larger discontent with Drake's educational program as a whole. (Another Tamalpais district study, page 15.)

The school is "experimenting too much with students," said one parent.

It's impossible for a student to take a structured academic course at the school, charged other parents.

Students who get "A" grades in history fail college entrance exams in history, said one.

Students countered parents' criticism by saying that the purpose of an education isn't to take tests. Craig Griffeath, student representative on the district board, said education "must continually indicate constant change to meet the needs of a changing world."

Hundreds of Drake parents and students crammed the board's meeting, which had to be moved to the larger student center from the faculty lounge to accommodate the crowd.

But after hours of verbal battle, with students and the board and some residents vigorously supporting the education program at Drake, nothing was resolved. The only action taken by the board was to invite parents to attend a meeting at Drake on March 14 at 8 p.m., when the faculty will explain programs.

To shouts of "yeah" and applause from fellow Drake students, Edward V. Neumeier told the protesting parents:

"We've got brains and feelings, we're old enough to have a say. You people are talking about education 20 or 30 years ago. We're completely different from the way a lot of you have been brought up."

The original cause of the controversy was a teen-ager's letter which described sexual activity at a party and formed the basis of a test given to a freshman English class.

Ann M. Hughes of San Anselmo told the board the test was "evil in itself" and said "immorality, chaos and low academic standards were perpetuated in the classrooms. . . The school experiments too much with our children."

June Weden of San Anselmo represented a group of Drake parents, said to have been concerned with education at the school since last May, particularly with improper labeling of courses. They wonder, she said, why "Catcher in the Rye" is required reading in world history, and why a girl who gets "A" in English can't spell or use the English language properly.

Mrs. Weden said this fall no structured courses were available at all, and students weren't allowed to bring textbooks or graded papers home.

She quoted a senior who told her "they don't really teach history at Drake" and said that

Changes In Hahn Project Proposed

Corte Madera's planning consultant last night proposed major changes in the Hahn Project, changes that went a long way toward meeting a key citizens committee's objection to the proposed huge regional shopping center. (Another Corte Madera Town Council story, page 15.)

The changes suggested by Thomas Cooke seemed to have little effect, however, on the division of opinion in the town at large, even though the changes seemed a retreat from his previously favorable report on the environmental impact of the vast center as planned by developer Ernest W. Hahn.

After two hours of pro and con discussion before a capacity crowd, the town council set another hearing on short term master plan changes recommended by Cooke for 7:30 p.m. March 14.

Changes in the master plan must be adopted before the redevelopment plan, essential to the proposed development, can be adopted. Hearing on that plan is set for March 19.

The citizens committee working on revision of the master plan to pave the way for redevelopment had taken the stand that it would not accept these aspects of the original proposal by Cooke: high density housing in the redevelopment area, a rapid transit route on the railway right-of-way and extension of San Clemente Drive. The committee also wanted more generous provision of open space.

After reviewing his environmental impact report and comments from the committee, Cooke came up with five key variations.

First, he said, Hahn's multi-million dollar Marin Mall should cross the tracks onto the filled portion of bayfront property owned by Domenic Muzzi, rather than be restricted to the adjacent 75-acre Heerdt marsh.

The squarer 68-acre configuration not only would save ponding areas at the north end of the proposed center, but would also "improve the design of the shopping center by eliminating the excessive mall length and creating a better siting and design relationship to surrounding areas and facilities," Cooke said.

Hahn has stated that the configuration is not feasible, but Cooke said last night Hahn's architects think the center can be fitted by building a two-story parking garage on the Muzzi portion. Hahn, who was not present, said at a previous meeting he opposed such a structure.

Second, Cooke recommended study with the Golden Gate Bridge District of moving the rapid transit route to the median of Highway 101.

Third, the consultant suggested all of the marsh not used for the center be procured through purchase or dedication as open space.

Fourth, he recommended cutting out the proposed housing area "to maximize retention for recreation and natural habitat purposes."

And fifth, he suggested a loop road around the center be proposed instead of a road along the railroad line.

Cooke said his plan would confine the shopping center to already filled land while leaving existing unspoiled marsh and open space.

His recommendation drew the qualified support of the Corte Madera General Plan Committee. Chairman Joel Shawn backed the idea only if all the proposed open space were included as "a benefit to the community and not only Mr. Hahn."

Other speakers just did not want a shopping center in any form. "No matter how much your taxes are reduced, there is nothing in this world that is going to pay for the increased pollution, traffic and all the other things that go with a shopping center of this size,"

Prisoners To Fly Home Tomorrow

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — Eighty American prisoners of war will fly to the United States Wednesday for reunions with their families at four separate military bases around the country, military spokesmen announced today.

The men, who returned from Communist prison camps Sunday and Monday, will fly in 20-man groups aboard four C141 Starlifter hospital planes at two hour intervals.

Spokesman said the first plane will leave at 8 a.m. Wednesday (7 p.m. EST Tuesday) for Andrews Air Base, Washington and arrive at 5:15 p.m. EST time Wednesday.

The arrival times and destinations of the other planes were 5:10 p.m. EST at Scott AFB, Ill.; 6:30 p.m. EST at Kelly AFB, Tex., and 5:30 p.m. EST at Travis AFB, Calif.

The names of those aboard the planes will be announced later, a spokesman said.

All of the early returnees were expected to be from the group of 106 military flyers who returned Sunday from Hanoi in what base doctors described as "very, very good condition." The 30 Americans who returned Monday from Viet Cong camps

Rogers Reports Harbor Is Open

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today Haiphong harbor, closed for 10 months by U.S. mining, has been reopened and some ships were going through to North Vietnam.

Rogers told the House Foreign Affairs Committee: "We received the report this morning that some ships are going through. I think the harbor is open."

U.S. minesweeping operations to clear the harbor resumed last weekend after the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong released another group of U.S. prisoners of war.

Sudanese Quiet On Terrorists

KHARTOUM (UPI) — Authorities did not react publicly today to a strong U.S. suggestion that Sudan convict and execute eight Black September guerrillas who murdered three diplomats, two of them American, during a 60-hour weekend siege at the Saudi Arabian embassy.

But President Jaafar Numeiry expressed "revulsion" at the deaths of the diplomats in a message to President Nixon and a government spokesman promised an early trial of the eight men on murder charges.

"They will be executed," one official told U.S. diplomats Monday at a tearful farewell to the widows and children of Ambassador Cleo A. Noel Jr. and George C. Moore, the outgoing chief U.S. envoy in Khartoum.

However, Information Minister Omar Haj Moussa issued a statement today, according to the Middle East News Agency, denying he had told reporters the guerrillas "will not escape punishment." Moussa said it would not be logical to talk about punishment since the government's investigation has just started and the matter is in

Albert Blasts Nixon: Congress 'No Monkey'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic leadership of the House united today in endorsing legislation to crack down on President Nixon's impounding of funds voted by Congress.

In the continuing battle over federal spending, Speaker Carl Albert accused Nixon at a news conference of trying to "make a monkey out of the legislative process."

The Republicans' top congressional leaders said at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue after meeting with the President that if Nixon was forced to spend the impounded funds, Americans would face a 15 per cent tax increase.

Albert, joined by other Democratic leaders, announced introduction of a bill that would give Congress 60 days to veto any presidential impoundment of funds. The measure differed from an impoundment bill introduced earlier by Senate Democrats.

The House measure, drafted by Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, would require the President to report to Congress within 10 days any funds he has impounded, or refused to spend. Both the House and Senate would then have to vote within 60 days of that time to veto the action.

Albert noted that Congress last year rejected Nixon's request to hold current federal spending to a $250 billion level. Despite defeat of his proposal, Nixon said he would impound funds to meet that spending limitation.

"He is trying to make a monkey out of the legislative process," said Albert. "It is an unwarranted invasion of the legislative process. Congress cannot sit quietly by and let it happen."

At the White House, Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said after their weekly meeting with Nixon that the Democrats were trying to force the President to spend $14 billion which is not needed.

Scott commented: "Asking Democrats to hold down spending is like asking an alcoholic to be your bartender. If the Democrats want to crusade for a 15 per cent tax increase which would be the result of $14 billion expenditure, then they can have that side of the issue."

The administration reported to Congress last month that it had impounded $8.7 billion appropriated last year for programs affecting housing, agriculture, education, defense, pollution and hospital and highway construction.

San Rafael Council Approves Aid For Two Evicted Families

Two families evicted by their landlord so that San Rafael can acquire a parcel across from city hall were awarded municipal relocation aid last night by the city council.

The Bertha Floyd family of 1317 Fifth Avenue will receive $500 in moving expenses and $500 in rental assistance, reported City Atty. Fred C. Robbins, the city's negotiator in the matter. The Floyd family plans to move out by March 15, he said.

The Goerge V. Kearnes family of 1313 Fifth Avenue will remain in their home for two years as tenants of the city for $50 per month, and then receive $500 in moving expenses, Robbins said. The family now pays a rent of $112 per month.

The city as landlord also will do some pruning work ad make sure the house is up to code, he added.

When the city's contract for purchase of the land was first announced, it was thought the families to be evicted were ineligible for relocation aid from the city because the contract called for purchase of uninhabited land and left eviction to the seller. City Attorney Robbins reversed that opinion, however, after reviewing the state Uniform Relocation Act.

The act provides for payment of up to $500 in moving expenses and $4,000 over four years in rental assistance for families forced to relocate because of municipal acquisitions.

The city plans to convert the 21,700-square-foot parcel at Fifth Avenue and D Street into a parking lot and perhaps eventually use the site for a new public safety facility. Construction of the lot will require demolition of the Floyd residence only, with the Kearnes' home being torn down only if safety facilities should be located there.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

No 'Young' Rocks

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Geologists' hopes that the Apollo 17 astronauts brought back the youngest rocks from the moon have been dashed by a leading scientists who reported that some samples are among the oldest seen.

Dr. Gerald J. Wasserburg of the California Institute of Technology said a typical sample of the lava that flooded the valley the astronauts explored last month turned out by radioactive dating methods to have cooled 3.77 billion years ago.

This indicated, Wasserburg said yesterday, that the major volcanic activity in the moon ended 3.15 billion years ago. Before December's flight of Apollo 17, geologists expected astronauts Harrison H. Schmitt and Eugene A. Cernan would return with samples younger than three billion years and maybe only 500 million years old.

Avalanche Fatal

OMIESBACH, Germany (UPI) — An avalanche swept over a mountainside cabin early today and buried a party of skiers who could not hear it coming. They were deaf.

Police in this Bavarian Alpine community said at least four persons, including a 2-year-old child were killed in the predawn snowslide and three others were "seriously injured." Two more were missing.

The eight deaf people in the cabin, one of whom dug his way free and alerted rescue workers, were taking part in a special skiing course for individuals who cannot hear, police said.

Tour New Home

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Nixon and her daughter Julie Nixon Eisenhower took advantage of mild weather yesterday to visit the $100,000 country club estate that Julie and her husband David Eisenhower will begin renting next month.

Mrs. Nixon promised to help Julie Plant a vegetable garden on the spacious grounds that include a patio and swimming pool. They also discussed interior decorating plans.

The Eisenhowers will be renting the two-bedroom house from President Nixon's close friend C.B. (Bebe) Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla.

Blow To Ellsberg

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The judge in the Pentagon Papers trial dealt the defense a serious setback yesterday, ruling out attempts to show the papers were taken to provide accurate information about the Vietnam war to a Congress deceived by the President.

"There was no other way other than the one the defendants chose to get this information to the Congress," argued a lawyer for Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne ruled against them, sayin the "defense of justification" has not been allowed since well before the turn of the century, and has only been accepted in cases involving otherwise illegal actions taken to avoid death or serious personal injury.

Pope Fills Post

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI announced two new cardinals to Roman Catholic Curia posts today, extending his shakeup of the Vatican "cabinet."

Today's appointments were French Cardinal Paul Philippe as prefect of the Congregation of the Oriental Church and Italian Cardinal Sergio Pignedoli as president of the Secratariat for Non-Believers.

Security Tight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, under tight security throughout the day, discussed problems of Soviet Jewry with Mayor John V. Lindsay yesterday and told a cheering crowd of Jewish supporters that their donations in aid of Israel were indispensable.

With security agents poking into television news cameras before the start of filmed interviews, Mrs. Meir held meetings in her Waldorf Towers suite with Lindsay and Rep. Ogden Reid, D-N.Y.

Mrs. Meir was scheduled today to receive an honorary doctor of laws at Brandeis University in Boston.

Exodus Continues

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sources with access to government statistics said yesterday the exodus of Soviet Jews to Israel continues despite a controversial head tax on emigrants with university educations.

The sources said that since the tax was enacted Aug. 3, slightly more than 20,000 Jews have left the country, about 1,800 of them university-trained.

Cockroaches Are Conditioned

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — It's been hard to find a smart cockroach since Don Marquis' "Archie" gave up his literary career, but scientists at Oregon State University are trying to produce one.

Dr. W. P. Stephens said a behaviorial research program is teaching cockroaches despite their lack of brains—by conditioning their behavior through electric shocks.

He didn't explain what a conditioned cockroach will be good for.

Air Crash Blamed On Controllers

PARIS (UPI) — A French pilot today blamed military traffic controllers for the collision of two Spanish airliners in which one plane crashed, killing 68 persons. Most European airliners banned flights over France until civilian air controllers end their strike and return to work.

The French Air Force, whose men are filling in for striking civilian air controllers, blamed the crash on the pilot of the plane which survived the collision and said he turned directly into the path of an Iberian airliner which fell in flames, killing all aboard.

The British Airline Pilots Association said fliers had reported several near misses in the air since the air controllers struck 16 days ago.

Among the airlines canceling flights across French air space were Iberia Airlines, owner of the crashed plane, and Spantax, whose aircraft escaped; British European Airlines, British Caledonia, KLM, Air France, El Al and Scandinavian Airlines System. Swiss Air temporarily canceled flights over France, but said today they would be resumed after assurances were given by the French government.

The two major U.S. airlines flying over France, Pan American and Trans World Airlines, said they would continue to fly over French air space.

The collision between the Iberia Airlines DC9 and a Convair 990 "Coronado" of Spantax company occurred over western France. All aboard the Convair survived.

Yves Marchais, a representative of the French National Pilots Union, said: "The Coronado pilot was told to slow down too late. The military are forced to play a game they cannot win."

But Transport Minister Robert Galley said today, "We have not found anything indicating an error by the military control."

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Claude Grigaut said the Coronado pilot "for unknown reasons and without being authorized, made a 360 degree turn which brought the plane into the...airway used by the DC9."

Beef Prices Bring Rustling Increase

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — The soaring price of beef has been accompanied by increasing rustling of cattle on the open range, Nevada's agriculture director said Monday.

Thomas Ballow told a State Senate Committee that 2,000 head of cattle worth an estimated $600,000 were stolen in Nevada last year—up from about $200,000 worth rustled in prior years.

Famed Novelist Pearl Buck Dies

PEARL S. BUCK
Novelist dies at 80

DANBY, Vt. (UPI) — Novelist Pearl S. Buck, whose portrayals of Chinese peasant life won her Pulitzer and Nobel prizes, died at her home here today. She was 80.

Mrs. Buck, daughter of Presbyterian missionaries who worked in China, was hospitalized several times last summer and on Sept. 29 underwent surgery for removal of her gall bladder.

"She passed away quietly," said her personal secretary, Miss Beverly Drake. She said some members of Mrs. Buck's family were at her bedside when she died.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete but services will be private in accordance with her wishes.

Only recently Mrs. Buck was denied permission to reenter China. She had applied to the embassy in the People's Republic of China which claimed her works took "an attitude of distortion, smear and vilification toward the people of China and their leaders."

She was born in Hillsboro, W. Va.

Mrs. Buck published 29 novels, three collections of short stories and an autobiography, "For Spacious Skies," in 1966. Aides reported she was working on four other novels at the time of her death.

Mrs. Buck won the Pulitzer Prize in 1931 for her second novel, "The Good Earth," and seven years later she became the first American woman to win the Nobel Prize for literature.

The Nobel Prize was granted for no particular work, but the citation read: "For rich and genuine epic portrayals of Chinese peasant life, and for masterpieces of biography."

Mrs. Buck, who reportedly gave more than $7 million to charities, had resided at Danby since the late 1960s.

She was born Pearl Comfort Sydenstricker on June 26, 1892. She spent her childhood in China and learned to speak Chinese before English. In her own words, Mrs. Buck "grew up much alone" in China and learned to live in the Chinese style with their folklore and customs.

She returned to the United States at the age of 17 to enter Randolph-Macon College. After college she went back to China and two years later married a Presbyterian missionary, John Lossing Buck, whom she divorced in 1936 for incompatibility.

Mrs. Buck aided her husband in his work among the Chinese and bore two of his children. She taught in Chinese universities and lived the life of a missionary.

She began her career as a novelist with the book "East Wind, West Wind," and in 1930 wrote "The Good Earth." It was published the following year.

After winning the Pulitzer Prize, Mrs. Buck spent much of her time in America, writing novels and magazine articles. Following charges from conservatives that she was too "modernistic," Mrs. Buck resigned her missionary post with the Presbyterian Church in 1933.

On the same day she obtained a divorce in Reno, Mrs. Buck married her publisher, Richard J. Walsh, whose wife, a close friend of the novelist, had just divorced him.

They moved to a farm in Bucks County, near Doylestown, Pa., and adopted five children. After Walsh's death in 1960 Mrs. Buck adopted four other youngsters.

One of the latest of her novels, "The New Year," published in 1968, was inspired by the plight of Amer-Asian children. To aid these youngsters, the offspring of American servicemen and Asian women, she formed the Pearl S. Buck Foundation in 1964.

Mrs. Buck also founded Welcome House, Inc., in 1949, an adoption agency for children of mixed American-Asian blood.

In 1950 she published a small book called "The Child Who Never Grew," the story of her experiences with her oldest daughter, who was mentally retarded.

IRS Letter Asks Wrong Payment

BEDFORD HEIGHTS, Ohio (UPI) — Julia Chittum has received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service asking her to pay $92,000,050.06 in income tax for 1970 plus $1.78 interest.

Mrs. Chittum said the erroneous statement came from Austin, Tex., where she formerly worked.

The letter said if she does not pay within 10 days, addititional charges and penalties will be tacked on.

Fighting Continues In Truce Zones

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam and Cambodia reported more intensive fighting yesterday while some progress was reported in post-truce talks in Laos.

The Saigon command, citing updated reports received from the field, reported a substantial increase in casualties from post-truce fighting. Command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said that since the Jan. 28 cease-fire, Communists have committed 5,797 truce violations and have lost 12,192 men killed and 195 captured.

In Phnom Penh, officials reported fierce fighting along the southern Highway 2 as Communist troops attacked two major government outposts only 23 miles south of Phnom Penh. Military spokesmen claimed 106 Communists were killed at a cost of only two government soldiers dead and military sources attributed the heavy Communist casualties to saturation raids by U.S. warplanes.

In Honolulu, a statement issued from U.S. Pacific Forces headquarters said U.S. planes flew strikes at the request of the Phnom Penh government but did not say where the operations tooc place.

The military sources in Phnom Penh, however, said the raids were flown against Communist troops who attacked the towns of Samrong Yong and Bantea Trav at dusk Sunday. The fighting continued for nearly 24 hours.

In Vientiane, government and Communist Pathet Lao representatives to the Joint Military Commission and a committee on a coalition government met for 2-½ hours Monday. Government spokesmen said there was no substantive agreement, although some points were ironed out.

The Soviet news agency Tass said yesterday that six Soviet ships blocked since last May by U.S. mines in the Haiphong harbor of North Vietnam sailed out of port over the weekend. Tass said a special Soviet team was sent to Haiphong to help the blocked ships sail from the harbor, which is now being cleared of mines with U.S. Navy help.

Saigon's assistant commissioner for public information denied a Hanoi claim that mass execution and torture of Communist prisoners were being carried out in South Vietnamese jails. Pham Duong Hien called the report, carried Sunday by Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency, "a full fabrication by the Communist propaganda apparatus aimed at misleading public opinion."

The State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson was the first prison in Michigan, erected in 1838.

New Light Is Shed On Bugging Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials of President Nixon's reelection campaign sent FBI agents on "fishing expeditions" to keep them from "getting to the truth" about the Watergate case, according to a document given a Senate committee.

The document was a letter sent by the FBI to John W. Dean Jr., White House counsel, July 21. This was four days after tha break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate apartment building.

The letter, along with other FBI documents, was released yesterday by the Senate Judiciary Committee, which today was to resume its hearings on the nomination of acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III to be permanent head of the agency.

The letter described FBI interviews with employes of the Committee to Re-elect the President.

It said that "another cooperative source at the committee (interviewed by the FBI) advised confidentiolly that committee officials during interviews were sending FBI agents on fishing expeditions to keep them from getting the truth." The FBI letter also said: "Numerous interviews were conducted with personnel employed at the Committee to Reelect the President and in each interview, at the committee's insistence, an attorney at the commitee was present."

The letter showed that some persons at the committee were reluctant to talk to the FBI too openly. "Several persons subsequent to the interviews conducted at the committee contacted the Washington field office and requested to be further interviewed away from committee headquarters and without the knowledge of committee officials," it said.

The document said the FBI was told that people connected with the reelection campaign committee who testified bafore a grand jury were subsequently debriefed by campaign committee attorneys as to what happened at the grand jury sessions. These sessions are usually considered secret.

The letter, contained in a summary FBI report, was furnished to the Senate committee by Gray as part of Gray's offer last week to cooperate fully with the Senate inquiry on his nomination.

Two persons were convicted and five pleaded guilty in connection with the Watergate break-in, which, according to testimony, was part of an operation to bug the Democratic headquarters during the campaign.

Meanwhile, a judiciary committee spokesman said that, as a result of informal discussions between Republican Senators and Gray's staff, an effort would be made to broaden the scope of the questioning at the hearing.

The Republicans were understood to want more questions on the operation of the FBI instead of on politics.

Earnings Rise For Lockheed

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which two years ago had to be saved by the federal government from bankruptcy, reported increased earnings again Monday.

Daniel J. Haughton, chairman of the board and the man who directed the rescue appeal to the government, said the company earned $16.2 million last year, compared with $15.4 million the year before.

The profit worked out to $1.43 a share for stockholders, he said, compared to $1.36 a share the previous year.

After heated debate in Congress, Lockheed, the nation's largest defense contractor, obtained a guarantee from the federal government assuring repayment of $250 million in loans. Banks had refused to make the loans without such a guarantee.

Decision On Pay Hikes Is Delayed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The board of supervisors has decided to put off for one week a decision on new pay rates for 15,480 employees.

The board decided to delay action after three proposals made at a jammed meeting Monday night met with failure. About 550 employees attended the meeting, some of whom picketed outside city hall.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Reapportion Showdown Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Maneuvering for a showdown vote Thursday, Assembly Democrats have sweetened a reapportionment bill to entice Republicans into helping them override any veto by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"We have plenty of Republicans backing the bill," Assemblyman Ken Meade, architect of the plan, said Monday after the Assembly accepted amendments improving several GOP districts.

The amendments were approved on a split voice vote after an unsuccessful Republican attempt to send the measure back to a committee for a public hearing on the new district lines. The GOP move was rejected on a 40-21 vote.

Veteran Republican Assemblyman John L. E. Collier of Los Angeles openly supported the Democratic amendments, telling his GOP colleagues: "If you think we're going to gain more seats by letting the court do it (reapportion districts), then you're whistling in the dark."

Declaring that the legislature "is operating under a very severe time deadline," Meade said he definitely will take up the measure (AB8) for a floor vote Thursday.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, predicted the modified plan would be approved by a "surprising" margin with as many as 60 assemblymen casting favorable votes. Democrats would need 54 votes to override a veto.

The state Supreme Court has warned it will take over the politically ticklish job of redistricting if the legislature and Reagan fail to agree on a plan.

Meade said the new amendments would preserve most of Monterey County in the district of Assemblyman Bob Wood, R-Greenfield. The Salinas Valley had been cut out of Wood's district under the old bill.

He also said the University of California at Davis campus would be taken out of the district of Assemblyman Ray Johnso, R-Chico, and put entirely in that of Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento.

REAGAN PLANS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has all but decided not to run for the Senate, but is keeping it to himself.

A public announcement will be made within a few weeks, after private discussions with party leaders.

That is the consensus of Reagan intimates following the latest round in "what does he do after 1974?" conjecture.

The feeling is that Reagan does not really want to be a senator anyway, even if Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston wasn't what the governor acknowledges to be a very "formidable" opponent.

WAIVERS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Spring weddings can go ahead as planned despite a new law taking effect Wednesday that could have dashed or delayed the hopes of countless couples.

Responding to information that the new law would be nearly impossible to live up to, state Public Health Director Frederick B. Hodges yesterday told county clerks around the state to advise couples how to get a waiver to the new law.

The law requires that a woman undergo a blood test for susceptibility to German measles before being granted a license by a county clerk. However, there are only a handful of clinics in California capable of performing the tests.

So to prevent delays and confusion, Hodges sent a telegram to counties advising that couples obtain a waiver form from the clerks and have them signed by a superior court judge.

COAST PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. James O. Wedworth has introduced a measure appropriating $100 million for purchase of coastal lands to be used for parks as well as scenic and historic sites.

The amount is double the $40 million to $50 million proposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan for acquisition of coastal land as part of his plan to spend an $852 million budget surplus.

U.C. COSTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Federal cutbacks to education could cost the University of California more than $100 million in the next 28 months, leaving the nine-campus system with a possible crisis, its president Charls J. Hitch says.

Testifying before the Senate Finance Committee yesterday, Hitch said the lack of federal aid has created "gross uncertainties" within the system and could result in a "possible severe financial crisis" in 1973-74.

Hitch said he was preparing recommendations for increased state support to make up for at least part of the federal reductions. He said the suggestion would be submitted to the Board of Regents March 16 and later to the legislature.

DENIES CLAIM

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The chairman of a special legislative committee denies charges by Secretary of State Edmund Brown Jr. that lobbyist expense records were altered to hide the names of lawmaker recipients of campaign contributions.

"Absolutely false," declared Democratic Assemblyman John Quimby of Rialto, chairman of the Joint Subcommittee on Legislative Advocate Registration.

Brown called a news conference yesterday to announce a legislative proposal to outlaw the practice of lobbyists making campaign contributions to legislators and other state office holders.

RACE COSTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State records show the winning state Senate campaign of Democrat Alan Robbins of North Hollywood cost $274,546, including nearly $17,000 from organized labor.

According to campaign statements by Robbins' finance committees on file yesterday, $128,591 was spent for last week's contest against Republican Phillip Johnson, a San Fernando city councilman.

Robbins already reported spending $145,955 during the primary election campaign in January.

Johnson had not filed his postelection spending statement by Monday. It is not due until April 3.

Countywide Plan On Tiburon Agenda

Adoption of the proposed county-wide general plan will be considered at a joint meeting of the Tiburon City Council and Planning Commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Del Mar School.

Representatives of the county planning department will attend the session to answer questions.

SEATED — Newly elected Sen. Alan Robbins, D-North Hollywood, survived Republican attempts yesterday to prevent his being seated in the senate because he has not lived in his district for the constitutionally required one year. The Senate's rejection of the GOP challenge was said by a top Democrat to be the end of Republican hopes of ousting Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego. (UPI Telephoto)

Trustees Shelve Plan For Early Schooling

Harry F. Roche, superintendent-principal, explained today that state education officials had cited rules against the district's proposal to admit youngsters at the age of 4 years, 9 months. Roche was instructed to seek further clarification from Sacramento.

The trustees also learned that a district advisory committee will meet March 15 to begin drafting a district program under the new state Early Childhood Education Act, which may supplant the abandoned proposal for early admission to kindergarten.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

LOTTERY — Ordered letters sent by March 15, notifying three temporary teachers of possible dismissal, if permanent teachers now on leave return.

BUDGET — Reviewed areas of the 1972-73 budget where surpluses or overspending have occurred, preparatory to discussing the 1973-74 budget. Roche said he has no figures yet for a tentative total for next year's budget.

CANDIDATES' NIGHT — Heard that candidates for the April 17 trustee elections will appear at the Lagunitas School multi-purpose room at 8 p.m. March 14.

PREDICTION — Heard Roche predict that current enrollment of 490 will climb to 507 in September, requiring some adjustments in class size.

ADJOURNED — To 7:30 p.m. March 19 in the Lagunitas School, for a review and program evaluation of the district's seventh and eighth grade programs.

Services Board Seeking Open Space Bond Bids

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night called for bids on the district's $600,000 open space bond issue approved overwhelmingly by voters last January.

Bids on the bond issue will be opened at 8 p.m. April 2, according to Genevieve T. Bolding, district managr.

Eyed for acquisition by the district are 12 parcels totaling 350 acres, she added.

The board last night directed county counsel to file condemnation proceedings against one of the parcels, a 23-acre property owned by Paul J. Stucker northwest of the intersection of Miller Creek Road and Las Gallinas Avenue, she said.

Condemnation of the land is necessary because Stucker has said he isn't interested in selling, Mrs. Bolding reported, adding she has no idea what the worth of the property may be.

The board next meets at 8 p.m. April 2.

Bandit Robs Woman In Apartment

A San Rafael woman was robbed at gunpoint and forced to commit an unnatural sex act in her Lincoln Avenue apartment yesterday, San Rafael police reported.

The robber came to her apartment after she returned from work and forced his way in with a handgun in a brown paper sack, she told police. He took approximately $25 from the wallet in her purse. He then forced her at gunpoint into the bedroom where he made her disrobe and commit the sex act, police reported.

He was described as Caucasian, no age given, with curly blonde hair, wearing glasses, a light-colored shirt, dark brown pants and a gold sweater, according to police reports.

When he left, he told her to stay in the bedroom for 10 minutes.

Tires, Equipment Taken From Firm

Burglars broke a window at San Rafael Firestone at 1001 Irwin Street at 1 a.m. today and escaped with four or six tires and chrome mag wheels valued at $300 to $400, San Rafael police reported.

A window was broken with two by fours nailed together and two young men, possibly juveniles, took the tires and wheels from inside it, according to police. A witness saw the two run north on Irwin Street to be joined by a third young man. The witness told police that he did not see them carrying the wheels and tires.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

3:12 p.m., San Rafael — False alarm from street box at Montecillo Road and Nova Albion Way.

3:54 p.m., San Rafael — Check on extinguished fire in bathroom at 817 A Fourth Street; one piece of burning paper found; minor damage.

8:38 p.m., San Anselmo — Michael Trumbull of 30 Mariposa Avenue set box of hot ashes next to fence by Sohner's Tree service at 34 Mariposa Avenue; fence ignited doing $25 damage.

HEART VICTIM — Assemblyman Larry E. Townsend, D-Trrance, chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, died yesterday of an apparent heart attack at Sutter Memorial Hospital in Sacramento. An aide said Townsend, 42, had a history of heart illness, had suffered at least one previous attack and underwent surgery two years ago. (UPI Telephoto)

Prisoner Can't Find Out Who Won Viet War

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — A former prisoner of war said Monday since he was released from a Communist prison camp he has been trying to find out who won the Vietnam war.

Air Force Capt. Darrell Pyle, 32, said at a news conference that he walked aboard the U.S. freedom plane in Hanoi three weeks ago and immediately asked a crewman, "Who won the war?"

"'I don't know,'" was the crewman's terse reply," Pyle said.

Pyle said that he's been asking people ever since.

"I feel that it's going to be possibly five or 10 years until I can make a decision (as to who won the war)," said Pyle, whose family lives in Tustin, Calif.

Hub Panel Delays Subdivision Policy

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night postponed a decision on a four-lot subdivision proposed for 52 Park Way, the site of one of the oldest homes in the city, awaiting review of legal technicalities by City Atty. Hadden W. Roth.

Roth will be directed to look into an easement situation created by driveway patterns included in the subdivion proposal by Jack Barone, and report back to the commission at 8 p.m. March 19, according to Daniel W. Thomas, planning technician.

The proposal to subdivide the 1.6-acre parcel, site of the Tompkins estate, would leave untouched the nearby century-old Tompkins home, Thomas said. Neighbors last night appeared to express concerns about traffic patterns in the area, he added.

Commissioner John Levo Jr. urged the parcel be subdivided into only three lots, but Barone argued anything less than four lots would be uneconomical, Thomas said, adding commissioners generally agreed some sort of single family development eventually will be placed on the property.

San Anselmo Planning Commission Also:

HOMES — Approved permits for single family homes at 546 Scenic Avenue, 5 Miwok Drive, 31 Elk Horn Way, and 21 Elk Horn Way. A proposal for a home at 1 Indian Rock Road was held over pending completion of the city's new general plan and a proposal for a home at 85 Woodside Drive was withdrawn because of slide problems.

EASEMENT — Referred to planning and parks staff at request by Ralph O. Jennings for an easement across from city property on Indian Rock Court.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. March 19.

Migrant Camp Hit By Typhoid

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (UPI) — Health officials sought today to prevent the spread of a typhoid fever outbreak at a migrant labor camp where 107 persons have been hospitalized, many of them children.

Cause of the outbreak was not known, but officials suspected the camp water supply.

Death Payment

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel will pay $30,000 to every family that lost a breadwinner among the 106 victims of the Libyan airliner crash, the government announced today.

GREAT FAITH — Frank Treadway of Mill Valley said he has "great faith in public education."

Tam Education System Attacked

although her latest history grade was an "A" she scored only 20 per cent on the national scholastic aptitude test.

An American history student had written only two reports in one quarter, said Mrs. Weedon. "I think it's noble, but let's not throw out the baby with the bath water."

Frank Treadway, of 210 Rancho Drive, Mill Valley, said the press had blown the importance of the English test out of all proportion.

"This is one example of misjudgment but we shouldn't condemn the whole program. I have a great deal of faith in public education," he said, "and I think we're miles ahead of other schools in the Tam District."

Hans Schiller of Mill Valley said it was the board's responsibility to teach youngsters in a changing world to understand that world.

Referring to the disputed English exam, Schiller said: "If there are words they don't understand, like fornication which is a good and acceptable word, this is because they happen to use a different four-letter word most of the time."

Noel Berringer of San Anselmo asked for a review of Drake's English department, adding: "It's the right of parents to be thoroughly informed concerning curriculum."

Ann Light of Sleepy Hollow complained: "There's too much emphasis on what the students want instead of what is better for them."

No teacher entered the discussion.

Thomas Lorch, Drake's education leader, submitted to trustees a written answer to parents' criticism.

Frank L. Miller congratulated Lorch for backing his teachers unreservedly, and Bette Wallace said there is "a great need for students, parents and teachers to begin a real dialogue."

Jerrold M. Ladar said he thought the test was in bad taste, and asked for some "truth in labeling" of courses, saying that it wasn't too much to ask so parents will know what students are getting.

But while trustees appeared to believe that the March 14 meeting would satisfy parents' concern, Patricia Thompson warned: "You can't solve everything by talking, the board should set the policy for public education. This is a diversified community and we aren't going to solve its needs by mixing it up in one big porridge. You have to set the policy and not go around through all these meetings — parents get tired."

After the meeting Mrs. Weedon said she wasn't disappointed at the lack of any action on the board's part. Parents had simply wanted to air their concerns in public, she said, and hoped the next meeting at Drake would solve some problems.

Elaine Rosen said from the audience as opponents applauded.

Also cheered was Mrs. Jack Haehl, who called the center a "phenomenal golden goose-egg." She suggested the town, like any family with a budget, should stop "having a child every year." The town could pay its way if it stopped growth, she predicted.

Others, including 520 who signed a petition, wanted a town vote, but Councilman Edward W. Colthurst called an election "just a tool to keep this going on and on and on."

Mayor Holmes S. Norville wondered how "John Q. Public, who has paid no attention to what is going on," could sort out the complexities of the issue.

Supporters of the project were not as vocal last night as at past hearings on the center and the redevelopment project that will be used to finance the necessary improvements. However, Councilman Robert J. Flahive said there is an even split in the town.

In previous meetings proponents stressed the financial wonders promised by Hahn.

The Southern California builder of shopping centers has estimated his creation will produce almost $2.8 million for the town between 1975 and 1980 from four major stores and myriad shops lining an air-conditioned mall.

However, despite the financial carrot, the plan has hit increasing opposition in Corte Madera and competition from 65 acres next to Bon Air Center in Larkspur.

Nevertheless, Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff offered some hope for the beleaguered development, promising not to "sweep it under the rug with a no vote to development. It will be developed one way or the other."

Development Plan On Agenda

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that the Fairfax Design Review Board will consider an environmental impact report for the controversial Canon Village and Tennis Club development when it meets at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Fairfax Womens Club.

The board will actually review a precise plan for the development, according to Robert E. Crowe, town administrator.

The proposal includes 128 units on 88 acres along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Glen Drive, he said.

The review board will also consider issuance of several sign and banner permits.

were still going through the routine processing.

Their release brought to 299 the number of U.S. POWs freed since the cease-fire—more than half of those known to be held by the Communists. All must be released by the end of the month.

Today some of the POWs planned to visit American children at schools on this U.S. Air Force base, and all those wishing to do so were to shop at the base department store.

Military doctors said today the only prisoner released in the latest batch to be carried from his freedom flight on a litter was in "satisfactory condition."

Army Staff Sgt. Gail Kerns, 26, Daniels, W.Va., insisted on walking onto the plane that picked him up in Hanoi but had to be carried off at Clark. Spokesmen refused to say what his exact medical problems were, but photographs showed him shaking hands with his left hand, apparently because he was unable to use his right.

Army Staff Sgt. Bill Baird, Wooster, Ohio, also had to be helped from the C141 jet hospital plane.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, March 6, the 65th day of 1973 with 300 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

British poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning, wife of poet Robert Browning, was born March 6, 1806.

On this day in history:

In 1836, Mexican forces captured the Alamo in San Antonio, Tex., killing the last of 187 Americans who had held out for 13 days, including famed frontiersman Davy Crockett. From the slaughter arose the cry "Remember the Alamo!"

In 1857, the United States Supreme Court handed down its landmark ruling that Negro slave Dred Scott could not sue for his freedom in a federal court.

In 1964, King Paul of Greece died at the age of 62 and was succeeded by his son, Prince Constantine. A military regime took over the country three years later, (and remains in control today).

In 1968, Joseph Martin, Massachusetts republican who was speaker of the House of Representatives from 1947 to 1949 and from 1953 to 1955, died at the age of 83.

A thought for the day: British poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning said, "The child's sob in the darkness curses deeper than the strong man in his wrath."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

OBITUARIES

John (Jack) Meagor Dies At 70

John A. (Jack) Meagor, a lifelong resident of Marin County, died yesterday in a local hospital following a lengthy illness.

Meagor, 70, was plant manager for Coca Cola Bottling Company in San Rafael for 32 years before retiring in 1962. Before that, he was employed by a San Francisco hardware firm for five years.

Born in San Anselmo, he attended Tamalpais High School. He and his wife, J. Helen, were married in 1925.

He was a member of Marin Lodge No. 191 Free and Accepted Masons, Marin Chapter No. 102 Royal Arch Masons, Mount Olivet Commandery No. 20 Knights Templar of Petaluma, Islam Temple Shrine.

He also was a member and past president of the Marin County Shrine Club, a member of San Rafael Chapter No. 215 Order of Eastern Star and Sons in Retirement Branch No. 7.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Annie Belle Nachtsheim of San Rafael, and two brothers, Joseph C. Meagor of San Rafael and William R. Meagor of San Anselmo.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

DOROTHY ASHOFF

Dorothy Ashoff, a native of Sausalito and a resident of Sonoma for the past 16 years, died yesterday in a local hospital following a long illness. She was 56.

She and her husband, Fred C. Ashoff, also a native of Sausalito, lived in Sausalito for 35 years before moving to Sonoma. She was the daughter of the late Mary Bailey Texeira, a lifelong resident of Sausalito. Mrs. Ashoff was a graduate of Tamalpais High School.

She was president of the Sonoma Valley Mastectomy Club, a member of the Marinita Parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West, San Rafael chapter.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two children, Caroline Feeney of Paradise and James F. Ashoff of Sonoma; four sisters, Mrs. Joseph Bertrand of Tiburon, Adeline Texeira of Terra Linda, Lillian Texeira of Palm Springs and Grace Johnson of San Rafael, and a brother, Alfred Texeira of San Anselmo.

Funeral will be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday at Chapel of Bates, Sonoma, followed by Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. at St. Francis Solano Church in Sonoma. Rosary will be recited at 7 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home. Interment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

JOHN PETERSON

Private funeral for John E. Peterson of Mill Valley, owner of a Southern Marin real estate firm, was held yesterday.

Peterson, 47, died Friday in an auto crash while vacationing in Mexico.

A native of San Francisco, he had lived in Marin County for 24 years, residing at 69 Greenwood Way. Peterson had been in the real estate business for the past eight years and was owner of Scott Valley Real Estate in Mill Valley. He was a member of the Olympic Club of San Francisco and the Marin County Real Estate Board.

Peterson is survived by his wife, Carol and three daughters, Susan Peterson, Lyn Leitch and Jan Peterson, all of Mill Valley and a sister, Carolyn Kane of New York.

Burial was private. The family prefers contributions to a favorite charity.

the hands of judicial authorities.

In Washington, Sudanese Cabinet minister, Abdel Rahman Abdullah, called on President Nixon today to express official condolences over the deaths of the two U.S. diplomats killed by Palestinian terrorists.

Following the meeting in the President's Oval Office, Nixon arranged to go to the State Department for a working luncheon on ways to cope with international terrorism and to dedicate a memorial plaque bearing the names of the two Americans slain in the Saudi Arabian embassy in Khartoum.

Abdullah, minister of public service and national reform, accompanied the bodies of Ambassador Cleo A. Noel Jr. and his deputy, G. Curtis Moore, on the presidential jet which brought them home Monday.

Trade Talks Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz will conduct trade talks with Soviet officials in Moscow next week, the White House announced Tuesday.

LAURA STEFFANS

Private funeral will be held for Laura Steffens, 18, of San Rafael, who collapsed and died Friday while shopping in a San Rafael store.

A doctor from nearby medical offices, and emergency treatment at Marin General Hospital failed to revive her.

Miss Steffens suffered from congenital heart disease, according to her parents, Ronald and Beverly Steffens of 14 Comstock Drive.

Miss Steffens was born in San Francisco, and had attended Terra Linda High School until last January. She was a senior.

She also is survived by a brother, Kirk, and a sister, Linda Steffens of the home; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Muzio of San Francisco, and a paternal grandmother, Hazel Steffens of Santa Cruz.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Heart Association of Marin County.

PERCY STANG

Percy A. Stang, a resident of Mill Valley for 38 years before moving to San Francisco 10 years ago, died yesterday in a local convalescent home after a long illness.

Stang, 79, had been a volunteer with the Boy Scouts in Mill Valley for 38 years and was an executive board member of the Marin Council. He received the council's highest award, the Silver Beaver, in 1960.

Born i San Francisco, he worked for Western Union there for 55 years, beginning as a bicycle messenger boy. He was a purchasing agent when he retired in 1963.

He moved to San Francisco in 1963 after he and his wife, Hilda, were married.

He was a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West, San Francisco chapter and the Sequoia Club.

He is survived by his wife.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Ashley and McMullen Mortuary, 4200 Geary Boulevard, San Francisco. Inurnment will be private.

GALE PORTER

Funeral for Gale M. Porter of San Rafael will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Porter, 35, of 100 Bayo Vista Way, Apt. 18, drowned Sunday while on an outing at China Camp with his wife, Irene.

He was a student at College of Marin in Kentfield, where he was studying art and photography.

Porter had been a resident of San Rafael from 1970 to early 1972, moving for a short time to Denver, Colo., and San Francisco before returning to Marin seven months ago.

Born in Twin Falls, Ida., he was reared and went through schools in Boise, Ida. He moved from Boise in 1967, taking a job with the Red Cross in Lincoln, Neb.

He moved to San Francisco from Lincoln and worked at the Hunter's Point Naval Shipyard, San Francisco Veterans Hospital and for a short period as a clerk with the San Francisco Sheriffs' office.

He and his wife were married in May 1970. He was a Navy veteran.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two children, Paige and Clayton Porter, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Porter, and a sister Billie Miller, all of Boise.

MARTHA FISCHER

Private funeral for Martha K. Fischer, 76, of San Rafael, was yesterday in Mill Valley. Mrs. Fischer died Saturday at a local hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Berlin, Mrs. Fischer came to this country from Germany two years ago to make her home with her daughter, Inez Young, at 651 Wake Robin Lane.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Fischer is survived by her husband, Bela O. Fischer.

Burial was private.

MRS. BAROZZI

Mass of the Resurrection for Louise K. Barozzi, longtime San Anselmo resident, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Barozzi, who was 80, died Sunday in the home at 47 Elm Avenue where she had lived 50 years.

She was born in San Francisco but moved to Marin 50 years ago.

She was the widow of Joseph P. Barozzi, a retired stonemason who died in 1969. At the time of Barozzi's death, the couple had been married 61 years.

Mrs. Barozzi is survived by a son, William Barozzi of San Francisco; three daughters, Mrs. Evelyn DaCostello and Rosalie (Babe) Barozzi, both of San Anselmo, and Marie Simontacchi of San Rafael; seven grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

A PRAYER FOR PEACE

There was guarded hope today for a speedy surrender of the embattled encampment at Wounded Knee, S.D. Peace is in the minds of most concerned in the week-long holdout. Yesterday a group of Indian medicine men gathered around a ceremonial camp fire to pray to the morning star, asking for peace. One government source said today "we had at least five telescopic sights of Indians carrying M16 rifles. They could wipe out a bunch of FBI men or U.S. marshals outside Wounded Knee without giving them a chance."

Report On Impact Is Approved

The Ross Valley Sanitary District Board last night formally accepted an environmental impact report, a step necessary in the construction of a new sewer trunkline through Ross and San Anselmo.

District Mgr. Ned J. Ongaro said San Anselmo's director of public works, Charles R. Leitzell wrote commending the district on the report, and its lack of "bulky repetitious material" often encountered in such documents.

The sewer trunkline, mandated by the state Regional Water Quality Control Board, will run through Ross and as far as Tunstead Avenue in San Anselmo this year.

Next year the trunkline will necessitate digging up the downtown streets for a two to three week period, and Leitzell said San Anselmo will require the street surfaces restored to their original condition after the work.

In other action, said Ongaro, the board agreed to sell the former district offices at 11 Liberty Place, San Anselmo to Peter Edwards, publisher of the Marin County Court Reporter, for $21,000.

Edwards, who sold the Ross Valley Reporter to Frank Turner two months ago, has been leasing the premises since the sanitary district moved out in July 1971, after it built a new office at the treatment plant on the San Quentin Peninsula.

Changes In Petaluma General Plan Backed

The Petaluma City Council last night approved amendments to the general plan and set aside land in the northern portion of the city for special transitional study.

City Planning Director William C. McGivern told the council the transitional plan would give the city a chance to study the proper use of the land before making any commitments by the June 30 deadline for the general and master plans.

Asst. City Planner Richard Anderson said, "transitional designates an umbrella category indicating the total area to be studied."

The existing zoning will continue in the area, he said, and landowners will be able to develop in accordance with these guidelines.

"You can't leave the transitional designation on the plan indefinitely," said McGivern. "It's the first stage in processing a study and a reflection of the proper zoning for the area."

City Atty Edouard E. Robert will report in two weeks on a request by a property owner in the area on the compatability of the plan with existing zoning.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

VOTING — Approved the use of automatic voting machines for the June 12 municipal elections, the machines to be provided by Computer Elections Systems, Inc., and will cost $300 to $400 less than the machines used in 1969. The Vote-A-Matic System will be the same used in Marin County and each of the city's 30 precincts will have three machines.

SEWER — Approved the annexation and outside sewer connection application by Santa Fe-Poneroy Inc. for their property at the foot of Hopper Street.

BIDS — Awarded 1973 refunding bonds to Dean Witter & Co. at an effective interest cost of $720,636 and an effective rate of 5.075 per cent and awarded Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael the demolition and removal of buildings project for the B street pump station.

LIBRARY — Approved a fund request by the library for additional card catalog units instead of a planned projector.

FIREWORKS — Accepted a request by the parks and recreation commission for an additional $200 of their $13,000 budget for the July 4 fireworks show.

ZONING — Adopted an ordinance prezoning Casa Grande annexation from agricultural to a planned unit development district.

FEES — Adopted an ordinance for sewer connection fees of $600 for the privilege of connection to the city sewer system.

Rules Set To Float Currencies

LONDON (UPI) — The government announced today it would agree to float the British pound jointly with the currencies of other European Common Market countries against the U.S. dollar. But it laid down certain rigid conditions.

The announcement was made by Chancellor Anthony Barber in his annual budget speech to Parliament.

Barber said the essential condition of a joint float against the dollar would be a pledge by Common Market member countries to support each other's currencies against money speculators no matter how costly the burden became.

"This is an essential condition for the whole community; and certainly the United Kingdom could not join in a collective float unless it is met in full," he told a packed session of the House of Commons.

Another condition, Barber said, was that the new exchange rates at which Common Market currencies would be fixed against each other "must be acceptable to each member in terms of its immediate economic problems."

He said each member must also have an "unimpaired right" to change the agreed rate of its own currency at a later date after consultation with the other market countries.

Under a joint float, market currencies would retain fixed rates against each other but would be allowed to find their own levels against the dollar according to speculative demand.

Barber's insistence of joint market support for member countries' currencies reflected British concern that the pound, already weakened by Britain's deteriorating balance-of-payments position, would come under speculative attack if its exchange rate is fixed against other market currencies.

The chancellor said a joint float would "represent an important step towards economic and monetary union" among the Common Market countries.

Barber announced a "broadly neutral" budget retaining public spending and the nation's current 5 per cent economic growth rate at about their present levels.

He said the Common Market's controversial value added tax, which will replace purchase tax on most goods and services, will be applied at a standard 10 per cent.

Cosmos Launched

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has launched the 551st in its series of Cosmos satellites, the Tass news agency said Tuesday.

Cong General Said Ready To Resume Peace Talks

SAIGON (UPI) — A Viet Cong general said Tuesday he was ready to return to the broken down negotiations concerning the exchange of Vietnamese prisoners of war.

Col. Dang Van Thu, acting chief delegate of the Viet Cong to the four-power Joint Military Commission (JMC), said the Saigon-Viet Cong stalemate should not affect future American prisoners repatriation. "They are two separate matters," he said.

Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra, head delegate of the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG—Viet Cong) to the JMC said he was willing to attend the regularly scheduled JMC senior delegates meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The talks, bogged down for a week, concern the terms and numbers of South Vietnamese prisoners to be exchanged by the Viet Cong and the Saigon government.

"If the meeting Wednesday will discuss the second phase of the formalities of the prisoner release, I am fully prepared to come myself and take part in the meeting," Tra said in a message to Lt. Gen. Du Quoc Dong, head of the South Vietnamese JMC delegation.

South Vietnamese government spokesmen were not available for comment.

A Saigon command spokesman Tuesday warned that the talks, if they remain deadlocked, could delay the release of all Vietnamese POWs past the March 28 deadline.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said the Saigon command has no way of knowing "the future." As recent as Monday, however, he had assured newsmen the South Vietnamese still planned to turn over all Communist prisoners within the 60-day period set by the Paris armistice agreement, which became effective Jan. 28.

J. L. Zoeller Found Dead In Auto

James Lewis Zoeller, former director of the Bel Marin Keys Community Service District, was found dead in an auto in the garage of the family home yesterday, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

Zoeller died of carbon monoxide poisoning, according to Keith C. Craig, coroner's investigator. A hose had been run from the auto exhaust into the auto. No note was found and no motive for the death was known, Craig reported.

Their son, Greg, 16, discovered Zoeller's body when he returned from an outing to the home at 917 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

The body was removed to Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato, where funeral arrangements were pending today.

Challenges Will Be Made Into Legality Of Arrests On Theft

By LARRY MOWELL

Attorneys for two San Anselmo police and a friend charged with burglary said yesterday that they will challenge the legality of the investigation leading to their arrest and the rulings of the Marin Municipal Court judge who conducted the preliminary hearing.

Superior Court Judge David Menary Jr. then ordered an all-day hearing for one day next week on what attorney J. Michael Anthony said are seven issues.

The defendants are former Sgt. Edwin Souza Silvia, 38; former reserve officer Eugene Charles Saporetti, 24, and 25-year-old Warren Charles Osborne of Fairfax.

Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani and Lt. G. Albert Howenstein arrested the three Dec. 11 after a probation officer who had been riding with Silvia told the chief Silvia had asked him to participate in the burglary of a store.

Nine television sets valued at $1,223 were taken from the Sears catalogue store in the Redhill Shopping Center and found in the homes of the three.

Attorneys for each asked the court to suppress the evidence because of alleged improprieties in the investigation and to dismiss the charge on the ground the evidence upon which they were bound over to superior court was inadmissable.

Deputy Public Defender Gaile O'Connor, representing Osborne, also asked for a separate trial because the other two "made extrajudicial confessions and admission which incriminate defendant Osborne." O'Connor also sought barring Osborne's own confession and asked to obtain prosecution evidence.

The confession was illegally obtained because Osborne had not waived his right against self incrimination, Miss O'Connor said. Furthermore, she said, "Admissions and confessions were involuntary in that they were induced by improper promises of leniency made by police officers."

She said Howenstein told Osborne his cooperation would be considered by authorities and Buchignani told him he would recommend probation instead of prison.

The defense attorney in efforts to suppress the televisions contends the chief and Howenstein made illegal searches because they did not explain why they wanted admittance to homes of the two suspected officers and did not have a warrant or consent to enter.

Miss O'Connor said Municipal Court Judge David R. Baty improperly accepted the confessions and television sets as evidence in spite of the allegedly illegal searches and failures to observe the rights of the three.

Furthermore, she said, the judge accepted evidence on the television sets although "there was no competent evidence to connect the television sets recovered from the home of these three defendants with the alleged burglary of the Sears store."

In a closed preliminary hearing in January, the prosecution introduced what it said were business records and therefore, not admissable.

A hearing date and judge to weigh the defense arguments will be decided Monday by presiding judge Henry J. Broderick. The trial is set for the week of April 9.

Families See Better Status

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four California families out of every 10, or about 39 per cent of residents in the state, believe they are financially better off now than they were a year ago, the California Poll reported today.

Fewer than three families in 10, or 28 per cent, think they are worse off. About one-third sees no change, the poll said.

The survey of 1,079 representative households in northern and southern California disclosed that 41 per cent believe their financial condition will improve in the coming year.

As A Politician He's Right In Tune

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Bertram L. Podell, D-N.Y., tooc the House floor Tuesday to note that this is National Procrastination Week.

Because of it, he said, "I will put off my remarks on the subject until a later time." He then sat down.

Women Guards Are Opposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Correctional Officers Association opposed today the hiring of women correctional officers, saying they pose "a serious threat" to prison safety.

Three women have been hired as guards at San Quentin but one already has quit.

Arnold Thompson, CYOA chapter president in Marin County where San Quentin Prison is located, said in a statement:

"We consider the practice of hiring women correctional officers to be a serious threat to the lives of our male officers as well as to the women themselves, and to be an invasion of privacy of the inmates."

Position Of Clark In Magee Trial Studied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark may help in San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee's defense at his murder trial, the California Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

The court ordered Superior Court Judge Morton R. Colvin, who is presiding over the trial in San Francisco, to reconsider his decision barring Clark from aiding in Magee's defense.

The high court said Colvin "utilized improper standards" in rejecting Clark and should have permitted him to "associate" in Magee's case under a six-month-old rule of state courts.

Magee's trial on charges of killing Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley during the 1970 Marin County Hall of Justice shoot-out was halted while the Supreme Court ruled on defense attorney Robert Carrow's appeal of Colvin's ruling.

Engineering Outlook

NEW YORK (UPI) — There will be a 42 per cent increase demand for bachelor of engineering degree holders in 1973, according to the Endicott Report, a copyrighted survey of 186 business firms. The report is put together by Frank S. Endicott, director of placement emeritus of Northwestern University.

Supporters Of Amnesty Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements contends a few "shortsighted politicians" are behind demands for amnesty for the men who refused to serve in the Vietnam War.

In a speech to an annual Veterans of Foreign Wars conference Monday, Clements said he was opposed to amnesty.

"In my view the current debate about amnesty revolves around an insistence by a few politicians that we grant manesty because amnesty means forgiveness," Clements said. "What these shortsighted politicians really want is vindication: An official admission that the servicemen and women who served were wrong while the few fleeing protestors were right."

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Planning For Funds That Aren't There

Before he cast his vote to approve the "balanced environment" portion of the Marin Countywide Plan last week, County Planning Commissioner George P. Leonard made a remark that lays bare the real reason why the plan is being pushed.

Leonard set forth a series of objections to the plan, but then joined his fellow commissioners to make approval of its "environment" portion unanimous. He did so, he said, only because the county is required to have some kind of plan.

HEREIN LIES the key to the whole matter.

A series of boards of supervisors nagged the county planning department to produce a general plan for the unincorporated areas (which are the only areas for which the county has any authority to plan). But always, the planners were too busy.

They were too busy preparing the West Marin General Plan (which took four years, and then was completed by outside consultants — only to be thrown out shortly afterward). They were too busy doing contract work they had solicited from the newly incorporated cities of Tiburon and Novato. They were too busy studying subdivision plans. Etc., etc.

"Too busy" continued while the planning staff expanded. (There were 14 employees in the county planning department 10 years ago — before the incorporation of Tiburon and huge annexation to both San Rafael and Novato; there are 26 now for the smaller unincorporated area.)

THEN CAME a state requirement that countywide plans must be adopted if cities and counties were to receive federal money, distributed through the state, for planning projects.

Suddenly the county planning staff no longer was too busy. Suddenly a county general plan — kept on the back burner for at least a decade — became a "must." And with the city-county planning council as the agency, the county planning staff embarked full-tilt to produce, not merely a county general plan to supplement the cities' existing plans as a means of meeting the state requirement, but a whole new blueprint superseding everything the cities had done.

The lure was the federal handout — the "carrot." The pressure was the state requirement of a countywide plan to get that handout — the "stick."

That is why Commissioner Leonard voted for a plan he does not like: "We are required to have some kind of plan."

THERE IS a bitter irony to all this.

After huge expenditure of money and staff time, the county has produced a countywide plan that would require 16 new state laws to implement. Some of those laws run so counter to long-established legal concepts of property that no court could be expected to find them constitutional. And even with all those laws, it is quite probable, as Leonard himself remarked, that the plan "will never fly."

But meanwhile, 2,900 miles away in Washington, D.C., the money tap has been turned off. It is unlikely that there will be any more federal planning handouts. The reason for all the exercise, for all the agony, no longer even exists.

BAY DIRTY? JUST WAIT!

U.S. Holds Back Funds While Requiring Cleanup

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The same fist the Nixon administration uses to beat its breast about saving the environment is clenched tight around federal funds needed to do the job.

The administration's indifference to its own rhetoric is clear in its withholding of funds already appropriated by Congress for water pollution control facilities. With less than half of the money released by the administration, local agencies find themselves whipsawed between critical fund problems and the federal government's own requirement that the nation's waters be cleaned up by 1977.

In the Bay Area alone, sewage agencies figure they will be short $73.5 million by next fiscal year unless the federal money to pay 75 per cent of the cost of new facilities is released.

And with construction costs skyrocketing every year, the result of the fiscal freeze will be to delay construction of the needed facilities for years. Costs in the Bay Area went up 9.4 per cent last year, and are expected to jump by more than 6 per cent this year.

If you think the bay is dirty now, wait until 1976.

TWO RINGERS are in the competition for appointment as the two "public" members of the five-member hearing board of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

They are E. Robert Stallings, retired San Mateo County administrator, and incumbent Theodore Cleveland of Berkeley, a consulting chemical engineer. Both should be dropped in favor of candidates who suit the intention of the 1972 Legislature in adding "public" members to the board.

The hearing board, after all, has been criticized by citizen groups as too permissive toward industrial polluters. Public confidence in the board needs rebuilding.

Stallings earned his environmental credential as Sacramento lobbyist for Westbay Community Associates, which has been battling to dump 3,000 acres of fill in the bay off San Mateo County. He also was a leader in 1969 of the aborted campaign to scuttle the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

His strongest advocate on the district board is its chairman, San Mateo County Supervisor Robert B. St. Clair.

AS FOR CLEVELAND, how can he be considered when district directors eliminated Joseph E. Coons of San Rafael because — like Cleveland — he is a consulting chemical engineer and his clients could include industries coming before the board of variances?

The board of directors will settle the matter when it interviews finalists Wednesday afternoon.

Among the rejected applicants, incidentally, were two other San Rafael men. Dr. Charles W. Aby, former city councilman, was eliminated among doctor-applicants because several of them had experience in diseases related to air pollution. City Councilman John A. Miskimen was dropped from consideration on the ground the Legislature did not intend to have a public official fill a "public" seat. Both men are former directors of the smog district.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

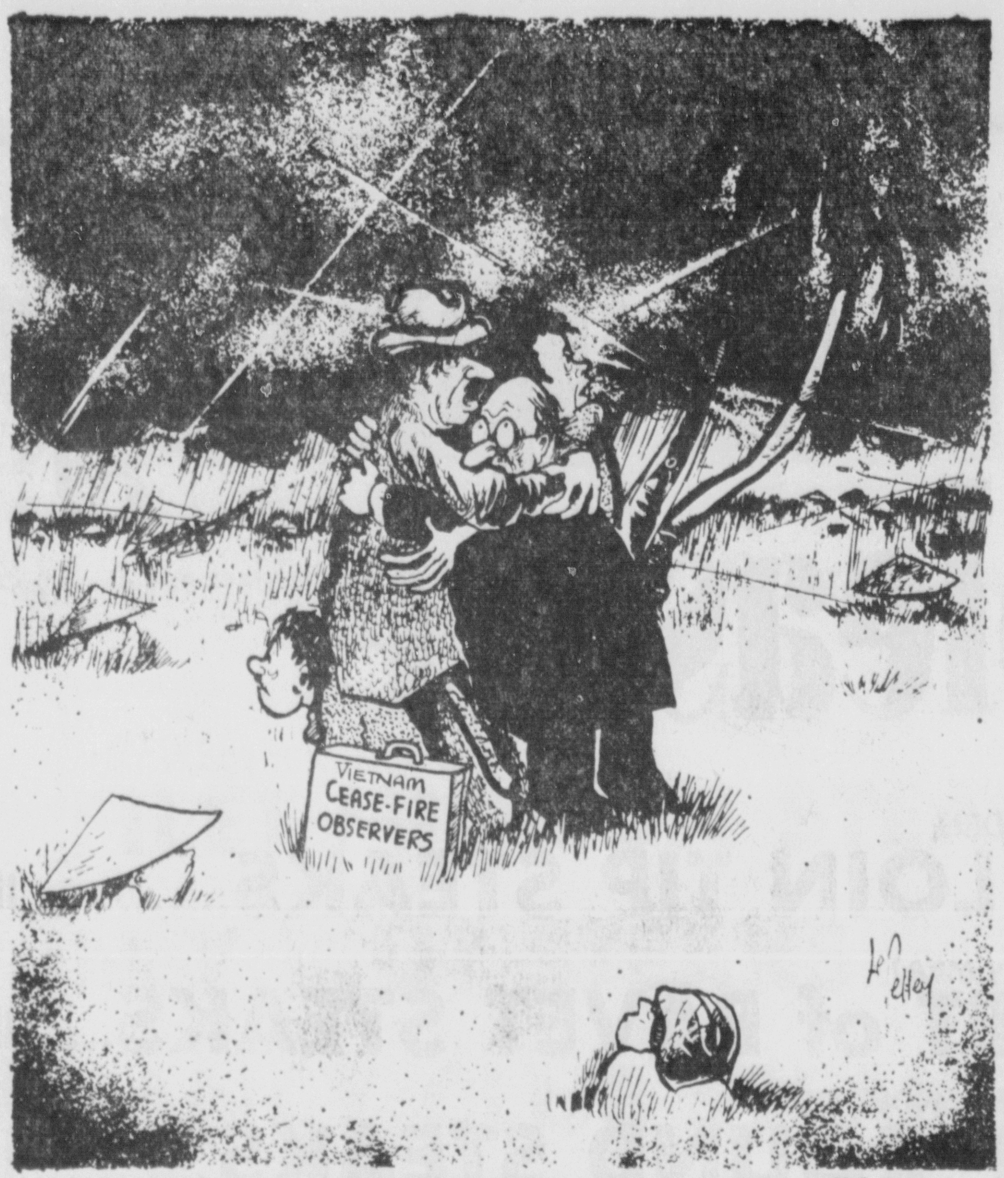
When an anthropologist marries a cannibal chief, folks are bound to wonder what's cooking.

In a wedding as mixed as this, there are questions about the ritual and worries about the menu.

Who did they have for the wedding breakfast?

How does a bride react when her chief telephones that he's bringing a friend home for dinner?

Looc at it this way: It's better to receive a marriage proposal from the bossman of a cannibal tribe than to get a luncheon invitation from him.



"I'm beginning to understand. Maybe the Americans did want to get out."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Center Would Avoid Fragmented Development

Mrs. Fratus of Larskpur, in a recent letter to your paper, expressed a concern that a proposed commercial development along Highway 101 within Corte Madera town limits would cause that area to become garish and unsightly.

It is the hope of averting just such a condition which is among the several reasons why I support the proposed shopping center — a planned project which will prevent the fragmented development of that area.

Mrs. BARBARA PACKARD
Corte Madera.

Thinks Dissolutions Should Not Be Publicized

I see no reason that your staff continue its present policy of writing divorce stories about anyone with any kind of title or of importance in the county. I don't believe this kind of personal business should be publicized. With any feelings you must be able to imagine how any people involved and children must feel, and how publicizing makes it worse for them.

Those who must know who is divorcing can read it with the other "vital" statistics.

Mrs. KATHIE COOK
Novato

Postal Service Should Have Competition

Frequent complaints and suggestions that have been voiced in response to our deteriorating mail service seem to miss the basic problem. As long as mail delivery is a closely guarded monopoly changing the name of the agency or pleas to the adcministrators and workers for improved service will have little or no effect.

I suggest therefore, a basic change in the law to allow other corporations to handle mail service as well. There would be two immediate results: One would be a reduction in the cost of the mail (both direct and indirect) in the form of tax subsidies, and the other would be improvement in the service we get. Now all we have to do is persuade our representatives in Congress to take such a bold step for progress.

WILLIAM J. FILANTE
Greenbrae

Marshland Too Precious For Center

If, as Mayor Norville of Corte Madera insists, we must have another regional shopping center in Marin, it seems eminently reasonable to site it, as Larkspur points out, on land that is "table-top ready" and geologically feasible. To arbitrarily select precious estuarine marshland, dump over a period of months a million cubic yards of fill on top of it, then sit back for twelve or eighteen months and wait for the marsh to die, seems irresponsible to say the least.

As for the tantalizing but quite possibly specious glitter of tax dollars for Corte Madera — to pretend that a huge regional shopping center such as Mr. Hahn and Mayor Norville envisage would not destroy forever the small town atmosphere of Corte Madera is an exercise in futility.

What does it profit a town to gain tax revenues if it destroys itself in the process?

BARBARA KLIENE
Corte Madera

Commune, Junk Yard Feared In Tiburon

It is very obvious that the Tiburon City council approved a permit of rezoning the property of 102 acres (property located at 3825 Paradise Drive between Hacienda Drive and Francisco Bay) from residential to agricultural, even with an overwhelming and concerned residents from the Paradise Drive home owners association who were against it.

It seems rather strange that Mr. Soriano's plan was postponed for the next meeting, even when he was giving full details how and where he is going to do the grading in order to beautify his planned condominiums.

However, the owner of the 3825 Paradise Drive property, when asked if he is planning a commune on his property, he did not deny it, he mentioned that it is also going to be a recycling center, in one word a junk yard.

I wonder if the public is aware of what is going on. The owner of 3825 Paradise drive property was very vague and uncertain about the future plans. The public must be aware of the danger of a communal living, which creates criminality, drug problems, etc.

Is our beautiful Tiburon going to be a second Ashbury Heights or are our residents going to wake up?

We don't need a city council that approves dangerous plans with a stron disapproval of all the residents present at that meeting.

IRENE PELLEGRINI
Tiburon.

Time To Correct Districting Inequities

Thank you for another kind word in your editorial re supervisorial redistricting (Feb. 7). It is indeed a nice feeling to know that someone remembers after all these years (and all those words).

As you pointed out, it is time that the board of supervisors redistrict again, and this time consideration should definitely be given to those other considerations which are permitted in the Government Code: geography, topography, cohesiveness and community of interests.

There is one other thing in the Government Code which must be considered: a supervisor cannot be redistricted out of his district during his term in office or within six months of an election for the seat he holds. Until this year it has not been possible to undo the damage to representational rights which was done by acceptance of Mf. Leydecker's gerrymander because his plan made it possible for two members of the board to reside inside the city of San Rafael. However, this year one of those seats has been won by a resident of the old former Fourth District, Gary Giacomini who lives in Woodacre. We are, therefore, able to take a look once again at some of the plans which were developed and studied by the only supervisorial redistricting advisory committee which Marin has ever had and upon which I served as secretary. Those plans, as well as all the maps, minutes and our final recommendations were filed by me with the county clerk when we had completed our assignment.

It is important to remember that persons residing in cities have city councils to represent their interests but those of us who live in the unincorporated area of the county have only the board of supervisors to represent us. The city people speak of double taxation but they don't mention the fact that, because they don't makeup of the Board of Supervisors, the cities enjoy double representation. . .

There will never be a better time to redistrict Marin than now. . .

FUTURE OF INDOCHINA

'Environment Of Peace' Depends On Kissinger

By COURTNEY R. SHELDON

WASHINGTON — The "environment of peace" sought by President Nixon continues to elude him on the Indochina battlefield. But every long-range hope here is pinned on it.

White House officials expect the international conference on Indochina in Paris to make a modest contribution to pacifying the atmosphere.

Even more the President leans on his national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, to continue his intimate contacts with all parties involved.

It is, in many ways, thus far, a hey-day of personal diplomacy and unwritten agreements.

IN HIS PERSONAL relations with world leaders, Dr. Kissinger is executing basic policies of President Nixon. As his successes tumble after each other in rapid succession, his style and deportment seem more important than ever in preserving the atmosphere for productive bargaining.

Every word of Dr. Kissinger's press conferences testifies to the delicacy of the continuing negotiations with Communist nations. Dr. Kissinger appears to have the confidence of Communist leaders like no western man in the history of the cold war.

His press conferences are infrequent. But they provide guidelines for indefinite periods and are studied closely for months.

At his meeting with the press after his Asian visit, Dr. Kissinger looked forward to the day when U.S. relations with Hanoi will have progressed to the point that U.S. contacts with Peking already have.

Officials realize this to be an extremely difficult task. U.S. and North Vietnam are only now stopping hurling of explosives at each other. The Korean war with its collision of Chinese and U.S. forces is two decades away.

AS HE HAS from the start of negotiations leading to the cease-fire, Dr. Kissinger attempts to focus attention on the gains for all involved in a period of peace and reconstruction.

"The big issue is not whether they will break the cease-fire agreement, because that obviously involves many consequences.

"The big problem is whether Indochina can be moved from a condition of guerrilla war or even open warfare to a condition in which the energies of the peoples in that region are concentrated on constructive purpose."

WHILE DECLINING to speculate publicly on Chinese intentions, Dr. Kissinger seems encouraged by what he learned of Chinese attitudes while he was in Peking for five days.

He will only comment, "We have made clear to all the countries with which we have talked the importance of tranquility to the peace of the world, and Indochina was one of the subjects that was discussed in Peking."

Though most of the headlines on the Kissinger journey to Peking and Hanoi have centered on the establishment of China-U.S. liaison offices and a U.S.-North Vietnam economic commission, the fluid situations in Laos and Cambodia were in the forefront of discussions, Dr. Kissinger reports.

"We had extensive discussion on . . . a final agreement in Laos and a settlement in Cambodia," he says.

Dr. Kissinger goes about his business outwardly confident that the cease-fire in Vietnam will hold and that Laos and Cambodia will quiet down without further drastic action on the part of the U.S.

DR. KISSINGER told reporters when the Chinese-U.S. communique was released:

"The basic purpose of my visit to Hanoi was not to work out an economic aid program. The basic purpose was to establish contact with the leadership of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam in order to see whether it would be possible to establish with it in Indochina something like the relationship that we have managed to establish with the People's Republic in Asia in general . . .

"The economic commission will be the first opportunity that the leaders of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam have had to discuss something other than armistices or military arrangements with responsible Americans . . .

"We are asking for support for the idea of such a program, not on economic grounds and not even on humanitarian grounds primarily, but on the ground of the attempt to build peace in Indochina and therefore to contribute to peace in the world."

He repeated earlier assertions that aid to Hanoi was not a deal in return for a cease-fire. He also emphasized that Hanoi is aware that whatever aid the U.S. ultimately offers for reconstruction will have to have the approval of te U.S. Congress.

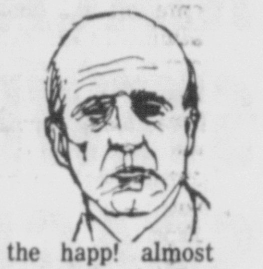
JOSEPH C. HARSCH



While U.S. Involved Elsewhere, Nations Of Europe Get Together

This was billed to be Richard Nixon's "year for Europe," but over the last week he himself was very busy trying to keep American prisoners of war coming out of Hanoi and talking to Mrs. Golda Meir from the Middle East.

His spare time went largely to trying to undo about everything his predecessor, Lyndon Johnson, had tried to do to the shape of the United States.

His secretary of state, William Rogers, enjoyed a balmy pre-spring reunion with the Chinese in Paris, just as though the only function of Paris was to provide another romantic meeting place for American and Chinese.

There were Europeans in Paris, too, but the important foreign ministers were there reluctantly. And the least of their real interests was in the flowering American-Chinese love affair.

PERHAPS THE MOST expressive fact of the week was the happ! almost rhapsodic, tone of a meeting in Bonn between West Germany's Willy Brandt and Britain's Edward Heath.

Mr. Heath had been in Washington the week before. It had been a perfectly friendly visit, in personal terms. But it had been overlaid with unconcealed differences over trade and money matters. The Brandt-Heath meeting was contrastingly cordial. The British press glowed with praise of Herr Brandt, and the German press returned the compliment to Mr. Heath. Both men seemed to find in each other the sympathetic closeness which neither finds any longer in Washington.

The fact of the matter is that, for the moment at least, American and West European interests are at least divergent. The newest and most exciting thing in Washington is its expanding relationship with China. The newest and most perplexing pre-occupation to the Europeans is whether they can pool their currencies in the present money crisis which appears to be pitting the dollars against them.

Can they tie the Common Market currencies together so that they move as one — an all-European currency — which will be able to float up or down against the dollar as the terms of trade and forces in the market move around?

IF A CLOSER UNION of the Common Market countries is at first good, then the remoteness of Washington and the seeming divergence of interests is helpful. Certainly, Mr. Nixon's request of Congress for the power to bargain over tariffs and terms of trade is having a wonderfully stimulating effect on the European search for "oneness"

But then there also is that other side of the coin. If the divergence of American from European interests goes much farther, will Leonid Brezhnev be the beneficiary?

The men of Moscow are being discreetly quiet these days while observing with fascination the broadening and deepening of differences between Washington and the great capitals of Western Europe. This is what they have yearned for ever since World War II, and done their utmost to bring about. Now, without any effort on their part whatever, it seems to be happening.

Of course, there is also the reverse of that story. Washington once held Moscow and Peking together by pushing against both. When Washington relaxed the pressure, their differences and conflicts of interest were able to express themselves.

Similarly, Russian pressure on Europe and America held the two together. In the absence of visible pressure — natural differences inevitably emerge.

Story Of Dog On Highway Does Not Have Happy Ending

Recently a small, shaggy gray dog was caught in the traffic on Highway 101 just north of the San Rafael pedestrian overpass. The intelligent little animal crawled into the safety of the center divider posts.

He stayed there watching the traffic whiz by in each direction, probably aware that to venture out into it would be his demise.

How he got there, no one knows. He may have jumped out of the back of a pickup truck or out of a car.

The California Highway Patrol started receiving calls about him at 7 a.m. and called for a Humane Society officer to come with his dog-catching equipment. No one knew whether the dog had been hit and was lying there wounded.

Finally, about 8:30 a.m., the patrolmen stopped traffic in both directions. When the traffic stopped, the dog took off on the run, but was caught by one of the patrolmen. It was given to the Humane Society officer.

A Marinwood woman called the Highway Patrol to tell them that she was gla that they had stopped traffic to save the dog. She said that it changed her entire idea of the patrol.

Three people visited the Humane Society to see if it was their dog, and 10 others offered to take it. The officers waited to find the owner and then offered it to one of the volunteers.

The story does not have a happy ending. The person selected was told that the dog needed medical attention, and he refused to pay for it, so the dog was put to sleep.

THE FREEZING weather this winter killed eucalyptus trees throughout Marin and southern Sonoma counties. These brown trees are mute evidence of the extreme cold. Many of them are 80 or 90 years old.

The dead eucalyptus present a danger. They shed their bark and leaves, killing vegetation under them. As a consequence, these dead material presents a great fire hazard.

Groves and rows of these dead trees are all over the area. Where they are on city or county property, the governments responsible should start immediately to clear the ground and cut down the dead trees.

This winter's freezing weather probably has done much to erase the biggest "selling job" of early-day California. In the days of the gold rush, the "Sydney Ducks" came from Australia.

In addition to raising havoc in San Francisco, they did a job of selling early-day Californians on planting eucalyptus as a fast growing tree, excellent for lumber and easy to grow. The Californians bought the seeds at a good price. However, instead of getting the better varities of eucalyptus, they got the blue gum, which is good for nothing but a wind break and is one of the scabbiest trees anywhere.

Iowa Legislator Sees Controls On Meat Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite official denials that the administration is nearing a decision to control meat prices, Rep. William J. Scherle, R-Iowa, today renewed his claim the White House is "seriously considering" such action along with alternative, less drastic steps.

Scherle said the administration is "in a real dilemma." Top officials have repeatedly indicated they regarded flat ceilings on farm or retail food prices as unworkable and likely to produce shortages and rationing.

But if the current food price spiral is not eased, the administration faces the grim prospect that organized labor will demand wage hikes going beyond the current 5.5 per cent "guideline" range, Scherle said.

Scherle, in a newsletter issued today, said the administration "is seriously considering placing raw agricultural products under price control." In an interview, he indicated he felt most attention was being given to a possible ceiling on raw or retail meat prices.

The Iowan said he did not believe administration officials have made any final decision. But, he added, "I don't care what anybody says. They are in a real bind. Something is going to have to give, and they know it."

Scherle is himself a farmer and an opponent of farm product controls on grounds such action would produce shortages and black markets. He said administration experts have been discussing a variety of potential altrnative new steps to ease the price of meat.

The steps, Scherle said, include a freeze on retail meat prices at January-February average levels. Other possibilities discussed, he added, included an embargo on meat exports, promotion of "meatless days" for consumers to reduce demand pressure on the U.S. market, and efforts to step up slaughter of worn-out "cull" cows.

Skating, Boy, 7 Hits Auto, Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seven-year-old Vincent Scott was skating near his home when he lost control and went off the sidewalk into the path of an automobile, officers say.

The boy was dead on arrival at Mission Emergency Hospital shortly after the accident Sunday at the intersection of Montana and Saxon streets, police said.

Mardi Gras

Today, Shrove Tuesday, is called in French "Mardi Gras," or "Fat Tuesday," because ceremonies held on that day traditionally included parading a fat ox through the streets. Mardi Gras celebrations mark the last day of festivities prior to Lent. Although the carnival season in the U.S. actually begins with the New Year, the Mardi Gras celebrations start 10 days before Shrove Tuesday. In America, pre-Lenten carnivals usually take place in areas with strong French or Spanish ties. On Shrove Tuesday, spectacular parades highlight the daylight celebrations, followed by masked balls and pageants in the evening.

ART BUCHWALD

Italian Art Of Grave Robbing For Sake Of Culture (And Lira)

WASHINGTON — There is a big brouhaha going on at New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art about a rare Etruscan vase which the Met paid $1 million for. The question now being raised is, was the vase bought from a legitimate source or was it smuggled out of Italy through a black market operator? If the latter is true, Italy may try to reclaim it.

When I read the story, I recalled that 12 years ago in Italy I had the honor of interviewing the chief of all the Etruscan grave robbers in the town of Cerveteri, the capital of Etruscan tomb robbing. I called him Paolo, though that was not his name.

ROBBING ETRUSCAN graves in the hills around Cerveteri was one of the most honorable professions in the area, and Paolo was treated with great respect by everyone except the Italian police.

The big market for Etruscan art work in those days was not museums, but tourists. Paolo had great contempt for most of his tourist customers, who were only interested in obscene vases, for which the Etruscans were famous.

"They don't realize," he told me, "that since the Etruscans painted so few nonobscene vases, they are the ones with the value."

He also was outraged that a whole industry had sprung up in Italy making forgeries of Etruscan vases, which was hurting the grave robbers' market. "We will find a little cup in a tomb," he told me, "and someone will fabricate it two feet high. Then the tourist will say 'I'd rather have the bigger one without any cracks in it.' "

PAOLO TOLD ME you could tell the difference between a legitimate Etruscan grave robber and one who sold phony artifacts by the callouses on his hands. A legitimate grave robber was also known by how much time he had spent in jail for robbing tombs. Paolo did 18 months when he was caught one midnight scrabbling away in a pit that the Italian police had declared off-limits. He felt no guilt about this, since he maintains the Etruscans left no will specifying whom their art work should go to.

Most of the grave robbers of Cerveteri learned their trade digging for archaeologists for $1 a day. Once they discovered how to unearth the Etruscan tombs, they decided to go into business for themsleves. This made Cerveteri one of the most industrious towns in all of Italy, with the archaeologists digging in the daytime and grave robbers moonlighting at night.

PAOLO TOLD ME the most trouble the grave robbers ever got into was when the king of Sweden, an amateur archaeologist, was given the honor by the Italian government to make a dig for an Etruscan tomb. He found one, drilled a hole, and photographed the interior of the tomb, which had rare and marvelous things in it. But the king made a mistake. He decided to wait until the next day to actually open the tomb. He returned to Rome to invite his family and government officials back to watch him dig out the tomb the next morning. Alas, when everyone arrived the next day, the tomb had been completedly picked clean.

"We shared the king's disappointment," Paolo said, "but we have a saying in Cerveteri, 'Never let an Etruscan tomb sit by itself overnight.' "

I don't know if Paolo had anything to do with the Metropolitan Museum's vase or not. But I like to think he did. Some of the pieces he has found in tombs are probably on display in museums all over the world. He told me he respected the Etruscans, but he was not sure he approved of their sex life.

I'm sorry the Met didn't contact me first. I could have sent them to Paolo and they could have avoided the middleman. I wouldn't be surprised if Paolo would have sold the famous vase to the Met for $198, plus four bottles of a decent red Chianti.

Equipment Taken

Basketball equipment valued at $1,000 was stolen from a Geyserville High School bus Saturday at Petaluma High School, police reported. Equipment stolen included 10 uniforms, six pair of tennis shoes and three basketballs.

PHONE WORKS

Belvedere Police Still In Business

The Belvedere Police Department really hasn't gone out of business, despite what some callers were told yesterday.

Persons who called the regular business number were told by telephone operators that the number was disconnected, Police Chief John W. Jaeger reported.

The trouble was simply that the telephone company was a few weeks previous on abolishing the business, nonemergency phone numbr the department has used for years. Equipment designed to switch calls automatically from the old number to the new all-purpose number, wasn't installed at the same time, Jaeger said. The switch had been planned for April 1.

Effective today, callers wanting to talk to Belvedere police either on emergency or on routine matters should use the new number — 435-2611, Jaeger said.

Open Space Plan Before Council

Open space and planning matters will highlight the Larkspur City Council meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The council will consider endorsement of the countywide general plan along with an open space ordinance.

The Doyle Drive approach to the Golden Gate Bridge will also be discussed.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

An Unforeseen Play Defeats Contract Of Six No-Trump

Imagine you have the East cards in today's hand. You have passed quietly during the auction, and you hope that your queen and your ace will defeat the slam. Let's see what kind of prophet you are.

HEAVE A SIGH

West opened the ten of spades, dummy plays the jack, and you cover with the queen. South wins with the king of spades, and you heave a sigh. There went one of your two hopes!

South leads the ten of diamonds to dummy's king and returns a low heart from dummy. You follow suit with a low heart, and South puts up the king of hearts, winning the trick.

South now cashes the queen of clubs, leads the jack of diamonds to dummy's ace, and continues with the ace of clubs. You follow suit, of course, and South discards a spade.

DISCARD IMPORTANT

Dummy continues with the king of clubs. What would you throw away?

Let's suppose you throw away some small diamond or small spade. South discards a second low spade and leads another low heart from the dummy. You play low again, and South wins with the queen of hearts. South leads a third heart, and you must win with the ace. South then has the rest of the tricks, making his slam.

THE SITUATION

What can you do about it? When dummy leads the king of clubs, you must throw away the ace of hearts.

Now South cannot develop the hearts without giving a trick to West's jack of hearts. This puts West in position to take the setting trick with his jack of clubs.

Aren't we lucky that this kind of play doesn't come along very often?

DAILY QUESTION

Partner deals and bids one club.

The next player passes, and you hold:

♠- Q 8 6 4
♥- A 6 5
♦- 9 7 6 5
♣- 7 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond despite the weakness of the suit.

Avoid going from one club to one spade on a weak four-card suit and a bad hand. Make it easy for partner to make a rebid at the level of one you would be delighted to pass him at one heart.

Children's Chorus To Sing Sunday

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Oh, my word. Did today's birthday celebrities really say this? Answer: Yes or no.

1. Valentina Tereshkova, Russian cosmonaute, celebrates her 36th birthday today. She became the first woman in space when a Soviet rocket put Vostok VI into earth orbit on June 16, 1963. Did she celebrate by broadcasting this message: "Women of the world, unite! You have nothing to lose but your chains."

2. Robert (Lefty) Grove is considered one of baseball's all-time greats because of his remarkable major league pitching record. He won 300, lost 141 games in 17 years of play (lifetime average: .682), better than anyone ever elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame. Is it true he also was the bad-tempered ball player who once said to the Philadelphia manager, Connie Mack, "Nuts to you"?

3. Lou Costello, radio and film comedian, made millions laugh in the 1930s and 40s. Teamed with Bud Abbott, this chubby-cheeked fat man continually frustrated his partner, especially in trying to explain who's on first in a baseball sketch. Was it Costello who always said, "I'm a bad boy"?

4. Phillip H. Sheridan, Civil War hero, was the Union Army cavalry general who proved he was a match for the best the Confederates had to offer. After his troops were surprised by a dawn attack at Cedar Creek, Virginia, in 1864, Sheridan rode up and stopped the retreating Yanks by saying, "Face the other way, boys! We are going back." Yes or no?

ANSWERS

1. No; 2. Yes; 3. Yes; 4. Yes.

Locations Cut For Newspapers

The San Rafael City Council, in an attempt to stem a rising tide of newspaper racks that "grow like mushrooms" on city property, last night declared stands will be permitted to encroach downtown on the city right-of-way in seven locations only.

The council also issued enroachment permits for stands at the locations to four newspaper distributors — the Independent-Journal, Pacific Sun, Christian Science Monitor and the San Francisco Newspaper Printing Co., which prints and distributes the San Francisco Examiner and the San Francisco Chronicle.

Sites on city property chosen for the stands are the kiosk, or bus ticket stand under the San Rafael Viaduct; Fourth and C streets at the bus stop; Fourth and G streets by the mailbox; B and Julia streets; Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue at the bus depot; D Street at the post office and at 711 D Street.

The action, which does not affect racks on private property in the downtown area, was taken because the racks detract from the city's beauty and create safety hazards, according to City Mgr. William J. Bielser. "We want to consolidate them instead of having racks scattered about," he said.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

POLICE — Presented a resolution of commendation to San Rafael policeman Brian Bodily for action "above and beyond the call of duty" last year during his rescue of a fire victim on one occasion and apprehension of an armed burglary suspect on another. Bodily was recently named Peace Officer of the Year by the Marin County Peace Officer's Association.

TENNIS COURTS — Approved a joint powers agreement with the Dixie School District for construction of tennis courts at Don Timoteo and Vallecito schools and called for bids at 10 a.m. April 2. The agreement provides that the city spend up to $26,000 for the courts and retain complete control of them as public facilities.

FEES — Set the following fees for utility permits and inspections connected with work requiring operating in and opening of city streets: Pacific Gas and Electric Co., $500 annually plus costs of inspections; Marin Municipal Water District, actual cost of inspections; Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., $2 per permit plus actual cost of time per permit, and all other utilities and public agencies, $2 plus actual cost of time per permit.

HORSE — Said Blackstone Canyon Horsemen's Association members and other horse owners may continue to board their beasts on Mont Marin Open Space Assessment District lands until May 1, pending submission of certificates of insurance totalling $100,000 by each horse owner now using a boarding area on the parcel.

POPULATION — Asked the state Department of Finance to conduct a population estimate of the city for a fee of $400. The estimate is needed to determine allocation of state sales tax monies and other funds, Bielser said.

KIOSK — Said the city will rent the bus ticket "kiosk" under the San Rafael Viaduct to ticket seller William O. Berry of 35 Rafael Drive for $25 per month.

CCPC — Extended the city's joint powers agreement and membership on the City-County Planning Council for one year with sceptical hope that "some good will come of it," as Mayor C. Paul Bettini put it, because "since we've joined, I feel we've been ignored."

CLAIM — Denied a claim for $130 by Earl E. Boutilier.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m., to March 12.

Second Woman Begins Training At San Quentin

Another woman has begun training to be a San Quentin prison guard — and the hiring of women correctional officers will become a routine thing, a San Quentin spokesman said today.

Bonnie Briggs, 29, a former dispatcher for the California Highway Patrol, began a week's training yesterday. She is a Sonoma County resident, according to Lee DeBord, prison information officer. Mrs. Briggs is expected to join Wilma Ruth Schneider, 31-year-old mother of three children, as the prison's second woman guard.

DeBord said that as fast as women pass the qualifying tests, their names will be placed on the hiring list for new guards, along with those of qualified males.

"I don't think there will be anything on the eligibility list to indicate whether the person is a man or a woman," DeBord reported.

Centennial Outlay Depends On Prop. D

The scope of San Rafael's centennial celebration next year may depend on the outcome of a proposed amendment to the city charter that will appear on the April 17 ballot, City Mgr. William J. Bielser told the San Rafael City Council last night.

The city charter now puts a $1,000 lid on promotional and advertising spending butroposition D on the ballot, if approved, will allow the city to spend up to $15,000 on such matters. Proposals to delete or increase the $1,000 lid have been defeated three times by voters since 1967.

"This charter change is appopriate on the eve of our 100th celebration," said Bielser, electioneering for passage of the charter amendment. "The city's participation in the centennial is limited to $1,000 unless the charter amendment passes."

Councilmen last night suggested that a series of events might be appropriate to celebrate the city's 100th birthday, beginning on the official centennial date of Feb. 18 and perhaps stretching to the Fourth of July.

The council declared it will set an official date as a focal point of centennial activities in the near future.

Coffee Speaker

Maurine Ballard, candidate for the Tamalpais High School District board, will speak at a coffee at 11 a.m. Saturday at the home of Ann Tweedt, 9 Lower Alcatraz Place, Mill Valley.

Plan Panel Expansion Is Decided

San Rafael's 60-member Citizens' Advisory Committee on the General Plan will be expanded by at least five members in an attempt to gain representation from adjacent unincorporated areas within the city's "sphere of influence," the city council decided last night. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

The move comes in the wake of criticism from the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board that San Rafael is concerned with the future of areas lying outside city limits but has included only residents living within the city on its advisory committee.

The council said it will ask residents from the following areas to apply for seats on the committee by March 14: Marinwood, Upper Lucas Valley, Santa Venetia, Northridge, San Rafael Meadows, Los Ranchitos, Country Club, Bayside Acres and Lomita Park.

Councilmen said they will decide how many additional members to appoint once all applications have been submitted.

In a related move, the council approved a recommendation by the planning commission that the city's general plan, and not the county's, be used as a guideline within the city's sphere of influence.

Councilman John A. Miskimen was absent.

'Telephone' Set for Noon Show

The Sonoma State College Opera Workshop will present the one-act comic opera "The Telephone" Thursday at noon in Ives Hall.

The program will also include scenes from Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutti," Bizet's "Carmen" and "The Pearl Fishers" and Dounoud's "Faust."

Performers will include Carol Burleson, David Tigner, Tommy Sue Anderson, Larry Bedini, Margot Godolphin, Rosemary Bock and Allan Querin.

Safe Combination In A Safe Place

WEST BLOOMFIELD, N.Y. (UPI) — There were two old safes at the West Bloomfield Town Hall. Since no one had the combination to the locks, a specialist had to be called in to open them.

The first safe contained old town records. The second contained only a tin box. Inside the tin box was the combination to the locked safe.

San Rafael Silent On Redevelop Talks

San Rafael's roller coaster redevelopment negotiations with the County of Marin rolled on last night.

City Atty. Fred C. Robbins, emerging with councilmen after a closed session on the county's latest proposal to end a 10-month squabble on the city's redevelopment plan, reported only that "negotiations will continue" with the county on the matter.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini later revealed, however, that the city will meet the county's latest offer with a counter proposal. "That's all I can say," he said.

County supervisors last week offered to withdraw two court suits blocking San Rafael's redevelopment plans in return for limited veto power over the kinds of projects permissible in the project.

The redevelopment question has been on the verge of settlement on at least four occasions, only to be scuttled at the last moment by one side pulling out.

Annual Pancake Winner Announced

OLNEY, England (UPI) — A 24-year-old housewife, Mrs. Ella Crouch, today won the annual Olney Pancake race in a time of one minute, seven seconds.

The rules require the housewives to cook a pancake and then run, flipping it at least three times in the pan, a distance of 415 yards from the ancient Bull Inn across the village to the steps of the church.

Foreign Aid Tab At $11.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. foreign aid bill for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972, totaled $11.3 billion, an administration report to Congress showed today.

The total included $5.3 billion for military assistance and 6 billion for economic aid, the report said. The figures were released by Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Winifred Setrakian Coffees Slated

Three coffee mornings at 10 o'clock for Winifred Setrakian, candidate for the Kentfield School District Board will be held next week.

On March 13, the coffee will be at the home of Jean Hagler, 345 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, on March 15 at the home of Jan West, 441 Palm Drive, Kentfield, and on March 16 at the home of Barbara Parenteau, 66 Hillcrest Avenue, Larkspur.

Nothing else in the sky quite measures up to the new Northwest DC-10.

The cabin is 18 feet wide and 8 feet high for an open, spacious feel. It has extra wide, reclining chairs grouped in pairs (even in Coach) with plenty of legroom and elbowroom. It has twin aisles and the biggest picture windows in the sky.

And, of course, the inflight service is Regal Imperial—free wine (even in Coach) followed by luscious entrees and delicious desserts. And free stereo for every passenger, too.

For reservations, call a travel agent or Northwest Orient.

Growth Control Plans Presented

By BONNIE BARD

Two similar plans aimed at controlling the spiraling growth rate were presented to the Rohnert Park City Council last night.

Councilman Vernon P. Smith submitted the strongest proposal, limiting the population increase to 1,750 new residents per year. "We do not have an obligation to encourage, promote or permit growth for the sake of growth," Smith said. "On the contrary, we have the obligation to protect and enhance the investment and environment of those already here."

Councilman Armando Flores suggested the council adopt a policy of keeping growth in line with school and city services. He suggested a seven-member growth policy commission be formed to recommend how many new living units should be built, as well as their location and type.

The council set both ideas aside until next Monday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall for further discussion.

Smith's proposal would establish an 11-member growth evaluation commission similar to what Flores proposed. Both said Rohnert Park's population should not exceed 45,000 in the future, although Flores said he thought 35,000 might be a better figure.

Smith said crowded schools, overloaded sewer treatment facilities and dwindling open space are cause enough to consider putting strong controls on growth. "Indeed, at this very moment we have as much to offer and perhaps more to lose than did Santa Clara County in the 1950s," he said.

Councilman Louis G. Beary questioned whether controls on development would really solve the city's problems. "Unemployment could be a worse problem," he warned. "We may be concerned with children on double sessions (at schools), but will we put the head of the household out of a job?"

Developers in the audience heartily cheered Beary's remark, but made no comment throughout the discussion.

City Atty. Richard Maxwell warned the council that growth control measures by cities remain largely untested in the courts and could be struck down.

Smith said he expects the council will get a great deal of pressure from developers and real estate agents in the process of developing the policy. "Developers have a responsibility for conducting their building programs in such a way that they are assets to the community," he said. "This responsibility includes taking all practical steps to insure protection against creating an unhealthy environment."

Smith said that if the council hesitates to establish a control policy, it could instead hold a referendum on the growth question.

Both Smith and Flores said they hope some type of policy and growth commission can be in gear and operating full steam by the end of June.

Rohnert Park Council Increases Sewer Fee

Sewer treatment improvements totaling $176,850 were approved by the Rohnert Park City Councl last night, along with increases in sewer connection fees to cover costs.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the improvements would upgrade quality of treatment to meet requirements set by the state Water Quality Control Board.

The first phase of construction was estimated to cost $90,700, to be followed by further refinements in phase two estimated at $86,150.

To meet the expenses, the council voted to increase sewer connection fees by $100 on single-family homes and by $75 each for apartments and mobile home units. The average connection fee is now $2,734.

Callinan said the first projct would be relocation of the sewer outfall line to the west of the treatment plant. Engineers had warned that outfall in Hinebaugh Creek would create terrible dor this summer for residents of nearby mobile home parks. Callinan said the $2,250 project will stop that problem.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

APPEAL — Overturned the Feb. 8 planning commission decision and granted a use permit to Sonoma County Institute of Human Abilities to convert old Sonoma State College classroom buildings at 265 College View Drive into apartments and classrooms.

MINIBUS — Heard a minibus service for the college and outlying shopping centers could cost $13,000 for the first ten months of operation. The council agreed to request the Golden Gate Bridge District to conduct a survey to determine need for the service.

WELL — Approved a contract with Argonaut Constructors of Santa Rosa to build a connection with the Santa Rosa Aqueduct at a cost of $5,848.

POLICE — Approved purchase of an unmarked police car at an estimated cost of $3,500.

Events Scheduled For Candidates

A series of events for Joan Brownstein, candidate for the Kentfield School District board, and for Gloria Ricardi, incumbent candidate, has been announced.

A joint coffee for Mrs. Brownstein and Mrs. Ricadi will be hald March 14 at 8 p.m. at the home of Kaki Jacobs, at 284 North Almenar Drive, Greenbrae.

A fund-raising gathering for Mrs. Brownstein will be held Friday at 8 p.m. at her home, 25 Wolfe Glen Way, Kentfield, with Rita Abrams, Lyn Elder and Janny Hall of the Magic Mountain Workshop.

A coffee for Mrs. Brownstein will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. by Ann Schmitt, William and Jean Glascock, at the Glascock home, 101 Diablo Drive, Kent Woodlands.

Water Boiling Ban Lifted In West Marin

The Marin County Health Department has lifted its boil-water order for Bolinas and other areas of West Marin.

The order was imposed during January's heavy rains, which washed out the Bolinas water system forcing use of a termporary systerm.

According to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, the order was lifted on the recommendation of the state Department of Public Health.

She said tests on samples from four other systems also indicate the water no longer requires boiling.

Those systems are the Coast Springs Water Co. and the Estero Mutual Water Co., both of Tomales, the Olema Water Co. and the Noren Estates water system of Point Reyes Station.

Burglars Strike At Delicatessen

Large quantities of meat, beer, cigarettes and hardboiled eggs were stolen last Wedesday or Thursday from a Forest Knolls store by burglars, the Marin County Sheriff's Department reported yesterday.

After entering Gai's Delicatessen through an unlocked meat locker, the burglars took 22 pounds of prime rib, three cases of beer, seven or eight cartons of cigarettes and two dozen eggs, deputies said.

Lawrence E. Gai of Pinole, owner of the store at Montezuma Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, valued the missing items at $99.

Highway Safety Coloring Books

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The state of Ohio is buying 600,000 coloring books.

The state Controlling Board voted Monday to spend $13,800 for the books, depicting good highway safety practices. State officials intend to distribute them to first and second graders throughout Ohio.

"The theory behind the coloring book is when you color you stay within the lines and we would like to transfer that to having children stay within lines at crosswalks," Frank Ryan, an administrative assistant in the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, told the board.

JUNK IS OUT

Designer Halston Ushers In The Age Of Serenity

By PHYLLIS FELDKAMP
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — Fashion has been so peaceable lately that one can easily be lulled into thinking nothing much is happening. But just because there have been no sensational hot pants, midis, or see-throughs does not mean this is an uneventful spring.

On the contrary, we are in a significant period. Only once in the proverbial blue moon will you find what obtains in fashion today; a situation where the spirit of a single designer dominates — and an American designer, at that.

For the most part, those in the past who have upset the fashion applecart — Courreges, Gernreich, Quant, Dior, Chanel — have done so through some initial shock or other. What is uncommon about the arrival of Halston, an Iowa-born former milliner who is the designer of the hour, is its having come about without the usual hoopla.

It is he who has ushered in an era of serenity. Where not long ago noisy prints were brought out to the accompaniment of ear-splitting rock, this spring orderly stripes and polka dots come in to Cole Porter tunes. For his opening, another American designer, Chester Weinberg, even went to the length of hiring a string quartet to play Mozart as a background for his tidy tie-silks and pale crepes and suedes.

THE BASIC styles are still classic: the shirtdress, sweater, raincoat, cardigan suit, wrap skirt, pants and caftan. Halston has quietly elevated all these mundane staples to the nth degree of desirability, which cannot be termed an act of radicalism. You could, in fact, quite honestly characterize the Halston mode as reactionary — at the risk of having his free-thinking coterie of fans and associates jump down your throat.

"Less is more," a fashion observer, quoting architect Mies van der Rohe, said of Halston's relinquishment of fancy buttons, braid trims, ruffles and other extraneous gimcrackery in favor of superb cut and fabric.

"Halston got rid of the junk," said another. "He stripped down to the essentials, making clothes seem less important than the woman who is wearing them."

IOWA-BORN FASHION designer Halston's styles dominate the fashion scene with their serenity. Typical is the natural poplin raincoat with matching skirt and hat, plus ivory cashmere sweater. Everyone looks different in his designs because they allow for a choice of accessories to express the wearer's taste.

His concept is close to that expressed by veteran designer Bonnie Cashin, who, though more functional in outlook, has long been preoccupied with form, fabric, color and practical American life-style use. Now the trend toward elegant simplicity is fanning out in all directions. It is felt in Paris: Marc Bohan of Dior and Givenchy are both moving toward uncomplicated day clothes, although they do hold on to flounces and ruffles for evening.

The idea of the woman mattering more than her dress appeals. Thousands of Halston customers last season bought the identical $180 shirtdress of a suedelike material and, along with their best friends and worst enemies, have been wearing it gladly. Sales of the Ultrasuede dress have totaled $900,000, according to the latest accounting at the designer's Seventh Avenue wholesale firm, Halston Originals, Inc. A short-sleeved version to retail at the same price is in his spring line.

A DANGER of uniformity appears inherent here — dangers as well for younger designers who may slip too easily into a simplistic Halston mold. At least one, Clovis Ruffin, whose cleanlined designs retail at $36 to $50 vs. the Halston price sale of from $75 for a shirt to $660 for a costume, is already being tagged "the poor girl's Halston."

But the rationale behind "everybody into her Halston" is that nobody is going to look the same in it. Each customer's individuality is going to shine through, one hopes, as she expresses her own taste by her manner of wearing the dress and her choice of accessories.

(Christian Science Monitor photos)

At his showings Halston's models excel at proving this can be so. Each girl may be tall and rangy, have clothes-hanger shoulders and walk like a dancer, but there all similarities end. Karen Bjomsen is China-doll pretty, with long blonde locks. Pat Cleveland and Naomi Sims, New York's most frequently booked black fashion mannequins, have totally opposite styles. One trips down the runway, tossing her mane of curls with quicksilver movements. The other, whose hair is cropped close to a magnificent head, is a marvel of sinous grace.

Anjelica Huston, daughter of movie director John Huston, grew up riding her father's horses over the Irish countryside. After a fling at acting on one film, she has taken up modeling in New York. She lopes along through a showroom, turning and stopping to confront her audience like a startled thoroughbred yearling.

Until last fall when she spent a few weeks in Paris, wher she decided her style ought to be patterned after the 1920's girls Van Dongen painted, she wore her dark hair shoulder-length. Now she has a Dutch cut, one of the short hairstyles that look new again, given the right shaping on the right head. Like designer-of-the-hour Halston, she is the very model of distinctive, contemporary chic.

ON THE AGENDA

Expectant Parents Classes Planned To Start Tonight

A new series of nine classes for expectant parents will be held by the Education for Childbirth program beginning tonight. Classes will be held weekly on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the offices of Gunhild Brown, RPT, 1300 South Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae.

Classes include instruction to increase the understanding of pregnancy and labor and techniques for breathing, relaxation, comfort in pregnancy and post-natal recovery.

Fathers are urged to attend all classes as the instruction is directed to the couple as a team. Information on breast-feeding and films on childbirth are also included in the series.

Expectant mothers must have written permission from their physicians to participate. Instructor for this series will be Valarie Haworth. Further information may be obtained from the offices of Mr. Brown.

A BENEFIT WINE and cheese tasting party, "Wine Shine," will be held by the Marin County Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club for members and guests Friday at 6:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Shiner of Peacock Gap.

Wine and cheese tasting instruction and appreciation will be directed by the Charles Krug Vineyards and the Marin French Cheese Company.

The party will benefit the scholarship fund for a Marin County resident to attend a summer session at Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts in Gatlinburg, Tenn. Previous years' winners are Mrs. Joseph Reyes, a teacher at the Bel Aire School in Tiburon and Nancy Turk, a College of Marin student and a part-time instructor with the San Anselmo Recreation Department.

Party chairman is Mrs. William Sinclair, and reservations chairman is Mrs. Fred E. Bardo of San Rafael.

A FAMILY STYLE spaghetti dinner will be sponsored by the United Presbyterian Women of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael Friday at 7 p.m. in Canoles Hall, 510 5th Avenue, San Rafael.

The Novato Rural Band will entertain after dinner. Reservations may be made through the church office.

"A TRIP THROUGH the Holy Land" is the topic for the slide talk by Mrs. Richard Calahan for the Mill Valley Community Church Club tomorrow at noon in the church.

A PANEL discussion on "Options in Programming" will be presented by the Ross Valley Council of the Parent-Teacher Association at their Thursday meeting beginning at 10 a.m. in the multi-purpose room of Lagunitas school.

The public is invited to attend. Speakers will be Harry Roach of the Lagunitas School District, Tom Anderson, superintendent at Ross and Jack Hayes, curriculum coordinator for Sir Francis Drake High School.

THE MONTHLY meeting of the Parent-Teacher Guild of Our Lady of Loretto School will be held Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the parish hall in Novato.

Guest speaker will be Sister-Susannah Malarkey, O.P., whose topic will be "Religion Today - Current Trends in Catholic Theology." A question and answer period will follow her talk.

All parishioners and their friends, as well as parents of parochial school children, are invited.

A DRAMA literary program will be presented by the Tamalpais Center Woman's Club Friday at noon. A book review by Mrs. Russell Wolcott will follow at 1 p.m. at the clubhouse.

Dessert luncheon hostesses are Mmes. Joseph Florke, Thomas Cusick and Cecil E. Brous, chairman.

Mrs. Schneider Heads Governing Council

Mrs. Robert Schneider of San Anselmo is the new president of the Sunny Hills Guilds Governing Council.

Birdie Schneider has been a member of the Toy Booth Guild of Sunny Hills for 10 years and has been its president, vice president and treasurer in previous years.

The governing council assists the 32 guilds with fund raising, helping to staff the Bargain Box and acquaint the community with the Sunny Hills program. It also coordinates the Grade Festival in October.

Mrs. Schneider, a 24-year resident of Marin, is also a director of the Marin Council of Civic Affairs, is a member of the Bay Area Social Planning Council, a past president of Acacia Unit of Marin Foundation, and has been active in Sleepy Hollow community projects.

Mrs. Schneider is a native of Oklahoma and she and her husband, a Bechtel Corp. employee, have three sons, William, 22; John, 20; and Thomas, 15.

MRS. ROBERT SCHNEIDER

The other new officers of the governing are Mmes. Charles Spongberg of San Rafael, first vice president; Ray Monson of Novato, second vice president; Robert Berry of Kentfield, recording secretary; and David Matson of Novato, corresponding secretary.

Chairmen are Mmes. Anthony Cameron and William Rochester of Tiburon, public relations; Marvin McCabe of Marinwood, children's services; W. J. McGowan of San Rafael, Bargain Box; Wayne Boone of Fairfax, orientation; and Gibson Crawford of Terra Linda, new fields.

Take Your Wife Or Just Don't Go

NEW YORK (UPI) — Any new husbands confused about the duties of the new state of life can be guided by words by John H. Young. The words were put down in the 19th century, appearing in prose titled "Our Deportment, or the Manners, Conduct and Dress of the Most Refined Society."

The man wrote: "It is the husband's duty and should be his pleasure to accompany her to church, to social gatherings, to lectures and such places of entertainment as they both mutually enjoy and appreciate. In fact, he ought not to attend a social gathering unless attended by his wife, nor go to an evening entertainment without her. If it is not a fit place for his wife to attend, neither is it fit for him."

Rotate Silver Use For Patina

NEW YORC (UPI) — Jewelers say the softly radiant patina or finish that makes silver a glowing prize as an heirloom comes from daily use. They suggest that newlyweds rotate silver service during daily use to insure a unifrm patina.

Wash silver right after use. Wash in hot, sudsy water. Rinse with hot water and dry thoroughly. To remove stains of eggs, mustard or olives, use a reliable silver polish.

RENEE POOLE
April wedding

Reed Willits To Marry Renee Rulon

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rulon Poole of Menan, Idaho, announce the engagement of their daughter, Renee, to Reed Robert Willits of Forest Knolls. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Willits of Forest Knolls.

Renee was graduated from Rigby High School and Ricks College in Idaho. She attends Brigham Young University.

Reed was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, College of Marin and Brigham Young, where he is studying for a master's degree.

The couple plans an April 20 wedding at the Morman Temple in Salt Lake City.

Nursing Degree

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — The University of Missouri offers a Bachelor of Science Degree in nursing, under a program started in 1950.

Rohnert Park Women Choose Mrs. Flores

Cecil Virginia Flores of Rohnert Park has been named president of the Rohnert Park Women's Association. Wife of Armando Flores, vice principal of Martin Luther King School in Sausalito and vice mayor of the Rohnert Park City Council, Mrs. Flores has served as historian and sergeant at arms during her three year membership.

Mrs. Flores said the club supports community projects and charitable organizations which are in need of financial assistance.

Activities for the year include a membership coffee in March, progressive dinner and community Easter egg hunt in April, a fashion show for scholarships to graduating Rancho Cotate High School girls in May and an outdoor salad bar luncheon in June.

The club also plans a group birthday party for emotionally disturbed teen-agers at Napa State Hospital in July, an August pool party, a booth at the Rohnert Park Founder's Day celebration in September, an Octoberfest and a children's community Halloween parade and a Christmas tree festival and party for Napa State Hospital.

A native of Livermore, Mrs. Flores is also active in the Rohnert Park Garden Club and is founder's day committee director. She was graduated from Watsonville High School and attended Cabrillo College in Santa Cruz.

She has lived in Sonoma County for eight years, and she and her husband have two children, Mike, 10 and Beth, 8. Her hobbies include sewing, knitting, bike riding and decorating.

Officers to serve with Mrs. Flores are Mmes. James Pekkain, vice president; David Chaddock, secretary, and Charles Waltman, treasurer.

Silver Purchase In Pairs, Pieces

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Jewelry Industry Council advises that silver flatware and serving pieces can be bought individually or as place setting pairs, such as a spoon and fork, two teaspoons.

Once the couple has begun the silver service, wedding gifters are more than likely to gift them with silvery wedding wishes, making the dream of a complete silver service come true faster.

The bride should register her pattern with the bridal registry outlets in town — either a jewler or department store.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Here's Something To See About A First Love — What It Is

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I wrote "What Is a Crush?" a few years ago. Now, the older me writes "What is a First Love — From beginning to End." Hope you like it. — E.D.

DEAR E.D.:

We do, we do. Incidentally, your "What Is a Crush?" got more requests for repeats than did almost any "What Is a?" column we ever printed.

WHAT IS A FIRST LOVE?
(From Beginning to End)

IT'S MEETING him and really liking him as a friend, but not like THAT!

IT's INDECISION, but then going out with him and deciding you like him like THAT!

IT's DOING lots of special things together: shows, movies, even bowling, because everything becomes special just being with him.

IT's SEEING him every day, talking to him on the phone for hours every night, dreaming about him, and still not being with him enough.

IT's BEING so nervous about meeting his mother that you fall down the stairs.

IT'S STARTING to think maybe you will spend your whole life with him.

IT's WRITING notes to each other and sharing lockers and books.

IT'S NOT needing a diary anymore because you tell him everything.

IT'S BEING ecstatically happy to be alive.

IT'S THINKING about him 25 hours a day, seven days a week, even in your dreams.

IT'S HAVING him tell you nothing's too good for you and he has you on a pedestal 20 feet high.

IT'S THE SUMMER when both of you go away, realizing you won't see each other again for 10 weeks and being very upset, but he reassures you that you'll have a beautiful year together after the summer.

IT'S SAYING goodbye, tears streaming down your faces, while he holds you in his arms.

IT'S SENDING him a letter with a "love" card every day.

IT'S SEEING a green envelope in the mailbox and knowing it's from him!

IT'S GETTING a phone call from him, and all your friends being so happy for you.

IT'S THE MOST beautiful love letters in the world!

IT'S COUNTING the days, the hours, the minutes.

IT'S HAVING him come home and not being able to wait to do all the things you've planned.

IT'S SLOWLY realizing he's changed — you're always the last to see it!

IT'S HOURS on the phone discussing what happened.

IT'S WRITING him letters but not giving them to him because you're not sure how he'll react.

IT'S HOURS of crying, not being able to accept the change.

IT'S TALKING to the mirror, pretending it's him, saying what you wish you could say in person.

IT'S READING all his love letters and asking yourself, "Why?"

IT'S HAVING all your dreams shattered.

IT'S WISHING that he'll change back, but knowing he won't.

IT'S HANGING on until you just can't anymore.

IT'S BREAKING up, both of you crying wishing things hadn't had to change.

A FIRST LOVE is all of this and more, but after all the hurt subsides, you know you'll be thankful for the love you once shared. — E.D. (STILL WRITING)

INSIDE YOUR HOME

Contemporary Mood A Strong Statement

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY

Distributed by General Features Corp.

A consumer goes to an interior designer at the local department or furniture store and explains that he wants to achieve a room that has gleaming wood floors, wood paneling on the walls, lots of storage and a few choice possessions from around the world.

What kind of room would you conjure up if you were the designer? Traditional? American or Canadian Colonial? Country French or English? Any of those would seem a natural solution to the client's needs.

BUT WHAT ABOUT a totally contemporary interior? Can't that also fill the need? A room where individually interesting furnishings are presented in a crisp, nonfussy background. One where each object can be seen and appreciated on its own merit; but one where many possessions can be kept out of sight and brought out only when needed.

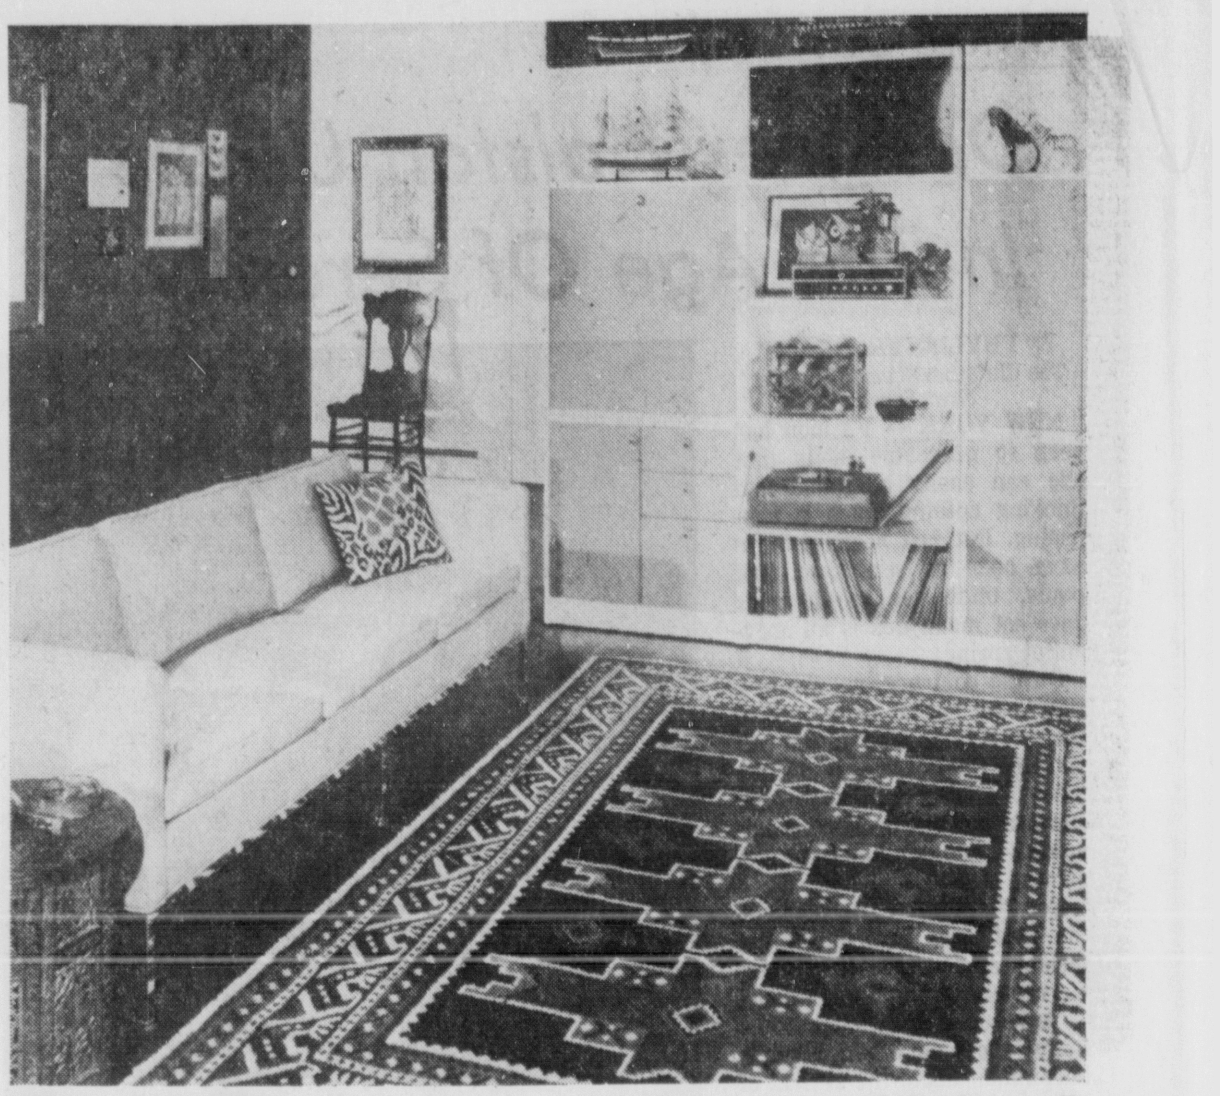
If the idea seems strange, just take a look at the room illustrated today. Wood floors, right? And some walls surfaced in paneling. There's an area rug that has an Oriental motif. And there's a collection of ship models, a Moroccan side table, grandmother's kitchen chair and some African artifacts.

Yet the total effect is that of a contemporary room. And, in fact, even the rug is a 1973 offering.

Am I trying to prove something with this little game? I guess so. I'm trying to prove that comfort, style and personality can be achieved without a hoaky background from a previous design period. And that same truth also works when the structure of a house is designed. Many a contemporary architect has had to educate his clients to understand that a woody, bricky, homey structure does not have to imitate the old family homestead! Comfort is really a timeless element.

PROBABLY THE strongest statement in the living room illustrated is the area rug. It has that universal look that seems to thread its way through many classic designs. It's made by a Danish firm, Egetaepper, a company that has specialized in long-yarn rya rugs.

Now they've moved in a new direction with this plush-pile Kaukasia area rug. When paired with those wood floors and modern storage units and sofa, the rug does become one of those "appropriate anywhere" kinds of possessions. You might even try it in a traditional, country or colonial interior — if you must.



THE CUSTOMER asked for a room effect of polished wood floors, wood paneling, storage space and display of a few choice items from around the world. This room fills the bill with combination storage and display wall piece and new Danish manufacture Oriental motif rug, the focal point of the room. The effect is contemporary.

Boon To Business

Department stores with beauty salons report that short hair for women has been a boon to business. It keeps the women coming into the store oftener, brings in the younger women and aids the wig business, Women's Wear Daily reports.

Is Delegate

Sharon DeBord of Marin is a member of the delegate selction committee for the selection of Bay Area delegates to the Young Women's Christian Association national convention. The convention will be held in San Diego March 26 to 31.

Katherine DeBrecht Engaged

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene F. DeBrecht of Novato have announced the engagement of their daughter Katherine to Michael Patrick Gallagher of San Jose.

Katherine was graduated from Novato High School and the University of California at Davis. She will be graduated from the University of Utah School of Medicine in May and is a Phi Beta Kappa.

She has two brothers, Robert DeBrecht of Princeton, N.J., and Kenneth DeBrecht a student at the College of Marin.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Terrance A. Gallagher of San Jose. He was graduated from high school in Colorado and the University of Colorado. He received his masters degree from the University of Utah.

He is the brother of Terrance, Mary Magdeline, Maureen, Mary Denise and Mary Elizabeth Gallagher.

The couple has planned a June 5 wedding at St. Clair's Chapel in Novato.

Gift For Bride

NEW YORK (UPI) — It is traditional for the bridegroom to give his bride a special gift to wear on her wedding day. A small diamond pin or pendant, diamond earrings, a strand of pearls, a gold and diamond watch are among suitable gifts.

Michael Roy Borden To Wed Janet Wilcox

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan M. Wilcox of Grand Junction, Colo., have announced the engagement of their daughter Janet Lee Wilcox to Michael Roy Borden of Tempe, Ariz.

Janet is the sister of Gary Wilcox of Grand Junction. She is a graduate of Grand Junction High School and Arizona State University and is employed in Phoenix.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Borden of Belmont, formerly of San Rafael. He attended San Rafael High School and is a student at Arizona State University.

The pair are planning to be married June 23.

Lea Says
Go back to Natures way of reducing
Okay, you've tried every new gadget — you've exercised and made muscle, you have broiled in steam baths — and ruined your skin, and it made you look years older. You've starved and lost 5 pounds and gained 10 back. You've worn plastic pants and lost inches on your hips, but alas it not only came back, but you have discovered you now are inches bigger — you now have a flabby fanny. Okay — STOP. Go back to nature's way of reducing. Centuries ago the Europeans found a mineral that cooled the body and when applied with pressure it reshaped the body. This European process not only did the cooling, tightening, and re-condition the skin but it reshaped the body — and after each treatment instead of feeling tired, hot cross, and hungry — as with exercise, you will feel cool, confident, slim, and ready to conquer the world. So get up and go to Ann-Maries.

ART REVIEW

You Can See Art — But What About The Other Four Senses?

By ADA GARFINKEL

Granted that for most people the sense of sight predominates all others. But we can know the world best through the use of our five senses.

The challenge to enlarge upon our sense experience — "actual or implied" is the basis for the current "Sensory Show" at the Marin Society of Artists Gallery in Ross.

Further guidelines to artists and viewers expanding the concept, quote: "Of or pertaining to sensation; conveying or producing sense impuleses; to perceive by all of the senses," prepares one to witness a polished, handsomely varied exhibit. Which is there.

And while many artists believe that nature is the epitome of sense-experience, not a single traditional landscape passed the jury in this show. What they looked for was something special, such as Evelyn Violante's "Spring came early this Year," Or Mary Bonner's "Geo-Flora" which received a merit award.

Some of the entries which appealed to the sense of smell or touch or taste at the same time wereel Cardy's ceramic "Apple Pie," Gwen Stone's dry, acrid fiber glass "Hairy Soot Red," and Helen Hipshman's "Market" with its colorful rows of shiny eggplants, red peppers, stringbeans, and crusty squash.

Among the enticing "feelies" are Naomi Hardy's unlikely "Silk Purse" which plays up contrasting textures that make you want to run your fingers through. Also Glenna Kormier's "Grandma Bean," another merit award winner.

While the sense of sound is not included audibly in the exhibit, it is the theme of June Lederman's birds in her graphic "Sing me a Rainbow." And one can almost hear it in the crackly, electrically-sanded etched surface of Bruce Laurtizen's "Compression," a U-shaped metal construction which was awarded the cash prize.

The sensation of seeing differently is noted in several works.

Barbara Blume's "Golden People," a mosaic-like oil painting, for example, deranges one's senses with its contorted bodies with interchangeable parts and alternating day and night views.

And Martin Stoelzel's "Cathedral of the Absurd," a magnificently painted surrealistic vision is evocatively sensual and votive in its Dionysian symbolism.

"Something Else Sensory," a film shown by Tony Williams at the show's opening, stressed the variety and wealth of textural and color richness to be found all about us in eroded metals, peeling paint, windswept desert weeds, and airborne flotillas — as a few examples. And in the action and interaction of people in motion and in repose.

This exhibit will continue through March 25, and may be viewed daily from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. The gallery is located in the Art and Garden Center.

Tam High Board Plans Sex Education Symposium

The Tamalpais High School District board last night decided to arrange a public symposium on sex education after a citizens' advisory committee said the subject is a "very sensitive issue in the community." (Another Tamalpais district story, page 1.)

A report on sex education, including venereal disease, in the district's three high schools indicated instruction is fragmented among many departments, without coordination.

Edward T. Faber, who prepared the report with Dr. Marjorie McGee and Jane Perry, told trustees "not enough is being done, and what is,8needs more direction and organization so that each student who wishes is exposed."

Faber said it would "be presumptuous" of the committee to organize a sex education course as it is such a sensitive issue. "What's needed is a totally new look at the manner in which it's being taught."

Trustees agreed with Faber's suggestion to conduct a public symposium on the subject within the next 30 to 45 days, and instructed administrative assistant Edward J. Neumeier to work with the committee in organizing it.

Later a district-wide workshop will develop the scope and content of the courses, said trustees.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

ADULT EDUCATION — Agreed that the district work with College of Marin representatives on a suggestion that the college assume responsibility for the adult education programs at Tamalpais, Redwood and Drake high schools.

TRUSTEE — Accepted the resignation of trustee David D. Ring, effective yesterday.

ACCOUNTANT — Authorized advertising for candidates for the new district office position of chief accountant, who will be paid in the range $1,163 to $1,414 a month.

VOTER — Endorsed the new voter education program advocated by county elections officer Peter Meyer.

FIELD — Agreed to spend $1,400 on top of the $1,000 authorized Feb. 5 for soils and engineering studies to determine whether Redwood's athletic field can be rehabilitated.

STUDENT TEACHING — Approved student teaching contracts with California State University and Colleges for the State University in Sonoma, with the University of California at Berkeley and Lone Mountain College, San Francisco.

CONFERENCES — Approved attendances at conferences for 20 district employees.

WALKWAYS — Approved transferring $5,200 from the special reserves for final payments for the Tamalpais high walkways and lighting project: $200 to Bushnell, Jessup, Murphy and Van de Weghe, and $5,200.24 to Neil T. Burton.

DANCE REVIEW

'Giselle' Star Carries Show

By MARIE RAMEAU

SAN FRANCISCO — The American Ballet Theater, opening its San Francisco run with the romantic ballet "Giselle," played to a half-filled but appreciative opera house Sunday evening.

Enthusiasm of the audience for featured artists Natalia Makarova and Ivan Nagy was high and the poor turnout did not diminish the general quality of the performance.

In the first act, the corps de ballet was spirited and danced well, although the choreography of the peasant dances was repetitious.

"Giselle's" main weakness derives from its plot, which centers around a peasant girl who falls in love with a nobleman. She is betrayed by him, goes mad and dies of despair. In the second act, her ghost reappears to the nobleman in a graveyard, and declares to him her undying love.

In view of the increasing sophistication and complexity of 20th-century ballets, this naive 19th-century classic remains a challenge to the best of dancers, as few possess the sensitivity and dramatic talent required to render it believable.

Natalia Makarova, however, possesses both of these qualities and gave one of the most convincing and moving performances of the title role I have seen.

She is exquisitely light and has the impeccable technique necessry for the romantic style, whose difficulties find their culmination in "Giselle." Her "mad scene" was shattering in its intensity, and yet it was never over acted. Also, as Giselle, her relationship with Berthe (her mother) was carefully thought out. This point was made even stronger by the outstanding acting of Ruth Mayer as Berthe, a character who can otherwise become a stereotype.

In Act two the graveyard scene, Makarova appeared to float through the air as if propelled by some external force. This emphasized her exceptional musicality and slender, fragile physique. Her dancing has soul — an undefinable quality conspicuous by its absence in many of her contemporaries.

Karena Brock, as Myrta, the evil Queen of the Wilis, showed strong technique, but gave an indifferent rendition of the role, paying no attention to the dramatic aspects of this potentially powerful part. The result was mechanical and "correct."

Ivan Nagy, as the nobleman Albrecht, showed the stage presence of a great dancer, but he needs to mature more as an actor. It is not sufficient to present fine dancing and noble bearing in this ballet, for acting is really its core. His technique, elevation and control are beyond reproach, but although he has some of Nureyev's intensity in personality, a certain monotony characterized his acting and made his performance less memorable than it could have been.

Sets and costumes were exciting and beautiful, but the orchestra (as usual) was far from perfect — the brass was too loud, and the oboe soloist in Act Two was out of tune.

American Ballet Theatre will perform in San Francisco through the 11th, presenting "Rodeo" and a mixed program along with the classics "Swan Lake" and "Coppelia."

Research Group Says Safety Car Dangerous

NEW YORK (UPI) — A research group at Columbia University, charging that a proposed crash-worthy "safety car" may cause more accidents than it prevents, has suggested reducing its weight and speed to make it safer.

In its report Monday, the group, operating under a grant from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, said the projected car was lethally heavy and damaging to the environment.

It proposed cutting its size and horsepower, building in a device to keep its speed below 50 miles an hour, and installing a fail-safe guidance system to prevent crashes.

Irish Coffee Art Auction Is Set

The Terra Linda Art Association will hold its annual Irish Coffee Art Auction on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, from 7 to 11 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Hundreds of oils, acrylics, watercolors, pen and ink drawings and sculpture will be auctioned off by Al Newman of San Rafael. .Proceeds will benefit the association's gallery and workshop.

Works to be auctioned off will be displayed from Sunday through March 16 at the association headquarters, 4172 Redwood Highway, from noon to 3 p.m.

Oils On Display

Oil paintings by Sonoma State College Senior Charles Rodgers-Martin will be on display at the college library through March 16. He formerly taught at the De Young Museum in San Francisco.

Time Is Opposed To National Press Council

NEW YORK (UPI) — Time Inc., claiming a national press council would give the illusion that the nation's newspapers and magazines were all unified in thought and opinion, says it will not support such a body but would answer its questions.

The Twentieth Century Fund has proposed a national news council.

"Too many politicians and others are already disposed to discuss 'the press' or 'the media' as though all the thousands of magazines, newspapers and news organizations of TV and radio can be considered a single institution," Time Inc. editor-in-chief Hedley Donovan said Monday.

Donovan said that while Time Inc. could not join such a council or support it financially, it would answer its inquiries.

Wine Sales Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California wine sales totaled a record 239 million gallons in 1972, up 13 million gallons over the previous year, according to the Wine Institute.

Pickets Up At Schools In The East

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Teachers in New Haven, Conn., rejected a contract offer from the Board of Education Monday. A union spokesman said pickets would be in front of all the city's schools today.

Officials said they would all on substitute teachers for the 22,000 pupils in the public school system.

In Amsterdam, N.Y., however, teachers were expected back in the classroom today after unanamously ratifying a new two-year contract.

Students remained out of the classroom in Salem, N.H., because of a teacher strike.

The 1,365 New Haven teachers overwhelmingly rejected what the board described as its final contract offer.

A spokesman for the Salem Education Association said about 85 per cent of the school system's 238 teachers refused to work in an effort to force the school board to recognize the union. About 5,200 students are affected by the strike.

Legion Honors Older Members

Wilkins Post 37 of American Legion honored 50-year members at a dinner Saturday.

Honored were: Leo Arbini, Emil B. Bianco, Lawrence A. Cowan, William M. Crane, Richard M. Miehling, Roy R. Rhodes, John H. DeRosa, Joseph Demaretti, Joseph Dias, Charles Giudic, Charles T. Lund, Leon Sigard, Joseph Soldavini, Felix M. Torrano, Frank C. Toscano, Walker B. Vaning, Harry M. Williams and Jack Zander.

The legion was formed by the American Expeditionary Force 54 years ago in Paris, France.

Improvers To Elect

The San Rafael Meadows Improvement Association will elect a successor to retiring Chairman James Jensick at 7:30 p.m. March 14 in room 308-A Marin County Civic Center.

Condemnation Claim Rejected By Council

The Corte Madera Town Council last night routinely rejected a $10 million inverse condemnation claim by the frustrated would-be developer of the Heerdt Marsh. (Another Corte Madera Town Council story, page 1.)

Such action, taken on all claims against the city, clears the way for a lawsuit by William J. Heerdt and developer Frank M. Burke of San Rafael against the town, the state, Marin County and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The commission has turned down plans for the 68 acres of salt marsh six times since 1966, but the town had backed the first five. Burke's most recent proposal for the first time provided no open space. Instead, it showed $5.5 million in marina and commercial facilities.

The project drew unanimous condemnation from citizens' groups in conservation commission hearings in December and the commission unanimously rejected it in January.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

APARTMENTS — Denied an appeal by architect James S. Mallot, who sought to build eight two-story apartments on less than an acre of land where San Clemente Creek reaches Paradise Drive.7The council instead recommended five or six units of lower profile buildings leaving open space at one end of the lot, which has been considered for public purchase as open space.

REVENUE SHARING — Rejected a demand by the East Corte Madera Hilldwellers Association to hold public hearings on $87,000 in federal revenue sharing funds allocated at the council's Feb. 20 meeting. Councilmen said they had enough public input.

DESIGN REVIEW — Introduced an ordinance increasing the membership of the board of design from three to five and giving them decision making authority. The planning commission favored leaving the board advisory.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT — Passed six motions to set up an assessment district northwest of the Corte Madera Shopping Center for 61 homes benefitted by installation of new flood control gates. The town will pay $12,258; homeowners will pay the rest of the $23,498 bill over nine years.

INSURANCE — Increased the town's monthly contribution to each employee's health care program from $17.91 to $19.30 to reflect an increase in price.

RETIREMENT — Voted to pay retired finance director Jack Vance $118 in back retirement pay a recent state law made due him.

POLICE — Voted to require new police applicants to have at least six units of college police science and 15 total college units. In the past, only a high school diploma was needed.

POLICE CAR — Authorized purchase of a radio-equipped police car for about $5,000.

SIGN — Upheld planning commission denial of a freestanding sign for Civic Federal Savings and Loan Association of 645 Tamalpais Drive.

REFUND — Acting as the Corte Madera Sanitary District board, refunded $2,750 to Stanley A. Weigel. The San Francisco judge sought the rebate for 10 unused sewer connections in the Fifer tract.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. March 14 for further hearing on short-term amendments to the town general plan.

Council Seeks Lower Fee From Consultant

The Mill Valley City Council voted last night to bargain with planning consultants Sedway-Cooke of San Francisco on the cost of rewriting the city's general plan, holding in reserve the possibility of giving the job to either of two other firms if the Sedway-Cooke price isn't right.

Richard Jessup, planning commissioner, told the council that a special city committee appointed to interview firms had begun with 11 consulting groups about a month ago and had narrowed down to three, of which Sedway-Cooke was the first choice.

The other two are Wedell Group of Sausalito and Williams and Mocine of San Francisco.

Councilman Robert E. Capron suggested that, before contracting, the city should hold a public hearing with all three firms. He also said the city should consider getting price quotes on the job from the three before making a decision.

But the majority of the council opposed the two ideas. "I am not impressed with the idea of having professional men appear in a public meeting to try to sell themselves," said Councilman Edward J. Boessenecker.

Boessenecker said negotiations should begin with Sedway-Cooke and then move on to the other firms if the first price was too high.

The council voted 4-1 to follow Boessenecker's suggestions. Councilman Gerald J. Hood voted "no," contending the committee had left some better firms off the final list.

Jessup told the council that Sedway had estimated earlier they would charge about $45,000 for the job, which will take about 18 months.

Earlier in the meeting the council also introduced for a first reading a residential building moratorium which would last until the general plan is revised. Because of wording changes in the ordinance at previous meetings, action on the ban has been postponed several times. The council set March 19 as the date for final adoption.

If the ban passes, developers could not submit plans for subdivisions, involving five or more lots, for planned residential developments or for planned unit developments until the plan is revised.

The ban has a one-year initial life and could be renewed for another year.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed session to interview applicants for openings on the art commission.

CONDEMNATION — Ordered the staff to begin condemnation proceedings against three property owners in the vicinity of the Vista Linda Avenue slide in order to get land for a temporary walkway to serve stranded residents in the area. Robert Derzon of 6 Dawn Place presented a petition from 36 residents asking for the walkway.

BUS DEPOT — Commissioned the city's business assistance committee to interview applicants wishing to rent the city bus depot. The council asked for a report and recommendations on applicants at its March 19 meeting. The council set 5 p.m. Wednesday as the deadline for anyone wishing to make proposals for renting the bus depot to apply.

OFFICE SPACE — Authorized staff to lease space at 26 Miller Avenue to house the planning department. Heard a report indicating that a proposal to use the library basement as council chambers would violate an agreement with the state which requires that the library be used solely as a library for 20 years after its construction.

KITE HILL — Heard a report from the parks and recreation commission recommending that the city buy all of Kite Hill if possible and suggesting which portions to buy if the hill is developed.

BIKE PATH — Approved the principle of a bike path bridge in the marsh area at the end of present Sycamore Avenue.

ENVIRONMENTAL REPORT — Set March 19 for a public hearing on an environmental impact report on the Miller Avenue master plan.

BUILDING RECORD — Adopted at second reading an ordinance requiring sellers of residential property to get a zoning report on their land for buyers before any sale. The city will provide the reports for a fee of $50 each.

ARCHEOLOGICAL REMAINS — Asked the planning commission and city attorney to work on ordinances to protect Indian shell mounds inside Mill Valley.

USE PERMIT — At the suggestion of councilman Hood, decided to begin appeal process on a use permit granted to the Sweetwater Lounge by the planning commission allowing the lounge to serve lunches.

Library Board Raked By Council

By REBECCA LARSEN

Several Mill Valley city councilmen and the city manager accused the city library board last night of dawdling instead o acting to cut costs at the city library, which has been running over its budget by as much as $2,000 per month.

In the strongest language used yet with Jean Downs, acting board chairman, councilmen told the board to consider cutting back on professional services and full-time employees, as well as slashing hours and part-time employees as the board has proposed.

The board has opposed firing full-time employees on the grounds it would lower the quality of the library.

The disagreement over the budget has already led to several joint council-library board meetings and the resignation last week of the city librarian, Albert L. Hankenson.

The latest squabble arose when Mrs. Downs reported on alternatives the board is considering for staying within the $153,878 budget.

When she said the board was postponing action until a consultant could be hired to do a time-motion study, the council exploded.

"I'm really disturbed that this problem has been going on for five months and is still facing us," said Councilman Robert E. Capron. "I thought we'd have a decision tonight."

The council voted unanimously to meet with the board to take action on the budget crisis at a joint meeting Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. Mrs. Downs said her board would meet at 10 a.m. that day to try to reach decisions.

The council also said it would let stand a previous motion insisting that all budget overrides stop as of Wednesday.

Among possible solutions which Mrs. Downs suggested are cutting hours from 60 to 50 to reduce part-time payroll by about $600 per month. She said the board is also considering a book buying moratorium for the rest of the fiscal year and a cutback on periodicals. She said the library staff has offered to give up a week's pay by closing down the library during the Easter vacation period.

City Manager William H. Cunningham repeated his previous stand that the library does not need to cut hours if it will only eliminate one or two full-time employees. "All we need to do is get rid of a few of the fat people up there, and we can keep it open for 60 hours," he said. "There's no department in this city that this council wouldn't jump on if they proposed a 16 per cent cutback in hours like the library is suggesting."

He also told the council that the library board suggestions would not result in much saving.

Councilman Capron said the board should consider a middle ground between reducing hours and "slashing the heck out of the professional quality to keep it open as a book warehouse."

Mayor Jean S. Barnard said that on some days the library could announce that it would be a reading room, with no reference or professional service available.

"That goes against the grain for me," said Mrs. Downs.

Councilman Robert E. Burton said the library board's proposals "scared" him.

Mrs. Downs assured him they would be interim measures until the end of the budget period. She said the board is considering other ideas to put the library on a better financial basis in the next budget period.

Burton said Miss Hankenson's resignation would help the budget somewhat, since the city would not be paying a librarian's salary for two or three months.

Anniversary Silver Dollars Being Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To commemorate the nation's 200th anniversary, the Treasury Department wants to produce silver dollars and half dollars carrying "appropriate Revolutionary War designs."

The Treasury asked Congress Monday to authorize the series. The designs would be placed on the reverse sides of the Eisenhower silver dollar and the Kennedy 50-cent piece.

U.S. Mint Director Mary Brooks, who announced the plan, said the new coins would be placed in general circulation on July 4, 1975, a full year before the anniversary, if Congress gives its approval.

YMCA Funds Drive At $8,000

A campaign for sustaining members for the Marin Young Men's Christian Association has rasied about $8,000 since it began Feb. 7, according to James Looney, YMCA executive director.

He said he hopes that the goal of $13,200 will be met by tomorrow, when 65 volunteers will gather at a dinner at Terra Linda High School cafeteria.

The money will be used to finance YMCA programs for youngsters which are not self-supporting, Looney said.

Gourmet Burglar Given Sentence

A 25-year-old San Rafael man yesterday pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a felony charge of stealing a huge banquet from a San Rafael restaurant.

Phillip Brian Crist admitted a felony burglary after Judge David Menary Jr. and the district attorney agreed he will spend no more than six months in jail or in a treatment program. Sentencing was set for April 9.

While Crist was in jail on a malicious mischief arrest Dec. 30, a roommate told police 50 to 60 bottles of wine and liquor and a large quantity of frozen food had appeared in their house Dec. 29 or 30.

Crist was subsequently charged with taking the food and drink from the Medallion restaurant at Second and G Streets.

Coast Commission To Be Described

The recently created California State Coastal Commission will be described at the Marin Conservation League's 39th annual dinner March 14 at 6 p.m. at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

Speakers will be Joseph E. Bodovitz, executive director of the commission, and Richard A. Wilson, a commission member. Reservations may be made at the league office in San Rafael.

Dance, Chess Tourney Set

The Rohnert Park Recreation Department has planned a dance and chess tournament for youngsters.

The dance Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight at the community center will feature music by Sly-Slick and wicked. Youngsters from junior and senior high schools may attend.

The Youth Chess Club tournament will begin Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Rohnert Park Junior High School. Play is open to students from second grade through high school.

Window Smashed And Mike Stolen

A burglar smashed a plate glass window and stole a microphone between 2 and 6 a.m. Wednesday from the banquet room of Nave Lanes, 5800 Redwood Highway, Ignacio, Marin sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Value of the missing item was not determined.

Mrs. Barry Hardman
Woodside

A home improvement loan and the Hardmans.
Special services for special people.

The following is a transcript of an actual interview held with Mrs. Barry Hardman, Woodside, California.

"Well, I'd like to tell you some really spectacular story about our swimming pool loan, but the truth is, I can't.

"I called my Security Pacific Bank manager, told him we wanted to put in a pool, he asked how much money we needed, and zap! We had the loan in nothing flat. Which is sort of spectacular in itself, I think.

"Of course, they know us pretty well. We have a business account, a savings account, a checking account, Master Charge and Ready ReservAccount, a car loan, three or four truck loans...

"It's obvious that we think Security Pacific is something special."

Why not see us first for a home improvement loan. After all, you're already doing business with us. Aren't you?

Action On Marshland Plan Delayed

By ERIC M. INGRAM

Marin County planning commissioners generally agreed last night to permit some residential development on 27 acres of filled marshland behind Marin Catholic High School in Kentfield, but differed on how much and when and where it will be built.

Following four hours' testimony and discussion, the commission unanimously agreed to postpone action until after March 27 when it will further discuss a controversial master plan for 272 condominiums on the site.

The site, fronting Corte Madera Creek at Bon Air Road, is owned by the Catholic church but is under option to San Jose architect Goodwin B. Steinberg, who last night outlined his plans for development.

Besides the 272 condominiums, which would sell for about $50,000 each, Steinberg is proposing a medical center opposite Marin General Hospital.

As the meeting began, Planning Director Werner von Gundell urged the master plan be adopted with a modification reducing the density to 260 units in two stages.

The relatively high density (10 units per acre) is justified because the property is centrally located near shopping, transit and other facilities, he said.

Steinberg then offered the commission a lengthy monologue on the merits of his development and how its two-story buildings "will be a compliment to the community."

His comments brought low groans from members of the capacity audience made up of Kentfield, Larkspur and Greenbrae residents opposed to residential development of the parcel.

Some 16 persons spoke out against the project, claiming it would aggravate already bad traffic and drainage conditions and would destroy marsh plants and wildlife in two small areas where marsh still exists.

John Roberto, planning director for the City of Larkspur, said his city council opposes the development and said it could have an adverse effect on his community.

The property, which is bounded by the city on two sides, will eventually become the responsibility of Larkspur after it is developed, he said.

I it were within the corporated limits of Larkspur now, Roberto continued, the city could demand higher building standards, two acres of public open space and $30,000 in bedroom taxes.

The site is listed in the Larkspur General Plan for open space-recreational use, he said, but added that the city has no plan to buy it.

Larkspur City Councilman Joan Sestak urged no residential development be permitted on the filled land since her city's experience has been such projects tend to sink. (Property owners in the Greenbrae Marina subdivision have filed suit against the developer for such problems.)

Mrs. Sestak said she would prefer to see carefully planned office and professional buildings on the site.

Other speakers, including Willis A. Evans of the Marin Conservation League, Joi Losee of Larkspur and biology instructor Russell M. Ridge of the College of Marin, urged no development of the site.

They all proposed that portions of the land be returned to marsh as habitat for wildlife, including the endangered red bellied harvest mouse.

Two members of the audience spoke in support of the project, both claiming it would be an improvement to "the mess" others were calling a marsh.

David H. Jordan and Paul H. Brent, both of Greenbrae, said the proposed project is no different than neighboring developments that were built on filled marsh.

"These Johnny-come-lately ecologists talking about the loss of wildlife. . . are pretty ridiculous," said Jordan, a 24-year resident of the area. "It's easy to begin speaking of this as the beginning of the rape (of the creek's marshes) but it's not. . . it's the end."

He said it would make no difference to the creek's ecology if the site were developed or not.

Tom Thorner of Kentfield, meanwhile, said the planning commission should not approve any project until it determines whether the Marin Municipal Water District, which has proclaimed a threatened water shortage, can supply the water.

Other nearby residents urged that the site, a ponding area for rain runoff, be placed in the county's protective F-2 flood zone. (Such action would require extensive engineering studies.)

Commissioners, looking drawn, agreed to postpone any formal action on the master plan and related zoning to March 27.

Commissioner John F. West, generally considered an opponent of large developments, said he would support some residential use of the land because parts of it "are a mess." However, he said, more open space for marshes has to be shown and the density reduced.

Commissioners Margaret B. Azevedo and Rebecca Watkin said they would support development of the property if the density were reduced and a firm commitment made that 15 per cent of the dwellings would be sold to moderate-income families. They didn't say what density they would support.

Commissioner George P. Leonard, noting the central location of the property, said he would support higher densty if more moderate-income housing is provided.

Commissioner William Long said he was concerned over residents' fears that a ponding area would be destroyed and urged further study by the developer' engineer.

Commissioners Jack G. Nixon and Kenneth G. Stevens withheld specific recommendations though Nixon said he wanted more staff comment on the proposal that the development be built in two stages, the second no sooner than four years from now.

Von Gundell said that recommendation is based on the proposed countywide general plan to limit the rate of growth.

REUNION — Leonard Simms of San Rafael and twin sister, Lucille Ranstrom, getting together after 20 years, look over snapshots evoking the past, with Mrs. Ramstrom's daughter, Kathy Monahan, who arranged the reunion, and the latter's own daughter, Christine. The three being entertained yesterday at Simms's San Rafael home, flew in from Pennsylvania over the weekend.

Twins Celebrate 50th Birthday; Event Marks A 20-Year Reunion

By PAUL LIBERATORE

Lucille Ramstrom "waited until they perfected the airplane" to visit her twin brother, Leonard Simms of San Rafael.

They hadn't seen each other in 20 years when Mrs. Ramstrom's daughter, Kathy Monahan, 21, persuaded her to make the flight from Pittsburgh, Pa., to San Francisco to celebrate their 50th birthday together.

"I had to practically carry her on the plane," her daughter said.

After a tearful reunion at the airport Saturday, the twins were guests of honor at a dinner party at La Petite Auberge restaurant in San Rafael, where they were surprised by family members and old friends.

"It feels beautiful to see her again," said Simms, of 132 Glen Park Avenue.

Mrs. Ramstrom recognized her brother immediately at the airport, although after 20 years "he has a new wrinkle or two," she said.

Simms left Pittsburgh after the death of their mother, settling in San Rafael where he went to work at Sam Buschaert's auto upholstery shop in 1956 as a windshield cutter.

He was stricken in 1957 by a cerebral hemorrhage that left him speechless and with his right side paralyzed.

Following a delicate 10-hour operation, Simms began a courageous recovery, regaining his speech and the use of his right arm and leg.

With the help of his boss, the late Sam Busschaert, he was able to regain his skills as a windshield cutter and return to work full-time at the upholstery shop, where he still is employed.

Over the years, circumstance and Mrs. Ramstrom's fear of travel kept the twins apart.

"I drove to New Jersey once to visit my son," she remarked, "and ended up in New York. If I tried to drive to California, I probably would have wound up in Canada."

Before Saturday, their only contact was by letter and by telephone.

Mrs. Ramstrom's daughter, Kathy, whom Simms hadn't seen since she was 14 months old, made most of the arrangements in Pittsburgh. She made the trip along with her own daughter, 14-month-old Christine.

Frank Holland, Simm's cousin and roommate, handled the details on the California end.

"She is two minutes older," said Holland, who was quickly corrected by Mrs. Ramstrom who pointed out that lthough her twin brother is 50, she is "only 42."

"They fought like cats and dogs," recalled older brother Lawrence Simms, 53, up from Los Angeles for the reunion.

"They still do," quipped Holland.

"And she still wins," laughed Simms.

Reservists For Police Approved

The Belvedere City Council last night approved the formation of a police reserve unit to provide practical training for men interested in policework and to assist regular officers.

"We are all vitally interested in the success of the program," said Mayor Thomas S. Price. "Hopefully it will be a model for tying active duty with higher education."

Councilmen were concerned that reserves receive adequate training before being put into the field.

Police Chief John Jaeger assured them that reserves would be required to complete 50 hours of training before they assume regular duties and are authorized to carry firearms.

While in training, reserve officers will ride along and observe regular officers on duty. "They will simply absorb," said Jaeger.

After that, their primary function will be to ride as "second man" and to perform office and clerical duties in relief of regular policemen.

They will never work alone, said Jaeger, except in transferring prisoners to San Francisco city jail.

The council instructed Jaeger to present a report on the progress of the program at its July meeting.

In creating the reserve norce, Belvedere joins the cities of Fairfax, Mill Valley, Novato and San Anselmo.

The Belvedere City Council also:

BUS — Agreed to request Golden Gate Transit limit bus service at Teal and Beach roads to three buses between 7 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. and six buses between 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m., citing limited usage of the service.

STUDY — Authorized Mayor Price to send requests for bids to six consulting firms to compile a study of city operations to see if Belvedere is being run as efficiently as possible.

SANITARY DISTRICT — Turned down a cost sharing proposal by Tiburon Sanitary District for a sewage treatment process to be leased from Bio-Kinetics Inc. on city attorney Robert F. Mackay's opinion that it would be "a prohibitive gift of city funds."

DOGS — Accepted a suggestion by Councilman David E. Bordon that the police department send form letters to owners of dogs breaking city animal regulations notifying them of the infractions and advising them that reports will be sent to Humane Society if infractions continue.

LITTLE LEAGUE — Voted to contribute $250 to sponsor two teams in Tiburon Peninsula Little League.

CONFERENCE — Authorized Mackay to attend conference of the city attorneys' department of League of California Cities March 2-4 in Redding.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 7:30 p.m., March 19, at city offices, when council will make final decision on payment for repair of city storm drain damaged during construction of Jerome Debs' residence, 314 Bella Vista Avenue. Next regular council meeting at 7:30 p.m. April 2 at community building.

Moratorium Extension To Be Sought

Sausalito City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr will ask the city council to extend Sausalito's moratorium on new subdivisions for one year at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

St. Cyr said the extension is needed because the city has not yet completed new subdivision regulations or its open space element. The open space committee, which has been working on a plan for land acquisition for the past year, is due to present its recommendations to the council sometime next month.

"The open space element is nearly ready to go," the city manager said, but added that the subdivision regulations are nowhere near completed.

The council adopted the moratorium last March to give officials time to revise the subdivision ordinance and prepare the open space acquisition plan. Affected are lot splits and residential planned unit developments.

Persons wishing to proceed with developments during the ban can obtain a variance if they can prove their projects will not be affected by the open space plan or new regulations.

Crash Fatal To 25 Blamed On Engine

MOSCOW (UPI) — Engine failure probably caused the crash of a Bulgarian airliner that killed all 25 persons aboard about one mile from the Sheremetvevo Airport, Bulgarian sources said Sunday.

However, western sources said there was an unconfirmed report the Balkan Airlines plane, a Soviet-built Ilyushin-18 turboprop, exploded in the air before going down in flames Saturday. They said the tail section was the only part of the wreckage found intact.

Drumgo Loses Bid To Dismiss Counsel

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — San Quentin inmate Fleeta Drumgo yesterday lost a bid to fire his court-appointed attorney and replace him at public expense with a lawyer of his own choice.

The California Supreme Court ruled 4 to 3 that trial judges have the power to select "any competent counsel" to represent an indigent defendant.

Drumgo, who was acquitted last year in connection with the murder of a Soledad Prison guard, is awaiting trial along with five other San Quentin inmates on murder charges stemming from a bloody uprising at San Quentin in August 1971.

During an abortive escape attempt three correctional officers and three inmates, including Soledad Brother George Jackson, were killed.

San Rafael attorney Richard H. Breiner had been appointed in Marin Superior Court to represent Drumgo on five counts of murder, but the inmate sought to have him replaced with Richard Hodge, a San Francisco lawyer.

Hodge was part of the defense team which represented the so-called "Los Siete," who were acquitted of killing a San Francisco policeman.

Breiner had joined Drumgo in seeking Hodge's appointment, after the inmate said he did not want the San Rafael lawyer.

The high court ruled, though, that "the appointment of counsel to represent an indigent rests, as always, in the sound discretion of the trial court."

The court unanimously found that Breiner had exhibited "competence of the highest level" in the case.

Since he is competent, four jurors agreed, the trial court has not abused its discretion in appointing him.

Three justices noted, however, that since Breiner wanted out of the case and Hodge had volunteered for the appointment, he should get it.

Yesterday's decision should mean that the long-stalled case will be returned to the Marin Superior Court calendar for further action. No trial date has been set yet.

Arrest Is Made After Auto Crash

An 18-year-old San Rafael man was hospitalized and a 25-year-old Fairfax man arrested after an accident at 12:56 a.m. today at Lindaro and Second streets, San Rafael, police reported.

Robert Oefinger of 237 Picnic Avenue, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with possible concussion, and cuts of face and neck, hospital spokesmen reported.

Robert Michael Meyer of 48 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at the same hospital for a cut on his left wrist and scalp. He was then booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving. He was released on $1,200 bail to appear Monday in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, Oefinger was northbound on Lindaro Street when the light turned green to yellow. His car and Meyer's car, eastbound on Second Street, collided.

Rejects Rights Move

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — The equal rights for women amendment to the Constitution suffered another setback Tuesday when the Maine Senate rejected it by a single vote—17 to 16.

Special Meeting

Kentfield Fire District board will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the firehouse to discuss the preliminary 1973-74 budget, according to fire chief Kenneth T. Kamp.

Flag Writing Charge Booted

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — A state law that bans the use of words or symbols on the American flag is vague, arbitrary, overbroad and unconstitutional, the New Jersey Supreme Court ruled Monday.

In a 6-0 decision, the court overturned the law which made it a misdemeanor to affix to any flag "any inscription, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, words, characters, marks, notice or token of any nature whatsoever."

The decision reversed the conviction of Stanley Zimmelman, a graduate of Temple University arrested July 4, 1970, in Camden County for having two American flags with the peace symbol on his ice cream wagon.

Sheriff's Patrol Horse Show March 17, 18

The 4-M Mounted Sheriff's Patrol will have its 13th annual horse show March 17 and 18, starting at 8:30 a.m., at the Atherton Club Stables, 50 H Lane, Novato.

Competition in the English division will be March 17 and in the Western division March 18, with judging by Lawrence Mayfield of Linden, San Joaquin County.

Entries for the competition will close March 13. Further information can be obtained from Kathe Carson, 1850 Indian Valley Road.

Two Badly Hurt In Auto Crash

Two persons were badly hurt yesterday in a single-car crash on Shoreline Highway just south of Point Reyes Station.

The California Highway Patrol, which had no details of the accident, said Herbert G. Lyttle, 21, of Inverness, was southbound on the Highway about 4:30 p.m. when his car ran off the road.

Lyttle was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital with a puncture wound in the throat and facial scrapes and cuts.

Council Candidate Coffees Scheduled

Three campaign coffees for incumbent councilman Lawrence E. Mulryan, seeking his first full term on the San Rafael City Council April 17, have been scheduled over the next week.

Mulryan will speak at 8 p.m. Thursday at the home of John Galbraith, 863 Butternut Drive; 8 p.m. Friday at the home of Eric Eitreim, 17 Bolanos Drive and at 8 p.m. March 13 at the home of Hiro Mareta, 202 Bungalow Avenue.

Do You Want
A BETTER Deal
On The SAME New Car?

All new car dealers have the same models, styles, colors and optional equipment on their new cars. What is the difference between dealers on the same make of car?

THE ANSWER IS IN THE COST OF DOING BUSINESS
IN ONE AREA AS AGAINST ANOTHER

Marin County new car dealers have a much lower cost of doing business than the dealers "over the bridge." This is why your new car will cost less in Marin County. WHY DON'T YOU CHECK AND SEE!

12 Drivers Sentenced

Twelve persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court on misdemeanor drunken driving charges.

Motorists are considered legally drunk at a blood alcohol reading of .10, approximately equivalent to five weak drinks in an hour or eight in four hours.

Sentenced Wednesday by Judge Gary W. Thomas were:

Manuel Estrada Martins, 37, of 413 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley, arrested Dec. 6 on Fourth Street, San Rafael, given two days in jail, a $302 fine and one year probation, and ordered to attend a school about drunken driving.

John Howard Epstein, 46, of San Francisco, arrested Jan. 13 on Highway 101, given 15 days in jail, suspended to a $302 fine and two years probation.

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Marin Hospital District
San Rafael, California

We have examined the balance sheet of MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL as of June 30, 1972 and the related statements of revenues and expenses, changes in fund balances and changes in financial position for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

As more fully described in Note 2 to the financial statements, the Hospital's financial statements are presented in accordance with the recommendations included in the recently published Hospital Audit Guide of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Fund balances and related assets and liabilities at the beginning of the year have been restated to conform with current year's presentation.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of Marin General Hospital as of June 30, 1972, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year, except for the change, which we approve, described in the preceding paragraph.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
JUNE 30, 1972

NOTE 1 - SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES:

A. Patient Service Revenue:

Patient service revenue other than that derived from the Community Mental Health Center (See G below) is accounted for at established rates on an accrual basis. Allowances and uncollectibles relating to such revenue are accounted for separately.

B. Third-Party Reimbursement:

A substantial portion of patient service revenue is derived from the Federal Medical Program (Medicare) and the California Medical Assistance Program (Medi-Cal). Differences between revenue at established rates and estimated amounts to be realized under the cost reimbursement principles of the programs are charged or credited, as appropriate, to allowance accounts on an accrual basis.

Timing differences in recognition of expenses for financial and cost reimbursement purposes, which result principally from the use of an accelerated method of depreciation for cost reimbursement and the use of the straight-line method for financial reporting, are deferred for financial reporting.

C. Gifts, Grants and Bequests:

Gifts, grants and bequests that are not restricted by donors are reported as non-operating income.

Restricted resources resulting from gifts, grants and bequests for specific operating purposes are credited directly to specific purpose funds balances when such gifts, grants and bequests are made, and reported in the unrestricted funds financial statements as other operating revenue in the period in which they are expended and included in operating expenses.

Restricted resources resulting from gifts, grants and bequests for plant replacement and expansion are credited directly to plant replacement and expansion funds balances when such gifts, grants and bequests are made and are transferred to unrestricted funds balances in the period in which they are expended.

D. Inventories:

Inventories are shown in the financial statements at the lower of cost or marker, cost being determined on the first-in, first-out method.

E. Property, plant and equipment:

Depreciation is provided by use of the straight-line method over estimated useful lives ranging from 40 years for buildings, to 5 to 20 years for equipment.

It is the policy of the Hospital to fund accumulated depreciation.

F. Pension Plan:

The Hospital's policy is to fund pension costs accrued. Included in annual pension expense is amortization of prior service costs over a period of 25 years.

G. Operations of Community Mental Health Center:

The Community Mental Health Center has been operated (see Note 6) under terms of a contractual arrangement between the Hospital District and the County of Marin whereby the county reimburses the District as follows for county patients:

i. In-patient - All costs in excess of amounts billed to patients and other third-parties, or in the case of county patients, for charges at standard rates plus costs in excess of such rates.

ii. Out-patient - All costs, except depreciation, related to the out-patient facilities and equipment, reduced by amounts received from patients.

NOTE 2 - UNRESTRICTED AND RESTRICTED FUNDS:

To conform to the current year's presentation, which is based upon the principles set forth in the recently published Hospital Audit Guide of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, certain reclassifications of, and additions to, beginning fund balances and related assets and liabilities have been made as of June 30, 1971. These restatements are as follows:

A. The Marin General Hospital volunteers fund balance, not previously reported in the Hospital financial statements, has been added to the unrestricted funds balance. This fund balance amounted to $25,708 at June 30, 1971 and consisted of cash of $26,166 less accrued expenses of $458.

B. Unexpended gifts not restricted as to use by the donors in the amount of $67,119 have been reclassified from specific purpose funds to unrestricted board designated funds.

C. Unexpended gifts restricted by donors for replacement of property, plant and equipment, in the amount of $26,144 have been reclassified from specific purpose funds to plant replacement and expansion restricted funds.

D. Unexpended funded depreciation in the amount of $515,079 has been reclassified from restricted plant replacement and expansion funds to unrestricted board designated funds.

The effect of the above changes on the current year's excess of revenues over expenses was as follows:

Increase in other operating revenue	$ 6,293
Increase in operating expenses	6,293
Increase in income from operations	-0-
Increase in non-operating income	60,803
Increase in excess of revenues over expenses	$60,803

NOTE 3 - BOARD DESIGNATED UNRESTRICTED FUNDS:

Of total unrestricted a sets of $10,552,008, the Board of Directors has designated $545,936 to be used as follows:

Funded depreciation for replacement of property, plant and equipment	$379,714
Funded Medicare accelerated depreciation to be reimbursed to the federal government in future years	100,000
Unrestricted gifts for replacement of property, plant and equipment	$ 66,222
	$545,936

At June 30, 1972 depreciation of $161,041, in addition to the above amounts, had not as yet been segregated from operating assets.

NOTE 4 - FEDERAL AND STATE MEDICAL CARE PROGRAMS:

At June 30, 1972 the amounts receivable in excess of provisional payments received under the Federal Medical Program (Medicare) and the California Medical Assistance Program (Medi-Cal) for the fiscal years June 30, 1968 through June 30, 1972, inclusively, were as follows:

Medicare	$152,971
Medi-Cal	19,310
	$172,281

Deferred Medicare and Medi-Cal revenue (see Note 1) resulting from timing difference in recognition of expenses for financial and cost reimbursement purposes amounted to $254,000 at June 30, 1972.

The Hospital had non-interest bearing interim financing advances under the Medicare program totaling $126,600.

NOTE 5 - PENSION PLAN:

The Hospital has a contributory pension plan for its eligible employees. The total pension expense was $111,063 for the year ended June 30, 1972. At January 1, 1972, the assets of the pension plan exceeded all vested benefits.

During the year, a change in actuarial assumptions was made and the plan was amended both as to benefits and employees covered. The effect of these changes was to reduce pension plan expense for the year approximately $62,900 and to increase unfunded prior service cost $152,000.

NOTE 6 - COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CENTER:

The amounts included in revenue relating to the Community Mental Health Center were as follows:

In-patient:
Amounts billed to patients, county and other third parties at standard rates	$ 963,324
Excess of costs over amounts billed to patients and other third parties at standard rates (received or receivable from County of Marin)	104,435
	1,067,759
Out-patient:
Costs of care provided (excluding depreciation of $12,077), received or receivable from County of Marin	1,007,730
	$2,075,489

At June 30, 1972 the Hospital had non-interest bearing interim financing advances from the County of Marin for out-patient costs totaling $80,000.

Effective July 1, 1972 the County of Marin assumed the out-patient operations and Unit "B" of the in-patient operations of the Community Mental Health Center. Although a final contract has not as yet been effected, terms are expected to include the following:

A) The facilities will remain under the ownership of the Marin Hospital District; however, the Hospital will not be reimbursed for depreciation.

B) Equipment of $17,789 and accrued vacations of $56,923 as of June 30, 1972 are to be assumed by the County of Marin.

C) Costs of operation are to be borne by the County of Marin including reimbursement to the Hospital for any expenses it incurs in maintaining the facilities.

The operations of the Unit "A" in-patient facility will remain with the Hospital. However, it will receive from the federal government, through the County of Marin, a staffing grant in addition to amounts billed to patients and other third parties at standard rates.

NOTE 7 - KERNAN ROBSON TRUST:

Marin County Hospital District (for use in the Marin General Hospital) is beneficiary under a remainderman interest in a trust created under the will of Kernan Robson. The beneficial interest "for the establishment of free room or rooms" is to be received by December 31, 1977. The value of the Hospital's interest in the trust at June 30, 1972 is approximately $460,000; however, an indeterminable amount of prior and future capital gains taxes is to be deducted therefrom. Under the terms of the trust, the hospital is currently receiving periodic distributions of a portion of the income of the trust.

NOTE 8 - COMMITMENTS:

At June 30, 1972 the Hospital was obligated for uncompleted contract costs in the amount of $190,074 for remodeling projects.

The Board of Directors has approved various remodeling and expansion projects for bids which have not as yet been let at June 30, 1972. Costs to construct and equip such projects are estimated to be approximately $220,000.

The Hospital is committed under long-term lease contracts through January, 1977 for equipment and maintenance providing for average annual rentals approximating $43,900.

Court Backlogs Are Reduced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — State Supreme Court Chief Justice said superior courts in California reduced their backlog of criminal and civil cases last year for the first time in seven years.

Chief Justice Donald R. Wright told a conference of judges Saturday sound administrative practices caused the decrease in the courtroom waiting line.

Wright said the new practices were based on recommendations from a similar conference in 1971.

The judges at this year's conference approved 18 proposals to further speed up courtroom procedures.

Carrier Midway Returns To U.S.

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UPI) — The USS Midway, first attack carrier to return from Vietnam since the cease-fire, arrived home to a waving crowd and a huge "Welcome Home" sign fluttering from the Golden Gate Bridge.

A dense fog and rain Saturday didn't hinder scores of persons who crowded onto the bridge to welcome home the 65,000-ton vessel, while the Midway's 4,500-man crew stood proudly in formation on the deck.

Another 4,000 persons were on hand to greet the men as the ship docked minutes later at its home base, Alameda Naval Air Station, to complete an 11-month tour—a record for a single combat cruise of a U.S. fighting ship.

Court Will Hear Storer Challenge

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Supreme Court yesterday agreed to hear a challenge of California's election laws by would-be independent candidates, including former Marin supervisor Thomas T. Storer.

Storer sought unsuccessfully to get on the ballot las November as an independent candidate for Congress.

The high court yesterday, however, accepted for hearing next fall the appeals of rulings by a three-judge U. S. District court panel. This panel had rejected the challenge to the constitutionality of the state election code which makes it virtually impossible for a person to qualify as an independent candidate.

Joining Storer in trying to knock down the law were Lawrence H. Fromhagen, a would-be independent congressional candidate from Santa Cruz County, and Communist party members Gus Hall and Jarvis Tyner.

Hall and Tyner wanted to run as independent candidates for president and vice president on California's 1972 ballot.

State law requires an independent to gather signatures equal to 5 per cent of the vote cast in the preceding election, and voters who have participated in previous primary elections are not eligible to sign.

Independents must gather an "immense number of signatures from a small portion of the general public" during a 24-day period in August and September when many persons are apt to be on vacation, lawyers for the challengers noted.

The District Court which had rejected the challenge, said the laws were designed to prevent "the confusion of a laundry-list ballot."

Storer today hailed the Supreme Court's acceptance of the case and said a decision favorable to his point of view "might make politics a little fairer."

Density Set On 'Public Scenic' Sites

The Novato City Council last night set density on lands which had been designated as "public scenic" and marked for potential acquisition by the city or county in the Novato General Plan.

Councilmen changed the designation of the lands to "private scenic" and then set a density range from one unit per 10 acres to one unit per 60 acres, according to senior planner Mark Westfall.

Councilmen also asked the staff to explore the possibility of having an overlay of open-space zoning on the lands, Westfall said.

The council also changed all land designated for private scenic to hill and canyon residential, thereby increasing the allowable density.

Private scenic would have permitted a range from one unit per two acres to one unit per 10 acres, while hill and canyon residential will permit a range from one unit per acre to one unit per five acres.

The council also continued for one week an appeal from Kaufman and Broad Inc. of planning commission denial of precise plans for 224 apartments along San Marin Drive between San Marin High School and the San Marin Club.

Historic Old House Topples Into Lagoon

An historic Bolinas house, which was toppled by the 1906 earthquake and then rebuilt, collapsed and fell into the Bolinas Lagoon last night.

The two-story wood-frame structure at 81 Wharf Road, known locally as "The Studio," fell about 9 p.m. It had been declared unsafe for human habitation by the county building department on Feb. 14.

According to attorney Thomas J. Barfield, Bolinas's unofficial historian, "The Studio" was built in 1895 by Frank G. Waterhouse, the community's first subdivider.

Waterhouse had taken over operation of the village's only grocery store after its owner, John C. Gibson, died in 1895. He constructed the building for use as a warehouse for the tore.

His wife, Nellie Esten Waterhouse, a well-known painter, used the top floor as her studio.

The earthquake of April 18, 1906 brought the building down, but it was quickly rebuilt.

Mrs. Waterhouse continued to use the studio until the early 1920s. Her husband died of a stroke in the building in 1921. After that, it was turned into a repair shop by a man named Ed Powell.

Powell operated it until World War II, when the building was turned into a recreation center for the Coast Guard.

Waterhouse's daughter, Mrs. Lewis G. Pepper, and her husband, converted it into a residence after the war.

The building, which had been sagging toward the water, had been empty for several months. Its current owner, Dr. Carl Smith of Orinda, had used it as a weekend retreat until it became uninhabitable.

PhD Program Is Ordered

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California is heading for a big oversupply of PhD's by the end of the decade unless planned expansion of the state's graduate study programs is pruned back, says a report prepared for a legislative committee.

The report, released Sunday by the legislature's Joint Committee on the Master Plan for Higher Education, was prepared by Lewis B. Mayhew of Stanford University.

The surplus has already begun to appear in many fields and is accompanied by an oversupply of teachers, the report says. The only area where need for persons with graduate training will continue to outstrip the supply, Mayhew adds, will be the health sciences and related fields.

'Resource' Teacher Post To Be Ended

The Nicasio School District board last night voted to abolish the "resource" teacher post at the school in order to make necessary budget plans for next year according to Marie S. Rogers, board vice president.

The full-time teacher has provided special help to students with reading problems in the small school.

An Earthquake Aftershock 13 Days Later

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Another aftershock was recorded Monday from the earthquake that rattled Southern California 13 days ago.

The aftershock at 4:56 a.m. registered 3.5 on the Richter scale, the Caltech Seismological Laboratory reported.

It was at least the 14th aftershock since the quake Feb. 21, but the first in the past week.

The earlier quake, registering 5.75 on the Richter scale, had its epicenter offshore from Point Mugu. It did at least $1 million worth of damage to the coastal region of Ventura County and was felt throughout the Los Angeles region.

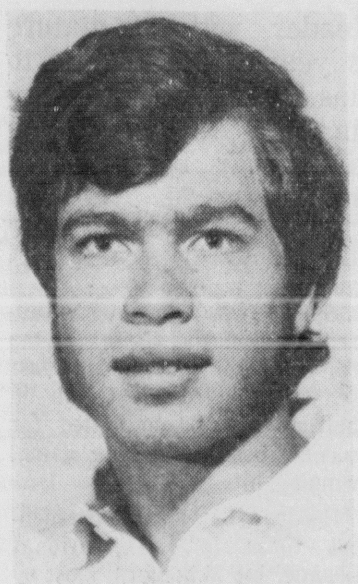
They'll Be Watching This Young Net Star

Jerry Suyderhoud of San Anselmo, Oregon State University's sophomore tennis star, has shown some of the Pacific Northwest's top professionals he's a player they had better keep their eyes on.

Suyderhoud, who will be starting his second season as the Beavers' No. 1 man, defeated three highly regarded players and advanced to the finals of the Timber Hill Racquet Club Invitational in Corvallis recently. In the finals, he lost to Dick Knight, the tourney's No. 1 seed, a man considered the outstanding pro in the Pacific Northwest.



JERRY SUYDERHOUD

"I thought he did a great job, not only in the way he played, but also in the manner in which he conducted himself throughout the tournament," said Paul Valenti, OSU's veteran tennis coach. "He did one heck of a job, and I was proud of him."

The OSU tennis team opens its 1973 season on March 18 in Reno against the University of Nevada. Other foes on the Oregon State spring vacation trip include Sacramento State, Cal at Davis, San Jose State, Canada College in Redwood City, and Foothill College in Los Altos, so Suyderhoud, young brother of water ski champ Mike, will be spending a few days back in the Bay Area.

SWIMMER ROBIN BACKHAUS is back in San Rafael after a most successful trip to Bremen, Germany where he competed in an international invitational meet staged by the German Swim Federation. In four outings, Robin won three times and came in second the once.

He won the 100-meter butterfly in 56.87 seconds, the 200-meter fly in 2:04.87, and the 400-meter freestyle in 4:04.45. He was second in the 200 free, 1:55.18. The plane in which Robin was aboard landed at S.F. Internatinal Airport last night and he said it was a good trip, good experience, and he was glad to clock those times and still get a chance at a good workout.

COACHES IN THE Far Western Conference will announce their selections for coach and player of the year tomorrow, and most of the money is being bet on Sonoma State coach Bill Trumbo and his highscoring guard, Steve Tiedeman, a unanimous pick member of the FWC all-star team named yesterday.

All Trumbo did was to take a team which had won only three of 51 games in two years, mix in some active recruiting, add some self confidence, and come up with a winner. That's some recipe.

Tiedeman, a junior, is one of seven returnees next year for the Cossacks who will be on the lookout for a good big man, say like College of Marin's 6-foot-9 Neil Traub. From what I have heard, there are quite a few four-year colleges interested in obtaining Traub's services for next year.

BRUCE D'AMBRA of San Rafael, right-handed pitcher at University of Pacific, has returned to the baseball wars at UOP. A junior, D'Ambra last year was used in relief and in nine appearances had a record of 0 wins, 2 losses and an earned run average of 2.84.

BASKETBALL ISSUE

Amateur Sports Row Heard In Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association says the Amateur Athletic Union "has played the part of an outlaw" in arranging a U.S. tour by the Soviet basketball team.

David Riveness, president of the AAU, says, however, that his organization acted properly as "the legitimate and only recognized representative of the United States" in international amateur basketball.

The two athletic groups clashed Monday before a House Education Subcommittee investigating their long-standing jurisdictional squabble.

Thomas C. Hansen, NCAA assistant executive director, said the AAU had scheduled the eight-city tour by the Soviet basketball team at a time "which is to the greatest disadvantage of the American student-athlete and which precludes assembly of the best U.S. team."

Hansen told the subcommittee that when the AAU approached the Soviets "it had no authority to conclude arrangements for a competition on behalf of the U.S.

"The AAU had, and has, absolutely no authority to arrange competition for NCAA member colleges or for other members of the Basketball Federation.

"Under all the rules applicable to such arrangements, therefore, the CBS-AAU arranged tour is illegal, and the AAU as played the part of an outlaw."

Riveness, in his testimony, charged the NCAA with refusing to abide by terms of a jurisdictional settlement by an impartial commission appointed by the Sports Arbitration Board, and that the NCAA wrongly believed it "owned" athletes of its affiliated colleges.

AAU Executive Director Ollan Cassell said the NCAA also "chose to subordinate the best interests of our nation to its own interests, whatever they may be."

Hansen, referring to the controversial final-seconds victory of the Russian basketball team over the Americans at Munich last year, said CBS-TV and the AAU had billed the Soviet team's American tour "as a rematch ... in a blatant attempt to cash in on he widely felt dissatisfaction and resentment regarding the conduct and outcome of the Olympic final game between the U.S. and USSR teams."

Both Reps. John O'Hara, D-Mich., chairman of the subcommittee, and John Dellenback, Ore., its ranking Republica, said they hoped legislative action was not needed to solve the dispute.

But Dellenback warned that "If continued feuding has a negative impact on the well being of the college athletes," such action may be necessary."

Peterson Willing To Do It Again: 'Trade' Families

Tampa, Fla. (UPI) — Fritz Peterson said he would do it all over again.

The 31-year-old lefthanded pitcher for the New York Yankees was talking about the most astonishing "trade" in all baseball history, one in which he and fellow Yankee pitcher Mike Kekich swapped their wives, their younger children and even their pet dogs five months ago.

Peterson, in a personal telephone call from the Yankees' training base in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., revealed Monday he, Kekich and their respective wives agreed to the trade after due consideration.

"There was nothing dirty about it," said Peterson. "This was not a wife swap, it was a life swap."

Under conditions of the agreement, Peterson's wife of 7 ½ years, Marilyn, went to live with Kekich last October and Kekich's wife of seven years, Susan, went to live with Peterson. Peterson's youngest son, Eric, 2, went with his mother, and Kekich's youngest daughter, Regen, also 2, stayed with her mother. Gregg, 5, Peterson's oldest son, remained with his father, and Kristen, 5, Kekich's oldest daughter, remained with her father.

"Susan and I are in love," said Peterson. "I miss my little boy, that's the bad part of it. I don't see too much of him."

Then asked if he would do such a thing again, Peterson said, "I would. This really makes my life complete."

"Some people are going to think it's a wife swap," Peterson added. "Mike and I agreed it was a life swap. Don't make this out to be cheap."

The Kekich alliance with Marilyn, however, isn't going so well, the 27-year-old Kekich admitted.

"Chip (Marilyn's nickname) and I thought we were perfectly suited but things developed and we began to butt heads," Kekich revealed in Fort Lauderdale. "Chip was all for it at the start but began to back off. I think her background began to overwhelm her. She would be the first in her family to get a divorce.

"We agreed that if anyone wasn't happy, it would be all off. Marilyn and I lived up to it but, when we elected to return to our original state, the other pair had gone. I am out in the cold—the only one who has nothing."

"After the season ended (last October), we moved in with our other families," Peterson said. "I moved to Franklin Lakes, N.J., and Mike to Mahwah, N.J."

Peterson, trying to explain how the situation had developed, said he and Kekich had been great friends since Kekich joined the Yankees in 1969.

"In the beginning, it was fun just being together, the four of us," said Peterson. "Then as things went along it became more serious. It all started last July 15. We were living in Franklin Lakes and Mike and Susan were living in Mahwah (a distance of about eight miles).

"Mike started to campaign for my wife about in August. He talked to me seriously about it. He told his own wife, Susan, that he loved Marilyn more. That started it. There wasn't anything dirty about it. Marilyn didn't think he was serious at first. She thought it was funny at first, and so did I. Then we all discussed it seriously and we agreed."

Peterson added, "We both found we were unbelievably happy with the other. We each had found something we had been lacking. Divorces are now in progress."

Sonoma's Tiedeman Is Tabbed

Sonoma State College guard Steve Tiedeman was the lone unanimous pick by the Far Western Conference basketball coaches to the all-conference first team, it was announced yesterday.

Joining Tiedeman on the conference team were teammates Bill Belander, a junior forward who was placed on the second team, and senior forward George Schandelmier, who was given honorable mention recognition.

Tiedeman, a 6-foot-2 junior, led the FWC in scoring this season with a 22.6 point per game average. He averaged 20.7 points for the entire season, while shooting 48.8 per cent from the floor. He placed in the league statistics with a free throw percentage of 83.3.

Also voted to the first team were Gary Fox from University of California, Davis; Rick Dire-

49ERS, RAIDERS ON BASKETBALL COURT

It's a Super Bowl, of sorts.

The San Francisco 49ers and Oakland Raiders, a pair of perennial National Football League playoff participants, meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Redwood High School. In a basketball game presented by the Redwood Benchwarmers booster group and Central Marin Babe Ruth League, Super Bowl VIII, the name coined by game organizers.

Tickets for the game in the school's gymnasium in Larkspur will cost $2 each. Donning sneakers instead of cleats will be such 49ers as running backs Vic Washington and Larry Schreiber, wide receiver John Isenbarger, safety Johnny Fuller, linebacker Jim Sniadecki, and defensive linemen Cedrick Hardman, Earl Edwards and Bob Hoskins.

The Raiders will be represented by wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff, running back Charlie Smith, center Jim Otto, linebacker Dan Conners, tackle Art Shell and defensive linemen Ben Davidson, Tony Cline and Art Thoms.

The $2 tickets can be purchased only at Redwood High.

Drake '5' Seeks End To Historical Trend

Stigma Of Defeat On Marinites

Drake High School, which reversed an historical trend in 1966, will have a chance to reverse another one beginning Thursday in the basketball Tournament of Champions at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

When the Pirates of 1966 took the floor for their first game against powerful McClymonds High of Oakland, they carried the stigma bequeathed them by their Marin County Athletic League predecessors, who had won only two of 13 tournament games.

Since the MCAL began playing in the tournament in 1960, only Tamalpais High in 1963 so much as won a game. The consolation title the Indians gathered that year had been the only honor.

Perhaps the MCAL didn't belong in so high-powered a tournament, some people speculated. Or perhaps the MCAL champion should play off for a berth.

Against this backdrop, Drake carried supposedly unbeatable McClymonds into the final minutes before losing a 51-47 decision, then went on to capture a consolation championship. This ushered in an era of respectability, as Marin teams gathered three consolation titles and a fourth-place finish the next four years.

In 1971, however, things changed for the worse. Redwood lost a very physical game to Oakland's Castlemont, the same school Drake will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m., then lost again and was eliminated. Tamalpais lost two straight close games last year and went home before Saturday's concluding festivities.

On the whole, then, MCAL teams have a dismal 11-21 record in the TOC and have lost four straight games, something Drake hopes to rectify. The log for 13 tournaments shows five consolation titles and one fourth-place finish. No MCAL team ever has made the finals. No team other than Drake in 1967 won its opening game.

Marin teams represented the North Bay League three straight times just prior to the formation of the MCAL, with scarcely better results. Drake finished third in 1957 and won the consolation title in 1958, and San Rafael was eliminated in two games in 1959. Marin teams were 4-4 in that period.

Drake is the only Marin team with a winning record in the TOC, going 7-5 over the years. Tamalpais is 4-6, Redwood 4-8 and San Rafael 0-6.

GARNER MOST VALUABLE

Marin Tars Have Lion's Share Of All-Star Picks

College of Marin basketball players took the lion's share of honors in the Camino Norte Conference all-star selections, led by Wil Garner, named the conference's most valuable player.

Garner, 6-foot-4 forward who is averaging 16 points per game, was one of the conference's top scorers throughout the season.

Marin's other starting forward, Joe Casteel, 6-3 and averaging 11 points a game, also was named to the first team all-conference squad. Marin's 6-9 center, Neil Traub, was named to the second team and 6-0 guard Joe DeMaestri was given honorable mention. DeMaestri is averaging 15 points per game and Traub 12.

Casteel, Traub and DeMaestri are sophomores, while Garner is a freshman, one of two freshmen on the six-man first team. Other members of the first team were De Anza freshman Dan Perry, West Valley's Rick Hile and Paul Boskovich, and Contra Costa's Floyd Harris.

Joining Traub on the second team were Canada's Steve Kircher, Contra Costa's Mike Johnson, De Anza's Gary Hoffman and Skyline's Herb Eastman. Other honorable mentions were Mitch Plaat of De Anza, Kelly McWilliams of Solano and Dave Thomas of Santa Rosa.

College of Marin's conference champion cagers will be leaving Marin County tomorrow for Ventura and the state junior college championships Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Marin's first-round opponent will be Riverside City College, 3 p.m. A win in that Thursday game would guarantee Marin playing Friday and Saturday, but a loss would end the Tars' season right there.

San Rafael's radio station KTIM will broadcast the first game Thursday and if the Tars advance, the other Marin games, with station manager Bob Dinsmore doing the play-by-play.

PINA ARRIVES

A's Finley, 3 Holdouts Dickering

Combined AP & UPI

MESA, Ariz. — Oakland owner Charlie Finley has flown back to Chicago without getting the signatures of Vida Blue, Ken Holtzman or Dave Duncan on a 1973 contract.

Holtzman, 19-game winner, is working out with the team here and Finley talked to him Sunday. Duncan, tabbed as No. 1 catcher now that Gene Tenace has been shifted to first, is still in Oakland. And Finley couldn't even find Blue although he called his Oakland apartment several times over the weekend.

The A's new reliefer, Horacio Pina, arrived in training camp Monday and threw batting practice. A right hander, Pina came to Oakland in the trade that sent first baseman Mike Epstein to Texas.

Meanwhile, it was announced that Catfish Hunter will start here Friday when the A's launch their Cactus League season against Milwaukee. He'll be followed by Dennis Myers and Darold Knowles.

Warriors, Pistons In Oakland Go

OAKLAND (UPI) — Golden State's Rick Barry is looking for a rough night when the Warriors tangle with the Detroit Pistons tonight in the Oakland Arena.

"The guys the Pistons put on me—Don Adams, Fred Foster, Willie Norwood—are all holders and grabbers," Barry said during a practice session.

"Guys who aren't real good defensive players are always holding and pounding you. I don't like that."

On defense the hot-shooting Barry will have his work cut out for him. He will have to handle Curtis Rowe who has averaged 25 points a game against the Warriors.

Healy Reporting To Giants' Camp

Combined AP & UPI

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. — Catcher Fran Healy has signed his contract with the San Francisco Giants and right fielder Bobby Bonds has slugged the team's first home run of the spring training season.

Both developments occurred Monday with Healy heading here from Massachusetts about the time Bonds was heading around the bases after a 400-foot smash in an intrasquad clash.

Bonds wasn't the only hitting hero as center fielder Garry Maddox, infielder Jeff Mason and rookie catcher Ike Brown

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

At Least Some Birds Survived

Last Jan. 19, more than 100,000 gallons of waste oil was spilled apparently by vandals into the Oakland Estuary. At the time, Department of Fish and Game personnel responded to the task of retrieving and caring for the oily birds.

The United States Coast Guard personnel from the training center at Government Island cooperated with the department crews retrieving the birds quickly, and workers from the International Bird Rescue Research Center aided the department in cleaning and treating the birds. Some 175 dead birds and 282 oil soaked but still living birds are known to have been retrieved from the Oakland Channel and adjacent San Leandro Bay.

NEARLY HALF of those that were still alive when picked up have succumbed; but others have responded well to treatment, and approximately 75 of them have been released into the wild in good condition. Three of the six clapper rails survived, and were released in the Napa Marsh. Coots, ducks and grebes were the principal kinds of birds affected.

TROUT PLANTS are scheduled for Stafford Reservoir near Novato this week. A few weeks ago, a mid-morning weekday survey there showed that 31 anglers were using the lake. A total of 26 trout were caught by 23 of the anglers interviewed in 35 hours of fishing effort. The average catch was .74 trout per angler hour. A fish an hour? That's not bad.

A report from Alice Williams, the Audubon Society bird counter of Stafford Lake, states that the canvasbacks and the Canada geese have nearly all left the lake for their northern nesting sites, but that the great blue herons have a rookery started right there at the lake. Four nests were noted by our reporter.

DESPITE HIGHLY restrictive regulations on hunting, the bear take during the 1972-73 season in California rose sharply, the Department of Fish and Game recently reported.

In its final report on the two-and-one-half-month season ending Jan. 1, the DFG said that hunters took 626 bears — this on the basis of returned tags. Tag returns for the previous season indicated that 559 bears had been taken during 1971-72.

Regulation taking effect last season prohibited the taking of cubs and sows accompanied by cubs, and outlawed bear-baiting and the taking of bears within 400 yards of any posted garbage dump.

The Department of Fish and Game said that the harvest figures, together with the volume of bear nuisance complaints and other information from the field, indicate that the bear population in California is on the increase.

Siskiyou, with a take of 97 bears, led all counties. Trinity County with 89 was second and Shasta County was third, 79. Marin, Napa and Sonoma reported no bears, but Lake County came up with five and Mendocino 19.

A FEW DAYS ago, I received a letter from John Segale, a Marinite who wrote from Hong Kong. He says, "I read in your column of Feb. 6 that a fisherman was cited for using two rods in San Pablo Bay. Where can a person fish with two rods?" The answer is: West of the Golden Gate Bridge in ocean waters. (It sounds like John is coming home!)

Of interest also is a clipping John enclosed from a Hong Kong newspaper. It reads, "If you have experience in foreign land sales we need you to establish a dealer sales office in Hong Kong. You would have exclusive rights to sell our property. The place is Nevada, the Great American West. Ranches of 1¼ acre near the picturesque town of Elko, in the heart of cowboy country. The market is superb. The time is now. The opportunity is yours." Wow! You and I know Elko is deer country — the best!

Seals' Marshall To Rangers In Trade

Combined AP & UPI

NEW YORK — The last original California Golden Seal is gone. The New York Rangers further bolstered their defensive corps yesterday by acquiring Bert Marshall, who was with the original Seals' cast in the 1967-68 season. The Rangers promised the Seals future considerations in return for the big defenseman.

The 29-year-old Marshall, in his eighth season in the National Hockey League, was in his sixth campaign with California and was the team captain. In 55 games this season, the 6-2, 195-pounder had two goals and six assists for eight points. He also accumulated 71 penalty minutes, which is more than any Ranger player has.

The deal, which was completed prior to the National Hockey League midnight trading deadline of Sunday night, was the third made by the Rangers since last Friday. A series of injuries has been hampering their defensive corps for the last two months.

Football

PRINCETON — The New York Giants of the National Football League are considering a temporary move to Princeton next season until the team's permanent home in the Hackensack Meadowlands Sport Complex is completed, it was announced yesterday.

Paul D. Firstenberg, Princeton University financial vice-president, said team officials have informally sought the use of Palmer Stadium for 13 regular season games next season and the year following it. The team has already signed a 30-year lease with the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority for the Meadowlands Stadium.

Golf

NEW YORK — Bud Allin, winner of the Florida Citrus Open last weekend, has climbed 23 places to no. 6 on the weekly Professional Golfers Association money list, it was announced yesterday by the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Allin earned $30,000 for his victory, pushing his earnings for the year to $45,042.

Bruce Crampton continues to head the list with $77,561 followed by Lee Trevino with $68,275 and Jack Nicklaus with $65,248.

Rounding out the top 10 are John Schlee ($48,017), Rod Funseth ($47,966), Allin, Orville Moody ($42,998), Bob Dickson ($42,538), Grier Jones ($40,047) and Gay Brewer ($39,027).

Basketball

NEW YORK — The Players Association of the National Basketball Association yesterday reached agreement on a three-year contract with the league's Board of Governors, providing for a $20,000 a year minimum salary and amended pension benefits.

The minimum salary requirement, which will take effect next year, is the highest in professional sports.

Under terms of the amended pension plan, full retirement benefits, amounting to $750 a year for each year of service, are now payable beginning at age 50.

The new contract also established a minimum of 11 players on each club's active list and states that each player waived before Dec. 1 must be paid for a whole season.

LOS ANGELES — Dave Benaderet, 38, was named today as the head basketball coach at Loyola University, replacing Dick Baker who stepped down to devote fulltime to the school's athletic director's job.

HONOLULU — Red Rocha, head basketball coach at the University of Hawaii for the past 10 years, yesterday left the post and accepted a job as coordinator of a statewide university athletic commission.

General

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission yesterday waived the broadcasting limit rule to permit American Broadcasting Company and National Broadcasting Company to televise pro basketball, pro hockey and the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball playoffs.

Murcer Tops Predecessors In 1 Category

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Bobby Murcer already has surpassed Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle, his center field predecessors with the New York Yankees—in one category anyway.

Murcer Monday became the youngest Yankee ever to sign a $100,000 contract when he agreed to terms for the 1973 American League season.

Murcer, at 26, easily outdistanced the former Yankee greats to the $100,000 plateau. DiMaggio was 35 when he reached the figure and Mantle was 31.

Last season, Murcer, like Mantle a native of Oklahoma, hit .292 with 33 homers, 96 runs batted in and a league high 102 runs scored. He was named to the AL All-Star team.

The Yankees also signed pitcher Steve Kline, 16-9 last season, to a contract estimated at $40,000, leaving four players — Sparky Lyle, Fritz Peterson, Roy White and Gene Michael—unsigned.

Rusty Staub of the New York Mets also signed a blockbuster contract Monday, agreeing to a three-year pact worth $330,000. Staub, who met with Mets' General Manager Bob Scheffing for five days, was leading the Mets in hitting when he suffered a broken bone in his hand on June 3. He appeared in only 66 games, missing from June 18 to Sept. 18.

Elsewhere, Bill Stein, a pinch- hitting whiz for the St. Louis Cardinals late last season, continued his torrid hitting with four straight hits in an intra-squad game. . . Bill Buckner boosted his hit production to six in seven at-bats Monday with a double and two singles in a Los Angeles Dodger intrasquad game. The Dodgers lost short-stop Bill Russell for a few days with sun poisoning ... Montreal announced the signing of pitcher Bill Stoneman, who pitched his second career nohitter last season, leaving only Mike Marshall and Jim Fairey unsigned.

National League Cy Young winner Steve Carlton returned to training with the Philadelphia Phils after a three-day absence. Carlton suffered a seizure of acute bronchitis ... John Mayberry became the first Kanas City Royal ever to sign a two-year contract when the 23-year-old first baseman agreed to terms ... Johnny Briggs and Ellie Rodriguez signed with the Milwaukee Brewers, leaving only Brock Davis unsigned and Horacio Pina and Manny Trillo joined Oakland A's' workouts.

Mike Ivie, a No. 1 draft choice a few years back who walked out of the San Diego camp a year ago, is the Padres' hitting sensation this spring. Ivie, a 6-4, 220-pounder, left last season, claiming he did not want to catch in the majors.

The Chicago White Sox reported no progress with their six holdouts but did trade rookie infielder Jim Redmon to Nitaku of the Japanese League ... Bert Blyleven, 17-17 last season, signed with Minnesota but the Twins still did not have signed contracts from Harmon Killebrew, Rod Carew or Jim Kaat.

golo from Sacramento State; Dave Moore from Chico State and Walter Lewis from Hayward State. Lewis finished behind Tiedeman in the conference scoring race with a 20 points per game average.

Belander, who finished fifth in league scoring with an 18.9 average, was joined on the second team by Mike Harski from Chico, Mike Stanbra from San Francisco State, Stan Cherry from Hayward and Manny Cranford from Davis.

Getting honorable mention recognition with Schandelmier were Vance Devost from San Francisco, Don Krueger and Larry Haren from Sacramento, Carl Massey from Humboldt State College and Mark Olson from Davis.

COACH SAYS

Tar Golf Team Ready To Jell

B-O-O-M!

"We're about ready to explode. We're about ready to jell," says College of Marin golf coach Ed Grimm.

ED GRIMM
Golf coach

His team is 1-1 in Camino Norte Conference play and 2-2 overall, but it appears that the record is deceiving. The veteran Tar squad, which finished second last year with an 8-4 mark, has been playing under trying weather conditions.

"The rain has held us back a bit," Grimm continues, "but we are about due to get rolling — maybe this week." The Tars visited Alameda Junior College today at 1 p.m.

Despite the wetness woes, Grimm voices confidence his team is coming around. "We've been practicing diligently, and it should begin to pay off."

Army veteran Jim Fitzpatrick leads a seasoned team determined to unseat defending chmapion West Valley of Campbell. "We've lost to them once already, but with such a balanced league and with the talent we have, we should be right in there," the coach asserts.

Although the competition is intense with contenders DeAnza of Cupertino, Skyline of San Bruno, Santa Rosa and champin West Valley Grimm likes his team's chances. "It's a wide-open race."

Apparently, Grimm feels he has sufficient quality to challenge. Fitzpatrick and Churchfield typify the Tar golfers' "up and coming" image that Grimm was referring to. "Fitzpatrick is progressing well, and Churchfield is coming right along," the coach adds.

As the players mold into an extremely formidable contingent, Grimm is pointing them towards two major tourneys — the CNC meet and the Northern California championships. On May 7, the CNC will hold its conference tourney in Santa Rosa at Sonoma Country Club to determine representatives to the Northern California Junior College Golf Tournament May 14 in Carmel Valley.

Two USF Cagers Are Selected

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Backcourt ace Louie Nelson of the University of Washington is going all out in his drive for the Pac-8 scoring title.

He closed out his home career Monday night by popping 11-of-16 from the field and all 13 free throws for 35 points in leading the Huskies to the 83-75 win over Oregon.

In another Pac-8 battle, Washington State napped an 11-game losing streak by dominating the boards to take the 67-64 squeaker over Oregon State.

In news off the courts, the champion University of San Francisco Dons landed guard Phil Smith and forward Kevin Restani on the 1973 All West Coast athletic conference team. Rounding out the all-star quintet were William Averitt of Pepperdine, Mike Stewart of Santa Clara and Jim Baker of Nevada, Las Vegas.

The second team included Steve Smith of Loyola, Bob Florence of Nevada-Las Vegas, Greg Williams of Seattle and two freshmen, Pete Padgett of Nevada-Reno and Frank Oleynick of Seattle.

Mrs. Clemente Files Suit: $5 Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — Vera Zaballa Clemente, wife of the late Pittsburgh Pirates' star Roberto Clemente, is asking for $5 million in damages from the manufacturer of the airplane in which her husband was killed and the manufacturer of the plane's engines.

Mrs. Clemente filed suit on behalf of herself and her three children in Manhattan Federal Court Monday against the McDonnell-Douglas Cor of St. Louis Mo., manufacturers of the plane, and Curtiss-Wright Corp of New Jersey, the makers of the engine.

The 38-year-old Clemente was killed on New Year's Eve when the private plane he was in crashed into the Atlantic Ocean shortly after takeoff from San Juan Airport. The plane was attempting to return to San Juan to make an emergency landing when it went down. Clemente was returning from a relief mission to victims of the Nicaraguan earthquake. His body was never recovered.

The suit alleges that Curtiss-Wright was negligent in the design, manufacture, servicing and inspection of its TC-18 engine. Douglas aircraft was accused of wrongfully representing that the airplane and all of its parts were free of defects.

Stuart Speiser, lawyer for Mrs. Clemente, said that the two inboard engines of the turbo-prop plane were recovered from the ocean floor and found to be defective.

A wrongful death claim was also filed against the Federal Aviation Administration which, if rejected, could make the agency a defendant in the case in six months.

Speier's Rise In Giants' Organization

CASA GRANDE — There wasn't anything pushy or arrogant in the way Chris Speier took charge of the San Francisco Giants' infield defense when he reported for spring training. He merely was doing what comes naturally to him, once again assuming the leadership role he won in just two major league seasons.

Speier is a natural leader with a mature confidence far beyond his years. It's difficult to believe he is just 22 and has been in pro ball only three years. He broke in in Class AA at Amarillo in 1970 and the following year became the shortstop whiz of the Giants at age 20.

Last season Speier was the Giants' most outstanding player. He was consistent with glove and bat from start to finish of a campaign that was deeply disappointing to the Candlestick Kids because first Willie McCovey was put out of action and then Juan Marichal and Sam McDowell bumped into pitching miseries.

"WITH MCCOVEY, Marichal and McDowell coming back to form this season, we'll be tough to stop," said Speier, not in a hopeful manner but with a determination that seemed to say that the three M's already were well along the comeback road even though this was just the second week of 1973 spring training.

Comeback of the three M's, coupled with consistency at third base and left field, will reestablish the winning ways of the Giants, according to Speier.

"WE'LL GET OFF to a good start if we can get a consistent playing unit early," said Speier. "We kept inserting and bringing in new players throughout the season last year."

Speier was the lone representative of the Giants in the All Star Game at Atlanta last season. He led all Giants in batting at .269 and tied for second best with nine game-winning hits.

He drew 82 walks, sixth highest total in the National League, hit 15 homers, most by any shortstop in the league, and was second to Philadelphia's Larry Bowa in official fielding averages. He also struck out 92 times.

"I'd like to cut my strikeouts in half this season," said Speier.

DURING THE WINTER Speier married the former Aleta Pagnini of Medford, Ore. The bride and groom have made their home in San Mateo. They also are making future plans for ranch style living east of Medford where Speier bought 20 acres at $500 an acre.

"For the time being," said Speier, "we're just going to hold onto the acreage. Actually, it's a sound investment because the price has gone up to $1,000 an acre since we bought it."

When someone remarked to Speier that marriage gave him a serene and happy look, he didn't stammer or display any embarrassment.

"Yes," he said, "that's what it's all about, isn't it?"

A most remarkable young man.

San Rafael Nine Wins Opener

Lance Loughlin provided most of the muscle yesterday when San Rafael High School's baseball team opened its 1973 season with an 11-8 victory over Galileo High at San Francisco's Funston Field.

Loughlin bashed a double, two singles and totaled seven runs batted in for the Bulldogs who colected 14 hits in a slugfest which saw 23 total hits.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuity Explained For Income Seeker

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am approaching retirement and am trying to figure how much income I can muster up. I have been considering a 5 per cent passbook savings account. But a high-rated insurance company has offered me a straight life annuity that will pay what amounts to 9 per cent income on my investment for the rest of my life. Would this be riskier than the bank? — L.B.

A. I am not sure from your letter if you fully understand what an annuity is. Since the company has a good reputation you need not be concerned with risk; monthly income is guaranteed for your lifetime. But unless you have a refund option written into the contract any portion of the principal which might remain after your death reverts to the life insurance company, not to your estate. The insurance company uses not only the income it earns from your money but also dips into your capital to provide monthly payments.

An individual could set up this type of plan for himself but there is the constant threat of outliving the capital. If, for instance, you deposited $100,000 in a 5 per cent savings account and withdrew $9,000 annually, it would take only 17 years to exhaust your capital plus accrued interest. This same capital used to purchase a single premium straight life annuity would guarantee about $9,000 annually, regardless of how many years you lived.

If you are married and have heirs, you would probably prefer some form other than straight life for your annuity. There are many varieties and terms which can be used alone or in combination to provide the best possible plan for your needs.

In one plan the payment escalates with the cost of living index; another guarantees payments for at least 10 years, regardless of the number of years the annuitant lives. In any case, make a very thorough study of the various plans so that you understand what you are buying.

42-YEAR VETERAN — E.A. (Bud) Rengman of San Rafael retired last month as chief labor negotiator for Standard Oil's Western Division, ending a 42-year career with Standard Oil of California. He began as radio dispatcher aboard Standard Oil tankers in 1930. After World War II, he transferred to shore duty as a labor negotiator for Standard Oil. He and his wife Lillian plan to tour the United States.

TESTING IN A QUIET CHAMBER

A technician prepares for an environmental test at Europe's most advanced noise cell, used by Perkins Engines Group in developing quieter engines, at Peterborough, England. Insulated with more than 6,000 wedges of polyurethane foam to eliminate echoes, the chamber is so sound absorbent that a rifle fired in the chamber makes only a muffled "pop."

Good Economy Reports Cause Market Surge

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market surged in early trading today with two bright reports related to the U.S. economy helping induce buying.

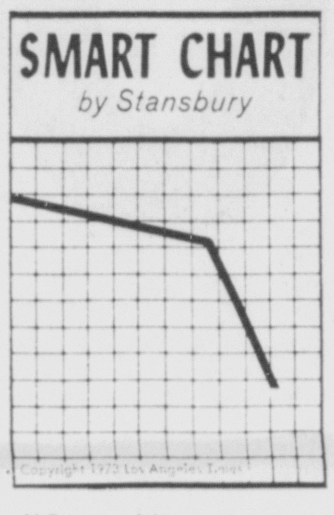
Investors and traders not only were encouraged by the market's recent leveling off from the sharp decline that began last January, but two reports showing a sharp gain in January factory orders and higher corporate capital spending persuaded them to buy.

The Commerce Department said total new orders in January rose 3.5 per cent from December, a rather sizable gain. The Conference Board, a private group, said the country's top manufacturers increased their capital appropriations in the 1972 fourth quarter by 12.3 per cent from the third quarter.

Mattel led the actives, up ⅜ to 8 ¼ on turnover of 90,600 shares.

Prices were broadly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Imperial Oil was the most active issue, off ⅛ to 39 ⅛ on 41,800 shares.

Big Board glamors were mostly higher. Schlumberger added 2 ⅜; Polaroid 2 ⅛.



"Our public relations campaign magnified the old image instead of creating a new one."

Two Marin Men Are Awarded Napa, Solano Auto Franchises

Richard S. Taylor of Mill Valley and James H. Graham of Larkspur have been awarded franchises for Porsche, Audi and Mercedes-Benz sales in Napa and Solano Counties.

The three automobiles will be sold in one dealership for the first time in the west with the opening this week of the R.S. Taylor Corporation in Vallejo, at 1516 Solano Avenue.

Before purchasing Solano Volkswagen a year ago, Taylor was vice president and business manager for Reynold C. Johnson Co. and its subsidiary, Porsche Audi West, distributor for Porsche, Audi and Volkswagen vehicles.

Taylor

Graham

Graham, who will serve as general manager for the new R.S. Taylor dealership, has 20 years of experience in imported cars. He founded Atlas Volkswagen in San Francisco in 1954.

EPICENTER INC., a new corporation which designs advertising and marketing systems, has just been formed in Sausalito with Wayne A. Bonnett of Sausalito as president.

Allen Schwartz of Mill Valley is vice president of marketing and Robert L. Blosser of Mill Valley is vice president of design. All three have more than 10 years of experience in graphic designing and advertising.

Bonnett said his corporation will design programs to package, advertise and market products. "We might develop a new product ourselves and design a package program of advertising and marketing," said Bonnett. The company plans to open its headquarters in downtown Sausalito.

HENRY A. ROSSO and LAWRENCE E. HOYT, both of San Rafael, will be among speakers at the National Society of Fund Raisers convention tomorrow through Friday at the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim.

Rosso, who heads H. A. Ross Associates, will speak on "How To Get Started in Deferred Giving." Hoyt, vice president of Southern Pacific, will discuss "Implication of Future Tax Legislation."

TEN SCHOLARSHIPS worth $300 each are offered by Manpower Inc. to children of Manpower Inc. employees worldwide.

Marcia Pettijohn, manager of the San Rafael office of Manpower Inc., announced that the competition is open to high school seniors whose parent or guardian is a Manpower temporary employee. Application requests must be postmarked no later than March 15. Applicants must be under 21 years of age, with no previous full-time college or university enrollment.

Manpower Inc. is a worldwide employment organization which handles temporary jobs only.

IAN F. MITCHELL of San Rafael has been named as assistant vice president at Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, San Francisco.

Mitchell came to Fireman's Fund from Remington Rand in 1962 as director of services in Los Angeles, was advanced to systems analyst and assigned to the San Francisco home office in 1963. After a series of promotions, he was named in 1971 to his present post as director of corporate planning and development.

JAMES E. GORMAN, who has been an associated at Nipper & Marchant Realtors for five years, passed his state examination for a broker's license. Nipper & Marchant, with headquarters in San Rafael, now has 11 associates with broker ratings.

THREE MARIN executives have been elected to the San Francisco chapter of the Administrative Management Society, which is interested in developing better management.

New members are Claire C. Edelstein of Tiburon, office manager for Wentworth Dahl & Belden investment counselors; Richard H. Leesman of Mill Valley, branch manager of Stivers Lifesaver, Inc. personnel agency; and Walter F. Petroitis of Tiburon, personnel manager for Fromm & Sichel, wholesale distributors of Christian Brothers wine.

DOROTHY H. OCZKUS of Fox & Carskadon Inc. Realtors in San Rafael has been awarded a Graduate, Realtors Institute (GRI) educational certificate, according to William Lewis, president of the Marin County Board of Realtors. Mrs. Oczkus is chairman of the board of realtors education committee.

FRANCIS H. INGALL of Tiburon, television actor and former owner of Butler's Pantry restaurant, hasn't really turned bartender. He sometimes turns up behind the bar at Tiburon Tommie's to help out his friend, Tommie Cox. At the same time, Ingall is getting acquainted with the bar business in case his next restaurant contains a cocktail lounge.

M-D CONDOMINIUM Corp., a new firm to repair, remodel and convert rental apartments to condominium homes, has been formed in San Rafael, with James T. McLaughlin of Ross as president. Attorney for the corporation is Czar S. Winters of San Rafael.

The corporation's first project is to convert a group of multi-family structures in Santa Rosa at the corner of College Avenue and Manhattan Avenue into condominiums.

McLaughlin has been in the business for about five years. His company will operate primarily in Marin and Sonoma Counties.

Outlook Good

ALEXANDRIA, La. (UPI) — Louisiana is expected to gain $3 billion in new industrial development over the next three years, according to state business sources.

Audubon Society Sets Rides, Walks

Several nature walks and rides in Marin County have been scheduled this month by the Marin Audubon Society.

Thomas Harris will lead a nature walk along Bourne trail at 9:30 a.m., March 18 from Audubon Canyon Ranch. Malcolm Smith will lead a hike to study Mount Tamalpais plants at 9:30 a.m., March 25, starting on the Mountain Home parking lot on Panoramic Highway to tour the Matt Davis Trail.

The Terra Linda ridges will be studied at 9:30 a.m., March 31 starting at the end of Del Ganado Road with Jean Starkweather and Wilma Follette leaders.

Elizabeth Terwilliger will lead a canoe trip at 10 a.m. March 12 on the Petaluma River, starting at Black Point. There is a fee for this trip. Novato's new bicycle trail will be explored at 10 a.m. March 19, starting at Novato Boulevard and San Marin Drive.

People who cannot walk but want to explore nature can go on an auto caravan starting at 10 a.m. at Safeway in Mill Valley March 26 to Samuel Taylor and Tomales Bay state parks. The caravan will go first to Cala market in Fairfax to pick up more travelers.

String Designs

Strikers Backed By Club Panel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Sierra Club Executive Committee has come out in support of striking Shell Oil Company workers.

The club had the responsibility of proving to union members that it is not more interested in coyotes and lions than people, said club spokesman Dwight Steele.

The resolution Saturday came after company officials asked the club to remain neutral.

Part of the resolution pledged to back the workers in "efforts to obtain working conditions which are environmentally safe."

About 4,000 workers have been on strike at Shell refinery locations since Jan. 24 over health and safety conditions.

Two Arrested In Hotel Fires

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Firemen extinguished three separate fires in a vacant Fillmore St. hotel Sunday and made two arrests.

Two unidentified men, both about 50 years old were held as suspects when firemen extinguished the fires in the now-vacant Manor Plaza Hotel.

Bay Area Forum For Citizens Set

A new attempt to involve citizens in regional problems will be launched Saturday with formation of a Regional Citizens Forum.

The meeting will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the War Memorial Auditorium in San Francisco's Civic Center.

Citizens will consider how the forum should work and who will run it. Any resident of the nine-county Bay Area can be a voting member. There will be no dues or fees, according to the sponsor of the forum, the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Formation of the forum was proposed by a group of citizens who have been working on the idea under ABAG for the past nine months. The group proposed that the forum will take positions on regional problems and watchdog regional agencies.

Twenty coordinating committee members will be elected, according to the citizens group that designed the forum. It also proposed that 10 other committee members be selected to balance membership by geography, ethnic background, income, interests and sex.

Free beverages will be served.

Equal Ex-Convict Treatment Asked

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Just as there are laws prohibiting discrimination based on sex, race and religion, so should there be a law forbidding discrimination against ex-convicts, according to Assemblyman Walter Karabian.

"Under our system the man's forced to continue paying back society and being treated as a second class citizen after he has served his time," the Monterey Park Democrat said during the weekend.
